

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THE ORIGIN AND GROWTH OF THE LIBRARY

THE Bible House Library dates back to the year of the Society's foundation. On 17 December 1804, the Committee resolved to issue an appeal 'soliciting donations of Bibles, Testaments, or portions of the Scriptures, in the ancient or modern languages' for the use of agents and members of the Society. One of the first to respond was Mr. Granville Sharp, who promptly sent in between thirty and forty volumes, including versions in Arabic, Dutch, 'Caledonian or Scotch Gaelic,' Gothic, Malabar, Mohawk, Hutter's Matthew and Mark in thirteen languages, and a copy of John Eliot's 'Virginian Indian Bible.' This generous example was followed year after year by numerous benefactors, and a list of 'Donations to the Library' has been a feature in each succeeding Annual Report. Among the donors occur such names as Mr. William Blair, Dr. Adam Clarke, the Rev. Joseph Hughes, the Rev. John Noble Coleman, the Rev. Dr. E. Henderson, Mr. James Thomson, the Rev. John Jones, Mr. George Stokes, General Colin Macaulay, Lord Bexley, Mr. Samuel Bagster, the Baron Silvestre de Sacy, Mr. Josiah Forster, Mr. Edward Dalton, and Prince Louis Lucien Bonaparte. The Library was also gradually increased by copies of new versions and editions published by the Society, and by gifts from other religious, missionary, and learned institutions, at home and abroad. Besides printed editions of the Scriptures, the collection came to embrace a certain number of Biblical and other manuscripts, as well as numerous grammars, lexicons and philological works, chiefly for the use of the Society's translators and revisers.

EARLIER CATALOGUES

The earliest printed list of the Library occupies fourteen pages after the title to Vol. I (1805-10) of the Society's reprinted Annual Reports, and enumerates some 450 volumes. The first catalogue proper was issued in 1822, in pamphlet form, and also appears as pp. 112-144 of the Annual Report for that year. A longer list, filling 86 pages, was published in 1832. At length in 1855 Mr. George Bullen, afterwards Keeper of Printed Books at the British Museum, was commissioned by the Committee to prepare a complete Catalogue of the Society's Library, which by that time had grown to about 5000 volumes in more than 150 different languages. Mr. Bullen followed the plan of the British Museum, arranging all printed editions of the Scriptures under (i) Complete Bibles in various languages, (ii) Old Testaments, (iii) Separate Parts of the Old Testament, (iv) Apocrypha, (v) New Testaments, (vi) Separate Parts of the New Testament. Under each of these headings the books were grouped in the following linguistic order: (a) polyglots, (b) original languages, (c) Latin, (d) English, (e) other languages in alphabetical order.

THE FRY COLLECTION

Since the publication of Mr. Bullen's Catalogue in 1857, the Library has more than doubled in size, partly by the increase of missionary versions of the Scriptures, until it now includes books in over four hundred different languages and dialects. It has been further enriched by the acquisition in 1890 of the unique collection of English Bibles which had been brought together by Mr. Francis Fry of Bristol. This embraced over 1200 volumes of the Scriptures in English, together with specimens of the principal editions in Welsh, Irish, Gaelic, and Anglo-Saxon, and represented many years of patient research and lavish expenditure. Regarding these books Mr. Bullen wrote: 'So important a collection was, I have no hesitation in saying, never before brought together by a private individual; and for English Bibles, I know of none anywhere existing that can compare with it, whether in public or in private libraries.' Through the persevering zeal of Dr. William Wright, then Editorial Superintendent, this treasure was secured unbroken for the Library, at a cost of 6000*l*. The sum was raised by special contributions from friends of the Society, including munificent gifts from members of Mr. Fry's family.

THE PRESENT CATALOGUE

In 1899, in view of the Society's approaching Centenary, the Committee entrusted the present writer with the task of preparing a new Historical Catalogue of the Bible House Library, and appointed Mr. Horace Moule to assist him in the work. In drawing up their plan, the compilers received valuable advice from Dr. Richard Garnett, C.B., Dr. W. Robertson Nicoll, Dr. J. Rendel Harris, Dr. C. Hagberg Wright, and the late Rev. J. Gordon Watt. It was decided to confine the Catalogue to Printed Editions of Holy Scripture, reserving other books in the Library for separate treatment. Under each language-heading, all editions—whether complete Bibles, Testaments, or separate portions—are arranged in strictly chronological order according to their dates of publication. This method exhibits the history of Bible translation in any tongue, and has peculiar value as tracing the evolution of those missionary versions which the Society specially exists to promote. In order to make the sequence complete, we have endeavoured to note each vital link in the lineage of a version, in its proper place, enclosing between brackets such editions as are not represented in the Library. Commentaries are omitted, unless they contain a continuous text, which is then catalogued under its own language.

The English section of the Library, from its unrivalled importance, demanded exceptional treatment. And it seemed not unfitting that the first volume of the British and Foreign Bible Society's Catalogue should be devoted to the Bible of the English-speaking race. The second volume, which is in preparation and will appear in 1904, enumerates editions of the Scriptures in all other languages, arranged in alphabetical order, with a prefixed list of polyglots. The Biblical Manuscripts in the Library, which include one important Greek palimpsest, will be noted in an Appendix to the second volume. An index of (a) translators and editors, (b) printers and publishers, and (c) places of printing and publication, will be added to each volume. Cross-references in the Catalogue have been made as complete as possible, and for this purpose a distinguishing number is affixed to each edition.

We gratefully acknowledge the ungrudging assistance which we have received from many friendly helpers and critics, some of whose names appear in the introduction to each volume. The publication of the Catalogue has been made possible by special gifts from generous successors of those who founded and built up the Society's Library without cost to its general funds.

Only those who have compiled a Historical Catalogue can appreciate the labour which it entails. The main burden of collation and research has fallen upon my friend Mr. Moule. For some years he has devoted himself ardently and unreservedly to the task. And I rejoice to have this opportunity of placing on record that the credit for whatever has been achieved mainly belongs to him.

Though we have striven after accuracy, it is impossible that we should have escaped errors, and we are acutely conscious how far this Catalogue falls below its ideal. Yet the task has been a privilege, and the toil has brought inspiring compensations. He who sits in the Library of the Bible House and studies that unsurpassed collection of versions of one Book, realises how their sound has gone out into all lands and their words unto the ends of the world. Nay, he has vision of a spiritual multitude which no man can number, of all nations and kindreds and people and tongues, who cry with a loud voice, saying :—Salvation to our God which sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb.

INTRODUCTION

TO

THE ENGLISH SECTION

FOR reasons briefly summarised in the Preface, this Catalogue devotes an exceptional amount of space and attention to English editions of Holy Scripture. Of these books, the Bible House Library, since it acquired the Fry copies, possesses one of the most complete collections in existence. To give some idea of its wealth in this department, we may mention that the Library contains twenty-eight different editions of Tindale's New Testament; five editions of Coverdale's Bible, and nine of his New Testament; four editions of Matthew's Bible; two of Taverner's Bible, one of his Testament, and four of the very scarce portions; twenty editions of the Great Bible (including a complete set of the seven large editions 1589-41); ninety-seven editions of the Geneva Bible, besides twenty-three other editions of the Geneva Testament; eighteen editions of the Bishops' Bible (a complete set), and twenty-four other editions of the Bishops' Testament.

We realised accordingly that this section of our Catalogue demanded an entire volume. It will be seen that we have enumerated nearly a thousand separate editions of the English Bible, or some part of it, published before the close of the eighteenth century. In order to exhibit the historical development as completely as possible, we have noted every issue of significance—even in the very few cases where such an issue was not represented in the Library.

It lay outside our task to undertake serious original research into the problems connected with the genesis and growth of the English text of Scripture. We have attempted, however, to present, under each important version, a digested summary of the results arrived at by the masters in this study, indicating our own conclusions on disputed points. Bishop Westcott's invaluable History of the English Bible is not likely to be superseded as an authority, but scholars will rejoice that a revision of it has been undertaken by Mr. W. Aldis Wright.

With regard to the bibliography, we have spared no pains to give full descriptions, including the register of signatures, of all early editions. In the case of later issues, sufficient details are supplied for purposes of identification. The description of each book is taken from a perfect copy—in the Library or elsewhere—which has been carefully examined and collated at first hand. Where no such copy was accessible, we have cited the description given by the best authority. But unless the contrary be stated, all the descriptions and collations represent independent work. The slight differences which so often occur between copies of the same edition of an early printed book compel bibliographers to consider each volume as a selection of sheets. If we could bring home to ourselves the conditions under which a primitive craftsman had to labour—above all, if we could spend a week in some sixteenth-century workshop and watch the actual process of printing there carried on—we might lay hands on the key to most of those typographical puzzles which delight the souls of modern collectors and perplex the compilers of catalogues.

We have sought throughout to give prominence to facts which illustrate the life of the English Bible among the English people. The accessions of sovereigns are noted as a kind of landmark, sometimes of high significance. (See note on p. 59.) The story of the 'Popish Pictures' (see p. 171) gives us a vivid glimpse into the conflict between the Puritans and Archbishop Laud. The rise of Puritanism is reflected in the practice of omitting to bind up the Apocrypha with many early seventeenth-century copies. Although it is not till 1640 that we find an English Bible which deliberately drops them out from its list of books, yet as early as 1615 Archbishop Abbot had forbidden any stationer to issue a Bible without the Apocrypha, under penalty of a year's imprisonment.¹ The prices paid for copies at different periods have been recorded, wherever reliable evidence was forthcoming. (See Nos. 35, 45, 69, 89, etc.; also pp. 264, 408.) Under the date 1641 we have printed the scarce contemporary tract Scintilla (p. 189), which throws a flood of light upon the Bible-trade in the reigns of James I and Charles I. The evils of a Bible-monopoly receive further illustration from the immense contraband traffic in English Scriptures printed in Holland which was carried on throughout the seventeenth century. (See note on p. 194, and pp. 184, 188.) The Bible Society's success in multiplying and cheapening copies early in the last century has been summarised in a note (p. 818) under the date 1804.

Our heartiest acknowledgments are due to the numerous Librarians and private collectors who have so readily answered enquiries respecting particular books in their keeping. We are indebted to the Marquis of Northampton, the President of the Bible Society, for a description of his famous copy of Coverdale's first Bible. The Rev. R. Lovett has permitted us to collate his unique copy of

Taverner's octavo Testament of 1589. Our special thanks are recorded to the Library authorities at the British Museum, at Cambridge University, at St. Paul's Cathedral, at Lambeth Palace, and elsewhere, for their unvarying courtesy and kindness. Among those who have given us valuable criticism and counsel whenever appealed to, we are bound to mention Mr. A. W. Pollard, of the British Museum, and Mr. Charles Sayle, of the Cambridge University Library. Mr. C. R. Rivington and Mr. E. R. McC. Dix have respectively supplied special information in regard to members of the Stationers' Company, and the earliest English Scriptures printed in Ireland. Mr. Cyril Davenport has lent us his expert advice in describing embroidered and other bindings. Mr. W. Aldis Wright has not only allowed us to consult him on numerous points of difficulty, but has also generously placed at our disposal his notes on such editions as Erasmus' Paraphrase of 1549 and the Geneva Bible of 1560. Dr. James Hastings has kindly furnished us with advance proofs of certain articles in the extra volume of his Dictionary of the Bible.

Some of the choicest volumes which Mr. Fry collected are discussed in monographs which he himself published, and many of the remainder contain descriptive notes in his own handwriting. A manuscript list of the whole Fry collection, giving extracts from these notes, was carefully drawn up by Mr. G. M. Clark, the veteran clerk of the Bible House Library, from whom we have received much willing and useful assistance.

We have done our utmost to secure accuracy, by repeating collations, verifying references, and comparing the proofs with the actual copies described. But in such a catalogue errors are inevitable; and we shall be sincerely grateful for any corrections of those which we cannot hope to have escaped.

∴ An Appendix to this volume contains :—

(i) a few editions omitted by mistake, or acquired since the early sheets of the Catalogue were sent to press; together with additional notes on certain editions.

(ii) a list of the books of the Bible which were translated into provincial dialects of English for Prince Louis Lucien Bonaparte.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Every edition down to 1824 which is represented in the Bible House Library appears in the following pages. After that date mere reprints are omitted, unless they present some feature of importance or interest. Thick square brackets indicate that the edition which they enclose is not represented in the Library.

The date stands before each entry. Books which bear more than one date are catalogued under the latest, with cross-references at the other dates.

The title in all early editions is given verbatim et literaliter. Where no title was accessible, the contents of the book are indicated within round brackets. Any words in a 'Description' printed in italics stand for a literal transcript.

In the line following the title are given the printer (or publisher), the place, and the date, unless these have been already supplied in the title. When they are not found in the book itself, but ascertained from other sources, they are enclosed within square brackets. When they are conjectural, a query-mark is added.

The same line contains the size-mark, f°, 4°, 8°, etc., standing for folio, quarto, octavo, etc. These designations are often used inaccurately in early catalogues, where, for example, the octavo Tindale Testaments are generally styled 'duodecimos.' After 1800, for this size-mark are substituted the dimensions of the book in centimètres, measured on the outside of the copy described. This method is now adopted at the Cambridge University Library, in describing books printed after 1900.

The letters B. M., after the size-mark, indicate that the book is printed in black-letter—'English,' or 'Gothic' type.

In the description, 'preliminary' leaves (or pages) mean all those which precede the actual text. A full register of signatures is given, together with the total number of leaves (including blank leaves) in the book. Unless the contrary is stated, A-Z indicates the normal signature-alphabet of 28 letters—A B C D E F G H I (or J) K L M N O P Q R S T V (or U) X Y Z. The recto of a leaf is indicated by a, the verso by b. In later editions only such details are given as suffice for identification.

After 1611 each edition, unless otherwise described, gives the text of King James' version.

The mark ¶ precedes the description of the copy or copies in the Bible House Library. Down to 1800, the inside measurements of these copies are given in millimètres.

From 1585 to 1800 inclusive each Bible includes the Apocrypha, unless the contrary is stated (cf. note on p. 816). In the case of many seventeenth- and eighteenth-century Bibles it is difficult to determine whether a copy 'wants the Apocrypha.' The words 'No Apocrypha' mean that the list of books omits them; but even then they are occasionally inserted. Very often the Apocrypha are 'included in the list of books but not required by the signatures'; in such a case, if the Library copy omits them, the words 'wants Apocrypha?' are added. Sometimes 'the insertion of the Apocrypha interrupts the signatures.'

The Metrical Psalms have not been catalogued as editions of Scripture. But the following pages show how often they occur bound up with copies of the Bible or New Testament. Unless the contrary is stated, Sternhold and Hopkins' version is meant.

The letters [F. F.] signify that the copy belongs to the Fry Collection.

The number which closes an entry is that assigned to the edition in this Catalogue for purposes of reference.

PART I.—ENGLISH

1525. FACSIMILE. (The New Testament.)

[Peter Quentell: Cologne. 1525.] 4°. 3.1.

Photo-lithographed from the unique copy, now in the Grenville Collection, British Museum; edited with an elaborate preface by E. Arber (London, 1871).

Nothing but this fragment survives of the earliest, though—so far as is known—unfinished, edition of the New Testament in English. Translated by William Tindale.

Tindale, otherwise Hychyns, born c. 1490, studied at Oxford, and afterwards at Cambridge. By 1528 he had resolved that, if God should spare his life, before many years he would cause plough-boys to know the Scripture. Discountenanced in London, he crossed to Hamburg, and completed his translation on the Continent, using William Roye as an amanuensis. At Antwerp in 1585 he was betrayed to his enemies, and imprisoned in the Castle of Vilvorde, where he died a martyr in October, 1586.

According to Johann Dobneck (Cochläus), in his De Actis et Scriptis Martini Lutheri (1549 ed., p. 182 f.), 3,000 copies of the first ten sheets (A-K) of this book had been secretly printed (probably by Peter Quentell) at Cologne, when the editors were obliged to flee to Worms, and there begin work afresh. Possibly the remaining sheets were then printed, and the whole book issued about the same time as the octavo edition from Schoeffer's press.

DESCRIPTION of the Grenville fragment. [Titleleaf, A 1, wanting.] The . prologge—7 ff., The booke conteyned in the newe Testament—1 p., on verso a full-page woodcut, representing St. Matthew; text, ff. 2 (not numbered) to xxiiij, ending abruptly in the middle of Matthew chap. xxii. (H 4 b). With marginal notes and references. Signatures: A-H*; 8 sheets, wanting 1 leaf; 31 ff.

1525. FACSIMILE. (The New Testament.)

[Peter Schoeffer: Worms. 1525.] 8°. 33. 1/2.

A lithographic reproduction of the Bristol copy of this Testament; with an Introduction etc. by Francis Fry. (Printed for the Editor, Bristol, 1862.)

The first edition of Tindale's New Testament definitely known to have been completed; printed, in all probability, by Peter Schoeffer at Worms in 1525.

Fry's No. 1. Of the original issue of 3,000 copies, only two are known to survive. One, a beautiful illuminated copy, preserved in the Baptist College Library, Bristol, apparently wants only the titleleaf. The other, in St. Paul's Cathedral Library, has 71 leaves missing.

DESCRIPTION of the Bristol copy. [Titleleaf, A 1, wanting.] text, ff. j (A ij) to oclliij (Tt 1) a; To the Reder. Geve diligence Reder . . . —3 pp., The errors comitted in the prentynge—3 pp., 1 p. blank.

Signatures: A-Z² AA² BB², Aa-Ss² Tt²; 248 ff. A full page contains 33 lines. No prologues, marginal notes, references, or chapter-contents. Outside the text, the volume contains nothing except a short epilogue To the Reder, and a list of errata.

Small woodcuts, representing the different Evangelists and Apostles, appear at the beginning of the Gospels, the following Epistles—Romans, 1 Peter, 1 John, Hebrews, James and Jude, and Revelation; and another cut (the Day of Pentecost) before Acts.

[The title may have been similar to that dated 1532, found in a copy of a New Testament of 1536 ('Mole' edition). A facsimile of this title (formerly in the possession of Dr. Angus), made from a tracing supplied by Francis Fry, is given at p. 352 in Demaus' William Tyndale (revised edition). It runs: The Newe Testa-ment in Engly[she] translated | after the [Greek con]tay | ninge these bokes | . . . (list of books, ending with) The Epistles taken out of the | olde Testament. | Anno. 1532.

THE TRANSLATION. A careful examination of Tindale's version of the New Testament shows that he translated directly from the Greek, using as collateral helps the Vulgate, Erasmus' Latin version (printed alongside his Greek text), and Luther's German New Testament of 1522. The Wycliffite versions seem to have exercised no considerable influence on Tindale or succeeding translators (cf. Westcott, History, p. 884 etc.). As regards himself Tindale's words are explicit: . . . I had no man to counterfet, nether was holpe with englysshe of eny that had interpreted the same, or soche lyke thige i the scripture beforetyme. . . . (To the Reder, octavo edition, 1525). Echoes of the fourteenth-century version in Tindale's work are apparently due to the fact that certain of Wycliffe's phrases had passed into current speech.

The variations from the quarto edition which occur in the text of the octavo are so slight that they may be ascribed to the printer. The octavo Testament contains no marginal notes. Those in the quarto show that Tindale, while adapting some of Luther's notes and transferring others bodily, wrote many himself expressly to accompany his own version. These marginal notes soon came to be described by his opponents as 'pestilent glosses.'

As regards the diction of Tindale's translation, it is remarkable to what an extent this first printed English New Testament fixed the phraseology of all its successors. Even in the Revised Version of 1881 it has been calculated that at least 80 per cent. of the words stand precisely as they stood in Tindale's Testament of 1525. Dr. Westcott thus sums up Tindale's achievement: 'He established a standard of Biblical translation which others followed. It is even of less moment that by far the greater part of his translation remains intact in our present Bibles, than that his spirit animates the whole. He toiled faithfully himself, and where he failed he left to those who should come after the secret of success. The achievement was not for one but for many; but he fixed the type according to which the later labourers worked. His influence decided that our Bible should be popular and not literary, speaking in a simple dialect, and that so by its simplicity it should be endowed with permanence.'

1531. (The Pentateuch.)

Hans Luft: Malborow. '17 Jan. 1580' [=1581]. 8°. Partly 32.1.

The editio princeps of the Pentateuch, and the first portion of the Old Testament printed in English.

This translation, which forms the basis of all subsequent English versions, was the work of William Tindale. There seems no doubt that while freely using the Vulgate, Luther's German Pentateuch (1528) and other versions, he translated from the Hebrew. The most convincing arguments in favour of this view are supplied by internal evidence, and by the translator's direct allusions to the Hebrew text at the end of the Genesis prologue and elsewhere.

DESCRIPTION. Genesis: title: The fyrst boke of Moses called Genesis (within woodcut border), on verso begins W. T. To the Reader. When I had translated the newe testament . . . —7 pp., A prologe shewing the vse of the scripture Though a man had a precious iuell . . . —4 ff. The text, ff. i to lxxvi, ending on L 4 a, followed on verso by A table expoundinge certeyne wordes —7 pp., ending on L 7 b with colophon: Emprinted at Malborow in the lan|de of Hesse, by me Hans Luft, | the yere of oure Lorde. M. | CCCC. xxx. the. xviij. | dayes of Janu | arij, 1 f. blank.

Black-letter; generally 31 lines to the full page. Signatures: [unsigned]^a, B-L^a; 88 ff.

Exodus: first title: A Prolo|ge in to the secon|de boke of Moses called Exodus, on verso begins W. T. Of the preface . . . (ending with a list of words explained) —15 pp.; second title: The secon|de boke of Moses, cal|led Exodus (within border), verso blank. The text, ff. ii to lxxvi, ending on K 4 a, verso blank.

Roman type (except occasional letters); 28 lines to the full page. Signatures: [unsigned]^a, A-I^a K^a; 84 ff. Many leaves are incorrectly numbered. There are 11 large woodcuts nearly filling the entire page on ff. 43 a and b, 44 a, 45 a, 46 b, 47 a, 48 b, 49 b, 50 b, 56 a, 57 b. These illustrate such subjects as The forme of the arke of witnesse . . ., The forme of Aaron with all his apparell, etc.

Leviticus: first title: A pro|loge in to the | thirde boke of Moses | called Leviticus (within border), on verso begins W. T. A prologe in to the thirde boke of Moses, called Leviticus. The ceremonies . . . —15 pp.; second title: The Thyrd Bo|ke of Moses. Cal|led Leuiti|cus (within border), verso blank. The text, ff. ii to lxx, ending on G 4 b.

Roman type, etc., as in Exodus. Signatures: A^a, A-F^a G^a; 60 ff.

Numbers: first title: A prolo|ge in to the fourth boke of Moses, called Nu|meri (within border), on verso begins W. T. A prologe in to the fourth boke of Moses, called Numeri. In the seconde . . . —19 pp.; second title: The four | the boke of Moses called | Numeri (within border), verso blank. The text, ff. ij to lxxvij, ending on K 8 b; 1 f. blank.

Black-letter, etc., as in Genesis. Signatures: A^a, B-I^a K^a; 78 ff.

Deuteronomy: title: A pro|loge in to the | fyfte boke of Moses, cal|led Deuteronomye (within border), on verso begins W. T. This is a boke . . . —7 pp. The text, ff. i to lxxiii, ending on I 7 b, followed (on the same page) by a short list of words explained, which runs over on to I 8 a, verso blank.

Roman type, etc., as in Exodus and Leviticus. Signatures: A^a, B-I^a; 68 ff.

The total number of leaves is 378.

In addition to the prologues many marginal notes occur in each section, some of them keenly controversial for the Protestant cause, e.g. the well-known comment on Numbers xxiii. 8 (How shall I curse whom God curseth not . . . etc.): The pope cā tell howe. Cf. also the notes on Genesis ix. 5, xlvii. 26, Exodus xxxvi. 6, etc.

The only woodcuts in the volume are the title-borders, a frame with blank shield at base (used seven times); and the eleven blocks in Exodus, which Tindale is said to have purchased with part of the money obtained from Tunstall, who bought up Tindale's Testaments in order to burn them (cf. Demaus' William Tyndale, rev. ed., p. 217). Identical or very similar blocks were used by Vorsterman for his Dutch Bible of 1528, and by Peter Quentell in a Latin Bible of 1529. Similar illustrations appear in Luther's Pentateuch of 1523.

The colophon at the end of Genesis alone supplies date and printer and place. There is no need to treat this colophon as intentionally misleading; for books extant, bearing a similar colophon, support the view that Hans Luft really was printing books at Marburg about this date, though his chief press was certainly at Wittenberg. Notwithstanding the variations of type, it is probable that all five sections of this volume issued from one press. One woodcut border is used for most of the titlepages, and the watermarks throughout are the same. (Cf. Athenæum, 18 April 1885.)

¶ 157 × 103 mm. Imperfect: wanting the first 9 leaves of Genesis (i.e. the Prologues and the first leaf of text), fo. 15 (B 7) of Leviticus, and the first 4 leaves (i.e. the Prologue) and the last leaf of Deuteronomy. These 15 leaves are supplied in facsimile. The blank leaf at the end of Genesis is also missing. The Genesis section appears to have belonged originally to another copy, as its leaves are more closely cut.

Four facsimile leaves of the second edition (1534) of Genesis (cf. note below), viz. A 1, 2, 7 and 8, are inserted at the beginning. [F. F.]

—Another copy.

152 × 95 mm. Very imperfect; wanting all Genesis (88 ff.), and 64 ff. of Exodus. Begins at Exod. ch. xxx, fo. 57 (H1), and is perfect on to the end of that book. Leviticus is perfect. Numbers wants the first and last leaves of the prologue (A 1 and 10). Deuteronomy wants the last sheet I (ff. 57–63, and the last leaf). In all, 162 ff. are missing. Genesis may have been in black-letter (1530 edition), or in roman type (1534).

This section, from Exodus fo. 57 to Deuteronomy fo. 56, is perfect, except for the 2 ff. missing from the Numbers prologue. It contains the Deuteronomy prologue, which is missing from the first copy.

A copy (G. 12161) in the B. M. wants only the blank leaf at the end of Numbers.

[In 1534 appeared a second edition, differing only in the first section (Genesis), which was revised and reprinted in roman type, the preliminary leaves being altered as follows: Title: The firste Boke of Moses called Genesis. Newly correctyd and amendyd by W.T. M.D.XXXIIII (within a border composed of four blocks representing above—the offering of Isaac, below—the crossing of the Red Sea, and at the sides—(left) the brazen serpent, and (right) Moses receiving the tables of the Law), verso blank; prologue: Vnto the reader W.T. Though a man had a precious Iuell. . .—11 pp. (The first prologue in the former edition is here omitted, and the second has certain changes.) The text begins on verso of the last page of prologue, with a woodcut initial letter. Signatures: A-L^a; 88 ff.; the leaves are numbered from A 8. No list of words at the end of this section and no colophon. There is a perfect copy in St. Paul's Cathedral Library.]

A facsimile reproduction of the unique copy of this long-lost work of Tindale, discovered in 1861 by Lord Arthur Hervey, afterwards Bishop of Bath and Wells; edited with Introduction etc. by F. Fry (London and Bristol, 1868).

DESCRIPTION. Title (without border or ornament), verso blank; W.T. vnto the Christen reader—19 ff. The Storie of the prophete Jonas (the text)—7 pp.; 1 p. blank.

Signatures: A-C^a; 24 ff. Black-letter, like that used by Martin de Keyser of Antwerp in a folio French Bible of 1530. Without date, printer and place. The book appears to be mentioned under the date 3 Dec. 1531, in a list of books denounced by Stokesley, Bp. of London. Tindale's Prologue to Jonah was reprinted with variations in the following editions of Matthew's Bible:—1549, Daye and Seres, and Raynolds and Hyll; 1551, John Daye, and Nicolas Hyll (and others).

A carefully revised edition of Tindale's New Testament of 1525.

Fry's No. 3. In a second address to the reader Tindale defends with much spirit his own translation against the pretended corrections of Joye, and quotes for the purpose of identification the tytle of Joye's unauthorised 16° edition of August 1534 (Fry's No. 2), a copy of which is in the B. M.

DESCRIPTION. Seventeen preliminary leaves: first title (within woodcut border), on verso begins W. T. vnto the Reader (ending with notes on Repentaunce and Elders)—17 pp., A prologe into the .iiii. Euangelystes . . . ending with A warninge to y^e reader if ought be scaped thorow negligence of the prynter . . . and an erratum (Matt. xxiii. 26)—2 ff., Willyam Tindale, yet once more to the christen reader—9 pp., 1 p. blank; second title: The ne-|we Testa-|ment,|Imprinted at An-|werp by Marten|Emperowr. | Anno. M.D. xxxiiij. (within woodcut border), on verso The booke contayned in the newe Testament. The text, ff. i (really 2, A ii) to cccclxxxliii (really 384, Bb 6) b; followed on the same page by . . . the Epistles taken oute of the olde testament, which are red in the church after the vse of Salsburie vpon certen dayes of the yere, which end on fo. cccc (Dd 6) a, on verso begins This is the Table, where in you shall fynde, the Epistles and the Gospels, after the vse of Salsbury, with a note at the end on certain words ('Infernus,' 'Hell,' etc.) under the heading These thinges haue I added to fill vp the leffe with all, ending on Ee 8 a (not numbered) with the words The ends of this booke, verso blank.

Signatures: * * * *, A-Z^{a-z} Aa-Ee^a; 424 ff. In the foliation 249 and 250 are omitted, and the last 8 ff. are not numbered. A full page contains 83 lines. References, subject-headings, and notes—a few of the last in roman type—appear in the margins. There are Prologues (chiefly based on Luther's) to all the Epistles; that before Romans fills 34 pp. Two curious misprints occur in the O.T. Epistles: (1) in Gen. xxvii. 20, a sand pitte for some pitte; (2) in Isa. liii. 2, as a sparow for as a spraye.

The woodcut border of the first title is a frame with a blank shield at base. That of the second differs slightly, and the shield bears three graving tools and the initials M K, i.e. Martin de Keyser. The 39 woodcuts include small cuts of the Evangelists, the Day of Pentecost, SS. Paul, Peter and James, and 22 larger cuts to illustrate the Revelation.

¶ 154 × 95 mm. Wants only the last leaf, which is supplied in facsimile. In sixteenth-century binding, with goffered edges.

This edition of Tindale's New Testament is considered to be the last revised by the translator himself, and forms the basis of the text printed in Matthew's Bible of 1587.

Fry's No. 4; known as the 'G. H.' edition, from the monogram on the second title-page. H. Stevens conjectured that G. H. stands for Guillaume Hytchins, the assumed name of Tindale, and the other part of the monogram for Jacob van Meteren, as the printer. But H. Bradshaw (Collected Papers, p. 354) proved the monogram to be a trade-mark, which indicates that Godefridus Dumeus, i.e. Govaert van der Haghen (G. H.), was the publisher of the book. Printed possibly by Martin de Keyser.

DESCRIPTION. [Twenty-nine] preliminary leaves: first title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso *An Almanack for . xxi . yeares (1535-55), [? Kalendar—6 ff.], The office of all estates—1 f., Willyam Tindale vnto the Christen Reader (with notes on Repentaunce and Elders)—15 pp., A prologe into the .iiii. woodcut border), on verso The booke conteyned in the newe Testament. The text, ff. i (really 2, A ij) to ccxlvii (really 327, s 7) a; on the same page begin . . . the Epistles taken out of the olde testament . . . after the vse of Salzbury . . .—these end on v 4 b, and are followed by . . . the Table, where in ye shall fynde the Epistles and the Gospels, after the vse of Salzbury—8 ff., ending on x 8 b.

Signatures: [signature not known] * * * * *, A-Z a-t v, x²; 376 ff. The preliminary leaves, and those in the last sheet, are not numbered; the foliation of the rest of the book is most incorrect. Only two leaves before the signature * are extant, containing the first title (dated 1535), Almanack, and The office of all estates; probably 6 ff. of Kalendar (mentioned in the title) made up with these the first sheet. It appears from the date 1534 on the second title (A 1 a) that the printing of the text was begun in that year, the first title and preliminary leaves being added in 1535. A full page contains 39 lines. References, subject-headings, and notes in the margins. The prologues, as well as part of the marginal matter, are printed in a different and smaller type. The error (Matt. xxiii. 26) noted in the Nov. 1534 edition and the two misprints in the O. T. Epistles do not appear.

The first title-border seems to be that used in the Nov. 1534 edition, with blank shield. The second title-border represents above—Christ preaching, at the sides—(left) Moses receiving the tables of the Law, and (right) the brazen serpent; below is the monogram. The cuts in the text resemble generally those in the Nov. 1534 edition; but those of SS. Paul, Peter, and James are new.

¶ 140 × 89 mm. Contains the only two leaves of the first sheet known to exist. Probably wants only the Kalendar (? 6 ff.) in the preliminary matter. Text perfect. The 21 ff. (s 8 to end) of additional matter, which were missing, have been supplied in facsimile. Recently rebound. Inserted at the end are (1) four leaves (formerly placed after the first title), containing the second address of the Nov. 1534 edition (Thou shalt vnderstande moost dere reader . . . etc.), copied in MS.; and (2) a leaf (fo. xiiii) from Powell's Latin-English Testament (1549), which had been used to back the volume in binding. [Qu. Christopher Froschouer : Zurich ?] f^o. 33. 11.

The editio princeps of the printed English Bible. Translated by Miles Coverdale (1488-1568), a Yorkshireman educated at Cambridge, who spent many years on the Continent. Consecrated Bishop of Exeter, 1551, he was deprived in 1558, and after further exile ended his days in London.

THE TRANSLATION. This Bible, according to the statement on the original title-page (see below), was faithfully and truly translated out of Douche [i.e. German] and Latyn. And in the Dedication to Henry VIII Coverdale himself says: I haue . . . purely & faythfully translated this out of fyue sundry interpreters . . .; so in the Prologue: And to helpe me herin, I haue had sondrye translacions, not onely in latyn, but also of the Douche interpreters: whom (because of theyr synguler gyftes & speciall diligence in the Bible) I haue ben the more glad to folowe for the most parte. Thus Coverdale does not profess to have translated directly from the Hebrew and Greek originals. A careful examination of the text itself confirms this view, and enables us to ascertain, almost beyond doubt, that his fyue sundry interpreters were the Swiss-German version of Zwingli and Leo Juda (printed at Zurich 1524-29), the Latin version of Sanctes Pagninus (the first edition of which appeared in 1528), Luther's German version (finished in 1532), the Vulgate, and Tindale. In the main his translation is based on the first two of these.

That Coverdale did translate directly from the original languages has been sometimes argued on the following grounds:—(1) A critical examination shows that he sometimes follows the Hebrew or Greek in preference to the Latin. [But this may quite fairly be ascribed to the influence of the German 'interpreters.'] (2) The omission of the words out of Douche and Latyn from the 'English' title (see below) suggests that they were suppressed as misleading. [H. Stevens (Bibles in the Caxton Exhibition, p. 70) pointed out an obvious explanation. As the title is in a woodcut border, space is limited. The printer of the new title completed the quotation from Joshua, thus adding two lines. To gain this space he had to save two lines earlier in the title. Consequently the words which could best be spared were dropped—and truly and out of Douche and Latyn. The facts as to the translation are sufficiently set forth in the Dedication (which first appears along with the changed title) and in the Prologue.] (3) In a letter dated Paris, 23 June 1538, written to Thomas Cromwell, Earl of Essex, by Coverdale and Grafton, when preparing the Great Bible of 1539, these words occur: We follow . . . not only a standing text of the Hebrew, with the interpretation of the Chaldee and the Greek; but we set also in a private table the diversity of readings of all texts . . .; and it seems natural to infer that Coverdale used these same helps for his earlier Bible. [Even this is by no means conclusive. And the evidence on the other side, both external and internal, far outweighs it. Coverdale certainly had some knowledge of Hebrew; but his own statement as to his methods of translation cannot be explained away. And so far as his version has been critically examined, almost every rendering can be traced directly to one or other of the five 'interpreters' mentioned above.]

Though his work does not rank beside Tindale's, it was Coverdale's glory to produce the first printed English Bible, and to leave to posterity a permanent memorial of his genius in that most musical version of the Psalter which passed into the Book of Common Prayer, and has endeared itself to generations of Englishmen. (See No. 25.)

We may note two curious renderings, first found in this version, which lent popular names to certain later editions of the English Bible; So yf thou shalt not nedde to be afraied for eny bugges by night (Ps. xci. 5); and there is no more Triacle at Galaad (Jer. viii. 22).

PLACE AND PRINTER. Nothing definite is known as to the place of printing. The type of the body of the book has never been satisfactorily identified. Some of the larger letters, however, in the titles and headlines occur in certain contemporary books printed at Zurich, Worms, Mainz, Wittenberg and Cologne. Many minor indications point to Zurich as the most likely place, and to Froschover (who printed the Coverdale Bible of 1550) as the probable printer.

Symeon Ruytinek in his short Life of Emanuel van Meteren, printed in the latter's Nederlandsche Historie (1614 edition, fo. 672), seems to state that Coverdale's translation was made and printed at the expense of Jacob van Meteren of Antwerp. This is confirmed by Emanuel's affidavit, 1609, cited in Dict. of Nat. Biog., art. Coverdale. And Coverdale apparently alludes to such an arrangement in his Prologue: . . . I was instantly requyred . . . etc. Henry Stevens (in the Introduction to Bibles in the Caxton Exhibition) attempted to base on Symeon Ruytinek's notice the strange theory that Jacob van Meteren was responsible even for the translation itself, using Coverdale merely as his reviser for the press. (Cf. Athenaeum, July–August, 1884; and Dict. of Nat. Biog. l.c.)

DESCRIPTION. [Eight] preliminary leaves (see below): title (within woodcut border), verso blank, Dedication: Unto the most victorious Prynce and oure most gracyous soueraigne Lorde, kynge Henry the eyght . . . signed your graces humble subiects and daylye oratour, Myles Couerdale—5 pp., A prologe. The booke of Hester (within border), on verso the contents of Joshua; the text, ff. ij to cxx (vv 6) b; (3) Job–Solomons Ballettes, ff. i to liij (li 4) a (on this last page are given two Fautes escaped in the pryncinge of this parte), verso blank; (4) Isaiah–Malachi (with Baruch), with title: All the Prophetes in Englishe. Esay . . . Malachy (within border), on verso the contents of Isaiah; the text, ff. ij to cii (Rrr 6) b; (5) the Apocrypha (except Baruch), with title: Apocrypha . . . The thirde booke of Esdras.

*The seconde boke of the Machabees. The gospell of S. Mathew. . . . The Resurcion of S. Jhon (within border), on verso the contents of Matthew; the text, ff. ij to cxliij (TT 5) b; at the end of the text is *A faulte escaped in pryncing the new Testament, below which is the colophon: Prynted in the yere of oure Lorde M. D. XXXV. and fynished the fourth daye of October; 1 f. blank.

The title and preliminary leaves mentioned above are printed in English black-letter, unlike the angular type used in the body of the book. The Marquis of Northampton's is apparently the only copy known which contains this 'English' title of 1535. But the copy preserved in the Earl of Leicester's library at Holkham Hall, has a different title: Biblia | The Bible, that | is, the holy Scripture of the | Olde and New Testament, faith- | fully and truly translated out | of Douche and Latyn | in to Englishe. | M.D. XXXV. | S. Paul. II. Tessa. III. | Prais for vs. . . . and be glorified. dc. | S. Paul Col. III. | Let the words . . . in all wysdome dc. | Josue I. | Let not the boke . . . therin daye and night dc. (within the same woodcut border); on verso, The boke of the whole Byble . . . (ending at the bottom of the page with Malachias, Malachy the prophet). In this same copy is also found a unique leaf of preliminary matter, containing on recto the end of the prologue from the words are able to make satisfaction . . . to the end . . . be glory and domynis now and ever. Amen., and on verso: The first boke of Moses, called Genesis. What this boke conteyneth. Now both this title (hence styled the 'foreign' title) and this leaf are printed in the same angular type which is used in the body of the book. No doubt they are relics of the preliminary matter as originally issued, which, in all probability, consisted of four leaves, containing title, list of books (2 pp.), prologue (4 pp.), and contents of Genesis. (One of the two British Museum copies, C. 18. c. 9, has an imperfect title resembling that in the Earl of Leicester's copy.) It appears that the printer who promoted the sale of the edition in England cancelled these leaves, and issued instead a fresh title (slightly altered) and seven other preliminary leaves (including a Dedication to the king), all of which were printed in English black-letter. This printer—no doubt Nycolson, from whose press came the second edition of 1537—probably also inserted the map which is found in some copies of this Bible.

It should be noted that the first page of the Dedication in a genuine copy of this edition contains the words . . . your dearest iust wyfe, and most vertuous Pryncesse, Quene Anne (i.e. Anne Boleyn). In some copies is found Quene Jane (i.e. Jane Seymour, whom the king married 20 May 1536); Fry has shown that this 'Queen Jane leaf' really belongs to Nycolson's 1537 Bible, and has been substituted for the other.

Varieties of the 1535 title are found in a copy at the University Library, Cambridge, and in another sold by Mr. Quaritch in 1900. Yet another title, very similar to the 1535 English title, but bearing the date M.D.XXXVI, occurs in the copy formerly in the possession of the Earl of Jersey (now Lord Carysfort's), and also in that preserved in the library of Gloucester Cathedral.

Signatures: \times^a (Nycolson's issue), a-p⁶, aa-vv⁶, Aa-Hh⁶ Ii⁶, Aaa-Brr⁶, A-O⁶, AA-TT⁶; 570 ff. Each part of the text has a separate foliation. The text is printed in angular black-letter; two columns on a page, 57 lines to the full column; no catchwords. In the margins are printed references, a few alternative renderings, and the letters denoting the sections into which each chapter is divided; there are no verse-divisions. The chapter-contents are given together at the beginning of each book. No notes, except a very few in the margins. A short preface occurs before Proverbs, and another before the Apocrypha.

Woodcuts: The border to the general title is composed of four blocks: (1) the top block represents the Sacred Name יהוה, in the left corner a picture of the Fall, Genesis. 2, with the words In what daye so ever thou | eatest therof, thou shalt dye, and in the right corner the risen Christ, Mathe. 28, with the words This is my deare sonne, in whom | I delyte, heare him. Matth. 17; (2) the left-hand block contains representations (above) of Moses on the Mount receiving the Tables of the Law, Ezo. 21, with the words These are the lawes, that | thou shalt laye before them, and (below) of the reading of the Law, 3 Esdre. 9; (3) the right-hand block shows (above) our Lord giving his last charge to the disciples, Marci. 16, with the words Go yours waye in to all the | worlde, & preach the Gospell, and (below) St. Peter preaching, Actuum 2; (4) the bottom block represents Henry VIII seated on his throne, with the royal arms displayed below; the king holds in his right hand a sword, and with his left presents the Bible to a group of prelates kneeling on his right side, while a similar group of nobles are kneeling on his left; in the left corner stands David bearing his harp, with the words O howe swete are thy | vvordes vnto my | throte: yee more then hony dc., Psal. 118, and in the right corner is St. Paul holding a sword in his right hand, with the words I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God. Ro. 1. The border to the pt. 2 title is composed of eight blocks: (above) three blocks—Joshua viewing the slain, Moses, and the storming of a city; (at the sides) two ornamental blocks—boys blowing horns; (below) three blocks—the Ark crossing Jordan, David, and the fall of Jericho. The border to the pt. 4 title is similar to that of pt. 2, but has different corner blocks, representing Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel's vision, and Daniel in the lions' den, and an extra block inserted beneath the letterpress of the title—Baruch reading the prophecy. The border to the pt. 5 title is also similar, but the corner blocks represent a priest reading the Law, the return to Jerusalem, the sortie after the death of Holophernes, and the storming of a city. The border to the N. T. title is also similar, but the small central block at the top represents our Lord triumphing over death, and that at the bottom St. John Baptist; while the four corner blocks depict the Evangelists. The woodblocks in the text include two before Genesis (representing the six days of Creation), a large illustration of the Tabernacle, and many small cuts (generally about 70 × 50 mm.) scattered throughout the volume. Altogether 68 separate woodblocks are used, and by repetition these are made to form 158 distinct illustrations.

A map is inserted at the end of the Pentateuch in some copies. It is entitled: The description of the lande of promes, called Palestina, Canaan, or the holy lande, and measures 400 × 297 mm. The inscriptions on the two scrolls are in English. According to a MS. note by Fry only two whole copies of this map, and four halves, are known to exist. One of the two copies of this Bible in the John Rylands Library at Manchester possesses a perfect and unique impression of the map, with the inscriptions in Latin, and other peculiarities.

¶ 317 × 202 mm., with original rough edges to some leaves. Like every other copy extant, it is imperfect. Wants title and all preliminary leaves except \times 3, also a 3 to 6, and the last leaf of text (TT 5)—12 ff., which are supplied in facsimile. The two blank leaves (O 6 and TT 6) are also missing. And the right half of the map is wanting.

Inserted at the beginning of the copy are the following:—(1) Facsimiles of three title-leaves—(a) the original, or 'foreign,' title, (b) the 'English' 1536 title, (c) the imperfect 'foreign' title found in one of the two B. M. copies (C. 18. c. 9), as first mended by Harris, who completed it by copying the right half of the titlepage in the 'Apryll 1540' (Petyt and Redman) Bible, or that of 1549 (Raynalde and Hyll), which gives the legends in Latin, not in English. (2) A facsimile of the unique leaf of preliminary matter (in 'foreign' type) found in the Earl of Leicester's copy. (3) A map (genuine) out of the Bishops' Bible of 1574, being an impression off the same block as that used for the Coverdale map. (4) Harris' facsimile of the 1535 map. (5) A photograph of the 1535 English title (wanting the bottom right-hand corner, which has been incorrectly completed by hand), taken from the Marquis of Northampton's copy. (6) A facsimile of the Prayer printed on verso of the title found in one of the copies in the University Library, Cambridge (this Prayer very closely resembles that printed on verso of the title in the 1537 edition—see below). [F. F.]

— Another copy.

301 × 196 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and all preliminary leaves, also a 1 to 6, b 1, TT 1, 2, 3 and 5—19 ff., which are supplied in facsimile. The two blank leaves are also missing. Part of the map appears to be genuine, but has been restored.

Inserted at the beginning are facsimiles of the three other titles mentioned above, and of the unique preliminary leaf found in the Earl of Leicester's copy.

M. D. and .XXXUJ.

[Qu. Antwerp ?]. 4°. 33. 1.

There are three distinct quarto editions of Tindale's New Testament, all bearing this date, which, while agreeing closely, differ throughout in many small points.

They are distinguished from one another chiefly by the variations in a woodcut of St. Paul, prefixed to eleven Epistles. The Apostle's foot rests on a stone, which in one edition is blank; in another it bears the figure of a mole (or hedgehog); and in the third an engraver's mark or monogram, with the initials A. B. K. The text agrees closely with that of the G. H. edition.

F. Fry in his work, A Bibliographical Description of the Editions of the New Testament, Tyndale's Version, . . . (pp. 72-82), deals at length with these three quarto editions. They were probably published independently of the translator, and were printed at Antwerp by one or other of the following printers:—Symon Cowke, Christopher Endhoven, William Vorsterman, Matthew Crom, or Hans van Buremonde; the last seems to be the most likely name. Herbert (pp. 492-3) suggests John Goughe of London. All three issues differ in the cut of St. Paul (alluded to above), in the cut of St. Matthew, and (slightly) in the arrangement or spelling of the two titles, etc. There is no conclusive evidence to show their order of publication. But various small differences mentioned below suggest that the 'Mole' edition was the first, and the 'Blank Stone' the last, of the three.

As the corresponding leaves in each edition are generally interchangeable, no doubt many copies have been mixed.

A. Known as the 'Mole' edition. Fry's No. 8.

DESCRIPTION. Four preliminary leaves: title (within narrow woodcut frame), verso blank, Wyllyam Tyndale unto the Christen Reader—5 pp., The office of all estates and A prayer to be sayd dayly—1 p. Text: Matthew—Acts, ff. 1 (not numbered) to cxlij (s 6) a, verso blank; title: The epistles of the Apostle Saynt Paul. . . The Epistles of S. Peter. . . The Reuelacion of Saynt John the diuine. | The Epistles taken oute of the olde Testament. | A necessary Table for the hole newe Testament. | Prynted in the yere of oure Lorde. | 1 5 3 6 (within same frame as general title), verso blank, A prologe vpon the Epistle . . . to the Romayns—13 pp., 1 p. blank (these 8 ff. are not numbered); text, Romans—Revelation, ff. 143 (not numbered) to cclvj (H 8) a; on verso begin . . . the Epistles taken oute of the olde Testament . . . after the vse of Salisbury . . .—21 pp., ending on fo. ccliiij (really 256, I 10) b; This is the Table wherein ye shall fynde the Epistles and the Gospels, after the vse of Salisbury—8 ff., ending on x 8 b, with a small cut of the royal arms.

Signatures: [second leaf signed † ij, and third leaf A iij]^a, a-r^a s^a, A^a, t-z^a A-H^a I^a, x^a; 276 ff. The numbers 252 and 253 are repeated in the foliation. A full page contains 38 lines. References, and only two notes (Acts xvii. 28, Aratus; Tit. i. 12, Epimenides), in the margins; contents at the head of each chapter in the first part; prologues, printed in smaller type than the text. The necessary Table mentioned in the general title and that (probably the same) alluded to in the title to the second part are not found in any extant copy, and apparently were omitted.

Sheet A (containing title to second part and prologue to Romans) seems to have been printed separately from the rest of the book, and afterwards inserted, since it interrupts the foliation and sequence of signatures.

Among the errors may be noted the omission in 1 Cor. xi. 25 of the words This cup is the new testament in my blood (fo. clxij, x iij, b).

The numerous woodcuts, many of which repeat the same blocks, include cuts of the Evangelists, 122 small cuts in the Gospels, the Day of Pentecost, the Conversion of St. Paul, 88. Paul, Peter and James, and 21 large cuts in Revelation, as well as the title-border, and a small cut of the royal arms (with dragon and greyhound as supporters) on the last page. Cuts identical with, or very similar to, many of these are found in books printed at various presses.

¶ 235 × 149 mm. A duplicate of fo. clxxxvij (A 5), showing slight variations, is inserted. [F. F.]

— ANOTHER EDITION.

B. Known as the 'Engraver's Mark' edition. Fry's No. 9.

The cut of St. Paul, containing the engraver's mark, is found in a book entitled Storys and prophesies out of the holy scriptur . . . (1535,86), printed by Symon Cowke at Antwerp (Herbert, p. 1545).

This generally agrees closely with the 'Mole' edition. The office of all estates, however, is printed on verso of the title, instead of on the last page before the text, which is blank in this edition. The second and third preliminary leaves are signed x iij and x iij, and the first sheet in the second part bears the signature †. In pt. 2 title, Ebrues occurs instead of Hebrues in the 'Mole' edition. The last leaf before the Table is correctly numbered cclvj. One new note is added, 1 Cor. xv. 52, Memander.

¶ 222 × 139 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and three following leaves. (Fry apparently removed these on the ground that they belonged to the 'Blank Stone' edition.) The second and third leaves of the Prologue to Romans really belong to the 'Mole' edition; they are signed A ij and A iij. All the rest of the volume is 'correct,' according to Fry's note.

Inserted at the beginning are a photograph of the titlepage; a reprint (2 pp.) of A Proclamation for the abolishing of English bookes, after the death of Anne Askew, set forth by the King, Anno 1546, the eighth day of July; and many MS. notes. [F. F.]

— ANOTHER EDITION.

C. Known as the 'Blank Stone' edition. Fry's No. 7.

This generally agrees with the 'Mole' and 'Engraver's Mark' editions, but differs in the following points:—The woodcut frame of the titles is shortened by the removal of the bases to the columns. The preliminary matter and the Romans prologue are printed in a different type, with 57, instead of 59, lines to the full page. The lines in the text are slightly longer, and the print shows wider spacing.

Other noticeable points are:—The second preliminary leaf is signed * ij, and the third A iij; while the first sheet in the second part bears the signature A. The pt. 2 title is printed in larger type (the same as the first title). In some copies of this edition the mistake in 1 Cor. xi. 25 is corrected. Variants—incorrect and corrected leaves—are also found of x 5 and y 7. Sig. I 10 is numbered ccliiij, as in the 'Mole' edition.

¶ 203 × 146 mm. The first title is mended. Contains both impressions of the three variant leaves mentioned above. Inserted are many MS. notes by G. Offor and F. Fry. [F. F.]

1536. The newe | Testament yet once | agayne corrected by | Wylliam Tyndall,
Wheare vnto is added an exhortacion | to the same of Erasmus Rot. | with an Englysshe Kalender | And a Table, necessary to fynde | easly and the Apostles. | 1536.

[Qu. Antwerp?] 8°. 33. 1.

There are three, or perhaps four, octavo editions of Tindale's New Testament bearing this date, which, while agreeing closely, differ throughout in many small points. The text in all agrees generally with that of the G. H. edition.

Although we have no direct evidence as to printer or place, they were probably all produced at Antwerp.

A. Fry's No. 10.

DESCRIPTION. Twenty-nine preliminary leaves: first title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso An Almanack for .xxi. yeares (1535-55), Kalendar—6 ff., The offyce of all estates—1 f., An exhortacion . . .—23 pp., 1 p. blank, Wylliam Tindale vnto the Christen reader—8 ff.; second title: The newe | testament | newlye | corrected (with a rose below title, and ornaments at top and bottom), on verso The booke conteyned . . . (with rose and cornflower at foot of page). Text, A ij to z iiij b; Here folowe the Epystles taken out of the olde Testamēt . . . after the vse of Salisbury . . ., which end on bb iij a; on the same page begins . . . the Table wherein ye shal fynde the Epystles and the Gospels after the vse of Salisbury, ending on cc 4 a, verso blank.

Signatures: [unsigned]^a [second leaf marked ij]^a x^a *^a, A-Z^a &^a o^a a-p^a q^a r-s^a aa^a bb^a cc^a; 426 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 35 lines. References, subject-headings, and notes, in the margins. Contents before each chapter, in the Gospels and Acts. Prologues to most of the books. Of S. Marke, what man he was, & of hys auctoryte is printed after St. Mark's Gospel. The exhortacion in the preliminary matter is a translation of Erasm'i Roterodami Paraclesis Ad Lectorem Pium prefixed to the first (1516) and subsequent editions of his Greek Testament.

Among the errors may be noted, Mark v. 27, 30 preache for preace (or press), Phil. iii. 19 worthely mynded for worldely mynded, and a strange confusion of words in Rev. xix. 15.

This edition may be readily distinguished from Fry's Nos. 11 and 12 by two decisive differences:—(1) The lines in the text are slightly shorter, measuring 57 mm., instead of 60 mm. in the other two editions; and the letters are consequently printed more closely. (2) The asterisks referring to marginal notes have 5 points in No. 10, but 7 points in Nos. 11 and 12.

¶ 129 × 86 mm. Imperfect: wanting both titles (which are, however, supplied in facsimile) and all preliminary matter except Tindale's Address (8 ff.); also 38 leaves of text—H 1, 8 7, X 1 and 8, all sheet Q, a 1, 4 and 5, b 1 and 2, i 8 and 4, t 8, v 1, 2, 8, 6, 7 and 8, x 6 and 8, y 8, 5 and 6, z 2 and 4; and 16 leaves of supplementary matter—z 5, 6 and 7, and aa 8 to end; 70 ff. in all. [F. F.]

There is a large perfect copy in the John Rylands Library.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

B. Fry's No. 12.

No perfect copy of this edition is known to exist. It agrees closely with Fry's No. 10 described above, and probably contained exactly the same preliminary and supplementary matter, though no leaves before the Exhortacyon, or after bb 8, are extant.

DESCRIPTION. [? title, almanack, etc.—8 ff.,] An Exhortacyon . . . —23 pp., 1 p. blank, Willyam Tyndale unto the Christen reader—8 ff.; second title: The newe testament newlye corrected | M.D. xxxvi. (within woodcut border, with flower above date), on verso The booke conteyned . . . (with ornament at foot of page). Text, A ij to t (really z) iij b; followed by the O.T. Epistles and Table, ending probably on cc 4, as in No. 10.

Signatures: [—]'^a [leaves numbered 1 to 12 at foot] '^a, A-Z^a &^a Q^a a-p^a q^a r-z^a aa^a bb^a [—]'^a; probably 428 ff. Generally agrees closely with the other edition, though there are slight variations in the text and woodcuts. Phil. iii. 19 is printed correctly.

¶ 126 × 88 mm. Imperfect: wanting all preliminary matter except Tindale's Address (8 ff.) and second title, and all supplementary matter—z 5 to end; probably 44 ff. in all. The text is perfect. [F. F.]

There is a less imperfect copy in Lambeth Palace Library. (A copy of the very similar edition, Fry's No. 11, may be seen in the Baptist College Library, Bristol; and a copy of Fry's No. 13—the last of this group—in St. Paul's Cathedral Library.)

12.

[The 1536 folio edition of Tindale's Testament (Fry's No. 6), ascribed by H. Bradshaw to T. Godfray, London, is generally considered to be the first portion of the English Scriptures printed on English ground. A perfect copy is in the Bodleian Library.]

1537? (The New Testament.)

[Qu. James Nycolson: Southwark. 1537?] 8°. 38. 11.

Coverdale's version.

The only copies known are imperfect, both at the beginning and at the end, and leave us uninformed as to printer, place, and date. But the type, initial letters, etc. agree very closely with those used by James Nycolson of Southwark, especially in his quarto Bible of 1537. The contents of chapters stand in the form of a summary before each book (as in the 1535 folio Bible), and not at the head of each chapter as in Matthew Crom's 1538 New Testament; and only one of Tindale's Prologues appears in this edition. Both these points suggest that this edition preceded M. Crom's, and was printed in 1537 or even earlier. Lea Wilson (p. 148) mentions under 'circa 1535' an edition which appears to resemble this; and J. Dix suggested 1534 or 1535 as the date of the similar edition described below.

DESCRIPTION. [title, etc. ?], Prologue—4 ff., The summe of this Gospel (Matthew)—2 ff. text, ff. 1 (not numbered) to ccc. lii (Yy 8) b; . . . the Epistles of the olde Testament . . . after the use of Salisbury . . . —81 pp., ending on fo. ccc. lxxviii (bb 8) a, on verso begins The Table . . . (? pp.) . . .

Signatures: [—] A'^a, A-Y^a Aa-Cc^a, X^a *^a, Dd-Yy^a, aa^a bb^a [—]; [—] + 6 + 368 + 16 + [—] ff. The two sheets X^a and *^a, containing the Prologue to Romans, are not included in the foliation. A full page contains 36 lines. References in the margins. Coverdale's summaries before each book. Gloses at the end of many chapters. No prologues, except that of Tindale to Romans, inserted between sheets Cc and Dd.

The woodcuts include cuts of the four Evangelists and St. Paul, like those used in Nycolson's folio Bible of 1537.

¶ 138 × 84 mm. Imperfect: wanting all the leaves before The summe, and all after bb 7; also 14 ff. of text—S 1, X 1, 3, 6 and 8, Y 1, 2 and 8, Bb 1, Cc 8, Dd 7 and 8, Ee 1 and 8. The leaf bb 8 is supplied in facsimile, from the copy in the possession of Lord Amherst. The B. M. has also an imperfect copy (C. 51. a. 1.), catalogued under 1538.

At the beginning are inserted 7 pp. of MS. notes by Fry, who mentions that he discovered 14 leaves of this copy bound up with a Greek Testament; the water-stains and other marks show clearly that these leaves originally belonged to the volume in which they are now replaced.

[F. F.]

— ANOTHER EDITION.

This closely resembles the preceding, having the same signatures and agreeing generally page for page throughout the book.

In a MS. note J. Dix quotes G. Offor's opinion that this edition was printed circa 1534, before Coverdale's first folio Bible, and suggests a Paris press. But, like the preceding edition, it was most probably printed by James Nycolson, at Southwark, about 1537. One difference between them is that this has woodcut initials only at the beginning of each book, the former at the beginning of nearly every chapter. Some leaves, e.g. in sheet Aa, are numbered incorrectly in this edition, but correctly in the former.

¶ 147 × 90 mm. Imperfect: beginning with fo. iiii (A iiii), and ending with fo. ccc.lvii (aa v); and the following leaves of text are missing—F 6, K 8, L 1, Q 1, Oo 8, Pp 8 and 4, Qq 8, Rr 7 and 8, Vv 5, aa 1. Many other leaves are badly mutilated, where cuts and initials have been taken out. A minute fragment of the title preserved at the beginning of the volume shows that it had a border of woodcuts.

Coverdale's version.

The first folio Bible printed in England. It is uncertain whether this, or the quarto also issued by Nycolson in the same year, was the earliest Bible printed on English ground. But probably this is the prior edition; since in the other the words Set forth with the Kynges moost gracious licence appear for the first time on the titlepage, and the Summaries are removed from the beginning of the books and placed at the head of each chapter.

The text, in spite of the words newly ouersene & corrected, appears to be a close reprint of Coverdale's Bible of 1535.

DESCRIPTION. Eight preliminary leaves: title (within woodcut border), on verso Because that whan thou goest to studye in holy scripture . . . (two forms of prayer to be said before and after reading the Scriptures), Dedication: Unto the moost victorious Prynce . . .—5 pp., A prologe . . . with Fautes escaped in pryntynge at the end—6 pp., The bokes of the whole Byble. . .—2 pp., The fyrst boke of Moses, called Genesis. What this boke contayneth—1 p. The text, divided into six parts: (1) Genesis—Ruth, ff. j to cix (really 118, V 4) a, verso blank; (2) 1 Samuel—Esther, with title (within border), on verso contents of 1 Samuel, text—ff. ii to c (Rr 4) b; (3) Job—Salomons Ballettes, ff. j to lx (kKk 6) b; (4) Isaiah-Malaichi, with title (within border), on verso contents of Isaiah, text—ff. ii to c.iii (Rrr 7) b, 1 f. blank; (5) Apocripa (containing Baruch), with title (within border), on verso The translatours unto the reader and contents of 3 Esdras, text—ff. ii to lxxxix (P 5) b, 1 f. blank; (6) N. T., with title (within border), on verso the contents of Matthew, text—ff. ij to Cxix (v 5) b, The table wherin ye shal fynd the Epistles & the Gospels after the vse of Salisbry—2 ff., 1 f. (? blank, or containing colophon).

Signatures: * * , A-T V*, Aa-Qq* Rr*, aAa-kKk*, Aaa-Qqq* Rrr*, A-P*, a-t* v*; 602 ff. Each part of the text has a separate foliation. The text is printed in bold English black-letter, two columns on a page, 57 lines to the full column; no catchwords. The headlines and folio numbers are printed in fine large type, except in pts. 4 and 5. Fo. 31 (f 1) in pt. 6 differs from the other leaves in the number of lines to the column, and in the spacing of the type. The two forms of prayer (by Nicolas [Shaxton] Bysshope of Salisbry) are like those printed on verso of title in one of the copies of the 1535 Bible, preserved in the University Library, Cambridge. In the Dedication Queene Jane supplants Queene Anne. As regards the marginal matter etc., the book generally agrees with the 1535 Bible. In the Psalter, the first line of the Latin is given at the beginning of each Psalm; and the Psalms are divided into verses.

The title-borders generally correspond to those used in the 1535 edition, with the following differences:—pt. 2 title: the corner blocks represent Samuel anointing David, David and Goliath, Elijah's sacrifice, and the storming of a city; and the whole is enclosed within an outer ornamental frame; pt. 5 title: the corner blocks at the top represent Moses and the Elders, and Baruch reading the prophecy; with outer frame; pt. 6 title: with outer frame. The cuts in the text do not occur so frequently in this edition. Excluding the title-borders, 57 separate blocks are used for 94 illustrations. Three of the blocks found in the 1535 Bible are not used, but one new cut—Jonah cast into the sea—is introduced. Some of the larger initial letters reproduce designs from The Dance of Death. No map appears to have been issued with this edition.

¶ 321 × 213 mm. Imperfect: wanting all preliminary leaves, the first leaf of text, and the two leaves of Table at the end;—11 ff., which are supplied in facsimile. The blank leaf at the end of pt. 4, and the eighth leaf (probably blank) of the last sheet, are also missing. [F. F.]

According to a MS. note, Fry was able, after many inquiries, to trace no more than eight copies of this edition. The Lincoln Cathedral Library copy wants only the last leaf.

4°. 33. 1/2.

Coverdale's version.

The first quarto Bible printed in England.

In spite of the statements on the general and New Testament titlepages, this, like the folio of 1537, appears to be a close reprint of Coverdale's Bible of 1535.

The royal licence, which now appears for the first time, was obtained probably by the influence of Thomas Cromwell, afterwards Earl of Essex.

DESCRIPTION. Eight preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso begins The boke of the hole Byble . . .—2 pp., Dedication: Unto the moost victorious Prince . . . and Prologue: Myles Couerdale vnto the Christen reader—9 pp., An Almanacke for xix. yeares and Kalendar—2 ff. The text, divided into four parts: (1) Pentateuch, ff. i to xcviij (n i) a; on verso (2) title: The seconde parte of the olde Testament. The boke of Josua. . . The boke of Hester, text—ff. cxviii (really 98) to cc.xxx (ff 6) a; on verso title: Apochripa. The boke and treatises . . . with list of books and preface, text—ff. cc.xxi to cc.xvii (really 328, ss 10) b; (3) title: The thyrd part of the olde testaments, whose contentes folowe in the nexte page. Imprinted in Southwarke for James Nycolson (within border), on verso The contentes of this boke. Job . . . Roma. i. | I am not ashamed . . . God (within border), on verso the list of books, text—ff. 2 (not numbered) to cxxiii (really 123, Q iii) a; on verso begins The table wherin ye shall fynde the Epistles and the Gospels after the use of Salisbury—4 pp., 1 p. blank, 1 f. blank.

Signatures: X^a, a-s^a aa-ee^a ff^a gg-rr^a ss^a, Aa-Hh^a Ii^a Kk-Zz^a, A-P^a Q^a; 642 ff. The numbering of the leaves in the text is most incorrect. Pts. 1 and 2 with the Apocrypha contain 328 leaves; pt. 3, 180; and the New Testament, 123;—altogether 631 leaves of text. The text is printed in small but clear black-letter, two columns on a page, 59 lines to the full column; no catchwords. Some titles of the books are in Latin (e.g. Judicum, Sapientia). Quene Jane in Dedication. Marginal notes etc., as in the folio edition of the same year. The contents are printed at the head of each chapter instead of together at the beginning of each book. At the end of some books the printer has attempted an artistic arrangement of asterisks, pointing hands, and other marks.

The woodcut title-border is composed of four ornamental blocks; that at the top has in the centre a medallion containing two heads. It is used for the general title (in which the line Set forth . . . licence is printed outside the border), and for the titles to pts. 3 and 4. Only two illustrations occur in the text, viz. the large cut of the Tabernacle, which fills the recto of fo. 44 (f iii) in pt. 1, and the small cut, representing Aaron in his robes, a few pages after (fo. 47, f 7, b). Some of the larger initial letters reproduce designs from The Dance of Death.

¶ 219 × 156 mm. Very imperfect: wanting all preliminary leaves; in pts. 1 and 2, with Apocrypha, ff. 1-8, 11-14, 19-22, 25, 32, 33, 314, 315; in pt. 3, ff. 87-90, 151; in pt. 4, ff. 41-48, 76, 77, 93-96, 121, 122; and the two last leaves (Q 5 and 6).

The correct numbers of the 43 missing leaves of text are given above; as in nearly every case these do not agree with the folio numbers as printed, it is useful to give also the signatures: all a, b 3 to 6, c 3 to 6, d 1 and 8, e 1, rr 4 and 5, Mm 3 to 6, Vv 3, all F, K 4 and 5, M 5 to 8, Q 1 and 2. One leaf, mm 7, is mutilated.

Seventeenth-century binding with brass corners.

Qu. Antwerp?] f°. 33. 1.

The first edition of the Bible known as 'Matthew's version.'

This version, which welds together the best work of Tindale and Coverdale, is generally considered to be the real primary version of our English Bible.

Thomas Matthew is commonly treated as a pseudonym of John Rogers (1500?-1555), Tindale's intimate friend, and the first martyr in the Marian persecution. But as Rogers only edited what is essentially Tindale's translation, it seems more probable that Matthew stands for Tindale's own name, which it was then dangerous to employ. The text in the Pentateuch adheres closely to Tindale's version, and the New Testament follows his G. H. edition. In the portion from Ezra to the end of the Apocrypha (including Jonah) it is substantially Coverdale's. But from Joshua to Chronicles the text differs so much from Coverdale's version that it is supposed to be based on a translation left by Tindale in manuscript form for Rogers' use. Rogers' own share in the work was probably confined to translating the prayer of Manasses (inserted here for the first time in a printed English Bible), and the general task of editing the materials at his disposal, and preparing the marginal notes, collected from various sources, e.g. Tindale, Pellican's Commentary, etc.

As to the place of printing, nothing definite is known. Conjecture points to Antwerp, perhaps at the press of Matthew Crom. The Kinges most gracious lyctce was obtained by Cromwell at Cranmer's request, in spite of, or, it may be, even in ignorance of, Tindale's close connection with the book. Richard Grafton and Edward Whitchurch, the London printers, published the edition of 1,500 copies in England.

DESCRIPTION. Twenty preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso *These thynges ensuyng are ioyned with thys present volume of the Byble . . . The text, divided into four parts:—(1) Genesis—Salomons Ballet, ff. 1 (not numbered) to Ccxlvij (Eh 7) a, verso blank; (2) title: The Prophetes in Englysh, Esay. . . Malachy (within border), on verso The Prophetes Esaye (with an engraving, and two pairs of flourished initials R G, E W), the text—ff. j to xciiij (MM 6) b (with flourished initials W T); (3) title: The volume of the bokes called Apocrypha: Contayned in the comen Transl. in Latyn, which are not founde in the Hebrue nor in the Chalde. The Regestre therof . . . (within border), on verso preface To the Reader, text—ff. ij to lxxxj (Kkk 9) b, 1 f. blank; (4) title: The newe Testament of oure sauour Jesu Christ, newly and dylygently translated into Englyshe with Annotations in the Mergent to helpe the Reader to the vnderstandynge of the Texte. Prynted in the yere of oure Lorde God. M.D.XXXVII. (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ij to Cix (O 5) a; on verso begins . . . the Table wherin ye shall fynde the Epistles and the Gospels, after the vse of Salisbury—5 pp., 1 f. (O 8) bearing on recto the colophon: The ende of the newe Testament, and of the whole Byble, To the honoure and prayse of God was this Byble prynted and fynessed, in the yere of oure Lorde God a, M.D.XXXVII, verso blank.*

Signatures: * * * * , a-z Aa-Hh*, AA-LL* MM*, Aaa-Iii* Kkk¹⁰, A-O*; 556 ff. The numbering of the leaves is generally correct. The text is printed in bold black-letter, two columns on a page, 60 lines to the full column; with catch-words. In the margins are printed references, section-letters, and numerous notes. Contents at the beginning of each chapter. The Ballet of Balettes of Salomon is divided into paragraphs, with separate headings printed in red, e.g. The voyce of the Churche, Christ to the Churche, etc. Tindale's prologue of 7 pages precedes Romans. The Dedication mentions Quene Jane. The table of the pryncypall matters, or concordance, is taken from Olivetan's French Bible printed at Neuchatel in 1535; and the Apocrypha preface is borrowed from the same book.

The large woodcut which forms the border of the general and N. T. titles represents (in the centre) a tree, supporting a tablet with the letter-press; (on the left) Moses receiving the Law, the Fall, the brazen serpent, and a tomb bearing a skeleton; (on the right) the Annunciation, the angels' message to the shepherds, the Crucifixion, and Christ rising from the grave and trampling on death; at the base of the tree is seated a man, solicited by two figures representing the Law and the Gospel. (The words Set forth . . . lyctce in the general title are printed outside the border.) The border of pt. 2 title is composed of sixteen small blocks, and that of pt. 3 title of fifteen blocks. The full-page engraving before the text represents Adam and Eve in Eden, surrounded by many birds and beasts. The large cut on verso of pt. 2 title illustrates Isaiah vi; and similar cuts, representing incidents in David's life, occur before Psalms and Proverbs. There are 41 distinct cuts (like those of the 1535 Bible) used in the text of pts. 1, 2 and 3; and cuts of the Evangelists, SS. Paul, Peter and James, and 21 illustrations to Revelation, in pt. 4. The elaborate woodcut title-border, and the full-page illustration of Adam and Eve, are said to resemble closely engravings found in a Low German Bible, printed at Lubeck in 1533.

The flourished initials I R, H R, R G, E W, and W T, referred to in the Description, no doubt stand for John Rogers, Henricus Rex, Richard Grafton, Edward Whitchurch, and William Tindale.

¶ 364 × 236 mm. Imperfect: wanting the general title, which is supplied in facsimile, the border being taken from a genuine copy of the N. T. title. The last leaf, in which five out of the eight lines of type are genuine, is completed in facsimile. The blank leaf at the end of pt. 3 is missing. The marginal matter is neither cut nor obliterated, as is the case with many copies.

Two extra leaves (ff. 12 and 13 of pt. 3) are inserted, exhibiting variations from their parallels in this copy. Fry suggested that they might belong to a 'pirated edition, of which J. Lenox has the centre of the title and last leaf, as it is supposed.' (Cf. Westcott, History, p. 78.) [F. F.]

— Another copy.

347 x 225 mm. Imperfect: wanting all preliminary leaves; in pt. 1, ff. 1 to 10, 12, 13, 15, 16, 26; in pt. 2, title; in pt. 3, last leaf (blank); in pt. 4, ff. 101 to 105, 108, 110, 111, and last leaf (bearing colophon). Of these, five preliminary leaves (*2 to 6), and ff. 105, 110 and 112 in pt. 4, are supplied in facsimile. A duplicate of fo. 98 in pt. 4 is inserted; as well as pt. 2 and Apocrypha titleleaves, taken from a copy of the folio Bible printed at Rouen in 1566.

This copy illustrates how books were mutilated and disfigured by their owners, so as to escape such penalties as were threatened in 1543, 'when Parliament proscribed all translations bearing the name of Tyndale, and required that the notes in all other copies should be removed or obliterated' (Westcott, History, p. 87.) The prologues and notes throughout this volume (except in a few leaves supplied from another copy) have been obliterated with reddish-brown paint. (Cf. W. Prynne's Canterburies Doome . . ., 1646, p. 181.)

Bound up at the beginning is a quantity of matter, both printed and MS., relating to early editions of the English Bible. A former owner states in a note that he found this copy at a farmhouse in Somerset, where it was being 'used to dry flowers and leaves, and press pieces of washed muslin and ribbon, of which it was full.'

This diglot is the earliest which contains Tindale's English New Testament, with the Latin of Erasmus. Fry's No. 14. The English agrees generally with the G. H. edition.

DESCRIPTION. Five preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso An almanacke for .xxii. yeres (1539-60), Kalendar (with doggerel rhymes after each month)—3 ff.; second title: The newe | Testament in | Englyshe & | in Latin | Novum | Testamentum | Anglice et | Latine. | Anno Dñi. 1538 (within border), on verso list of books. Text, ff. 2 (not numbered) to CC.LXXXXij (OO 4) b; on the same page begin the Old Testament Epistles after the use of Salisbury, in English only, which end on PP 8 b; the table of Epistles and Gospels—4 ff., with colophon on the last page QQ 4 b: Thus endyth the Newe Testament bothe in Englyshe & in Laten, of mayster Erasmus translacio, with the Pystles take out of y^e Olde testamet. Set forthe with the Kynges moste gracious lycence, and Imprynted by Robert Redman dwellyng in Fletestrete at y^e sygne of the George nexte unto saynte Donstons Churche. The yere of our lorde. M.CCCC.XXXviij. and the thyrti yere of the Kynges moste gracious reygne. God saue the kyng.

At the bottom of the last page of the Kalendar is a catchword Nota, but nothing is known of the passage intended to follow, which was probably never printed.

Signatures: [unsigned]^a, A-Z^a AA-NN^a OO^a PP^a, QQ^a; 308 ff. Leaves numbered in the text. The texts are printed in parallel columns, the English in black-letter on the inside of each page, and the Latin in an unusual type outside. A full page of the English text contains 40 lines. References in the margin.

The woodcut title-border is the well-known frame containing the initials H H, and representing above—boys playing, and below—the story of Mutius and Porsenna. (The words Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum are printed outside the border on the first titlepage.) The same design is used for the second title. Two cuts of each Evangelist occur at the beginning of his Gospel.

As this edition of 1538 (Redman's) and those of 1548, 47 and 1549 (Powell's) closely resemble each other, and generally read together, mixed copies of the diglot are sometimes found. Redman's has the chapter headlines in black-letter; Powell's Nos. 1 and 2 have them in roman type. The Latin text of Powell's No. 1 is in the same type as the Latin text of Redman's; in Powell's No. 2 this appears in roman. Thus the three editions may be easily distinguished. The passage in 1 Cor. xi is correct in all three; and all have the error in 2 Cor. x. 11, think on his wife.

¶ 222 × 161 mm. Imperfect: wanting the preliminary leaves, and A 2 and 7; these 7 leaves are supplied in facsimile, and there is also inserted a photograph of the first titlepage taken from the perfect copy in the Bodleian Library. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

A fragment of 116 leaves, mixed up with a copy of Powell's 1548,47 edition. (See below, No. 41.) [F. F.]

4°. Partly 32. II.

The first edition of Coverdale's diglot Testament.

The English text differs somewhat from that in the 1535 Bible, agreeing more closely with the Vulgate.

Before leaving London in the spring of 1538 for Paris, where he had undertaken to prepare, under Thomas Cromwell's patronage, what was afterwards known as the Great Bible, Coverdale had settled that Nicolson should publish for him in London a New Testament with the Vulgate text and his own English version printed side by side. This he determined on in order to reassure his timid friends, and to confute his critics. The book appeared in 1538 in a handsome form, but so full of misprints and errors that Coverdale repudiated it, and immediately arranged for an edition under his own superintendence at Paris. This appeared in November of the same year from the press of Francis Regnault. Nicolson, however, published, also towards the end of 1538, a revision of his first edition; this, according to the titlepage in some copies, was Faythfullye translated by Johan Hollybushe.

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), verso blank, Dedication To the moost noble, moost gracious, and oure moost dradde soueraigne lord Kynge Henry y^e eyght . . . (signed Youre graces humble and faythfull subiects. Myles Coverdale.)—3 pp., To the Reader—3 pp., An Almanack for .xviii. yeares (1538-55) and Kalendar (printed in double columns)—2 ff. The text, ff. 1 (not numbered) to 344 (really 342, Vv 6) b; followed by the table of Epistles and Gospels after Salisbury use—2 ff.

Signatures: X^a, A-Z^a Aa-Vv^a; 350 ff. The Latin text is printed inside in roman type, the English outside in black-letter. A full column of English text contains 41 lines. Marginal references in black-letter. No prologues, chapter-contents, or notes.

The title-border is like that used in Nicolson's quarto Bible of 1537.

¶ 198 × 140 mm. Imperfect: wanting the six preliminary leaves, which, however, are supplied in facsimile. A quasi-facsimile is inserted of the original title of the second edition, which shows the difference in the use of the black and red inks (see next entry). [F. F.]

4°. Partly 32. II.

The second quarto edition of Coverdale's diglot Testament.

As stated above (see previous entry), Coverdale repudiated Nycolson's faulty first edition, and undertook himself to bring out another in Paris (see next entry). Thereupon Nycolson, on his own account, published this second and corrected issue. The type was reset, and errors are far less common, though many still persist, e.g. in the numbering of the folios. Some copies have a title closely agreeing with that of the first edition, but with many more words in red ink (see previous entry, ad fin.); others, like the copy described below, have a title printed entirely in black, with the name Johan Hollybushe substituted for Miles Coverdale. In the latter case the titleleaf appears (from its different water-lines etc.) to be a cancel-leaf, inserted in place of the other. [Cf. Huth Library Catalogue, iv. pp. 1450-1.] Johan Hollybushe probably stands for the pseudonym, or even the real name, of Nycolson's editor. The text throughout shows signs of revision (e.g., in Matt. xxvi. C. before the cock synge is altered into before the cocke do crowe). This edition retains Coverdale's Dedication and Address.

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves: title (all in black, within woodcut border), verso blank, Dedication—3 pp., To the Reader—3 pp., Almanack and Kalendar—2 ff. The text, 842 ff.; followed by the table—2 ff. Signatures, etc., as in the first edition. Title-border, same as before.

Another edition of Coverdale's diglot.

This is the edition issued under his own superintendence in November 1538 (see above), at Paris, where the printer Regnault was busy preparing the first edition of the Great Bible, which appeared in 1539.

DESCRIPTION. [Eight] preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), verso blank, Dedication To the ryght honorable lorde Cromwell . . . (signed, yours lordshippes humble and faithfull seruytoure. Miles Couerdale.)—1 f., To the Reader—1 f., An Almanack for .xvii. yeares (1539-55)—1 p., Kalendar—6 pp., 1 p. blank, (1 f. blank?). The text, ff. 1 (not numbered) to cclxxiiij (MM ij) b; followed, on the same page, by the table of Epistles and Gospels after Salysbury vse, which ends on MM iiii b.

Signatures: A-Z^a AA-LL^a MM^a; 284 ff. The Latin text is printed inside in roman type, the English outside in black-letter. A full column of English text contains 49 lines. Marginal references in roman type.

The title-border is an architectural design. There is a cut of St. Mark placed before St. Matthew's Gospel; this cut, similarly misplaced, appears in the folio Great Bibles of 1540 and 1541. The initials exhibit great variety of design.

¶ 161 × 102 mm. Imperfect: wanting the title and following leaf, which are supplied in facsimile. There should also probably be a blank leaf (X⁸) before the text. Sheets L and M are transposed. Early seventeenth-century binding. [F. F.]

[Another edition of this book seems to have been published by Grafton and Whitechurch in the following year (1539), with reprinted title and dedication (cf. Cotton, p. 16 and p. 338).]

Matthew Crom: Antwerp. 8°. 33. 11.

Coverdale's version.

Some hold this edition to be the earliest separate issue of Coverdale's New Testament, but Nycolson's editions described above (Nos. 18 and 14) are probably earlier.

DESCRIPTION. Eight preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso An Almanack for xxxii. yeares (1589-70), Kalendar—4 ff., A prologe vnto the newe Testament—5 pp., A Prologe of Saynte Matthew (with cut)—1 p. The text, A 1 to m 8; . . . the Epystles of the olde Testament . . . after the vse of Salysbury . . . —19 pp., ending on o ij a, the table of Epistles and Gospels after the vse of Salysbury—ending on o 7 a, on the same page begins The summe & content . . . which ends on o 8 b with the colophon: Imprynted at Antwerpe, by Matthew Crom. In the yeare of our Lorde M. D. xxxviii.

Signatures: *^a, A-Z^a a-o^a; 304 ff. The leaves are not numbered. A full page contains 48 lines. References etc. in the margins. Coverdale's summaries before the chapters; and gloses at the end of many. Tindale's Prologues to most of the books.

The title-border represents, on the left, Moses with the tables of the Law, and on the right, the Day of Pentecost; at the top is the legend: Litera occidit spūs aut̄ vivificat, 2 Cor. 3, and below Herken to ye heauē, and thou earth geue eare: For the Lorde speaketh. Esay 1. The book contains in all about 200 cuts. These include cuts of the Evangelists, and SS. Paul, Peter and James (the two latter being full-page cuts). Before St. Matthew there is a half-page cut with three lines of 14 figures each; and at St. Luke iii occurs a somewhat similar full-page cut, with eight lines containing in all 72 figures and two very small cuts. The text also contains 153 small illustrations (generally 69 × 51 mm.), distributed as follows: 51 in St. Matthew, 22 in St. Mark, 42 in St. Luke, 37 in St. John, and 1 in Acts. These illustrations are said to be by Lieven de Witte, a painter of Ghent, and to have appeared before in a work entitled Jesu Christi Vita, printed by M. Crom in 1537. At Acts ii occurs a full-page cut of the Day of Pentecost; and in Revelation there are 21 full-page illustrations. Many tail-pieces, etc.

¶ 146 × 93 mm. Imperfect: wanting title, the eighth preliminary leaf, and the last leaf in the book; these, however, are supplied in facsimile. [F. F.]

— ANOTHER EDITION.

While generally agreeing closely with the preceding, this exhibits variations in certain sheets, and appears to be a distinct issue. Besides small typographical variations, omissions of some references and gloses etc., well-marked differences occur in a few of the cuts—e.g. a full-page cut of St. John (like that used in R. Harrison's folio Bible of 1562) stands before his Gospel (this alters the arrangement of some succeeding pages), and the cut on k 5 b is placed on k 6 a—while the colophon on the last page reads: Fynysshed in the yeare of oure Lorde M. D. xxxviii. As this book shows fewer cracks in the woodblocks, and contains many small errors which are corrected in the preceding volume, probably it is slightly earlier than the issue with Matthew Crom's name in the imprint.

¶ 150 × 95 mm. Imperfect: wanting all preliminary leaves; also A 1, 2, 4, 5 and 8, all sheet C, E 5, all sheet L, and 12. The contemporary binding (bearing the initials G. G., sometimes identified with Garret Godfrey) displays the royal arms, with angels as supporters, on one side, and on the other the Tudor rose, with angels as supporters, and the shields of St. George and the City of London; round the rose is inscribed the elegiac couplet:

eternū florens regia sceptrā feret.*

This volume was at one time stolen from the Library, and sold to a London bookseller; but it was afterwards recovered, through information given by Mr. Fry to Mr. Bullen, who compiled the Catalogue printed in 1857.

f°. 35. 2.

The first edition of Taverner's Bible. A revision of Matthew's Bible of 1587.

Richard Taverner (1505?-1575), the author of this revision, had high repute for Greek scholarship, and was at this time Clerk of the King's Signet, and in the employ of Thomas Cromwell. In his corrections of the text, Taverner aims at compression and vividness. He substitutes in many places a Saxon for a Latin word, as spokesman for advocate; and does not hesitate to coin words, as mercystock (1 John i. 2). Many marginal notes are omitted, and some new comments added. Taverner's work exercised practically no influence on later revisions (Westcott, History, p. 219).

DESCRIPTION. To the honour and prayse of God, was this Byble prynted: and fynysshed, in the yere of our Lorde God, a M. D. XXXIX.*; 1 p. blank.

Signatures:     A-Z^a Aa-Oo^a Pp^a, AA-OO^a PP^a, Aaa-Mmm^a Nnn^a, A-Q^a (K is wanting) R^a; 512 ff. Text printed in double columns, with 68 lines to the full column. Headlines (which include the folio numbers and some subject headings) in roman capitals. Contents of chapters in smaller black-letter. References and some notes in the margins. In pt. 4 sheet K (ff. 55-60) is wanting in all known copies; it must have been used, or intended, for a Prologue to the Epistle to the Romans—probably Tindale's. The Epistles of Peter and John precede the Epistle to the Hebrews. There are many peculiarities in the spelling—e.g. peax for peace, hable for able, etc.

The border to the general and N. T. titles is like that used in Nycolson's quarto Bible of 1537, but has an additional outer frame. The other titlepages are quite plain.

¶ 277 × 190 mm. Imperfect: wanting the general title and the last leaf (R 8)—both supplied in facsimile—and the blank leaf (Nnn 4) at the end of pt. 4. Inserted at the beginning is a sheet of MS. containing Taverner's pedigree, as derived from Harl. MSS., Cole's MSS., Hexton Registers, and Wood's Athenæ. [F. F.]

[Lewis (p. 130, n.) and others mention a quarto edition of this Bible, but no copy can be traced; though the New Testament of Taverner's version was published both in quarto and in octavo, in the same year.]

f^o. 33. v.

The first edition of the 'Great Bible,' the hole byble of the largyest volume, which Thomas Cromwell, as the King's vicegerent, in an injunction to the clergy (September 1538), ordered to be set vp in sum conuenient place wythin the said church that ye haue cure of, where as your parishoners may moste comodiously resorte to the same and reade it.

A revision by Coverdale of Matthew's Bible, which he corrected chiefly by the aid of Sebastian Münster's Latin translation of the Hebrew O. T. (1534, 35), and of the Vulgate and Erasmus' Latin version in the N. T., with the collateral help of the Complutensian Polyglot (published about 1520). Coverdale worked under Cromwell's direct patronage; hence the result is sometimes known as 'Cromwell's Bible.' This version and its subsequent editions are often called 'Cranmer's Version,' although that Archbishop had little, if anything, to do with their preparation, beyond adding a Prologue, which first appeared in the second large folio edition, April 1540.

The printing was originally entrusted by Grafton and Whitechurch to Francis Regnault, the Paris printer. But at the end of 1538 the work was suppressed by the French authorities, and many of the sheets confiscated. Coverdale and Grafton, however, were able to save some, and to transport the necessary presses, type and workmen to London, where the edition was completed in April 1539. (See Athenæum, 20 May 1871.)

In the Book of Common Prayer the Psalter still follows, with slight variations, the Great Bible; but since 1662 the Epistles and Gospels have been taken from King James' version. The translation of the Canticles, the Lord's Prayer, and the Commandments, with other quotations of Scripture, differs more or less from all our standard versions.

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso The names of all the bookes of the Byble . . . The Kalender with An Almanach for . xix . yeares (1539-57)—2 ff., An exhortacyon . . .—1 p., The summe and content of all the holy Scripture . . .—2 pp., A prologue, expressynge what is meant by certayn signes and tokens that we have set in the Byble (ending with God save the Kyng)—1 p., A descripcyon and successe of the kynges of Juda and Jerusalem . . . followed by wyth what iudgement the bokes of the Olde Testament are to be red—1 f. The text, divided into five parts: (1) the Pentateuch, ff. j to lxxxiiij (l 4) a, verso blank; (2) with title: The second parte of the Byble containyng . . . The booke of Josua . . . The booke of Hiob (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ij to cxxiiij (Q iii) b, 1 f. blank; (3) with title: The thirde parte of the Byble containyng . . . The psalter. The proverbes. Ecclesiastes. Cātica cāticorū. The prophetes. Esay . . . Malachy (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ij to cxxxiiij (really 132, RR 6) a, verso blank; (4) with title: The volume of the bokes called Hagiographa. The thyrd boke of Esdras . . . The seconde boke of y^e Machabees (within border), on verso a note on the Apocrypha: To the Reader. In consyderacyon . . ., text—ff. ij to lxj (really 80, Kkk 8) b; (5) with title: The newe Testament in englyshe translated after the Greke, cōtaynig . . . The Gospelles . . . The actes The Epistles of S. Paul . . . The Epistle of Saynt James . . . The reuelacion of S. John (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ii to ciiij (Nn 7) a, followed on the same page by A Table to fynde the Epistles and Gospells usually red in the chyrch, after Salysbury use . . ., which ends on Nn 8 b with the colophon: The ende of the new Testamēt: and of the whole Byble, Fynished in Apryll, Anno. M. CCCCC. xxxix. A dñō factū est istud.

Signatures: *^a, a-k^a l^a, A-P^a Q^a, AA-PP^a QQ^a RR^a, Aaa-Kkk^a, Aa-Nn^a; 530 ff. Text printed in bold black-letter, double columns, with 62 lines to the full column. The headlines include short subject headings in the early part of the book. Words not found in the original are printed in smaller type. In the margins are placed references, and many pointing hands and other signs referring to notes which the editor had intended to append (cf. A prologue, expressynge . . .), but which never appeared.

The large border to the general title is the well-known woodcut, ascribed to Holbein, which represents Henry VIII, Cranmer and Cromwell distributing Bibles, and the people shouting 'Vivat Rex' and 'God save the King.' This design also appears on the Apocrypha titlepage. The titles to pts. 2 and 3 are enclosed within borders, each formed of 16 small woodblocks, representing Bible incidents. These are repeated in the text, with many similar blocks, having an ornamental border or column on each side. Different cuts are found at the beginning of the Psalter, St. Matthew's Gospel, and the Epistle to the Romans. The N. T. title-border is formed of 8 larger blocks, representing the following: (1) the Annunciation, (2) the Holy Innocents, (3) the Shepherds in the Fields, (4) the Circumcision, (5) the Adoration of the Magi, (6) the Crucifixion, (7) the Stem of Jesse, and (8) the Resurrection. Many woodcut initials also occur scattered throughout the book.

This edition may be readily distinguished from all the six succeeding large folio editions of the Great Bible by many points of difference, e.g. (1) the Apocrypha title has the Holbein woodcut border; (2) the N. T. title has a border of 8 woodblocks; (3) all the small cuts in the text have an ornamental column on each side.

Mr. Fry made a special study of the Great Bibles of 1539-41, and recorded the results in his work A Description of the Great Bible, 1539, and the six editions of Cranmer's Bible . . . (1865). Of the seven editions in this series, five have 62 lines to the full page and the remaining two 65 lines. As each corresponding leaf in these two groups contains the same letterpress, though differently set up, the leaves are interchangeable, and most copies appear to be mixed; doubtless, many copies were originally issued in this state. The problem is further complicated by the fact that certain leaves of some editions were reprinted, apparently because the supply of these particular leaves had run short, and they were required to complete copies then being made up. By examining every leaf of a great number of copies, and tabulating his results, Fry attempted to ascertain what leaves properly belonged to each edition, and to make a list of the 'reprinted' leaves. Though his conclusions may not always appear convincing, and it is impossible now to test their accuracy, his work remains a monument of painstaking research, and the tests which he laid down are generally applied to copies of these editions. He himself spared no pains to secure for his own collection 'standard' copies of each edition, and his set of Great Bibles now preserved in this Library is probably the only complete set extant, each copy of which may be considered perfect.

¶ 402 × 272 mm. Wanting only the blank leaf Q 4. The first title and the last two leaves have been mounted. In seventeenth-century binding, with brass plates etc. Inserted are (1) a facsimile of a variant of the fifth leaf of preliminary matter, found in a copy at Lambeth Palace. Fry believed it to have been a rejected proof. (2) A pamphlet, giving different renderings found in the Great Bibles of 1539 and April 1540, drawn up by Fry in 1865.

[F. F.]

A fine copy, printed on vellum and illuminated, which was originally prepared for Thomas Cromwell himself, is preserved in the Library of St. John's College, Cambridge.

M. Crom : Antwerp. 8°. 33. 1.

This resembles the former edition printed by M. Crom in 1538. The type, however, is much larger; there are fewer woodcuts, and some are different; while the Gloses are omitted in the Epistles.

DESCRIPTION. Eight preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso An Almanack for .xxx. yeares (1540-70), Kalendar—4 ff., Prologue—5 pp., and on last page a cut of St. Matthew and short prologue. The text, A 1 to s iiij b; followed by the O. T. Epistles—15 ff., Fautes escaped in the pryntynge—1 p., and table—9 pp., ending on v 8 b with colophon: At Antwerpe by Matthew Crom. M. D. XXXIX. (So Cotton, p. 334.)

The arrangement of the preliminary leaves given above is that found in the copy preserved in the John Rylands Library; it corresponds with the order of preliminary leaves in the 1538 edition. But in the copy below the Kalendar ends in the middle of a page; the Prologue immediately follows, and fills 8½ pages, breaking off at the words . . . as God hath commaunded him (the rest is omitted); and on the last page is the woodcut and prologue (differing slightly in type from the Rylands copy).

Signatures: *, A-Z° Aa° Bb°, *° °°, a-v°; 384 ff. The leaves are not numbered. A full page contains 85 lines. On the two sheets *° and °° following Acts are printed Tindale's Prologue to the Romans—27 pp., and The Summe of the Scripture—4 pp., in smaller type; last page blank.

The title-border is like that in the 1538 edition; but the text below is omitted, and the words Cum Gratia & Privilegio Regali, ad imprimendum solum appear instead. There are over 100 cuts in the book. These include cuts of the Evangelists and SS. Paul, Peter and James; also 29 small cuts in St. Matthew, 9 in St. Mark, 28 in St. Luke, 24 in St. John, and 2 in Acts, with a full-page cut of the Day of Pentecost; and 21 illustrations to Revelation, like those used in the quarto editions of Tindale's Testament printed in 1536.

¶ 157 × 97 mm. Imperfect: wanting all preliminary matter except three leaves (containing Kalendar November 8 to end, Prologue, and last page); also 10 ff. of supplementary matter, s 5 to 8, and v 3 to 8;—15 ff. in all. Four leaves at the beginning, and ten leaves at the end, are printed on yellowish paper, and apparently belong to another copy; they include the three preliminary leaves which differ from the Rylands copy, and are perhaps cancelled leaves.

Great Bible version.

A re-issue (dated April, 1540) in smaller size of the Great Bible of 1539. It is not an exact reprint, for the text shows traces of correction and revision.

DESCRIPTION. Four preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso An Almanacke for .xxx. yeres (1540-68); The Kalender, The names of all the bookes of the Byble . . . and A prologue, expressinge . . .—5 pp.; 1 p. blank. The text, divided into three parts: (1) Genesis-Job, ff. j to ccxiiij (dd 8) b; (2) Psalms-Malachi and Apocrypha, ff. i to CC.xxvij (really 226, Fff 6) b; (3) N. T., with title: The newe Te-|stament in Englysshe after the | last recognicion and settinge | forth of Erasmus, contey- | nynge these bokes. | The Gospels . . . (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ij to C.ij (really 110, NNn 6) b; the table of Epistles and Gospels usually red in the chyrch, after Salysbury vse—2 ff., ending on NN 8 b with the colophon: The ende of the newe Testament: and of the whole Byble. Finissed in Apryll. Anno M.CCCCC.XL. Imprynted at London by Robert Redman, and Thomas Petyt, for Thomas Berthelet: Prynter unto the Kynges Grace. Cvm privilegio ad imprimendum solum.

Signatures: ✕⁴, A-K⁸ L⁸ M-Z⁸ aa-dd⁸, Aa-Rr⁸ Ss⁸ Tt⁸ Vv-Zz⁸ Aaa-Eee⁸ Fff⁸, AAa-NNn⁸ (with extra sheet HHh¹ before HHh); 556 ff. Text printed in double columns, with 57 lines to the full column. No subject-headings in the headlines after 1 Esdras (Ezra). Words not found in the original are printed in roman type. References, pointing hands etc., in the margins, as in the 1539 edition. The list of books in the preliminary matter is directly copied from that in the 1539 edition, and accordingly divides the text into five parts. Similarly the second part of this edition (beginning with the Psalter) has the following incongruous title at the head of the first column: The thyrd part of the Byble conteynyng these Bokes. The Psalter . . . Malachi. The Apocrypha begins on C.xliij a with a similar title: The volume of the Bokes called Hagiographa . . .; though the Prologue stands on the preceding page immediately after Malachi. It appears from its unusual signature and duplicated foliation (57-64) that one sheet (containing Acts xiii to end) had been at first accidentally omitted in printing the New Testament. An odd mistake occurs at the end of the Almanacke: The yere . . . hath in all, thre hundred and .lvi. dayes and syxe houres.

The woodcut border to the general and N. T. titles is the same as that used for the title of the Coverdale Bible of 1535, except that the legends here are in Latin, instead of in English. No other woodcuts occur, except a few ornaments and large initials.

Inserted at the beginning is a genuine copy of an Admonition, issued by Bishop Bonner when he 'set up Six Bibles in certain convenient places of St. Paul's Church,' after the King's proclamation in May, 1540 (cf. Westcott, History, p. 81).

An admonicion and aduertisement f^o. 33. 1.

The second edition (April, 1540) of the Great Bible. The earliest containing Cranmer's Prologue, and bearing on the first title the words This is the Byble apoynted to the vse of the churches.

This edition represents Coverdale's continued revision-work on the text of the Bible, and shows the further influence of Münster's Latin O. T., especially in the Prophets, and of Erasmus in the N. T.

In general appearance, typography, etc., this closely resembles the first edition.

DESCRIPTION. Ten preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), verso blank, The Kalender with an Almanacke for .xviii. yeares (1540-57)—2 ff., An exhortacyon . . . —1 p., The summe and content . . . —2 pp., A prologue, expres-synge . . . —1 p., A descripcyon and successe . . . —1 t., A prologue or preface made by the moost reuerende father in God, Thomas Archbysshop of Canturbury Metropolitane and Prymate of Englande (ending with God saue the kynge, and two pairs of initials H R—one small, the other large and flourished)—3 ff., The names of all the bookes . . . —1 p., 1 p. blank. The text, divided into five parts, each with separate foliation, as in the 1539 edition. The colophon reads: The ende of the newe Testament: and of the whole Byble, Fynished in Apryll, Anno .M.CCCC.XL. A dñō factū est istud.

Signatures: *^a X^a, . . . etc. (as in the first edition); 584 ff. A full column contains 62 lines.

The general and N. T. titles have the Holbein border. The borders to the titles of pts. 2, 3, and 4 are each composed of 16 woodblocks (one block on the Apocrypha title-page represents a madman astride a hobbyhorse). There are a few very large initial letters; that before Romans (86 × 87 mm.) contains the initials E. W.

An error (generally corrected in later editions) occurs near the beginning of Cranmer's Prologue: . . . some there are that be to slowe, and nede not the spurre . . . (for . . . nede the spurre . . .).

In some copies (e.g. that in the John Rylands Library), the general title bears the name of Rychard Grafton as the printer, and differs slightly in other respects from that described above.

¶ 399 × 269 mm. The general title is mounted; and one leaf, * 5, which was mutilated, has been carefully restored.

[F. F.]

The B. M. possesses a magnificent copy, printed on vellum and illuminated. This was presented to Henry VIII by Anthonye Marler of London haberdassher, who appears to have defrayed the expense of these editions of the Great Bible (cf. Anderson, vol. ii. p. 142).

f°. 33. 1.

The third Great Bible (July 1540); and the second with Cranmer's Prologue.

The text mainly follows that of the second edition, though it contains a number of minute variations.

DESCRIPTION. [Ten] preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within border), verso blank, The Kalender with Almanacke for .xviii. yeares (1540-57)—2 ff., [qu. three more leaves, as in the preceding edition?] A prologue or preface . . . (ending with two flourished initials H R)—3 ff., The names of all the booke . . . —1 p., 1 p. blank. The text, arranged as in the first edition. The colophon reads: The ende of the newe Testament: and of the whole Byble, Fynished in July. Anno. M.CCCC.XL. A domino factum est istud This is the Lordes doyng.

Signatures: *^m *^k, . . . etc., as before; 534 (?) ff. A full column contains 62 lines.

The general and N. T. titles have the Holbein border. The titles to pts. 2, 3 and 4 have borders composed of 16 woodblocks. The large initial letter before Romans is without E W.

Fry notes two errors: (1) in the Apocrypha, fo. 87 b, 1st col., l. 57, after vanitie this sentence is omitted: Now he that loueth perrell, shall perish therin; (2) in Romans ii A. (fo. 61) the kyngdome of God for the kyndnes of God.

¶ 408 × 273 mm. Perfect, according to Fry's collation; but it is probable that there should be, not three but six leaves in the first sheet (as in the April edition), though both the B. M. and Rylands copies (otherwise perfect) lack leaves * 4 to 6. Possibly * 4 was blank, and completed the sheet. Half of the last leaf has been carefully restored; and the first title is mounted. The blank leaf (Q 4) at the end of pt. 2 is missing. Several sheets are rather smaller than the bulk of the book, and may have belonged to another copy.

R. Redman: London. 8°. 33. 1/2.

Great Bible version.

A small octavo edition containing the books of Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, the Song of Solomon, Wisdom, and Ecclesiasticus.

It has been stated (Cotton, p. 17) that this is one part of a five-volume edition of Matthew's Bible. But, as this is the only 'part' known to exist, and two of its books are taken from the Apocrypha, it is evidently a separate publication. Moreover, the text, where examined, does not follow Matthew's Bible (1537), but agrees very closely with the Great Bible version, in the edition issued by T. Petyt and R. Redman, April 1540.

DESCRIPTION. One preliminary leaf: title (within woodcut frame), on verso The contentis of this Booke. The Prouerbes of Salomon. Ecclesiast. The boke of the precher. Cantica Canticorum. The Ballet of Ballettes. Liber Sapientie. The Boke of wysdome. Ecclesiasti. The Boke of Jesus Syrac. The number of the Chapters of euery Boke. . . . The text, A 2 to V 6 b; followed by one leaf containing on recto, in large type: Here endeth the boke of Jesus, the Sonne of Sirache, which is called in Latine Ecclesiasticus. Finis huius libri; and on verso the colophon: Imprynted at London in Flete Strete, by me Robert Redmā dwelling within the Temple Barre at the sygne of the George next vnto Saynte Dunstanes church Anno Domini, M.DDDDDXL. The last leaf (V 8) contains on recto Redman's device, a flourished Gothic R in white on a black ground; verso blank. (So Lea Wilson, p. 289.)

Signatures: A-V^a; 160 ff. The leaves are not numbered. A full page contains 84 lines. The headlines are in roman capitals. Short summaries precede each chapter, and references are given in the margins. The explanatory headings (The voyce of the Churche, The spousesse to her cōpanyons, etc.) are inserted throughout The Ballet of Ballettes, as in Matthew's and Taverner's Bibles.

¶ 128 × 86 mm. Imperfect: wanting B 1 and 2, and the last two leaves V 7 and 8.

On the flyleaf are written in a contemporary hand a number of texts chosen out of the volume, and beneath, in another hand, hæ sententiæ collectæ & scriptæ fuerunt per Thomam Lathumum patrem meum manu sua propria. Tho: Lathum. On the titlepage in the second handwriting is the inscription Sum Thomæ Lathumi eiusque Amicorum Liber. 1575. a^o Regina Elisabeth: xvij^o. [F. F.]

f°. 33. 1/2.

The fourth Great Bible (Nov. 1540); and the third with Cranmer's prologue.

The colophon gives the date Nov. 1540, but the publication seems to have been delayed, as the titlepage bears the date 1541, and is the same as that used for the Great Bible of Nov. 1541.

Though this edition claims to be ouersene and perused by Bishops Tunstall (1474-1559) and Heath (1501?-1578), the text shows no sign of careful revision; indeed in many parts it approximates more closely to that of 1539 than to that of April or July 1540. This and the Nov. 1541 edition, though printed in the same style as the five other Great Bibles, have a slightly longer page, which contains 65, instead of 62, lines in a full column.

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso The names of all the booke . . . , The Kalender with Almanacke for .xxviii. years (1540-57)—2 ff., A Prologue or preface . . . (ending with two flourished initials H R)—3 ff. The text, arranged as before in five parts:—(1) ff. i to lxxij (i 8) b; (2) with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ii to cvij (O 4) a, verso blank; (3) with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ii to cxvi (PP 4) a, verso blank; (4) with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ii to lxxij (really 70, Iii 6) b; (5) with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ii to xcij (really 91, Mm 5) a. On Mm 5 b begins A table to find . . .; this ends on Mm 6 b with colophon: The ende of the newe Testamente and of the whole Byble. Fynyshe in Nouember Anno. MCCCC.XL. A dño factū est istud.

Signatures: *^s, a-i^s, A-N^s O^s, AA-OO^s PP^s, Aaa-Hhh^s Iii^s, Aa-Kk^s Ll^s Mm^s; 464 ff. A full column contains 65 lines.

The general title and the N. T. title have the Holbein border. From this the arms of Cromwell now disappear; they have been cut out of the block, leaving a blank circle 22 mm. in diameter below Cromwell's figure. (He had been executed in July, 1640.) The titles to pts. 2, 3 and 4 are enclosed within borders, each composed of 16 woodblocks.

The words and lyfe for euermore are omitted at the end of Psalm cxxiii.

In some copies of this edition the name of E. Whitchurch appears on the general title as printer, instead of R. Grafton.

¶ 406 × 275 mm., with the original rough edges to some of the leaves. The 'standard' copy used by Fry in his work on these editions. According to his MS. note, it contains all the 'genuine and correct' Nov. 1540 leaves, except 8 in pt. 1, viz. ff. 65 to 72, which are variant leaves. The eight 'correct' leaves are found in the copy described below, containing the 'reprints.'

Fry's 'Nov. 1540 with Reprints.' The following leaves in pt. 5 (New Testament) are reprinted with differences:—ff. 84 to 89, 41 to 72, 81 to 90 (numbered 91), and 92 (the last leaf); and ff. 108 and 109 in pt. 8 are variant leaves; 51 leaves in all.

397 × 271 mm. The general title (bearing R. Grafton's name) has been mounted. A second copy of the titleleaf to pt. 5 is inserted.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

This copy contains the two variant leaves, and all the reprinted leaves, found in the immediately preceding copy, except fo. 92 in pt. 5. Four leaves, ff. 49, 51, 54 and 56 in pt. 4, belong to the Nov. 1541 edition.

385 × 260 mm. Imperfect: wanting general title and other preliminary leaves; fo. 1 in pt. 1; the titleleaves of pts. 3 and 4; and the last two leaves in the volume. A few leaves are mutilated. Sheets Ii and Kk in pt. 5 are misplaced, coming before sheets Ff, Gg and Hh.

— Another copy.

'A most remarkable mixed copy, containing parts of all the seven editions, the two November reprints, some variations I have before described, and some new variations' (MS. note by Fry). A full MS. collation is inserted in the volume, giving the edition (according to Fry's tests) to which each leaf belongs.

382 × 251 mm. Imperfect: wanting general title and other preliminary leaves, and last leaf in the volume. The missing leaves are supplied in facsimile (following the Nov. 1540 edition). Three leaves only (ff. 19, 22 and 91 in pt. 5) were inserted by Fry. All the others, representing every large folio edition of the Great Bible, were found thus mixed together in the volume when bought by him.

f°. 33. 1.

The fifth Great Bible (May, 1541); and the fourth with Cranmer's Prologue.

In this, as in the preceding edition, the revision of the text appears to have been very slight.

In April 1541 Anthony Marler received permission to sell copies of the Great Bible unbound for x s. sterling, and bound, being trimmed with bullyons, for xii s. sterling (equivalent to about £6 and £7 5s. to-day). And in the next month a royal proclamation announced the heavy penalties to which each parish was liable which failed to provide its church with a copy by the November following. (Cf. Anderson, vol. ii. pp. 142-8.)

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves, as in the Nov. 1540 edition. Text, etc., as in the other editions with 62 lines to the full column. The colophon reads: The ende of the newe Testament: and of the whole Byble, Fynysshed in Maye, Anno M.CCCCC.XLi. A dño factū est istud.

Signatures: * * * *, . . . etc., as before; 530 ff.

According to Fry there are no pointing hands in the margin or text.

The general title and N. T. title are enclosed within the Holbein border with Cromwell's arms erased. The titles to pts. 2, 3 and 4 each have a border composed of 16 woodblocks.

The 'variations' in this edition are:—two varieties of the list of books on the back of the general title; pt. 2, fo. 117; pt. 5, ff. 12 and 13. Slight variations have also been found in copies of the general title, the second leaf of the Prologue, and the N. T. title (Fry's Description, p. 16.)

¶ 398 × 273 mm. Contains one variant leaf, fo. 117 in pt. 2.

376 × 255 mm. Imperfect: wanting general title and two following leaves; pt. 3, title-leaf; pt. 5, fo. 40 and last leaf of the volume;—6 ff. in all.

The following leaves belong to other editions: To the 1539 edition—pt. 2, fo. 33; pt. 3, fo. 50; pt. 5, titleleaf and ff. 12, 13, 32, 62 to 74, 76 to 80, 89 to 91, and 94 to end. To the April 1540 edition—pt. 5, ff. 92 and 93. To the Dec. 1541 edition—the first leaf of Prologue, and pt. 1, ff. 11 to 14. As a general titleleaf is inserted a specimen of the 1539 pt. 4 title, with the centre cut out, and a quasi-facsimile from the Dec. 1541 title put in its place.

— Another copy.

378 × 240 mm. Imperfect: wanting general title and two following leaves; pt. 1, fo. 81 and last leaf (84); pt. 3, fo. 17; pt. 5, titleleaf, ff. 8 and 100 to the end (the last 5 leaves)—13 ff. in all. Many leaves at the beginning and end are mutilated.

Two of the variant leaves, viz. pt. 5, ff. 12 and 13, occur in this copy. The following leaves belong to other editions: To the April 1540 edition—one leaf of preliminary matter (A descriptioun and successe . . .); pt. 1, ff. 66 and 71; pt. 3, ff. 18, 23, 49 and 56. To the July 1540 edition—pt. 3, ff. 50 and 55. To the Dec. 1541 edition—five leaves of preliminary matter (containing the Prologue, An exhortacyon . . . and first page of The summe and content . . ., and The names of all the bookes . . .); pt. 3, ff. 24, 51 and 54; pt. 4, ff. 1 to 80 (the whole of the Apocrypha); pt. 5, ff. 59 and 62.

The sixth Great Bible (Nov. 1541); and the fifth Bible with Cranmer's Prologue.

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves, text, etc., as in the Nov. 1540 edition. The colophon reads: The ende of the newe Testament and of the whole Byble. Fynyshed in Nouember. Anno .M.CCCC.XLJ. A dño factū est istud.

Signatures etc. as in the Nov. 1540 edition. A full column contains 65 lines.

The general and N. T. titles have the Holbein border with Cromwell's arms erased; the titles to pts. 2, 3 and 4 are enclosed within borders composed of 16 woodblocks.

The general title, the Prologue, and fo. 86 in pt. 3, according to Fry, are common to this edition and that of Nov. 1540.

A general title is found in some copies bearing the name of R. Grafton (the same as that which appears in the first two copies of the Nov. 1540 edition, described above).

— Another copy.

Fry's 'Nov. 1541, with Reprints.' The following leaves are reprinted with differences: pt. 1, ff. 65, 66, 71 and 72; pt. 2, ff. 57, 64 to 67, 70 to 108; pt. 3, ff. 41 to 43, 46 to 104, 106 to 110, 113, 115; pt. 4, ff. 57 to 70; pt. 5, title, and ff. 25 to 27, 80 to 87, 89, 90, 92;—in all 196 different leaves. The general title is that described as 'Variation Nov. 1541' in Fry's book; it bears the name of E. Whitechurch, differs slightly in the setting-up of the type, and has verso blank. (Apparently Fry inserted it in this copy.) The N. T. title also differs slightly from that usually occurring in this edition. Two lines omitted at the top of fo. 57 in pt. 4 (where the reprinted leaves in the Apocrypha begin) are printed on a slip and pasted at the bottom of the last column of fo. 56.

401 × 266 mm. The general titleleaf, which was mutilated, has been carefully restored.

The seventh Great Bible (Dec. 1541), the last of the 1539-41 series; and the sixth with Cranmer's Prologue.

The colophon gives the date Dec. 1541.

DESCRIPTION. Ten preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), verso blank, The Kalender with Almanacks . . . —2 ff., An exhortacyon . . . —1 p., The summe and content . . . —2 pp., A Prologue, expressynge . . . —1 p., A description and successe . . . —1 f., A prologue or preface . . . (with two large flourished initials H R at the end)—3 ff., The names of all the bookes . . . —1 p., verso blank. The text, arranged as in the four similar editions. The colophon reads: The ende of the newe Testament, and of the whole Bible, Fynyshed in December. Anno .M.CCCC.XLi. A domino factum est istud. This is the Lordes doyngs.

Signatures: *^a X^a, . . . etc., as before; 534 ff. A full column contains 62 lines. A very few pointing hands.

The general and N. T. titles have the Holbein border, with Cromwell's arms erased. Those to pts. 2, 3 and 4 have borders composed of 16 woodblocks. The large initial P occurs before Romans.

According to Fry, four leaves in pt. 3—ff. 28, 92, 98 and 124—are common to this edition and that of July 1540. Very slight variations are found in some leaves. Some copies have another general title, exactly like that described above, except that Edward Withchurch is substituted for Richard Grafton.

¶ 898 × 266 mm. Inserted at the beginning is a genuine copy of the centre of the alternative general title, mentioned above.

Rycharde Bankes: London. 1545? 4°. B.1.

A volume of sermons on the Liturgical Epistles and Gospels, with the text; edited by R. Taverner.

According to J. Holmes (Brit. Mag. vol. xxix. p. 361) the original draft of this work is contained in a MS. (Harl. MSS. 6561) now in the British Museum. It is a translation, believed to have been made by Henry Parker Lord Morley, for the use of his kinswoman Anne Boleyn, and to have been presented by him to her, when Marchioness of Pembroke, in 1532. Taverner alludes in his preface to a certain breve postil, which had been placed in his hands, as the basis of the volume; and states that he revised and augmented it with the aid of other sobre men. Two of the sermons were adopted by Archbishop Parker, and published in the second book of Homilies.

A modern reprint was issued by the Oxford University Press in 1841, edited with a preface by E. Cardwell.

Total number of leaves—424.

A full page contains 32 lines.

The woodcut border used for the titlepages of parts 1 and 2 (a) is the frame containing the initials H H, and representing below the story of Mutius and Porsenna. That employed for the titlepage of part 2 (b) is composed of four ornamental blocks.

The above collation is taken from the copy C. 10. a. 5. in the B. M. There are many varieties of the book, which read generally with one another, but differ in many small particulars. It is probable that the sections, each of which has a distinct colophon, were at first issued separately, but subsequently combined to form a complete volume. Some copies are mixed; e.g. in the B. M. copy mentioned a large section of (1) and all the second part of (2) belong to an impression in which the headlines, marginal matter, and Bible text are printed in roman type instead of black-letter.

The date is uncertain. A title to the first portion of the Summer part, found in what is probably the earliest issue of the book, bears the date 1540. It has on verso The copy of the kynge's graciously priuilege, and is placed with seven following leaves, containing the sermon on the Resurrection, immediately before sheet A. In subsequent editions this title is dropped, and the sermon is inserted near the end of pt. 1. Pt. 3 cannot have been published before 1542, since in the sermon On the day of wedding there is an allusion to an acte of parliamt made in the .xxxii. years of the reygne of our mooste drað Soueraygne lorde the kyng that now is Henry the eyghth. Probably the complete book, in the form above described, was published about 1545.

¶ 203 × 142 mm. Imperfect: wanting in (1) eight leaves at the beginning, and the last leaf (blank); all (2); and the last sheet in (3). It exactly agrees with the copy C. 10. a. 5. in the B. M. The sheets B-L in (1) belong to an impression in which the headlines etc. are printed in roman type.

great | Byble. | Imprynted at London in | Fletstrete at the sy- | gne of the
Sunne | ouer against the | cōduyt, by Ed | ward Whit | church. | 1547.

Great Bible version.

This appears to be the earliest edition of Scripture printed in the reign of Edward VI, and the only issue in the year 1547. (W. Powell's diglot Testament is dated in the colophon 1547, but on the title-page 1548.)

DESCRIPTION. Sixteen preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso An Almanacke for .xxv. yeres (1546-70), The Kalendar—3 ff.; A Table for the foure Euāgelistes, wherin thou maist lightly fynde any story containyd in them . . . in four sections:—S. Mathew—3 ff., S. Marke—3 pp., S. Luke—5 pp., S. Jhon—3 pp., Hers foloweth the Actes of the Apostles—5 pp.; A compendious and brief rehersall of all the contentes of the bokes of the newe testamente (in rhyming couplets)—1 f. The text, a i to R 4 a; A table to fynde the Epistles and Gospelles usuallie red in the Church, after Salisbury vse . . . —6 pp., ending on R 7 a; on verso, the colophon: Imprynted at Londō | in Flete strete at the sy- | gne of the Sunne ouer a- | gainst the Cōduyt by Ed | ward whitchurche | the first day of De | cember. | M.D.XLVII. | Cum priuilegio ad impri- | mendum solum; 1 f. (probably blank).

Signatures: X^o †^o, a-z^o A-R^o; 336 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 36 lines. No prologues, chapter-contents, or notes. References in the margins.

There are two serious typographical errors in this edition: (1) N 8 b (2 Pet. iii) ends with the words . . . the dayes of God, by [whom omitted] the heauens (catchword shall), and on the next page (O 1 a) the printer repeats 20 lines of text from the heauens & yearth whyche are now . . . to . . . the day of God, by whō the heauens; (2) O 8 b (Rev. i) ends . . . I Jhon your brother, and cōpanion in tri (catchword bula), and the next page begins and the seuen golden candlestickes . . . , omitting eleven verses (about a page of text).

The titleborder contains a small tablet at the base bearing the initials N H. No illustrations. An initial A contains the letters I R.

¶ 144 × 95 mm. Wanting only the last leaf, probably blank.

Apparently unique; perhaps the impression was withdrawn, owing to the above-mentioned errors.

On the titlepage are written in an early hand the words I pray you be good to this poore man the bearer hereof.

1548. The Newe | Testa- | ment | in Englishe and in | Latin | Novvm Testamen- | tvm Anglice et | Latine. | Anno Dñi. 1548.

William Powell: London. 1548,47. 4°. 33. 1.

The second edition of the diglot of Tindale's version of the New Testament in English, with the Latin of Erasmus.

Fry's No. 16. Closely resembling the first issue, printed by R. Redman in 1538. Dated 1547 in colophon.

DESCRIPTION. One preliminary leaf: title (within woodcut border), on verso the list of books. The text, O. T. Epistles, and table, as before. The colophon closely agrees with that of the 1538 issue; but the name of Wylliam Powell (at the same sign) is substituted for Robert Redman, and the date is given as M. CCCCC. xlvii. and the fyrst yere of the Kynge's moste gracious reygne.

Signatures: A-Z^a AA-NN^a OO^a, PP^a QQ^a; 304 ff. Headlines in roman type. Latin text printed in same type as 1538 edition.

The titlepage has the Mutius and Porsenna border as in Redman's issue, but without red ink, or words printed below. The cut of St. John before his Gospel (English text) is new. The others are similar in design to those used before.

¶ 205 × 149 mm. Imperfect: wanting the titleleaf (supplied in facsimile), and NN 8. Five duplicate leaves (MM 7 and 8, NN 2, 3 and 4) are inserted at the beginning.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

A mixed copy, containing many leaves of Redman's 1538 edition. A former owner (J. Dix) in a MS. note states his belief that this copy was issued by Powell in a mixed state. But Fry in another note doubts if the printer would thus mix the editions, as the headlines differ so greatly. The following leaves belong to the 1538 edition: all C; D 3, 4, 5 and 6; E 3, 4, 5 and 6; F 1, 2, 7 and 8; H 1, 2, 7 and 8; all K; Q 1, 2, 7 and 8; R 3, 4, 5 and 6; S 1, 2, 7 and 8; all T; V 1, 2, 7 and 8; Z 3, 4, 5 and 6; AA 3, 4, 5 and 6; CC 3, 4, 5 and 6; DD 1, 2, 7 and 8; all HH; all II; KK 1, 2, 7 and 8; all LL; MM 3, 4, 5 and 6; NN 3, 4, 5 and 6; all PP;—116 ff. All the rest belong to Powell's edition of 1548,47.

229 × 116 mm. Imperfect, wanting titleleaf and ff. 2 to 16, i.e. sheets A and B. The quasi-facsimile title inserted is incorrect; it is a copy of Redman's second title with the date altered.

And in the seconde | yeare of the Reygne of our | moste dread souerayne | Lorde Kynge Ed- | warde the .vi. | Cum Priuilegio.

[Qu. T. Petyt: London?] 4°. 33. 1.

Tindale's version.

Fry's No. 17. The earliest edition which bears on its titlepage the words of the last translation by William Tindale. We may assume accordingly that the editor followed some revision which he believed to be the last. Now this agrees more closely with the G. H. edition than with the others; thus affording a further proof that the G. H. Testament was the last revised by Tindale himself.

DESCRIPTION. Twenty preliminary leaves: title (within woodcut border), on verso Almanack (1549-70), Kalendar—3 ff., Table ending with A compendyou and brief rehearsal of al y^e contētes of the bookes of the new testamente—7 ff., W. T. vnto the christē Reader—17 pp., 1 p. blank. The text, B 1 to Qq 1 a; O. T. Epistles, Qq 1 b to Rr 5 b; table of Epistles and Gospels, Rr 6 a to (Rr 10?—Rr 9 is the last leaf known).

Signatures: [unsigned] ^a X^a A-Y^a Aa-Qq^a Rr^a; 326 (?) ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 34 lines. References, subject-headings, and notes in the margins. Prologues to some books.

The latter half of v. 13 in 1 Pet. ii (whether it be unto the king as unto the chief head) is omitted in this edition.

The title-border has on each side a figure, holding a basket of fruit; the initials T P (i.e. probably Thomas Petyt) occur twice. No illustrations.

¶ 195 × 138 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and preliminary leaves; all sheets B, C and D; E 1 to 5, 7 and 8; F 1 and 8; L 1 and 8; S 8; V 1 to 7; X 4 to 8; Y 1; Ee 4; Ii 8; Oo 1, 2 and 8; and all subsequent leaves;—probably 100 leaves in all. Inserted in the book are facsimiles of the title and the first leaf of text, as well as a photograph of the titlepage in the copy at Lincoln College, Oxford (which is the best copy known). [F. F.]

Tindale's version.

Fry's No. 19. The text is based on the 1584 and G. H. editions, and shows signs of careful editing.

Notwithstanding the statements in the title and printer's address, very many of the notes of Matthew's Bible have been omitted, and others much altered. The compilation of these notes, which include many fresh comments, was perhaps the work of John Day himself (cf. the printer's address); or possibly of Bale, Bishop of Ossory, whose commentary The Image of both Churches (printed by Day and Seres about this date) is several times referred to in the notes on Revelation.

This is the first edition issued with notes at the end of the chapters.

DESCRIPTION. Sixteen preliminary leaves: title (in black and red), on verso, a woodcut, The Printer to the Reader—1 p., An almanake for .xxix. yeres (1549-77), The kalender (including The table of the Epistles and Gospelles)—6 ff., Uvilliam Tindale vnto the christian reader with list of books—15 pp., A prologe . . .—1 p. The text, C i to EE iii b; followed on the same page by the O. T. Epistles after the vse of Salisbury, which end on FF 8 b.

Signatures: [unsigned]* B-Y* Aa-Yy* AA-FF*; 400 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 38 lines. References, subject-headings and notes, in the margins. Also contents before the chapters, and (in most of the books) notes at the end of the chapters. Prologues before the Gospels and Epistles. The position of the table of Epistles and Gospels in the Kalender is unusual.

The woodcut on verso of title displays within a border the arms, apparently, of Sir Thomas Willoughby (cf. Fry, A Bibliographical Description, pp. 110-1). It occurs in other books printed by Day. Herbert (p. 618) describes the arms as those of Katherine Duchess of Suffolk, who belonged to the Willoughby family. The illustrations include cuts of the Evangelists, and 20 cuts in Revelation.

In this Testament first occurs the well-known 'wife-beating' note to 1 Pet. iii (see below, 1549 folio Bible by the same printers).

An elaborate article in the Athenæum, 12 August 1893, emphasises the historical importance of this edition in connection with its appearance just before the First Prayer Book of Edward VI (1549).

¶ 184 × 91 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and other preliminary leaves; also C 1 and 8; F 1 and 8; all N; O 1 and 8; R 1; Aa 1; Ff 8; Yy 4 and 5; CC 1; EE 8; all FF. All these are supplied in facsimile (some are photographs), except FF 1 and 2. Inserted is a photograph of the flyleaf of the copy in the Library of the Dean and Chapter of Windsor, containing a MS. letter by John Careless (cf. Fry, A Bibliographical Description . . ., pp. 111-2). [F. F.]

Tindale's version.

Fry's No. 18. The text generally agrees with the G. H. edition. Probably printed in 1548; the title and preliminary leaves being added in 1549.

DESCRIPTION. Ten preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso An Almanacke for .xxii. years (1549-70), Kalendar (with quaint verses below each month)—8 ff.; Wylliam Tyndall vnto the Christen Reader, followed by the contents of the Gospels and Acts,—6 ff. The text, B i to Mm 6 b; followed on the same page by the O. T. Epistles after the use of Salisbury, which end on Nn 8 b with the colophon: Imprinted at London wythin Aldrichgate in the parische of Sayncte Anne and Agnes by Wylliam Tylle in the yere of oure Lorde God. 1548. Cum priuilegio . . . Added at the end are two leaves containing A table to fynde the Epystles and Gospels vsuallie reade in the Churche, according vnto the booke of Common prayer . . . ending with the colophon: Imprinted at London by Thomas Petet—3 pp., 1 p. blank.

Signatures: [unsigned] A^a, B-Z^a Aa-Nn^a, Ii^a; 292 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 35 lines. References, subject-headings, and notes, in margins. Prologues before St. Matthew, and all the Epistles. The book is carelessly printed and abounds in errors and omissions.

The title-border is an architectural design, with two supporting figures, and below under an arch a recumbent figure writing. No cuts in the text.

The two leaves containing the table of Epistles and Gospels do not properly belong to the book; their signature is Ii, and they were printed by T. Petet, not by W. Tylle. Apparently they were borrowed from some edition in which Ii was their correct signature (such as that printed by T. Gaultier pro I. C., 1550), and added just before publication, in order to give the Epistles and Gospels according to the Prayer Book of March 1549. The rest of the book is adapted to the Salisbury Use.

¶ 176 × 121 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and other preliminary leaves; also all B, C 7, and the two last leaves. These are supplied in facsimile—14 leaves (sheets A and B) being photographs. [F. F.]

1549. The first tome or vo- | lume of the Paraphrase of | Erasmus vpon the newe | testamente. | Enprinted at London in Flete- | strete at the signe of the sunne by | Edwarde Whitchurche the | last daie of Januarie. | Anno Domini. | 1548.

'81 Jan. 1548' [=1549], 1549. f°. 33. 1/2. 2 vols.

An English version of Erasmus' Latin Paraphrase or Commentary. With the text of the New Testament, Great Bible version.

Four of the dedicatory epistles are addressed to Queen Catherine (Parr), by whose good meanes & procurements this present woorkes hath been by soondrie mennes labours turned into our vulgare tounge. Among the translators were Nicholas Udall, Thomas Key, Miles Coverdale, John Olde, and Leonard Coxe; while Princess (afterward Queen) Mary translated the greater part of the Paraphrase upon St. John's Gospel. The Paraphrase on Revelation, omitted by Erasmus, was the work of Leo Juda, translated by Edmund Allen.

The injunctions issued by Edward VI in 1547 ordered that a copy of this book should be placed in every church within a year after the date of the visitation which was about to be made (Cardwell, Documentary Annals, vol. i. p. 9). The contemporary churchwardens' accounts contain references to the purchase of the book—e.g. in those of St. Margaret's, Westminster:

1548. Paid for the half part of the Paraphrases of Erasmus, 5s.

and again, in those of Wigtoft, Lincolnshire:

1549. It paid for the Paraphrases of Erasmus, 7s.

It paid for a chain for the Paraphrases, 4d.

Total number of leaves—1014.

A full page contains 48 lines. Text of N. T. divided into sections, and printed in smaller type. With marginal headings. Dedications, Arguments, etc., as mentioned above.

The woodcut border used for both titles contains the royal arms above, and another coat of arms below with the initials E and W on two tablets. The cut at the end of each volume illustrates Rev. xii.

W. Aldis Wright has distinguished no less than six varieties of Vol. 1. No doubt, owing to the demand for copies at an early date, several presses were employed at the same time, and the work of printing was pushed on as rapidly as possible. Some copies are mixed. There appear to be no such varieties of Vol. 2.

The description given above applies to the variety represented by the copy No. 4 in Mr. Wright's collection.

¶ 280 × 192 mm. Wants only the blank leaf at the end of Vol. 1. Owing to the wear and tear of public use, perfect copies are uncommon. This copy appears to have belonged to a private library. Vol. 2 contains many notes written in a contemporary hand on the blank pages. On the last page is written prim huius libri .vj.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

W. Aldis Wright's No. 1.

In this variety St. Matthew ends on fo. cxxvii (Q 7) b, St. Mark on xcvi (m 10) b, St. Luke on cci (Bbb 9) b, St. John on cxxiii (PPp 11) b, and Acts on xc (LLl 10) a. In the other varieties the Paraphrase on St. Luke xxii ends with the words . . . converted and chaunged; but this edition contains two pages more, ending with the words . . . to put Jesus to death.

¶ 280 × 197 mm. Vol. 1 only; imperfect: wanting several leaves.

[In 1551, 52 appeared a second edition, in which the leaves in each volume are numbered consecutively throughout, and tables are added. The Paraphrase on St. Luke xxii ends with the words . . . to putte Jesus to deathe. The N. T. text is printed in roman type.]

A reprint of Matthew's Bible of 1587, with the notes, etc., revised; edited by Edmund Becke. (Cf. No. 66.)

Tindale's prologue to Jonah (see above, No. 4) is reprinted for the first time in this edition of the Bible.

DESCRIPTION. Twenty preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso An Almanacke for .xxix. yeares (1549-77), The Kalendar with a short note at the end These thinges ensuyng are ioyned with thys present volume of the Byble . . .—2 ff., An exhortacion . . . and The summe and content . . .—1 f., the address *To the moost puissant and mighty prince Edward the sixt . . . The text, divided into five parts:—(1) Pentateuch, ff. i to lxxxvi (really 88, S 4) b; (2) Joshua-Job, with title (within border), on verso begins text—ff. 1 (not numbered) b to cxliij (really 114, Tt 6) b; (3) Psalms-Malachi, with title (within border), on verso begins text—ff. 1 (not numbered) b to cxlv (really 147, AAa 7) b,

1 f. blank; (4) Apocrypha, with title (within border), on verso begins text (preceded by prologue)—ff. 1 (not numbered) b to lxxvi (Nnn 4) b; (5) N. T., with title (within border), verso blank, text (with long prologue and list of books)—ff. ij to c.xxi (really 120, V 6) a; on verso begins This is the Table wherein ye shal fynde the Epistles and the Gospels, after the vse of Salisbury—5 pp., ending on c.xxiii (really 122, V 8) b with the colophon: *The ende of the newe Testament, and of the whole Byble. To the honoure and prayse of God was this Bible printed & fynished, In the yeare of oure Lorde God. Anno M.D.xlii. Imprinted at London by John Daye dwellinge at Aldersgate, and Willyam Seres dwellinge in Peter colledge towarde Ludgate. These bokes are to be sold by the lyttle conduyte in Chepesyde. Signatures: AA^a BB^a CC^a, D-R^a S^a, Aa-Tt^a, AA-GG^a HH^a II-ZZ^a AAa^a, Aaa-Mmm^a Nnn^a, A-T^a V^a; 568 ff. The numbering of the leaves is often incorrect; two leaves (HH 7 and 8) are omitted in the foliation. Printed in rather peculiar black-letter; double columns, with 65 lines to the full column. References, and a few notes etc., in the margins; contents before each chapter. The majority of the notes are printed together after the chapters. With Tindale's prologues, etc., including the long prologues to Jonah and Romans and that to the New Testament.

The general title is enclosed within a border composed of 14 cuts: two above—the creation of Eve, and crossing the Red Sea; two below—Abraham and Isaac, and the worship of the golden calf; the remaining 10, arranged 5 on each side of the letterpress, illustrate New Testament incidents. The borders to the other titles are each composed of 6 blocks—an ornamental block (boys blowing horns, like the blocks used for title-borders in the Coverdale Bible of 1535, etc.) on each side, and four cuts—two above and two below the letterpress; those on the N. T. titlepage represent the Evangelists. The illustrations in the text include: two large half-page engravings before the Psalms and Isaiah; many cuts in pts. 1 to 4; cuts of each Evangelist; and 20 small figures in Revelation, with rhyming couplets, printed either below or at the sides of each cut (e.g. By the starres in hys had we may wel se, What maner of mē our preachers should be).

This Bible contains the well-known note at the end of 1 Pet. iii on the words To dwell w a wyfe accordinge to knowledge, in which occurs the sentence And yf she be not obedient and healfull vnto hym endeuoureth to beate the feare of God into her heade, that therby she maye be compelled to learne her duitie and do it. It is often called the 'Bug Bible,' though the rendering bugges in Ps. xci. 5 is first found in the Coverdale Bible of 1535, and occurs in many others.

¶ 299 × 192 mm. Wants only the blank leaf (AAa 8) at the end of pt. 3. [F. F.]

Text printed in double columns, with 54 (sometimes 53) lines to the full column. The book is badly printed with worn type, though the paper is good. The numbering of the leaves is extraordinarily inaccurate. Prologues, notes at the end of the chapters, chapter-contents, marginal references, etc.

The woodcut border used for the general and the N. T. titles is the same as that found in the April 1540 (Berthelet) Bible, viz. the border used in the Coverdale 1535 Bible, with, however, the legends in Latin instead of English. No woodcuts in the text. Two very large and curiously flourished initials occur before the prologues to Leviticus and Deuteronomy.

285 × 180 mm. Imperfect: wanting all matter before C 4 (Gen. xxx); also Aa i, AA 6, b 6 and the last leaf in the volume (i 6); 39 ff. A great part of the missing matter is supplied in manuscript (copied from Day and Seres' 1549 Bible), and a facsimile of the last leaf (supplied by Mr. Lea Wilson) is inserted. It has the blank leaf DDd 8. Bound in two volumes.

Great Bible version.

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves: title (within woodcut border), verso blank, A Prologue or preface . . . —7 pp., The summe and content . . . —2 pp., An exhortacion . . . and The contentes of the first parte of the Byble—1 p. The text, divided into five parts:—(1) Pentateuch, ff. j to xcviij (m 10) b; (2) Joshua-Job, with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ij to cxlij (S 6) a, verso blank; (3) Psalms-Malachi, with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ii to cxlviii (TT 4) a, verso blank; (4) Apocrypha, with title, on verso begins text—ff. 1 (not numbered) b to xvi (Mmm 8) b; (5) N. T. with title (within border), on verso begins A Table to finde the Epistles and Gospels usually read in the Church, accordyng vnto the booke of Common prayer . . . 3 pp., text—ff. i to cxvi (O 12) b.

Signatures: [the 2nd signed ~~ff. 1~~, and the 3rd ~~ff. 1~~], a-l^a m^a, A-R^a S^a, AA-SS^a TT^a, Aaa-Mmm^a, [unsigned]^a, A-N^a O^a; 608 ff. The six preliminary leaves, the latter portion (ff. 89 to end) of pt. 2, and all pts. 3 and 5, were probably printed by E. Whitchurch, whose name appears on the general titlepage. The rest of the book (pt. 1, pt. 2—as far as fo. 88, and pt. 4) is printed in a different, though somewhat similar, type, and perhaps came from another press; the chief characteristics of this portion are—the flourished initials before the chapters, the flourished capitals in the headlines, and the names God and Lord printed in Roman capitals. A full column contains 57 lines.

The general title-border is like that used for Whitchurch's edition of Erasmus' Paraphrase printed in the same year (see above). The border to the pt. 2 title is composed of 11 woodblocks:—two above and two below are like those used in the Great Bibles, a smaller cut is placed immediately beneath the letter-press, and the remaining 6 small cuts representing N. T. incidents are arranged 3 on each side. The pt. 3 and pt. 5 title-borders are similarly arranged, save that in the former a larger cut appears immediately beneath the letterpress, and in the latter this block is omitted. The titlepage to pt. 4 has no woodcut border, but is printed in bold and curious type: Apogrypha. The fourth parte of the Bible: containyng these Bookes . . . There are only two cuts in the text; these occur on ff. 9 b and 13 b in pt. 1, and represent Abraham and Isaac, and Jacob's Ladder. A large initial letter appears at the beginning of Genesis.

¶ 308 × 190 mm. The general title is mounted.

W. Powell: London. 4°. 33. 1.

The third edition of the diglot of Tindale's version of the New Testament in English, with the Latin of Erasmus, first published by R. Redman in 1588.

Fry's No. 21. Powell's second issue of the book.

In arrangement, signatures, etc., this closely agrees with Powell's first issue. The colophon reads the same, with the alteration of the date and the addition of the words Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum.

[Printer and place unknown.] 8°. 33. 1.

Tindale's version.

Fry's No. 23. The text agrees generally with the G. H. edition.

The names of place and printer are not given; they may have appeared on another title, now lost. This issue strikingly resembles the three octavo editions of 1586 in many points:

e.g. the wording of titles, Erasmus' Exhortation, and many peculiar readings and errors. So that it was probably printed about 1536, perhaps at a continental press; and issued later with a new title, in 1549. Possibly Day and Seres were the publishers, as the type of two reprinted leaves in the text is identical with that used in their folio Bible of 1549. The O. T. Epistles and the table at the end are 'after the use of Salisbury.'

DESCRIPTION. The order of the preliminary leaves is somewhat uncertain. The following order is suggested: [...?] + twenty-six preliminary leaves: [a first title—perhaps with an almanack on verso, and other matter, now lost] An Exhortacion to the diligent studye of scripture, made by Erasmus Roterodamus—10 ff.; second title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso begins the Kalendar (with a mnemonic couplet at the foot of each page)—12 pp. The office of all estates—2 pp., list of books—1 p. (with catchword Willam), Uvilliam Tindale vnto the Christian Reader—8 ff. The text, B 1 to z 6 a; followed on the same page by the O. T. Epistles after the use of Salisbury, which end on Bb 5 a; This is the Ta-Table . . . after the use of Salisbury—Bb 5 b to Cc 6 a, verso blank.

Signatures: [first title, etc. ?] *¹⁰ X⁴ A-Z⁸ a-z⁸ Aa⁸ Bb⁸ Cc⁴; [...?] + 408 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 35 lines. Prologues to nearly all the books. References, subject-headings, and notes in the margins. There is no Table necessary . . ., as mentioned in title; but contents are given before the chapters in the Gospels and Acts. Two leaves (h 1 and 8) are printed in a different type (like that used in Day and Seres' Bible of 1549), with 34 lines to the page. The book abounds in errors and omissions (e.g. 2 Cor. x. 11, 1 Pet. ii. 13, Rev. xix. 15, etc.)

The title-border has above—a small medallion with a man's head, and below—Venus in her car drawn by two peacocks. There are 21 cuts in Revelation.

¶ 156 × 94 mm. Imperfect: wanting title, X⁴ 2 and 3, and Cc 5 and 6;—5 ff., supplied in facsimile. Perhaps another title is wanting (cf. Description). A quasi-facsimile title (from the collection of G. Offor) is inserted, with an almanack (1550-71) on verso, for which Fry could find no authority. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

154 × 90 mm. Very imperfect: wanting all before L 4 (St. Luke iii), h 4 and 5, and all after s 8 (Heb. vii). One leaf V 7 is mutilated.

The Grenville copy (G. 12170) in the B. M. has the Exhortacion placed after the list of books; this arrangement ignores the catchword on X⁴ 8 b, as Fry points out.

1549. [The Newe Testament. Diligently Translated by Myles Couerdale and conferred with the translacion of Willyam Tyndale, with the necessary Concordances truly alleged. An. M.D.XLIX.]

Reynolde Wolfe: London. 8°. 33. 1.

A revised edition of Coverdale's New Testament.

In the Address To the Reader on verso of the second title the editor writes: Marke good gentle Reader, that we, besydes all other diligence used in this New Testamēt, have conferred W. Tyndalles translacion with this M. Myles Couerdales. And whereas we have founde any woordes or sentence in Tyndalles translacion, not, fully agreeyng with this translacion, but rather makyng diuersitee of vnderstandyng, or the sentence more plainer we have sette it into the mergent of this booke, inclosed with these markes [], so that ye may reade the same, in steade of that, which is in lyke maner inclosed in the text of this booke . . . (he then goes on to explain the Concordaunces and Tables or Cartes). Thus in Matt. xix. 28 the text reads in the [newe byrthe] (Cov.), and the margin [second generacion] (Tin.).

DESCRIPTION. Sixteen preliminary leaves: first title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso An Almanake for .ix. yeares (1549-57), above which is the well-known rhyme Thirtie dayes hath Nouember, etc. (so Lea Wilson, p. 169, from whose description is taken the wording of the title), Kalendar (with a small cut at the head of each month)—6 ff., For to knowe .vvhath. Signe the Sonne is, etc.—1 p., verso blank; second title: The Newe Testament. Translated by Myles Couerdale, and conferred with W. Tynda | les translation. | An. M.D.XLIX. | Iesus Christvs. | The tyme is fulfilled, the kyngdoms of God is at hande: Amende your | lyues, and beleue the | Gospel. | Mar. 1. on verso To the Reader, prologue: The grace of the Lorde Iesus Christe . . .

5 pp., The Description of the Lande of Promes . . .—map filling 2 pp., A true and perfect rekeninge . . . (mentioning at the end . . . this present 1549 yeare . . .)—5 pp., A Godly prayer for all suche as doo studye and reade the Newe testamēt—1 p., 1 p. blank. The text, divided into two sections:—(1) Gospels and Acts, (2) Rom. to end—A*j* to Y*ij* b; followed by the table: By this table, shall ye fynde the Epistles and Gospels, for the Sondaies, and other feastiull dayes—7 pp., ending on Y 7 a, on verso a device of the brazen serpent NVM. XXI., and the colophon: Imprinted in London, at the signe of the Brasen Serpent in Paules churcheyarde, by Reynolde Wolfe. Anno. 1549. In June, 1 f. (probably blank).

Signatures: [unsigned]^a X^a, A–Z^a Aa–Gg^a, A–Y^a; 432 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 31 lines. References and alternative renderings in margins. Head-lines contain names of books in roman capitals, and chapter-numbers in black-letter. The Order of Times is printed at the end of Acts, to fill the last two leaves of sheet Gg (cf. note at foot of Gg 6 b).

Copies vary slightly in some of the preliminary leaves, e.g. in the Kalendar.

Border to first title: 'at the top of this border is a figure with outstretched hands, intended to represent the Almighty. At foot, on a base or plynth, is Reinold Wolf's device, the brazen serpent, in an oval shield, supported by a fox and a wolf, between the words REIN . WOLF, in Roman capitals' (Lea Wilson, p. 169). Second title page: the first three words are within a woodcut frame; below is a tailpiece. A small cut of the creation of Eve, before A true and perfect rekeninge. . . . The cuts in the text include small cuts of the Evangelists, and SS. Paul, James, Peter and Jude; larger cuts of the Day of Pentecost, and St. John (before Revelation); four illustrations in the Gospels (at Matt. xxvii, Luke i and xxii, and John xx) and over 20 in Revelation. (The cuts in Revelation and the device of the brazen serpent occur again in Lucas Harison's folio Bible of 1575.) The initials at the head of most of St. Paul's Epistles represent the Apostle delivering his letter to a messenger, sometimes through the bars of a prison; or he is chained in a dungeon, or confined in the stocks, etc. Besides the map in the preliminary matter there is another, The Iourney of Sainct Pavle the Apostle, which fills 2 pp. before Acts.

¶ 140 × 90 mm.; printed on yellow paper. Imperfect: wanting first title, and first leaf of prologue; also Aa 1, Bb 8, Cc 1, I 8, and all Y;—14 ff. Some of these are supplied in facsimile.

According to a letter inserted in the book, this copy was found on a beam in a hayloft. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

138 × 90 mm. Very imperfect: wanting all preliminary matter except the third, fourth and last leaves of Kalendar; all sheets A, B, C and D; and many other leaves. Facsimiles are inserted of the second titlepage, and the page containing the device and colophon.

The three Kalendar leaves, which appear to have been taken from another book, slightly differ from those found in the first copy. [F. F.]

Taverner's version.

The second part of an edition of the Old Testament with Apocrypha, issued in separate volumes by Day and Seres (cf. note after No. 65). The text agrees with Taverner's version printed in the folio Bible, edited by Edmund Beke and published by Day in 1551.

DESCRIPTION. One preliminary leaf: title (within woodcut border), on verso a full-page woodcut; the text, A ii to SS ii a; on verso the colophon: Imprinted at London by John Day dwellyng over Aldersgate, and Wylliam Seres, dwellyng in Peter Colledge. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum.

Signatures: A-Y^a Aa-Yy^a AA-RR^a SS²; 490 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 33 lines. No prologues. Contents before each chapter; references and notes in the margins; notes at the end of some chapters in Job.

The title-border is composed of four ornamental blocks (flowered design); that block contains the date 1549. The woodcut on verso of title is the same as that used in similar place in the octavo New Testament printed by Day and Seres in Oct. 1548.

Taverner's version.

The fifth part of an edition of the Old Testament with Apocrypha, issued in separate volumes by Day and Seres (cf. note after No. 65).

The text agrees with Taverner's version, as revised by Becke, and published by Day in 1 folio Bible of 1551. According to Lea Wilson, the books 3 Esdras, Tobit, and Judith are entirely new translation. 3 Maccabees appears here for the first time in English. (For separate edition [1550] of 3 Maccabees cf. Lea Wilson, pp. 291-2, and Cotton, p. 25.) According to the preface To the Reader, the editors in preparing this edition of the Apocryphal books took the labours to cōfer them with the translacion of Leo Iuda; and they found therein more thē is contained in our cōmon Bibles, it was thought good to learn men to supply our want by their exāples.

DESCRIPTION. Two preliminary leaves: title (within woodcut border), on verso a full page woodcut, To the Reader—1 f.; the text, A iii to Yy 3 a; on verso the colophon *Imprinted at London by Jhon Day dwellynge ouer Aldersgate, and Wylliam Ser dwellinge in Peter Colledge. Signatures: A-Y^a Aa-Xr^a Yy^a; 348 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 32 or 33 lines. No prologues. Contents before chapters; references and some notes in the margins.

The title-border and woodcut on verso are the same as in The second parte . . . printed in the same year.

[C. Froshouer: Zurich.] 4°. 33.

Coverdale's version.

The latest reprint of the Bible of 1535 issued during the translator's lifetime. In an additional paragraph at the end of the Dedication in this edition Coverdale refers to the earliest Bible translation-work sixtene yeares ago—i.e. in 1534; and he mentions the same date in his Prologue.

This edition seems to have been printed by Christopher Froshouer of Zurich, who issued it with a title bearing his name and device, and eighteen leaves of preliminary matter (see below); but it was also published at London by Andrew Hester with another title and new preliminary leaves. A third issue, with yet another title and fresh preliminary leaves appeared in 1553, bearing the name of Richard Jugge.

DESCRIPTION. Eight preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), verso blank, The booke of the hole Byble . . . (divided into parts)—1 p., Dedication Unto the moost victorious Prince and our moost gracious soueraigne lord, kynge Edwarde the syxte . . . (signed . . . Myles Couerdale)—4 pp., Myles Couerdale, to the Christen Reader—5 pp., The kalender (with table of Epistles and Gospels)—2 ff. The text: O. T. with Apocrypha—ff. I to CCCXCIII (really 492, QQ 4)a, verso blank; N. T.—ff. I to CXXI (qq 1) b; the table of Epistles and Gospels after the vse of Salisbury—5 pp., ending on qq 4 a with the colophon: To the honoure and prayse of God, was this Byble prynted and fynished in the yere of oure Sauoure Jesu Christ M.D.L. the xvj. daye in the moneth of August, verso blank.

Signatures: A-Z^a, A-Z^b a-z^a AA-PP^a QQ^a, aa-pp^a qq^a; 624 ff. Text printed in an angular foreign type; double columns, with 50 lines to the full column. The Apocrypha title and preface are printed on fo. OCCC (really 398, DD 6) a. The N. T. has no separate titlepage. References in margins, but no contents before chapters, and no notes.

The title-border is like that used in the quarto New Testament printed by W. Tylle in 1549/48; beneath are the words Set forth with the Kynge's mooste gracious licence. A woodcut (with ornamental side-blocks) of the creation of Eve occurs before Genesis. Many initials represent scenes from the Dance of Death.

¶ 229 × 184 mm. Imperfect: wanting the title, and the last three leaves,—supplied in facsimile. Bound in the original boards. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

Made up to represent the original state of this Bible, as first issued by the printer C. Froshover of Zurich. In place of the usual preliminary leaves are inserted facsimiles of the title (bearing, curiously, the name of Thomas Mathewe) and eighteen following leaves found in the remarkable copy in the Public Library at Zurich, which contains Froshover's autograph.

Nineteen preliminary leaves: title: The whole Byble, that is, the Olde and Newe Testamente, truly and purely translated into Englishe, by Mayst. Thomas Mathewe. Esaie. j. Hearchen to ye heauens: and thou earth geaue eare: for the Lord speaketh. Imprinted in Zurych by Chrystopher Froshouer (bearing the printer's device, and enclosed within an ornamental frame), verso blank, To the gentile Reader—one column, followed (in the second column) by Here after foloweth all the argumentes vpon the olde and newe Testament, euery boke by sonder hys Argumentes, and how muche and many Chapters they cōtayne. This matter (printed in angular type, with double columns) fills the remainder of the preliminary leaves. Signatures: [title], *' *' *' *' *' *' *' *' *'; 19 ff.

221 × 178 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and preliminary matter (see above); the rest of the book is perfect, with the exception of the last four leaves, which are supplied in facsimile. Inserted at the beginning is a 'Facsimile of the Autographs of Christopher Froshouer, Zurich. Copied from Coverdale's Bible, and from the New Testament by Tindale, in the Public Library, of Zurich, both printed by C. Froshouer, in the year 1550.' [F. F.]

— Another copy (facsimile) of Froshouer's preliminary leaves.

The original title and eighteen following leaves, with a copy of Froshouer's autograph, reproduced in facsimile for Fry from the copy in the Public Library at Zurich. With a short MS. note on the three issues of this Bible.

Bound up with many blank leaves. Presented by Mr. Fry in 1871.

According to a MS. note by Fry, this edition 'is said to have been printed for circulation in Ireland.'

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves: title (without border), verso blank, The Prologue to the reader—7 pp., The summe and cōtent . . .—2 pp., The names of all the bookes . . .—1 p. The text, divided into five parts: (1) Pentateuch—ff. i to lxxxvij (L 7) b, 1 f. blank; (2) Joshua-Job, with title, verso blank, text—ff. ij to cxxij (BB 4) a, verso blank; (8) Psalms-Malachi, with title, on verso begins the text—ff. 1 (not numbered) b to cl (T 6) b; (4) Apocrypha, with title: The volume of the bookes called Hagio-grapha . . . , on verso To the reader, text—ff. ij to lxxxvij (LL 8) a, verso blank; (5) N. T., with title: The newe testament in english . . . , on verso begins the text—ff. 1 (not numbered) b to cxi (Oo 7) b; on the same page begins A Table to finde the Epistles and Gospels usually reade in the Church, accordyng vnto the booke of Cōmon prayer . . . , which ends on Oo 8 b.

Signatures: ✕^a, A-L^a, AA-QQ^a RR^a, A-S^a T^a, AA-LL^a, Aa-Oo^a; 576 ff. A full column contains 61 or 62 lines. Marginal references, contents before chapters, etc. The letter W, wherever it occurs in the preliminary matter, has been taken from another fount of larger type.

Cranmer's Prologue contains the error nede not the spurre for nede the spurre.

No title-borders, and no illustrations. Many woodcut initials. A curious initial P, representing a schoolmaster wielding a birch rod, occurs before Galatians and elsewhere.

[C. Froschover: Zurich.] 16°. 38. 1.

Tindale's version.

The text of this edition is Tindale's, and not Coverdale's, as curiously stated on the title; it generally agrees closely with the G. H. edition.

Fry's No. 25. Printed at Zurich and issued in England. The first two sheets were evidently added by an English printer. Perhaps Day and Seres were the English publishers, as the contents of St. Matthew (see Description below) are printed in the peculiar type used by them in their folio Bible of 1549. The second title and the text are printed in C. Froschover's angular type. The copy in the Public Library at Zurich which bears Froschover's autograph and imprint has practically settled the question of printer and place (cf. Lea Wilson, p. 174).

DESCRIPTION. Seventeen preliminary leaves: first title (in black and red, with a medallion), verso blank, Kalender—6 ff., 1 f. blank, A Table to fynde the Epistles and Gospels newly set forth by the kynges commaundement, after the copy, called the Seruyce boke or communion . . . —9 pp., God speaketh . . . (six texts taken from the New Testament)—1 p., . . . What S. Mathew conteyneth—3 ff.; second title: The | Newe Testa- | met, of our sauour Jesu Christ, Newly | & faythfully ouer- | sene & corrected. | S. Paul . Colloss. iij. | Let . . . (within woodcut border), verso blank. The text—ff. II to CCCXLVI (Kk 6) b [ending, in the original issue, with Froschover's device and the colophon: Imprynted at Zürich, by Christoffel Froschouer, in the yeare after the creation of the worlde .55.25. And after the byrth of our Sauour .15.50].

Signatures: [unsigned] ✕^a, A-Z^a a-z^a Aa-Ii^a, Kk^a; 462 ff. A full page contains 26 lines. References, and a few subject-headings and notes in the margins. No prologues and no chapter-contents.

The words and said this cup is the new testament in my bloude are omitted from the text (1 Cor. xi. 25); but in some copies they are added in the margin, in type like that used by Day and Seres. In the headline on Kk 6 a Judas is printed for John.

The medallion (containing the Head of our Saviour) on the first title is like that in the 16° Testament printed by Jugge in 1548 (Fry's No. 20). The border to the second title represents: above—the creation of Eve, and the Nativity of our Lord; at the sides—emblems of the Evangelists; below—Adam and Eve, and the Crucifixion. According to Fry, this border had been used by Froschover for the title in the first volume of his 16° German Bible 1527-29. Lea Wilson possessed a copy (No. 26, pp. 173-5, in his Catalogue) 'in the most immaculate condition,' with many leaves unopened, and in the original binding. It contained the first sheet of preliminary matter, but not the second; and the second title was cut away. Lea Wilson considered this to be the exact condition of the book when first issued. But since the first sheet, as well as the second, is printed in English black-letter, it seems more likely that the book as originally issued by Froschover contained only one preliminary leaf (the second title) and the text, which are printed in his well-known type, with the device and colophon on Kk 6 b. The Zurich copy has no more. Apparently Lea Wilson's copy lacked the device and the colophon, which he quotes somewhat differently. The B. M. copy (C.18.a.6) probably represents the book as published in England, with Froschover's title cancelled, and no device or colophon at the end. It contains everything else, except the blank leaves.

¶ 111 × 71 mm. Very imperfect: wanting all before Luke v (fo. 107, O 8); also ff. 111-118, 138-155, 265-272, 408, 409, 425, 432; and all after Rev. xviii (fo. 439, li 7). All the preliminary leaves (except five of Kalendar) and the last leaf (as in the Zurich copy) are supplied in facsimile. Some of the leaves have been damaged by fire. [F. F.]

8°. Partly B. I.

The fourth edition of Tindale's English version with the translation of Erasmus in Latin.

Fry's No. 27. The English text closely agrees with the G. H. edition.

The initials I. C. (i.e. J. C.) stand for the name of the publisher, who, according to his preface, was also editor. They may indicate John Cawood, the London printer. That these initials point to some printer is assumed in the Advertisement to the Reader at the beginning of a Latin-English Testament printed by E. Tyler, London, 1659: The Printers Undertaking in this Work is warranted by a former Example of J. C. 1550. being carried on with a like seal to the publique good. For as J. C. that he might forward the Reformation intended by K. Edw. the sixth, set out the New Testament in English, together with Erasmus Translation in Latine; so E. T. . . . etc. There appears to be no adequate reason for connecting this edition with the name of Sir John Cheke. (But see Herbert, p. 765; also p. 1673.)

DESCRIPTION. Fourteen preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso An almanacke for .xxii. yeares (1550-71), J. C. unto the Christen readers—1 p., 1 p. blank, Kalendar—6 ff.; An exhortacion . . . by Erasmus Rotterodamus—9 pp., The summe and content . . . —2 pp., 1 p. blank. The text, A i to Hh 5 b; The Epistles of the old testament . . . —5 pp., 1 p. blank, table of Epistles and Gospels accordynge vnto the booke of Common prayer—3 pp., ending on li 2 a, verso blank.

Signatures: *^a, X^a, A-Z^a Aa-Hh^a li^a; 264 ff. Leaves not numbered. The Latin and English texts are printed in parallel columns: the former inside, in roman type; the latter outside, in black-letter. A full column of the English contains 54 lines. References in margins. Contents before chapters. These occur only in the Gospels and Acts in the English text; in the case of the Latin, they are elegiac couplets, and are found throughout the book. No prologues, and no notes.

The title-border is an architectural design: at the top is the sun; below is a tablet, supported by two cupids, and bearing the monogram of the printer E. Whitchurch.

¶ 169 × 110 mm. Inserted is a variant leaf (C 7), which has the first few lines of Matt. xxii (Latin text) omitted; it is corrected by a pasted slip. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

171 × 111 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and last leaf of Kalendar. The leaf C 7 has the pasted slip. At the bottom of D 8 a are printed by mistake a few lines of text from another part of the book.

On a blank page at the end of the book are written by an early hand two verses of the old song From Oberon in fairy-land, signed William Penn (possibly Admiral Sir W. Penn, 1621-70, the friend of Samuel Pepys and father of the founder of Pennsylvania).

Fry's No. 6. This edition agrees very closely—generally reading line for line—with the same printers' earlier edition of 1548. The Table by John Calvin, and the matter after the text, are new; and the cuts in Revelation differ.

DESCRIPTION. Forty preliminary leaves: title, on verso a woodcut, The Printer to the Reader—1 p., An almanacke for .xxviii. yeares (1550-77)—1 p., The kalender (with a table of Epistles and Gospels)—6 ff., A Table of the principall matters conteyned in this new Testament. Gathered by J. C.—45 pp., A declaracion of the Table before goynge (with colophon at end)—2 pp., 1 p. blank, Uvilliam Tindale vnto the christian reader (with list of books at end)—15 pp., prologue to St. Matthew—1 p. The text, Ci to DD 6 b; followed by the O. T. Epistles as they be now read in the churche, which end on E ii (really EE 2) a; on the same page begins A gatherynge of certayne harde wordes in the newe testament, wyth theyr expocission made by M. Jhon Calvin, which ends on EE 7 a; on verso is the colophon: Imprynted at London by Jhon Day, dwelling ouer Aldersgate and Wyllyam Seres dwelling in Peter Colledge. These booke are to be sold at the signe of the resurrection at the lytle counduyle in Chepside. Anno M.D.L. the .vi. day of February. Cum gratia . . ., with a small cut of the Resurrection; 1 f. blank.

Signatures: * * † B^a C^a B-Y^a Aa-Yy^a AA-EE^a; 416 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 38 lines. J. C. mentioned in the title of the preliminary Table is apparently John Calvin.

No copy is now known with the titleleaf, which Herbert (p. 625) describes as follows: 'This title, printed in red and black, is within a compartment, with satyrs on the sides and the king's arms crowned, and supported by a lion and a dragon couchant at the bottom. On the back is the duchess of Suffolk's arms' (i.e. as in the very similar edition of 1548). There are cuts of the Evangelists, and 21 small cuts in Revelation.

¶ 143 × 98 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and three following leaves; also DD 8, EE 1 and 7. All these, except the title, are supplied in facsimile. The blank leaf is also missing. [F. F.] 63.

Nicolas Hyll. f°. 33. 1.

Matthew's version.

This closely agrees with Raynalde and Hyll's Bible of 1549.

According to the colophon this edition was printed by Nicolas Hyll for certayne honest menne of the occupacyon, whose names be vpon their booke. Differing copies show the names of William Bonham, John Whyte, Robert Toye, Thomas Petyt, and perhaps others.

DESCRIPTION. Twenty preliminary leaves: title (in black and red within woodcut border), on verso An Almanke for .xxix. yeares (1549-77); A Table for the ordre of the Psalmes, to be sayed at Matyns and Euensonge and The order how the rest of the holy Scripture (besyde the Psalter) is appoynted to be redde—1 p.; The Kalender (with table of Psalmes and Lessons) and These thinges ensuyng . . . —9 pp.; An exhortacion, The summe and content . . ., and To the christian Readers. . . As the Bees . . . —1 f.; A description and successe . . . —1 p.; A table of the principall matters . . ., A perfit supputacion . . ., and A Prologue shewynge the vse of the Scripture—25 pp.; The names, of all the booke . . . —1 p.; A Register or a briefe rehearsall . . . —1 p. The text, divided into five parts:—(1) Pentateuch, ff. j to cxii (O 8) b; (2) Joshua-Job, with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ii to clv (v 3) a, verso blank, 1 f. blank; (3) Psalter-Malachi, with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ii to cxc (& 6) b; (4) Apocrypha, with title (within border), on verso To the Reader, text—ff. ij to Cii (NN 6) a, verso blank; (5) N. T., with title: The newe Testament . . . with Annotations in the Mergēt, and other godlye Notes in the ende of the chapters . . . Imprynted at London in the yeare of our Lorde God. 1551 (within border), verso blank william Tindale vnto the Christen Reader—2 ff., text—ff. iiii to cxlix (TTt 5) a; on the same page begins A table to find the Epistles and Gospels usually read in the Church, accordinge vnto the booke of Common prayer . . . , which ends on TTt 6 b with the colophon: Here endeth the whole Byble after the translacion of Thomas Mathew, with all hys Prologues . . . And after euerye Chapter of the boke are there added many playne Annotacions . . . with other dyuers notable matters as ye shall fynde noted next vnto the Callender. Diligently perused and corrected. Imprynted at London, by Nicolas Hyll, dwelling in Saynt Johns streate, at the coste and charges of certayne honest menne of the occupacyon, whose names be vpon their boke.

Signatures: a^o, *^o C^o, A-O^o, a-t^o v^o, Aa-Zz^o &&^o, AA-MM^o NN^o, AAa-SSs^o TTt^o 730 ff. Printed in double columns, with 55 lines to the full column. Contents before the chapters, and notes at the end of many; references and notes in the margins; prologues before some books.

The border used for the general and N. T. titles is like that in Raynalde and Hyll's Bible of 1549. The borders to the titles of pts. 2, 3 and 4 are composed of four corner-blocks (like those in the Great Bibles) and six small side-blocks (representing New Testament subjects). An extra block is introduced below the letterpress of the titles to pts. 2 and 3. No illustrations.

¶ 808 x 194 mm. The titleleaf has been slightly mended, and mounted. The blank leaf at the end of pt. 2 is wanting.

On the last preliminary leaf is the autograph: W^m. Herbert. 1778.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

The colophon on the last page in this copy ends: . . . Imprynted at London by Nicolas Hyll, for John Wyghte, dwellinge in Paules churchyarde at the sygne of the Rose. In the yere of our Lords God. 1551. Cum priuilegio ad imprimendum solum.

309 x 198 mm. Imperfect: wanting the general title; in place of which is inserted a N. T. title, with the words The boke of the Byble on two printed slips, pasted over the first three lines.

J. Day: London. 8°. 33. 1.

Taverner's version.

The text agrees with Taverner's version as revised by Becke, and published in Day's folio Bible of 1551.

The first part of an edition of the Old Testament issued in four volumes, as appears from the following extract from the preface:— . . . Consideringe also, that the bookes containynge the same [i.e. Holy Scripture]: beyng together in anye one volume, eyther are of so hygh price that the pore . . . are not able to bye them . . . I (furthered by the honest request of diuers) haue to the comoditie of these pore, printed y^e whol old testament in . iiii . sundry partes, y^e they whiche ar not able to bie y^e hole, may bie a part . . .

Probably this was intended to stand as a companion volume to the other parts of Day and Seres' edition of the Old Testament with Apocrypha, described above (Nos. 53, 54, and 60). It resembles that edition very closely in general appearance, though differing in the title-border, and bearing only Day's name in the colophon.

But why should the first part, which alone contains the preface explaining the object of this edition issued in separate volumes, appear latest of them all? Possibly this book is really the first volume of a reissue by Day alone of the five-volume edition which he had already brought out in conjunction with Seres. The other volumes may not have been reprinted; at any rate, no copies seem to have survived.

DESCRIPTION. Nine preliminary pages: title (within woodcut border), on verso The Printer to the Reader, The Prologe shewing the vse of the scripture made by William Tindal—7 pp. Text, A 5 b to Vv 6 b; followed by 1 f. containing on recto the colophon: Imprynted at London by Jhon Day dwellinge ouer Aldersgate. beneth Saint Martins. Anno Domi. M.D.L.I. Cum priuilegio ad imprimendum solum, verso blank; 1 f. blank.

Signatures: A-Y^a Aa-Vv^a; 336 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 33 lines. Tindale's Prologues. Contents before each chapter; references and notes in the margins.

The title-border contains at the sides—two supporting figures, above—a shield bearing crossed swords, and below—a tablet representing the story of Judith.

¶ 139 × 93 mm. Imperfect: wanting all before C 8, and all after Ss 8; also I 7 and 8 and T 7. Inserted are facsimiles of the titleleaf and the last leaf containing the colophon, taken from what appears to be the only other known copy in the B. M., which wants only the last leaf—probably blank.

[F. F.]

Note on the Parts of the Bible printed 1549-51.

Herbert (p. 622), Lea Wilson (p. 33 and p. 129*) and Cotton (p. 21 n.) are all inexact in their numbering of these parts. The true third part is a volume entitled The thyrd part . . ., and containing Psalms to Song of Solomon, a copy of which is in the B. M. The following is a list of the parts, with printers and dates:—

- (1) The fyrste parte . . . (Pentateuch). Day, 1551. 8° (perhaps a reissue).
- (2) The second parte . . . (Joshua to Job). Day and Seres, 1549. 8°.
- (3) The thyrd parte . . . (Psalms to Song of Solomon). Daie and Seres, 1550. 8°.
- (4) The Booke of the Prophetes . . . (Isaiah to Malachi). Daye and Seres, 1550. 8°.
- (5) The volume of the booke called Apocrypha. . . Day and Seres, 1549. 8°.

Copies of all these parts are in the B. M.; and all except The thyrd parte are in this Library.

Perhaps the New Testament (Tindale's version) printed by Day and Seres in 1551 (Fry's No. 26)—or that issued by Day alone about the same date (Fry's No. 28)—though not quite uniform with the above, was meant for the supplementary volume, completing the Bible.

All these 'parts' were incorporated into the folio double-column Bible printed by John Day in 1551, which, in the O. T. and Apocrypha, is recognised as Taverner's version, revised by Edmund Beke. The type, initial letters, and matter are practically identical. The 'part' and the complete Bible often read together line for line through long passages of text. It seems probable that Beke was engaged for some time in this work of revision, and that instalments were published in octavo from 1549 to 1551. Finally these were united with Tindale's N. T. to form the folio complete Bible published by Day with Beke's preface in 1551. (See No. 66.)

Taverner and Tindale's versions.

The title is misleading. The Old Testament and Apocrypha are a revised edition of Taverner's version, apparently prepared by Edmund Beke, the editor of this Bible (cf. No. 47), and previously published in separate octavo parts by Day and Seres. (See note above.) The New Testament closely agrees with Day and Seres' Tindale Testaments of 1548 and 1551; and is practically identical with that printed by Day alone, probably in 1551 (Fry's No. 28).

DESCRIPTION. Twenty-three preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso An Almanacke for, xxvii yeares (1551-77), Kalendar—3 pp., Dedication To the most puisaunt and mightie Prince Edwarde the sixt . . . signed: Your graces faythful obediente and humble subiecte Edmonde Beke—3 pp., To the Christen Readers and A table of the pryncipal matters . . .—13 ff., A gathering of certayne harde wordes in the newe Testament, with their expocicion and An exhortacion . . .—2 ff., The summe and content . . . and A perfect supputacion . . .—3 pp., The names of al the bookes . . .—1 p., A Regyster or a bryefe rehersall . . .—1 p., A description and successes . . . 1 p., The Prologe shewing the vse of the scripture, made by Wylliam Tyndall—1 f. (numbered i, e 1). The text, divided into five parts:—(1) Pentateuch, ff. i (really 2) to xxxiii (really 84, s 6) a, verso blank; (2) Joshua–Job, with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ii to cxvii (V 3) b, 1 f. blank; (3) Psalter–Malachi, with title (within border), on verso begins the text—ff. 1 (not numbered) to cxlii (BBB 4) a, verso blank; (4) Apocrypha, with title (within border), on verso A Prologe . . ., text—ff. ii to lxxxiii (OOo 6) a, verso blank; (5) N. T., with title: The Newe Testament . . . with certayne Notes folowynge the chapters . . . Anno.M.D.L.I. (within border), on verso begins Uuylliam Tyndall vnto the Christyan Reader—4 pp., text—ff. iii (really 2) to xcvi (really 119, Vvvv 6) a, on verso begins A Table to fynde the Epystles and Gospels vsually reade in the Church, accordyng vnto the boke of Common praiser . . .—3 pp. ending on Vvvv 7 b with colophon: The ende of the old and newe Testament. To the honour and prayse of God was thys Byble prynced, and fynyshe in the yere of our Lord and sauour Jesus Christ. M.D.L.I. The xxiii. daye of Maye. Imprinted at London by Jhon Daye, dwellyng ouer Aldersgate beneth Saynt Martyns. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum, 1 f. blank.

Signatures: * AA^a b(or B)^a c^a, e–s^a, A–T^a V^a, AA–YY^a AAA^a BBB^a, AAa–OOo^a, Aaaa–Tttt^a Vvvv^a; 572 ff. Printed in double columns, with 67 lines to the full column. Contents before each chapter, and notes at the end of many. References and notes in the margins. The Apocrypha include 3 Maccabees, and the new translation of 3 Esdras, Tobit, and Judith, which appeared for the first time in the separate volume published in 1549. The ‘wife-beating’ note (1 Pet. iii) occurs in this edition. Omitted lines at the bottom of QQ 6 b and RR 6 b are added by means of pasted slips.

The border used for the titles has supporting figures at the sides; above are the royal arms, and below Day’s device and motto, Arise, for it is Day; at the top of the page are printed the initials E R. A cut of the Evangelist precedes each Gospel. At the beginning of the Dedication stands a woodcut initial, representing Becke offering his book to the King. A few copies (e.g. those in St. Paul’s Cathedral, the University Library and St. John’s College, Cambridge, and the John Rylands Library) contain an extra leaf bearing on one side an engraving with the arms of Edward VI, dated 1549; above are the words—O Lord for thy mercyes sake, saue the Kyng, and below—Feare God, and honour the Kyng. This leaf apparently does not belong to the book, but was inserted in a few copies as an embellishment, and placed opposite the first title.

¶ 275 × 181 mm. The general title is mounted. The last leaf (blank) is missing.

262 × 178 mm. Imperfect: wanting first title and three following leaves. A made-up title is inserted, consisting of a facsimile centre enclosed within a genuine pt. 2 title-border; the initials at the top should be red, not black, on the first title, and the verso should contain the Almanack. Enclosed in the book are facsimile copies of the Almanack and the two leaves * ii and iii. The blank leaf is also missing.

— Another copy.

268 × 183 mm. Imperfect: wanting first title and two leaves of preliminary matter (B 4 and 5); and in pt. 5 the following leaves—Ffff 1, Qqqq 6, Ssss 3 and 4, the last leaf of print and the following blank leaf.

— Another copy.

257 × 184 mm. Imperfect: wanting first title and ten following leaves; also in pt. 1, e 3 and 4; pt. 2, title; pt. 4, title and following leaf; pt. 5, title, Mmmm 2 to 4, Ssss 2 and 3, Vvvv 1 to 3, 6, 7, and the blank leaf. Some leaves mutilated. This copy contains duplicate copies of two leaves in pt. 1, m 3 and 4.

1551 ? (The New Testament.)

J. Daye: London. 1551 ? 8°. 33. 1.

Tindale’s version.

Fry’s No. 28. This closely resembles in most particulars Day and Seres’ editions of 1548 and 1551.

As all three extant copies of this edition are imperfect at the beginning and end, the date is uncertain. It was most probably issued in 1551, since it is practically identical with the New Testament of Day’s Bible published in that year. Down to Feb. 1551 (see Fry’s

No. 26) Day was printing Bibles and Testaments in conjunction with Seres; afterwards he printed independently. The colophon at the end of the preliminary table contains Day's name alone, as in his Bible of May 1551.

DESCRIPTION. — preliminary leaves: [title, etc., not known]; on a leaf signed ‡ ii (really * ii) begins A Table of principall matters . . . —48 pp., A declaration of the Table . . . —2 pp. ending on ‡ 8 a with the colophon: Imprinted at London By John Daye dwellynge ouer Aldersgate Cum priuilegio . . ., verso blank; Wyllyam Tyndale vnto the Christian Reader—11 pp., the prologue to St. Matthew—1 p. The text, D 7 to CC 7 b; followed on the same page by the O. T. Epistles as they be nowe read in the churche, which end on D 2 b, and A gatherynge of certayne harde wordes . . . which ends probably on DD 8 a (DD 7 is the last leaf known), perhaps with colophon on verso, as in Fry's No. 26.

Signatures: [—], * * X^a ‡^a, D-Y^a Z^a, Aa-Yy^a AA-DD^a; [—]+388 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 87 or 88 lines.

The woodcuts correspond generally to those in Fry's No. 26.

¶ 135 × 93 mm. Like the copies in the B. M. and the Lenox Library, imperfect. Wants all before I 8 (Matt. xxv), and all after CC 8; also three leaves, K 8, O 1 and 2—supplied in facsimile. Photographs (taken from the Lenox copy) of ‡ 8 a and Aa 1 a are inserted.

Great Bible version.

DESCRIPTION. Thirty-four preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within woodcut border), on verso An Almanacke for .xxvi. yeares (1552-77), A table for the ordre of the Psalmes—1 p., The order how the rest of the holy Scripture . . . —1 p., Kalendar—6 ff.; The order of Commen prayer . . . —12 ff. (numbered i to xij), ending with colophon: Imprinted at London by Nycolas Hyll, for Abraham Ueale, dwelling in Pauls churcheyarde at the sygne of the Lambe; A table of the Principal matters . . . —14 ff. The text, divided into four parts:—(1) Genesis—Job, ff. i to cciiij (really 206, Cc 6) b; (2) with title: The thyrd part of the Byble contaynyng these booke. The Psalter . . . Malachy (within border), on verso begins the text—ff. 1 (not numbered) b to Cxxxij (really 137, s i) b; (3) Apocrypha, with title: The volume of the boke called Hagiotropha . . . (within border), on verso To the reader, text—ff. Cxxxv (really 139, s iii) to ccxiiij (really 218, cc 10) a, verso blank; (4) N. T., with title: The newe Testament in Englyshe . . . (in italics, within border), verso blank, text—ff. ij to 101 not numbered, NN 5) a, followed on the same page (in the second column) by A Table to fynde the Epistles and Gospels usually read in the church, according vnto the boke of comon prayer . . . which ends on NN 6 a with the colophon: Imprynted at London by Nycolas Hyll. Anno.M.D.L.II., verso blank.

According to the foliation and signatures the book is divided into three, not four parts; but the Apocrypha have a separate title and apparently form a distinct part. The title to pt. 2, The thyrd part . . ., is incorrect.

Signatures: [unsigned]^a, A-C^a, * * C^a, A-Z^a Aa^a Bb^a Cc^a, a-z^a &^a aa^a bb^a cc^a, AA-MM^a NN^a; 560 ff. Printed in double columns, with 61 lines to the full column. No contents before chapters, and no notes; but marginal references. The headlines contain subject-headings only in the O. T. The order of Commen prayer, which is printed in larger type than the text, follows Edward VI's first Prayer Book.

The border to the four titles is like that first used in Nycolson's quarto Bible of 1537.

¶ 187 × 140 mm. Imperfect: wanting the general title and following leaf, the last leaf of Kalendar, and the last leaf of The order of Commen prayer; all of which, except the leaf after the title, are supplied in facsimile.

Rycharde Jugge: London. [1552.] 4°. 33. 1.

Tindale's version; Jugge's revision.

Fry's No. 29. The earliest of three illustrated quarto editions of Tindale's version, printed by Jugge, and ascribed to the dates 1552, 1553, and 1566. Here first appears Jugge's Dedication, explaining that the text was revised with the advice and helpe of godly learned men. The book contains new introductions and notes.

The date, though not given on the title or in the colophon, was most likely 1552. The perfecte supputation mentions the year 1552 as this presente year. In some copies, on verso of the title is printed The copy of the byll assigned by the kynges honorable counsell, for the Auctorisinge of this Testamente, naming twenty & two pens as the limit-price for the unbound book, and dated At Grenewiche the x. of June. M.D.Lij. The Table of Epistles and Gospels allows for a second Communion on Easter Day, which was dropped from the service-book in August 1552.

DESCRIPTION. Sixteen preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, with woodcut), verso (in some copies) blank, Dedication To the puyssant and mightye Prince Edward the syzt . . . 1 f., Kalendar (with table of second lessons)—6 ff., An Almanacke for xxiiii. yeares (1552-75)—1 p., A Table of the principall matters . . .—11 pp., A perfecte supputation of the yeres and time . . .—1 f., An exhortation . . .—1 p., The lyfe of the blessed Euangelyste Saynte Mathew . . .—1 p. The text, divided into two parts: (1) Matthew—Acts, A i to & i b, followed by The description of the Lande of promys . . . (with a map and short note)—1 p., The Order of tymes—4 pp., and 1 p. containing Jugge's device and imprint; (2) with title: The epistles of Saint Paule . . . The Canonickall Epistles . . . The Reuelation of .S. Iohn (within border), on verso The Argumente . . . to the Romaynes, text—Aa ii to Rr ii (really 8) a; on verso begin The Epistles of the olde Testament, according as they be now read, which end on Rr 5 b; on the same page begins A table to fynde the Epystles and Gospels, reades in the churches of Englande . . ., which ends on Rr 7 a; on verso is Jugge's device and colophon: Imprynted at London by Rycharde Jugge, dwellynge in Paules church yeards at the signe of the byble. VVith the kynge his moost gracious lycence, and privilege, forbyddynge all other men to print or cause to be printed, this, or any other Testament in Englyshe; 1 f. blank.

Signatures:  A-Y^a z^a &^a, Aa-Rr^a; 340 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 37 lines. The margins give references and alternative renderings. Arguments or introductions before each book. Contents before, and generally notes at the end of, each chapter. All this matter is printed in italic type in this edition. Marginal notes in black-letter mark the Epistles and Gospels.

On Q 7 b the words Beynge accused by their owne conscience (John viii. 9) are printed in roman type, with the marginal note This is read in the greke testamente of Stephanus prynte. This seems to show that the revisers consulted the famous Paris edition of the Greek Testament printed in 1550.

The woodcut in the centre of the general title is a portrait of Edward VI, within an ornamental frame bearing the inscription Edwardus Sextus Dei gracia, Anglie, Francie, et Hibernie Rex. etc. Ætatis sue. XV.; outside the frame are the words Viuat Rex. The second title has an ornamental frame formed of four blocks; the bottom block contains the initials R I, within a circle inscribed Omnia Desuper. Jugge's device is that of the 'pelican in her piety,' within an oval frame inscribed Pro lege rege, et grege, and Love kepyth the Lawe, obeyeth the kynge, and is good to the common welthe; at the sides—figures of Prudencia and Iusticia; and below—Jugge's monogram. The illustrations include cuts of the Evangelists and Apostles, many cuts in the Gospels (in one of which the Devil with a wooden leg appears as the Enemy sowing tares), and 21 cuts in Revelation. There are also ornamental blocks, initial letters (some flourished), etc. Over 100 blocks are employed, some of which occur in earlier editions of the Bible and New Testament.

¶ 215 × 155 mm. Wants only the last leaf (blank). The general title has verso blank. Two photographs are inserted of The copy of the byll . . . found in some copies. [F. F.]

R. Jugge: London. [1552.] 16°. 3. 1.

Tindale's version; Jugge's revision.

Fry's No. 30. Appears to be printed from Jugge's first quarto edition of 1552 (q.v.). It repeats certain misprints found in that book, but corrected in later issues; and the table allows for two Communion on Easter Day. The almanack begins at the year 1552, and The copie of the byll is dated 20 Oct. 1552. Hence that year may be assigned with great probability to the book. In many particulars this edition closely resembles three other 16° Testaments—Fry's Nos. 20, 31, and 39.

The copie of the byll . . . names ix.d. as the limit-price for the unbound book.

DESCRIPTION. [Ten] preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, with woodcut), on verso An Almanacke for xvij. yeares (1552-68), The copie of the byll assigned by the Kynges honourable counsel, for the auctorising of this Testament (dated At Westm. the .xx. of October. 1552)—1 p., Dedication—3 pp., Kalender—6 ff., [1 f. blank?]. The text, A i to 9 9 5 b; followed by A table to fynde the pistles and Gospels reades in the church of Englande . . .—5 pp., and 1 p. containing Jugge's device and colophon: Imprinted at London by Rycharde Jugge, dwellynge in Paules churchyarde at the signe of the Byble . . .

Signatures: [unsigned]¹⁰, A-Z^a &^a Aa-Zz^a &^a 9 p^a; 402 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 34 lines. No prologues; and no contents before, or notes after, chapters. The margins contain a few subject-headings printed in italics. Headlines in italics. The O. T. Epistles are omitted.

The woodcut on the title is a portrait of Edward VI, resembling that in the quarto of 1552. Jugge's device is very similar to the larger device in the quarto Testament, but bears the words Cogita mori inscribed on the tablet at the top. The illustrations include cuts of SS. Luke and John, nearly 50 cuts in the Gospels, and 20 in Revelation.

¶ 106 × 71 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and following leaf, and the last leaf of Kalender; also B 8, C 4, 9 9 1, and the last three leaves. All these are supplied in facsimile from the copy now in the Lenox Library, New York.

Coverdale's version.

The body of this book is identical with the Bible printed by Froshover at Zurich, and published by A. Hester at London in 1550 (q.v.); the date 1550 appears in the colophon. The title and preliminary leaves, however, are new; the former bears R. Jugge's name, and the date 1553.

DESCRIPTION of the twelve preliminary leaves (printed in English black-letter): title (within woodcut border), verso blank, The bokes of the whole Byble . . .—1 p., Dedication—4 pp., Prologue—5 pp., The Table and Kalender expressynge the ordre of the Psalmes and Lessons, to be sayde at the Mornynge and Euenynge prayer throughout the yeare, excepte certayne propre feastes, as the Rules folowynge more playnly declare (taken from Edward VI's second Prayer Book of 1552)—2 ff., An Almanacke for xix. yeares (1552-70)—1 p., The kalender (with table of Psalms and Lessons)—7 pp.

Signatures: X^a, 11^a.

The rest of the book is identical with A. Hester's edition of 1550, described above.

The title-border is composed of ornamental blocks; the bottom block contains the initials R I with the motto Omnia Desuper; and below are the words Set forth with the Kinges moost gracious licence.

¶ 233 × 183 mm. Imperfect: wanting the last three leaves, which are supplied in facsimile. The title is mounted. [F. F.]

Great Bible version.

According to a MS. note in the B. M. copy, Queen Mary is said to have destroyed the greater part of this impression.

DESCRIPTION. Two preliminary leaves: title (within border), verso blank, The names of al the bokes . . . —1 f. The text, divided into five parts:—(1) Pentateuch, ff. i to lxxxvij (L 8) a, verso blank; (2) Joshua–Job, with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ii to cxxxiii (Rr 6) a, verso blank; (3) Psalter–Malachi, with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ii to clii (really 160, T 6) b; (4) Hagiographa, with title (within border), on verso begins the text—ff. 1 (not numbered) b to lxxxvii (really 86, L 6) a, verso blank; (5) N. T., with title: The Newe Testament in englishe . . . Printed in the years of our Lorde God. M.D.LIII. (within border), on verso begins: A Table to finde the Epistles and Gospels vsuallye read in the Church, accordinge vnto the boke of Common prayer . . . —8 pp., text—ff. i to cxvi (P 6) b.

Signatures: [unsigned]^r, A–L^s, Aa–Qq^r Rr^s, A–S^s T^s, A–L^s, A–N^s O^s P^s; 578 ff. The leaves D 7 and 8 in pt. 3 are numbered respectively Fol. xxri. & xxxii. and Fo. xxxiii. & xxxiiii. This makes the number of the last leaf 152 instead of 150. Double columns, with 58 lines to the full column.

The borders to the general title, and the titles of parts 2, 3 and 4, are formed of 10 or more woodblocks—4 corner-blocks (like those used in the Great Bibles) and 6 smaller side-blocks (representing New Testament subjects); one block is added under the letterpress in the case of the general and pt. 3 titles, and two blocks (of smaller size) in the case of the title to pt. 2. The N. T. title-border is formed of 6 blocks—4 corner blocks representing the Evangelists, and two ornamental side-blocks—boys blowing horns (first used in the Coverdale Bible of 1535).

¶ 316 × 213 mm. The general title has been mounted.

R. Grafton: London. 4°. 33. 1.

Great Bible version.

A handy quarto edition, printed in very small type.

DESCRIPTION. Two preliminary leaves: title (within border), verso blank, The names of all the bookes of the Byble . . . —1 f. The text:—(1) Genesis–Malachi, ff. j to ccc.iiij (really 306, Q ij) b; Hagiographa, with title (within border), on verso To the Reader, text—ff. ccc.vi (really 308, Q iiij) to ccc.lxxxii (really 380, 94) a, ending with the words The ende of the olde Testamente (within narrow frame), verso blank; (2) N. T.

with title: The newe Testaments in Englishe . . . (within border), verso blank, text—ff. ii to xcii (really 93, M 5) b; followed by A Table to fynde the Epyttles and Gospels usually read in the churche, after Salysbury use . . .—2 ff. (not numbered), ending on M 7 b with the colophon: The ende . . . Imprinted at London by Richard Grafton, printer to the Kinges highnes. An. M.D.LIII. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum; 1 f. blank.

Signatures: [unsigned]², a-z^o A-Z^o &^o 9^o, A-M^o; 478 ff. The numbering of the leaves is most incorrect. Printed in an extremely small wiry type; double columns, with 62 lines to the full column. No contents before chapters; but references in the margins. In pt. 1 the daily lessons are marked in the margins, and the appropriate months in the headlines. Thus on H ij a December is printed in the headline, The date Mattins in the margin beside chap. lxiii (of Isaiah), and Evensong at the side of chap. lxiv.

The border used for the three titles is a narrow frame composed of four blocks, of architectural design.

Herbert (p. 536) and Cotton (p. 29) assert that some copies of this edition bear the names of R. Grafton and E. Whitchurch as the printers (cf. Lewis, p. 384).

Fry's No. 32. The second quarto edition of Jugge's revision.

The date is not given, but is generally believed to be 1553, the first year of the Almanack; it is undoubtedly subsequent to August 1552, since the Table at the end allows for only one Communion on Easter Day.

The copye of the bill . . . names twentye & two pence as the limit-price for the unbound book.

DESCRIPTION. Eighteen preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, with woodcut), on verso The copye of the bill . . . dated At Grenewiche the x. of June. M.D.Liii, Dedication—1 f. (signed ¶ ij), Kalendar (first leaf signed ¶ iii)—6 ff., An Almanacke for xviii. yeares (1553–70)—1 p., A Table of the principall matters . . .—14 pp., A true and perfect rekenynge . . .—1 p., An exhortation . . .—1 f., The description of the lande of promys . . . (the map)—1 p., *The life of . . . T. Epistles, which end on Rr ii b; on the same page begins A Table . . ., which ends on Rr 4 a with the colophon: Imprinted at London by Rycharde Jugge, dwellinge at the North dore of Paules, at the signe of the Byble . . . and the block containing the initials R. I.; on verso is Jugge's device.

Signatures: ¶ (or ¶^o), ¶^o, A-Y^o z^o, Aa-Qq^o Rr^o; 332 ff. In most particulars this edition closely resembles that of 1552; but, though the headlines are in italic type, the contents before chapters, notes, and marginal references are in black-letter.

Woodcuts generally as in the 1552 edition. A small cut of the creation of Eve occurs at the beginning of A true and perfect rekenynge . . .

¶ 211 × 155 mm. The title has been mounted.

R. Jugge: London. [1553.] 8°. 33. 1.

Tindale's version; Jugge's revision.

This edition reproduces many typographical errors from the 1552 quarto Testament, which it closely follows in most particulars.

The date most probably is 1553, as The copy of the byll is dated 29 March 1553, and the Almanacke begins with the same year. Partial allowance is made in the margins, but not in the table, for two Communions on Christmas Day and Easter Day. It was perhaps the last edition of the New Testament published in the reign of Edward VI. Fry had not seen this edition when he wrote A Bibliographical Description . . . It resembles in many points the octavo editions (1561 ?) described below (Nos. 80-83).

In The copy of the byll occur the words . . . Forasmuche as the same boke be nowe come forth in printe in that kinde of volume which is called the octaue . . . The price of . xii . pence is named as the limit-price for the unbound book.

DESCRIPTION. Thirty-two preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, with woodcut), on verso The copy of the byll . . . (dated At Westminster the . xxix . of Marche. 1553), Dedication—1 f., Kalendar—6 ff., An Almanacke for . xviij . yeares (1558-70)—1 p., A Table of the Principall matters . . . —41 pp., A true and perfect rekenynge . . . —1 p., An exhortation . . . (ending with Jugge's device)—2 pp., The description of the lande of promes . . . (the map)—2 pp., The lyfe of . . . Saynt Mathewe . . . —1 p. The text, A j to Zs 8 a; followed on the same page by The Epistles of the olde Testament, accordyng as they be nowe read, which end on & ij b; A table to fynde the pistles and Gospels reade in the churche of Englande . . . —2 ff., ending on & 4 b with the colophon: Imprinted at London by Richarde Jugge, dwellynge at the North dore of Pauls church at the sygne of the Byble. (With the kyngs his most gracious lycence, and priuilege) forbyddynge al other men to prynt or cause to be prynted, this, or anye other Testament in Englysh.

Signatures: [unsigned] * * * * * A-Z* & Aa-Zs* & & ; 412 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 35 lines. Life of the Evangelist before each Gospel; arguments before other books (except Revelation). References, and a few notes (especially in Revelation), in margins. Contents before each chapter, and notes generally at the end. The Carte Cosmographie of the Peregrination and iourneys of Saynte Paule . . . —a map filling 2 pp., and The order of tymes . . . —4 pp. (preceded by a note referring to both on Cc 7 a), come after Acts.

The woodcut on the titlepage is a portrait of Edward VI, within an ornamental frame, like that used for Jugge's quarto Testaments, and his later octavo editions. A small cut of the creation of Eve occurs at the head of A true and perfect rekenynge . . . There are also cuts of the Evangelists, and 20 cuts in Revelation; besides the two maps (mentioned above) and many woodcut initials representing Paul giving his Epistles to messengers. Jugge's device is that with the pelican, and the motto above Cogita mori.

¶ 129 × 81 mm. Wants only one leaf (Aa 1), which was probably lost in rebinding. Contains the book-plate of Lord Hampton.

For a descriptive and critical article on this copy, believed to be unique, see the Athenæum, June 1886.

NOTE. DURING THE REIGN OF EDWARD VI (JANUARY 1547 TO JULY 1553) SOME FORTY EDITIONS APPEARED OF THE BIBLE OR THE NEW TESTAMENT IN ENGLISH. WITH THE ACCESSION OF QUEEN MARY, THE PUBLICATION OF ENGLISH SCRIPTURES SUDDENLY CEASED. HER REIGN WITNESSED THE ISSUE OF ONLY ONE EDITION—THE NEW TESTAMENT OF 1557, TRANSLATED BY AN EXILE, AND PRINTED AT GENÈVE. QUEEN ELIZABETH SUCCEEDED TO THE THRONE IN NOVEMBER 1558; YET NO FRESH ENGLISH EDITION OF THE BIBLE APPEARED BEFORE 1561. NOT UNTIL SOME YEARS LATER DID THE ISSUE OF ENGLISH BIBLES REASSUME THE PROPORTIONS WHICH OBTAINED UNDER KING EDWARD.

This version of the New Testament is ascribed to William Whittingham, one of the band of English reformers who found an asylum at Geneva. The text is based upon Tindale's, compared with the Great Bible, and largely influenced by Beza's Latin translation.

Though this version forms the groundwork of the New Testament in the Geneva Bible of 1560, it is a distinct work, due to one translator, as the Address To the reader seems to show. Fry asserted that the text of this Testament was not reprinted in any of the numerous Geneva Bibles or separate Testaments, from 1560 to 1644, which he had examined. (Cf. Standard Edition of the English New Testament of the Genevan Version, 1864.)

This neat octavo is the earliest English Testament printed in roman type, and with verse divisions. With its elaborate apparatus of arguments, notes and tables, it forms the first critical edition of the New Testament in English.

Whittingham (1524?-1579) married Catherine Jaquemayne or Jaqueman, said to be the sister of Calvin's wife (cf. entry in Geneva archives, cited by Stoughton, Our English Bible, p. 190 n.), but see D. N. B. s.v. W. Whittingham.

DESCRIPTION. Twelve preliminary leaves: title (with engraving), on verso The ordre of the bookes of the Newe testament, with the number of Chapters, The Epistle declaring that Christ is the end of the Lawe, By Iohn Caluin—8 ff., To the reader mercie and peace through Christ our Sauour and The Argument of the Gospel, writ by the foure Euangelists—3 ff. The text, ff. 1 to 430 (really 431, Hh 7) b; followed by The Table of the Nevve Testament and A perfecte supputation of the yerres and time from Adam vnto Christ . . . —49 pp., ending on 455 (really 456, Ll 8) a with the colophon: Printed by Conrad Badius M.D.LVII. this x. of Ioue, verso blank; 1 f., containing on recto Fautes committed in the printing, verso blank. (In some copies the Fautes are printed on verso of Ll 8, and there is no extra leaf.)

Signatures: *^a *^a *^a, a-s^a A-Z^a Aa-Ll^a; 468 ff. (and one extra leaf). Leaves numbered from the beginning of the text to 455; the number 386 is repeated by error. The text is printed in a small, but beautifully clear, roman type; a full page contains 87 lines. Arguments to almost all the books, and contents before each chapter, printed in italics. Notes (in roman type) and some references (in italics) in the margins. The chapters are divided into verses, though the alphabetical divisions, A B C, etc., in the margins are retained. Words not in the Greek are marked by italics.

In the list of Fautes the error fyue thousand in Matt. xvi. 10 is miscorrected to four hundred.

The symbolical engraving on the titlepage represents Time leading Truth up out of a cavern, with the legend: God by Tyme restoreth Truth | and maketh her victorious. Many large initials and headpieces.

¶ 128 × 85 mm. With the extra leaf at the end.

— Another copy.

This copy is possibly an earlier impression, since some mistakes occur in the foliation (e.g. 10 for 110, 306 for 321), which are corrected in the former copy.

The first edition of the so-called 'Geneva version'; the earliest English Bible printed in roman type and with verse divisions. Translated by W. Whittingham (see No. 76), Anthony Gilby, Thomas Sampson, and perhaps others, at Geneva.

The New Testament is a careful revision of Whittingham's Testament of 1557 (q.v.), due to a further comparison with Beza's Latin translation. The Old Testament and Apocrypha are based mainly on the Great Bible, corrected from the original Hebrew and Greek, and compared with the Latin versions of Leo Juda and others; while the influence of the revisers of Olivetan's French Bible is also apparent.

The Geneva Bible showed a distinct advance on its predecessors, and appearing as it did in compact form, with roman type and verse divisions, obtained speedy and permanent popularity. Its arguments and numerous explanatory notes (often distinctly Calvinistic in tone), which amount to a running commentary, endeared it especially to the Puritans, and for three generations it maintained its supremacy as the Bible of the people. Its phrases find an echo in Scripture quotations from Shakespeare to Bunyan. Between 1560 and 1644 at least 140 editions appeared of the Geneva Bible or Testament—120 of which are represented in this Library. Examination of King James' Bible of 1611 shows that its translators in correcting the Bishops' Bible were influenced more by the Geneva than by any other English version.

The cost of the work was defrayed by members of the congregation at Geneva whose hearts God . . . touched to encourage the revisers not to spare any charges for the furtherance of such a benefite and fauour of God. Conspicuous amongst these was John Bodley (father of the founder of the Bodleian Library), who received from Elizabeth a patent, dated 8 Jan. 1561, for the exclusive right to print the version in England for seven years (Herbert, p. 1608).

The Geneva Bible of 1560 and its later editions are often called by the somewhat absurd title of 'Breeches' Bibles. The rendering breeches (for aprons) in Gen. iii. 7 had already occurred in Wycliffe's MS. Bible, as well as in Caxton's edition of the Golden Legend (1488). Such popular titles as 'Breeches Bible,' 'Bug Bible,' 'Treacle Bible,' etc., apart from any question of their vulgarity, are generally misleading, and convey no idea of the distinctive interest and importance of each edition.

DESCRIPTION. Four preliminary leaves: title (with woodcut), on verso The names and order of all the bookes . . ., Epistle: To the moste Vertuous and Noble Quene Elisabet, Quene of England, France, ad Ireland, &c. Your humble subiects of the English Church at Geneva, wish grace and peace from God the Father through Christ Iesus our Lord—2 ff., Address: To ovr Beloved in the Lord the Brethren of England, Scotland, Ireland, &c. Grace, mercie and peace, through Christ Iesus—1 f. (Both the Epistle and the Address are dated From Geneva. 10. April. 1560.) The text: (1) O. T. and Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 474 (Bbbbb iiiii) a, verso blank; (2) N. T., with title: The Newe Testament of ovr Lord Iesus Christ, Conferred diligently with the Greke, and best approued translations in diuers languages. At Geneva. Printed by Rouland Hall. M.D.LX. (with cut), verso blank, text—ff. 2 to 122 (HHh ii) a, verso blank; followed by A brief table of the interpretation of the propre names . . ., A table of the principal things . . ., A perfitte supputation . . . (with a text at the end—Ioshua Chap. 1. vers. 8. Let not this boke . . . good successe), and The order of the yeres from Pauls conuersion shewing the time of his peregrination, & of his Epistles written to the Churches,—27 pp., ending on LLl iiiii a, verso blank.

This version of the New Testament is ascribed to William Whittingham, one of the band of English reformers who found an asylum at Geneva. The text is based upon Tindale's, compared with the Great Bible, and largely influenced by Beza's Latin translation.

Though this version forms the groundwork of the New Testament in the Geneva Bible of 1560, it is a distinct work, due to one translator, as the Address To the reader seems to show. Fry asserted that the text of this Testament was not reprinted in any of the numerous Geneva Bibles or separate Testaments, from 1560 to 1644, which he had examined. (Cf. Standard Edition of the English New Testament of the Genevan Version, 1864.)

This neat octavo is the earliest English Testament printed in roman type, and with verse divisions. With its elaborate apparatus of arguments, notes and tables, it forms the first critical edition of the New Testament in English.

Whittingham (1524?-1579) married Catherine Jaquemayne or Jaqueman, said to be the sister of Calvin's wife (cf. entry in Geneva archives, cited by Stoughton, Our English Bible, p. 190 n.), but see D. N. B. s.v. W. Whittingham.

DESCRIPTION. Twelve preliminary leaves: title (with engraving), on verso The ordre of the bookes of the Newe testament, with the number of Chapters, The Epistle declaring that Christ is the end of the Lawe, By Iohn Caluin—8 ff., To the reader mercie and peace through Christ our Sauour and The Argument of the Gospel, writ by the foure Euangelists—8 ff. The text, ff. 1 to 430 (really 431, Hh 7) b; followed by The Table of the Nevve Testament and A perfecte supplotation of the yeres and time from Adam vnto Christ . . . —49 pp., ending on 455 (really 456, Ll 8) a with the colophon: Printed by Conrad Badius M.D.LVII. this x. of Iune, verso blank; 1 f., containing on recto Fautes committed in the printing, verso blank. (In some copies the Fautes are printed on verso of Ll 8, and there is no extra leaf.)

Signatures: * * * *, a-z^a A-Z^a Aa-Ll^a; 468 ff. (and one extra leaf). Leaves numbered from the beginning of the text to 455; the number 336 is repeated by error. The text is printed in a small, but beautifully clear, roman type; a full page contains 37 lines. Arguments to almost all the books, and contents before each chapter, printed in italics. Notes (in roman type) and some references (in italics) in the margins. The chapters are divided into verses, though the alphabetical divisions, A B C, etc., in the margins are retained. Words not in the Greek are marked by italics.

In the list of Fautes the error fyue thousand in Matt. xvi. 10 is miscorrected to four hundred.

The symbolical engraving on the titlepage represents Time leading Truth up out of a cavern, with the legend: God by Tyme restoreth Trvth | and maketh her victorious. Many large initials and headpieces.

¶ 128 × 85 mm. With the extra leaf at the end.

— Another copy.

This copy is possibly an earlier impression, since some mistakes occur in the foliation (e.g. 10 for 110, 806 for 321), which are corrected in the former copy.

121 by × 85 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and all preliminary matter except the last leaf; also 22 leaves of text, and most of the supplementary matter;—58 ff. Facsimiles are inserted of the title and Ll 7, and two copies of Ll 8, one with, and the other without, the Fautes on verso.

The first edition of the so-called 'Geneva version'; the earliest English Bible printed in roman type and with verse divisions. Translated by W. Whittingham (see No. 76), Anthony Gilby, Thomas Sampson, and perhaps others, at Geneva.

The New Testament is a careful revision of Whittingham's Testament of 1557 (q.v.), due to a further comparison with Beza's Latin translation. The Old Testament and Apocrypha are based mainly on the Great Bible, corrected from the original Hebrew and Greek, and compared with the Latin versions of Leo Juda and others; while the influence of the revisers of Olivetan's French Bible is also apparent.

The Geneva Bible showed a distinct advance on its predecessors, and appearing as it did in compact form, with roman type and verse divisions, obtained speedy and permanent popularity. Its arguments and numerous explanatory notes (often distinctly Calvinistic in tone), which amount to a running commentary, endeared it especially to the Puritans, and for three generations it maintained its supremacy as the Bible of the people. Its phrases find an echo in Scripture quotations from Shakespeare to Bunyan. Between 1560 and 1644 at least 140 editions appeared of the Geneva Bible or Testament.—120 of which are represented in this Library. Examination of King James' Bible of 1611 shows that its translators in correcting the Bishops' Bible were influenced more by the Geneva than by any other English version.

The cost of the work was defrayed by members of the congregation at Geneva whose heartes God . . . touched to encourage the revisers not to spare any charges for the furtherance of such a benefite and fauour of God. Conspicuous amongst these was John Bodley (father of the founder of the Bodleian Library), who received from Elizabeth a patent, dated 8 Jan. 1561, for the exclusive right to print the version in England for seven years (Herbert, p. 1603).

The Geneva Bible of 1560 and its later editions are often called by the somewhat absurd title of 'Breeches' Bibles. The rendering breeches (for aprons) in Gen. iii. 7 had already occurred in Wycliffe's MS. Bible, as well as in Caxton's edition of the Golden Legend (1483). Such popular titles as 'Breeches Bible,' 'Bug Bible,' 'Treacle Bible,' etc., apart from any question of their vulgarity, are generally misleading, and convey no idea of the distinctive interest and importance of each edition.

DESCRIPTION. Four preliminary leaves: title (with woodcut), on verso The names and order of all the booke . . ., Epistle: To the moste Vertuous and Noble Quene Elisabet, Quene of England, France, ad Ireland, &c. Your humble subjects of the English Church at Geneva, wish grace and peace from God the Father through Christ Iesus our Lord—2 ff., Address: To ovr Beloved in the Lord the Brethren of England, Scotland, Ireland, &c. Grace, mercie and peace, through Christ Iesus—1 f. (Both the Epistle and the Address are dated From Geneva. 10. April. 1560.) The text: (1) O. T. and Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 474 (Bbbbb iiiii) a, verso blank; (2) N. T., with title: The Newe Testament of ovr Lord Iesus Christ, Conferred diligently with the Greke, and best approued translacions in diuers languages. At Geneva. Printed by Rouland Hall. M.D.LX. (with cut), verso blank, text—ff. 2 to 122 (HHh ii) a, verso blank; followed by A brief table of the interpretation of the propre names . . . A table of the principal things . . . A perfitte supputation . . . (with a text at the end—Joshua Chap. 1. vers. 8. Let not this boke . . . good successe), and The order of the yeres from Pauls conuersion shewing the time of his peregrination, & of his Epistles written to the Churches,—27 pp., ending on Ll1 iiiii a, verso blank.

Signatures: ., a-z' A-Z' Aa-Zz' & Aaa-Zzz' Aaaa-Zzzz' Aaaaa' Bbbbb', AA-ZZ' AAa-Ll1'; 614 ff. Printed in roman type; double columns, divided into verses. Marginal notes in very small roman type. References etc., and contents before chapters in italics. Subject headings in headlines. An argument is prefixed to each book. The Hebrew names are carefully spelt and accented, e.g. Isakób, Izhák, Rebekáh, etc.

In Ecclesi. xv. 13 occurs the following error (a negative omitted):—The Lord hateth all abominacion [of error:] and they that feare God, wil loue it.

The cut on the titlepages represents the crossing of the Red Sea; above are the words Feare ye not, stand stil, and beholds the saluacion of the Lord, which he will shewe to you this day. Exod. 14, 13, below—The Lord shal fight for you: therefore holde you your peace. Exod. 14, vers. 14, and at the sides—Great are the troubles of the righteous: | but the Lord deliuereth them out of all, Psal. 34, 19.

The engravings in the text number 26, and include a plan The situacion of the Garden of Eden, and representations of the Flood, the crossing of the Red Sea, the Tabernacle and its furniture, the Temple and its furniture, Solomon's throne, the vision of Ezekiel, etc.; many of these are accompanied by descriptive notes.

The book contains five maps on separate leaves: (1) at Numbers xxxiii (to illustrate the wanderings of the Israelites), (2) at Joshua xv (the division of the land of Canaan), (3) at the end of Ezekiel (The forme of the Temple and citie restored), (4) in St. Matthew (The description of the holie land . . . with a list of places specified . . . with their situation by the obseruation of the degrees concerning their length and breadth), (5) in Acts (The description of the countreis and places mentioned in the Actes of the Apostles . . . with list of names, etc.).

DESCRIPTION. [Thirty-two] preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within border), on verso An Almanacke for .xxii. yeres (1559–80), A table for the order of the Psalmes . . .—1 p., The order howe the rest of the holy Scripture . . . is appoynted to be sayde—1 p., Kalendar (with table of lessons)—6 ff., Proper Lessons . . .—5 pp., Proper Psalmes . . . with a note A breife declaration when euery Terme begynneth and endeth—1 p.; The Order where Morning and Euenyng Prayer, shall be used and sayde—20 ff.; [1 f. blank]. The text, divided into four parts:—(1) Genesis–Job, ff. i to cciii (really 206, Cc 6) b; (2) Psalter-Malachi, with title (within frame), on verso begins the text—ff. 1 (not numbered) b to cxxxij (really 137, s i) b; (3) Hagiogropha (with title within frame), on verso To the Reader, text—ff. cxxxv (really 139, s iii) to cccxiiij (really 218 cc 10) a, verso blank; (4) N. T., with title: The Newe Testament . . . (within frame), verso blank, text—ff. ij to 101 (not numbered, NN 5) a; on the same page in the second column begins A Table to fynde the Epystles and Ghospelles usuallye reade in the church, accordyng vnto the boke of common prayer . . . which ends on NN 6 a with the colophon: Imprinted at London in Povyres Churcheyarde, by Ihon Cawood. Prynter to the Quenes Maiestie. Anno. M.D.LXJ. Cum priuilegio Regie Maiestatis, verso blank.

Signatures: ¶^a, A^a B^a C^a, A–Z^a Aa^a Bb^a Cc^a, a–z^a &^a aa^a bb^a cc^a, AA–MM^a NN^a; 558 ff. The numbering of the leaves in the text is most incorrect. The Apocrypha section may be called a distinct part, since it has a separate titlepage; pts. 2 and 3, however, have continuous foliation and register. Printed in double columns, with 61 lines to the full column. Marginal references in black-letter. Headlines in roman type; these include subject-headings (only in the earlier part of the volume), titles of books (generally in capitals in the O. T. and Apocrypha, but in minuscules in the N. T.), and folio numbers. No contents before chapters, except in 2 Maccabees.

The preliminary matter follows the Prayer Book of 1559.

The border to the general title is formed of five blocks; above the letterpress is a cut of the Crucifixion, and below another illustrating the parable of the labourers in the vineyard; at the sides are ornamental blocks—boys blowing horns (first used in the Coverdale Bible of 1535); at the bottom is a narrow ornamental slip. A similar border is used for the N. T. title, but the two cuts in this case represent the Last Supper and the Betrayal by Judas. The border to the titles of pt. 2 (incorrectly called The thirde parte . . .) and the Apocrypha is a frame of architectural design, containing at the bottom a shield bearing Cawood's monogram. Two cuts—representing John the Baptist preaching, and the Good Samaritan—occur at the end of 2 Maccabees. The Prayer-Book contains many curious initials, including two large blocks representing classical subjects, afterwards used in certain editions of the Bishops' Bible.

¶ 188 × 136 mm. Imperfect: wanting the general title and the second and third leaves of the Kalendar, which are supplied in facsimile. The facsimile of the title was made by Harris from the genuine title in the Holkham Library copy. A leaf (probably blank) before the text is also missing.

Inserted at the beginning is a supposed facsimile of a general title: The Bi | ble in Englishe ac- | cording to the tran- | slation of the great | Byble | 1561 (within a frame like that described above, containing Cawood's monogram). According to a note by Fry this was a pure invention by G. Offor, and no such title exists. [F. F.]

R. Jugge : London. [1561 ?] 8°. 33. 1.

Tindale's version; Jugge's revision.

This closely follows the octavo edition (1553) by the same printer described above (No. 75). No date is given, and there is no 'Copy of the Bill' printed on the verso of the title. The fact that partial allowance is made in the margins for two Communion services on Christmas Day and Easter Day, though the table allows for only one, suggests that the book was printed in 1552–3. Yet the Almanack begins with the year 1561, and in the colophon Jugge calls himself Printer to the Quenes Maiestie. Possibly the sheets were printed in 1552–3, laid aside during Queen Mary's reign, and issued early in Queen Elizabeth's, about 1561. On this hypothesis one or two leaves—e.g. the Almanack and the last leaf containing the colophon—had to be reprinted; but the cut containing the portrait of Edward VI was allowed to stand; this cut occurs on the titlepages of Testaments as late as 1605.

There are three other editions, which so closely resemble the present, that the group of four may be conveniently described under one heading.

A. This edition is Fry's No. 86. (Lea Wilson, p. 185, No. 88.)

DESCRIPTION. Thirty-two preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, with woodcut), verso blank, Dedication To . . . Prynse Edwardes the Syxt . . . —1 f., Kalendar (with table of second lessons)—6 ff., An Almanacke for .xx. yeares (1561–80)—1 p., A table of the principall matters . . . —41 pp., A true & perfect rekenyng . . . —1 p., An exhortacion . . . (with Jugge's device at end)—2 pp., The Description of the lande of promys . . . (the map)—2 pp., The lyfe of . . . Saint Mathewe . . . —1 p. Text, A i to Zz 8 a, followed on the same page by The Epistles of the olde Testament, accordinge as they be nowe read, which end on && 2 b; A table to fynde the Epystles and Gospelles read in the Churche of Englands . . . —2 ff., ending on && 4 b with the colophon: Imprinted at London in Poules Church yarde by Rychard Jugge, Printer to the Quenes Maiestie, forbyddynge all other men to prynt or cause to be printed, this, or any other Testament in Englyshe.

Signatures: [unsigned]^a *^a *^a *^a *^a *^a, A–Z^a &^a Aa–Zs^a &&^a; 412 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 85 lines. Notes etc. as in the 1553 edition. The Cart Cosmographie . . . and The order of tymes follow Acts.

The initial letter to A true & perfect rekenyng . . . is E, instead of F. Heading to the Book of Acts: . . . Saynt . . . doynge. . . The first line of the colophon is printed in italics.

The woodcut on the title contains the portrait of Edward VI. There are also cuts of the creation of Eve, the Evangelists (these differ from those in the 1553 edition), and 20 cuts in Revelation. Jugge's device is that with the pelican, and the motto above Cogita mori.

¶ 131 × 87 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and following leaf, Zz 6, and the last two leaves. These are supplied in facsimile taken from the Lenox Library copy. [F. F.]

— ANOTHER EDITION.

B. Fry's No. 85.

Title as before, with the following differences in spelling:—Chryst (twice), founde, els. The other preliminary leaves as before. Text A i to Zz 8 a; followed by the O. T. Epistles which end on && 2 b, [and probably a table ending on && 4 b with colophon].

Signatures etc. as before.

The initial at the beginning of A true and perfect rekenyng . . . is correct. Heading to Acts: . . . Saint . . . doynge. . .

¶ 132 × 84 mm. Imperfect: wanting apparently three leaves—the sixth leaf of Kalendar, and two leaves at the end. The title is mounted. [F. F.]

— ANOTHER EDITION.

C. Fry's No. 88. (Lea Wilson, p. 187, No. 84.)

Title differs in spelling, e.g. Neue, honorable, commaunded, and the second and third lines are printed in roman type. Preliminary leaves, text, etc. as before. The table ends on && 4 b with the word Finis, and the colophon: Imprinted at London in Powles Churchyard by Richard Iugge, printer to the Quenes Maiestie. Forbyddynge all other men to prynt, or cause to be prynted, this, or any other Testament in Englyshe. Cum priuilegio Regie Maiestatis.

Signatures, etc. as before.

The initial before A true and perfect rekenyng . . . is correct. Heading to Acts: first line printed in roman type, instead of black-letter. The first line of the colophon is printed in roman capitals, and the next two and the last in italics.

¶ 128 × 86 mm. Imperfect: wanting all before C 4, and all after Vv 8, besides other leaves;—113 ff. in all. Facsimiles are inserted of the title, the first page of Dedication, A true and perfect rekenyng . . ., the first page of Acts, and the last leaf. [F. F.]

There is a perfect copy in the Lenox Library.

The two copies known are imperfect at the beginning and end, but probably this edition contained the same preliminary and final matter as A, B, and C. The text, signatures, etc.

correspond. The initial to A true and perfect reckening . . . is correct. Heading to Acts: . . . Saint . . . doinges . . .

¶ 139 × 84 mm. Imperfect: wanting all before C 2 and all after Zz 5; also K 8 and Dd 1;—probably 58 ff. Two leaves are supplied in facsimile from a less imperfect copy:—(1) containing A true and perfect reckening . . . and the first page of An exhortation . . ., and (2) the first leaf of text. Fry had not seen these leaves when he wrote his book A Bibliographical Description . . . A manuscript title agreeing with that in Fry's No. 36 has been inserted—probably by W. Herbert, whose autograph appears on the first page. [F. F.]

Geneva version.

The second edition and the first in folio. Apparently produced by John Bodley (see above, No. 77, 1560). No printer's name is given. The N. T. title is dated 1561.

DESCRIPTION. Seven preliminary pages: title (with woodcut), on verso The names and order of all the Bookes . . ., Epistle—3 pp., Address—2 pp. (both dated: From Geneva. 10. April. 1561). The text:—(1) O. T. and Apocrypha, ff. 4 (not numbered) b to 432 (really 448, FFf iij) a, verso blank; (2) N. T., with title: The Newe Testament of our Lord Iesus Christ. Signatures: a-z aa-zz* Aaa-Zzz* AAA-EEe* FFf*, AA-VV* XX*; 572 ff. The leaves in the text are numbered—generally incorrectly. Marginal notes, etc., as in the 1560 edition. The letter w used in the marginal matter belongs to a larger fount than the rest of the type. Some copies have a variety of the leaf a ij with the last word on recto spelt natural, and a catchword feare. Words not in the original are enclosed within round brackets.

The woodcut on the two titlepages represents a seven-branched candlestick, with the following text: No man lighteth a candell, for to put it vnder a bushell, but vpon the candlesticke. Matthevv. V. The book contains illustrations as in the 1560 edition, and five maps on separate leaves.

In Matthew v. 9 occurs the curious error Blessed (are) the place makers, which has given to this edition the name of the 'Whig Bible.' Another mistake is found in the contents of Luke xxi: Christ condemneth the poore widdowe (for commendeth); The error in Eccles. xv. 13 is repeated in this edition.

Signatures: Aa¹² Bb¹⁴, A-L⁸, A-Q⁸ R⁸, AA-SS⁸ TT⁸, Aaa-Kkk⁸ Lll¹⁴, Aa-Oo⁸ Mmm²; 598 ff. Printed in double columns, with 58 lines to the full column.

The thyrd of the Machabees appears in the list of books, but is not printed in the text.

Some copies have no colophon at the end of the Prologe; and also exhibit variations in the setting-up of other leaves:—e.g. in pt. 1, the catchword on A j a is so to in some copies, and in others sede; A 8 a, 1st. col., 1st. line, can do nothyng . . ., other copies can do nothyng . . .; and slight variations occur in Aa ii and 7 in pt. 5.

The border used for the general and N. T. titles represents at the top the Sacred Name in Hebrew, Greek, Latin and English; at the sides—figures of Moses and Christ; and below—Elisabetha Regina enthroned beneath a canopy, and supported by two symbolical female figures; with four scrolls and a label bearing texts (printed in red in the case of the general title). The other title-borders are frames composed of twenty-four small blocks (some of which bear the initials I M, i.e. Iehan Mallart, according to Lea Wilson, p. 52), and two slips on either side of the letterpress.

¶ 397 × 260 mm. The general title, which was mutilated on one side, has been completed in facsimile and mounted. Contains both impressions of each of the five varying leaves mentioned above. The Prologe is misplaced. [F. F.]

[Herbert (p. 538) mentions an octavo Bible, printed by R. Grafton in 1566. This may be the edition which, according to Sir James Ware, had a large sale in Ireland (cf. The Annals of Ireland of the reign of Queen Elisabeth, under the date 1559). See Cotton, p. 33 n.]

R. Jugge: London. [1566?] 4°. 33. 1.

Tindale's version; Jugge's revision.

Fry's No. 33. The third of Jugge's quarto editions. The date is not given, but the book is generally ascribed to 1566, the first year of the Almanack.

Apparently the last in the long series of over forty editions of Tindale's New Testament. Cotton (p. 57) under the date 1605 records an edition 'Tyndale's, as printed by R. Jugge . . . —St. Paul's'; and a similar entry occurs in the Cathedral Library Catalogue (p. 25). But the volume in question is merely a Testament of the Bishops' version. (See below, No. 216, 1605.)

DESCRIPTION. Eighteen preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, with woodcut), on verso An Almanacke for .xxv. yeres (1566–90), Dedication—1 f., Kalendar—6 ff., A Table of the principall matters . . . —15 pp., A true and perfect reckoning . . . —1 p., An exhortation . . . —1 f., The description of the lande . . . (map)—1 p., The lyfe of . . . Saint Matthewe . . . —1 p. Text: —(1) A i to Y 6 b, followed by The Cart Cosmographie . . . (map, with short note)—1 p., and The order of times—3 pp.; (2) with title and the argument of Romans—1 p., text—Aa i b to Qi (really Qq i) a; followed by the O. T. Epistles—4 pp., and the Table—3 pp., ending on Qq 4 b with the colophon: Imprinted at London in Powles Churchyarde by Richard Jugge, printer to the Queenes Maiestie, Forbyddynge . . .

Signatures: 300⁸ 4¹⁴, A-Y⁸, Aa-Pp⁸ Qq⁴; 318 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 37 lines.

In most particulars this edition agrees closely with that of 1552; but in this the headlines are in roman type.

The woodcut on title contains the portrait of Edward VI as in the 1552 and 1553 editions, but with touches of red ink; the words Visat Rex have been removed. Many of the cuts are the same as in the earlier editions, but those of the Evangelists and St. Paul and the cuts in Revelation are new; most of these latter were used again in Jugge's folio edition of the Bishops' Bible, 1568.

¶ 211 × 150 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and following leaf, both supplied in facsimile. Inserted is a photographic copy of the titleleaf. [F. F.]

194 × 141 mm. Imperfect: wanting all before A 4, and all after Pp 6; also A 6, C 1, E 1, L 1, O 8, Y 2 and 7, and Ee 6.

R. Jugge and J. Cawood: London. 4°. 38. 1.

Great Bible version.

Possibly Cawood alone was responsible for the printing of the text. The colophon to the Prayer Book (see below) gives the names of Jugge and Cawood; but this large section (162 ff.) may have been printed separately. Cawood's similar editions, Nos. 90 to 92 (1569), contain only a short Order of Prayer (16 ff.). The discovery of a copy with the last leaf, which probably bore a colophon, might solve this question.

DESCRIPTION. One hundred and seventy preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within border), on verso An Almanacke for xiiij. yeares (1567–80), Kalendar—6 ff., A Table for the order of the Psalmes to be sayd at Morning and Euening prayer—1 p., The order how the rest of holy Scripture (beside the Psalter) is appointed to be read—1 p.; The order where Morning and Euening prayer shal be used and saide, etc.—323 pp., 1 p. containing colophon: Imprinted at London in Paules Churchyard, by Richard Jugge and Iohn Cawood Printers to the Queenes Maiestie. Cum privilegio Regie Maiestatis. Text, divided into five parts:—(1) Pentateuch, ff. 1 (not numbered) to 109 (O 5) a, verso blank; (2) Joshua–Job, with title (within frame), text—ff. 1 (not numbered) b to 163 (really 162, XX 7) b, 1 f. blank; (3) Psalter–Malachi, with title (within frame), ff. 164 (not numbered) b to 344 (really 343, Xxx 4) a, verso blank; (4) Hagiographa, with title (within border), on verso To the Reader, text—ff. 345 to 438 (really 448, LLll 9) b, 1 f. blank; (5) N. T., with title: The Nevve Testament in English, translated after the Greke, contayning these bookes . . . (within border), verso blank, text—ff. 1 (? really 2, A ij) to [132 (R 4) a, verso blank?], A Table to find the Epistles and Gospelles usuallie read in the Churches, accordinge unto the Booke of Common Prayer . . .—2 ff. (?).

Signatures: [unsigned] B⁴, A–T⁸ V¹⁰, A–O⁸ BB–ZZ⁸ Aaa–Vvv⁸ Xxx⁴ Yyy⁸ Zzz⁸ AAaa–KKkk⁸ LLll¹⁰, A–Q⁸ R⁴, S¹²; (probably) 862 ff. The numbering of the leaves is most incorrect. Printed in double columns, with 53 lines to a full column. Marginal references.

The first title-border is an architectural design with two cherubs in the upper part. The N. T. title-border is composed of ornamental blocks, and two blocks—one above and the other below the letterpress—representing the Last Supper and the Crucifixion. The title-border to pt. 2 is a simple narrow frame. That used for pts. 3 and 4 is an architectural design containing a head in a small medallion above, and Cawood's monogram on a shield below. The initial letter to Gen. i contains two birds.

Compare the very similar editions of the following year.

¶ 189 × 133 mm. Imperfect: wanting all preliminary matter; also Vvv 4 and 5, FFff N. T. titleleaf (A 1), R 4 and S 2. [F. F.]

The copy in the Library of Trinity College, Cambridge, contains the preliminary matter, but is imperfect towards the end.

1568. The . holie . Bible . | conteynnyng the olde | Testament and the newe.

R. Jugge : London. 1568. f°. 33. 1.

The first issue of the version known as the 'Bishops' Bible.' A revision of the Great Bible version, undertaken by Matthew Parker (1504–1575), Archbishop of Canterbury, with the assistance of many bishops and well-known Biblical scholars.

The work seems to have been carried out in separate sections, which vary considerably in value. In correcting the Great Bible, both the Hebrew and Greek originals were consulted. The influence of the Geneva version appears, especially in the prophetic books; while Castalio was also consulted. Westcott considers that the Greek attainments of the revisers were superior to their Hebrew, and that the alterations in the New Testament show original and vigorous scholarship.

The following are recognised as having shared in Parker's revision:—W. Alley (Bishop of Exeter), R. Davies (Bishop of St. David's), E. Sandys (Bishop of Worcester), A. Pearson (Canon of Canterbury), A. Perne (Canon of Ely), R. Horne (Bishop of Winchester), T. Bentham (Bishop of Lichfield and Coventry), E. Grindal (Bishop of London), J. Parkhurst (Bishop of Norwich), R. Coxe (Bishop of Ely), E. Guest (Bishop of Rochester), G. Goodman (Dean of Westminster), and Giles Lawrence. This last named was 'a man in those times of great fame for his knowledge in the Greek,' of whose labours Strype (Parker, II. App. lxxxv) has preserved an interesting memorial in a series of 'notes of errors in the translation of the N. T.' (Westcott, History, pp. 247–8). See Arber, Transcript, vol. ii, pp. 740–5.

In April 1571 the Convocation of the Province of Canterbury ordered that copies of this edition should be placed in every cathedral, and as far as possible in every church; and enjoined every ecclesiastical dignitary to exhibit a copy in a prominent place in his house for the use of his servants and guests (Cardwell, Synodalia, p. 115 and p. 123).

In typography and illustration this is perhaps the most sumptuous in the long series of folio English Bibles. From the subjoined entry in an old account book of St. John's College, Cambridge, published by C. H. Hartshorne, in his Book-rarities of Cambridge, we learn the price at which this edition was then sold: '1571. For a new Bible in English, the last translation, 27s. 8d.' (equivalent to about £16 to-day).

DESCRIPTION. [Twenty-six] preliminary leaves: title (with engraving), verso blank, The summe of the vvhole Scripture . . .—1 f., This Table setteth out to the eye the genealogie of Adam, so passing by the Patriarches, Judges, Kinges, Prophetes, and Priestes, and the fathers of their tyme, continuynge in lineal dissent to Christe our Sauour—11 pp., The whole scripture of the Bible is deuided into two Testamentes . . . with Faulces escaped and a note (pointing out that such passages in the text as are marked with semy circles (inverted commas), may be left vnread in the publique reading to the people . . . etc.)—2 pp., 1 p. blank, Proper lessons . . .—1 f., Proper psalmes . . . with The order howe . . . and A briefe declaration . . .—1 p., An Almanacke (1561–90)—1 p., To fynde Easter for euer (with a list of holy dayes)—1 p., A Table for the order of the Psalmes . . .—1 p., Kalendar (with table of lessons)—6 ff., A Preface into the Byble folowyng (by Archbishop Parker; ending with a prayer; in roman type)—3 ff., A prologue or preface made by Thomas Cranmer, late Archbishop of Canterburie (in black-letter)—5 pp., A description of the yeres from the creation of the worlde, untill this present yere of 1568 . . .—1 p., The order of the bookes . . .—1 p., 1 p. blank, [1 f. blank?]. (The above order preserves the sequence of signatures, and therefore seems preferable to the order given by Lea Wilson, pp. 53–4.) The text, divided into five parts: (1) Pentateuch, ff. j to Cxxviii (Q 8) b; (2) Joshua–Job, with title (with engraving), verso blank, text—ff. ij to clxxxv (Z 9) b, 1 f. blank; (3) Psalter–Malachi, with title (with engraving), on verso A Prologue of saint Basil the great vpon the Psalmes (with a short passage from Saint Austen), text—ff. ii to CCliij (really 202, Bb 12) b; (4) Apocrypha, with title (with engraving), verso blank, text—ff. ij to cxviii (P 6) a, on verso The description of the holy lande . . . (a map, and a list of The places specified . . .); (5) N. T., with title: The newe Testament of our sauour Iesus Christe (within border), on verso A preface into the newe Testament (by Archbishop Parker), text—ff. ii to clvj (V 4) a; A Table to fynde the Epistles and Gospels read in the Church of Englande . . .—3 pp. ending on clx (really 157, V 5) b with the colophon: Imprinted at London in povvles Churchyarde by Richarde Iugge, printer to the Queenes Maiestie. Cum priuilegio Regie Maiestatis, and Jugge's device with an elegiac couplet beneath:

Matris vt hæc proprio stirps est saciata cruore :
Pascis item proprio Christe cruore tuos.

1 f. blank.

Signatures: [second leaf signed (ii), and fourth leaf (iiii)]^a ★¹⁰ ★⁷², A-Q^a, A-Y^a Z¹⁰, A-E^a F^a G-Z^a Aa^a Bb¹², A-O^a P^a, A-T^a V^a; 818 ff. The text is printed in double columns, with 57 lines to a full column. Headlines and marginal references in roman type; marginal notes and contents before chapters in black-letter. As in the Geneva Bible of 1560, each chapter is divided into verses; the numbers are printed at the side, though the old division-letters (A, B, C . . .) are retained. Certain letters are placed at the end of some books; these appear to be the initials of the revisers to whom particular sections were entrusted.

Small variations are found in copies of this edition. A few are noticed below.

General titlepage: The first three words of the title are enclosed in an ornamental frame; the rest of the page is filled by a large engraving, containing in the centre a portrait of the Queen within an oval frame inscribed Elisabeth Dei Gratia, Angliae, Franciae Et Hiberniae Regina, Fidei Defensor, Etc.; above, beneath a canopy, are the royal arms, and the arms of Ireland and of Wales; and on either side a symbolical female figure; beneath is a tablet, supported by a lion and a dragon, and inscribed Non me pudet Euangelij Christi. Virtus enim Dei est ad salutem Omni credenti Rom. 1^o. The N. T. title is in the centre of a large engraving, containing above—the royal arms and the arms of Ireland and of Wales, with two symbolical female figures; and below—a tablet, supported by a lion and a dragon, and inscribed I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christe, because it is the power of God unto salvation to all that believe. Rom. 1. Pt. 2 titlepage contains a portrait of the Earl of Leicester, within an oval frame with the motto Droit et Loyal. Pt. 3 titlepage contains an engraving of King David, within a frame; and pt. 4 titlepage has a similar engraving representing the building of the walls of Jerusalem. At the beginning of the Psalter occurs an engraving of William Cecil, Lord Burghley; this contains a large B, the initial letter of Psalm i. The initial T before the Genealogical Table contains Archbishop Parker's arms quartered with those of Christchurch, Canterbury, the initials M P, and the date 1568; while the O before his Prologue contains his arms, with the motto Mundus transit et concupiscencia eius. The initial C to Archbishop Crammer's Prologue contains the arms of the see of Canterbury impaled with his own, and the letter T. The book is further embellished by 124 distinct blocks used to illustrate the text—of which all (except one) are enclosed within ornamental frames. There are also several maps, plans, and tables. In pt. 1: a small map (showing the position of Eden, with a note) on fo. ij b, a large full-page engraving of the Tabernacle, etc. on fo. liij a, tables of Degrees of kinred . . . and . . . affinitie or aliaunce . . . on lxiiij a, and a Charte of the wanderings of the Israelites on Cv a; in pt. 2: a map (The deuision of the lands . . .) on xliij b; in pt. 3: at the end of the Psalter a table: Numerus secundum Hebreos (omitted in some copies); in pt. 4: on the last page, the map mentioned in the Description; and in pt. 5: at the end of Acts, The Cart Cosmographie . . . and The order of tymes, together filling one leaf, fo. lxxxix. The maps are closely copied from those in the 1560 Geneva Bible, except The Cart Cosmographie . . . which is like that in Jugge's quarto Testaments of 1552, 1553, and 1566. In addition the book contains many large initial letters; some of which represent classical subjects (from Ovid's Metamorphoses), and others contain Parker's initials.

According to Archbishop Parker's Observations respected of the translators (see Correspondence, Parker Society Edition, pp. 336-7), 'the printer hath bestowed his thickest paper in the New Testament, because it shall be most occupied.'

This is sometimes called the 'Treacle Bible,' though the rendering triacle in Jer. viii. 22 is found in many Bibles of an earlier date, from 1535 downwards. A curious note occurs at Psalms xlv. 9:—

Ophir is thought to be the Ilande in the west coast, of late founde by Christopher Columbo: frō whence at this day is brought most fine golde.

¶ 894 × 264 mm. The general title is mounted. The last blank leaf (V 6), and also perhaps a blank leaf before the text, are missing. The order of the preliminary leaves is probably incorrect.

This copy has the table at the end of the Psalter. It contains two impressions of fo. lxij (H 6) in pt. 3—one with, and one without, the initials A. P. C. at the end of Proverbs. Mistakes in the Kalendar (Nov. 17 and 18), on the verso of the N. T. title, and on fo. cxj a in pt. 5 are corrected by pasted slips.

At the beginning of the Psalter, opposite the portrait, is inserted an original document dated 1579, and signed by W. Burghley and W. Mildmay. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

404 × 275 mm. Imperfect: wanting general title and one other preliminary leaf (beginning The newe Testament in lyke maner . . .); and fo. 143 in pt. 5. The last blank leaf (V 6) is also missing; and perhaps a blank leaf before the text. The preliminary leaves are arranged in the order given above in the Description.

This copy has the Table after the Psalter, no initials at the end of Proverbs, and the misprint on fo. 121 in pt. 5 corrected. At the foot of the first page in the Kalendar there is printed a short note: An admonition to the Reader (referring to the Saints' names given in the Kalendar); this note is lacking in the first copy.

— Another copy.

397 × 267 mm. Very imperfect: wanting all preliminary matter, all pt. 1, and all after fo. 80 in pt. 5; also the blank leaf at the end of pt. 2. This copy has the Table after the Psalter, and no initials at the end of Proverbs. Ff. 43 and 44 in pt. 3 are set up differently from the corresponding leaves in the above copies.

J. Cawood: London. 4°. 38. 1.

Great Bible version.

There are at least three editions printed by Cawood, and ascribed to this date, which, while generally agreeing so closely as to read together page for page, nevertheless differ in many small points, and are distinct issues. No doubt some copies are mixed.

A. This agrees with Lea Wilson's No. 81 (except in the last two leaves).

DESCRIPTION. Twenty-four preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within border), on verso An Almanacke for xiiii. yeares (1567–80), Kalendar—6 ff., A Table for the order of the Psalmes . . . —1 p., The order how the rest of holy Scripture . . . is appointed to be read—1 p., Order of Morning and Evening Prayer—16 ff. The text, divided into five parts:—(1) ff. 1 (not numbered) to 109 (O 5) a, verso blank; (2) with title (within frame), text—ff. 1 (not numbered) b to 162 (Xx 7) b, 1 f. blank; (3) with title (within border), text—ff. 1 (not numbered) b to 178 (really 180, Xxx 4) a, verso blank; (4) with title (within border), on verso To the Reader, text—ff. 10 (really 2) to 104 (really 105, LlLl 9) b, 1 f. blank; (5) with title: The newe Testament . . . 1569 (within border), verso blank, text—ff. 1 (really 2?) to 132 (R 4) a, on verso is a cut; A Table to find the Epistles and Gospelles usuallie read in the Churche, according vnto the Booke of Common Prayer . . . —2 ff., ending on S 2 b with colophon: Imprinted at London in Powles Churchyard by Iohn Cawood, Printer to the Queenes Maiestie. Cum priuilegio Regie Maiestatis.

Signatures: [unsigned] B⁴, A⁶ B⁴, A-O⁸, Bb-Zz⁸, Aaa-Vvv⁸ Xxx⁴, Yyy⁸ Zzz⁸ Aaaa-Kkk⁸ LlLl¹⁰, A-Q⁸ R⁴, S²; 716 ff. The numbering of the leaves is most incorrect. Double columns, with 53 lines to the full column. Headlines (in black-letter) include subject-headings only in the earlier part of the book. Marginal references, but no notes, and no contents before chapters.

The border used for the general and N. T. titles is an architectural design, with two cherubs at the top. Pt. 2 title has a simple narrow frame. The other two titles are within the border bearing Cawood's monogram. The cut at the end of the N. T. represents St. John in Patmos, and is like that used in Harrison's folio Bible of 1562. There is no vignette below the colophon, as described by Lea Wilson (p. 56), but only a small ornament.

The present edition (var. A) may be distinguished from those described below by (1) the separate foliation of each part, and (2) the N. T. titlepage. The first page of text is not numbered, and is headed: The firste Booke of Moyse . . . ; the initial letter I contains two birds. Pt. 2 title runs: The seconde parte of the Byble, conteyning these Bookes . . . ; pt. 3 title: The thirde part of the Bible, conteyning these Bookes . . .

¶ 199 × 144 mm. Imperfect: wanting all preliminary matter. A title is supplied, made up of a genuine N. T. title-border, with a facsimile centre. The two blank leaves are missing. Apparently identical with the B. M. copy, C. 36. c. 3, except in the last two leaves. [F. F.]

— ANOTHER EDITION.

B. This appears to agree with Lea Wilson's No. 82.

DESCRIPTION. [Twenty-four] preliminary leaves: [title?] Kalendar—6 ff., A Table for the order of the Psalmes . . . —1 p., The order howe the rest of the holis Scripture . . . is appoynted to be read—1 p., The Order where Mornyng and Euenyng Prayer, shall be used and sayd—16 ff. Text:—(1) ff. 1 to 109 a, verso blank; (2) to (4), with titles as in var. A, ff. 1 (not numbered) to 438 (really 449, LLll 9) b, 1 f. blank; (5) with title (within border), text—ff. 1 (really 2) to 126 (really 132, R 4) a, on verso a cut; A Table to fynd the Epistles and Gospels usually readde in the Churche, accordyng vnto the Booke of Common Prayer . . . —2 ff., ending on S 2 b with the colophon: Imprinted at London in Powles Churchyarde by Jhon Cawood, Printer to the Quenes Maiestie (within a frame), beneath which are the words Cum priuilegio Regie Maiestatis, and a narrow vignette.

Signatures: A^a, A^b B^a, A-O^a BB-ZZ^a Aaa-Vvv^a Xxx^a, Yyy^a Zzz^a AAaa-KKkk^a LLll^a, A-Q^a R^a S^a; 716 ff. Type, etc. as in var. A.

No authentic first title is known (see below). The title-borders to pts. 2, 3 and 4 are like those in var. A. The N. T. title-border resembles that in Cawood's quarto Bible of 1560,61; but the two cuts represent above—the entombment of Christ, and below—Dives and Lazarus. The last words on R 4 a, The ende of the new Testamente, are within a narrow frame, which is also used for the colophon. The cut on R 4 b is like that in var. A. The small vignette on the last page contains the emblems of the Four Evangelists.

The first page of text is numbered Fol. 1., and is headed: The firste Boke of Moses . . . ; the initial I contains a centaur. Pt. 2 title runs: The seconde part of the Byble containyng these bookes . . . Pt. 3 title: The thirde parte of the Byble containyng these bookes.

¶ 186 × 136 mm. Imperfect: wanting the general title. The blank leaf after pt. 2 is also missing. Fry was unable to find a genuine title. Inserted in this copy is a manufactured title: The Bible in Englishe according to the translation of the great Byble. 1569. (enclosed within the border used for the titles of pts. 3 and 4). This, though printed on old paper (apparently the missing blank leaf), and having every appearance of antiquity, is nothing but an invention by G. Offor resembling the fictitious title made by him for Cawood's Bible of 1560,61 (No. 79). Another impression, taken on ordinary paper, is inserted with a MS. note by Fry.

Apparently identical with the B. M. copy, C. 36. c. 5, except in the preliminary leaves.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

Generally agreeing with var. B.

185 × 136 mm. Very imperfect: wanting all before F 2 in pt. 1, and many other leaves.

[F. F.]

91.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

C. This generally resembles var. B, yet differs in parts both from it and also from A.

The titles to pts. 2 and 5 are like those in var. B; pt. 3 title runs: The thirde part of the Bible containing these Bookes . . .

¶ 186 × 138 mm. Imperfect: wanting all before H 1 in pt. 1, and all after N 7 in pt. 5, besides other leaves.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

This has been marked 'Wilson's No. 83'; but it is so imperfect that identification is impossible. It generally agrees with var. C, but in some parts resembles Jugge and Cawood's 1568 edition (No. 88).

186 × 135 mm. A fragment only, containing portions of pts. 2 and 3.

[F. F.]

92.

1569. The holi bible.

R. Jugge: London. 1569. 4°. 33. 1/2.

The second edition, now first printed in quarto, of the Bishops' version.

The text of the Old Testament has received a certain amount of correction. A comparison of some representative chapters seems to show that, so far as the Old Testament is concerned, this quarto was adopted as the standard in all subsequent issues, except the folio editions of 1572, 74, and 78, which revert to the Bible of 1568. The New Testament also exhibits traces of revision. Westcott (History, pp. 252-4) gives 44 differences of reading in Ephesians between the first edition of 1568 and that of 1572 (q. v.). By comparison we find that in 22 instances this quarto reads with the former, and in the remaining 22 with the later edition. Thus it forms the connecting link between the two, as regards the New Testament section.

DESCRIPTION. [Twenty-two] preliminary leaves : [1 f. blank ?] title (within an engraving), verso blank, The preface . . . with The prayer—3 ff., The whole scripture of the Bible is divided . . .—5 pp., 1 p. blank, Kalendar—6 ff., The order howe . . .—1 p., Proper Lessons . . . etc.—7 pp.; The order of Mornyng prayer . . . Euenyng prayer . . .—4 ff. Text, divided into five parts, as usual : (1) ff. 1 to 105 (O j) b, followed by 1 f. containing Jugge's large device on recto, verso blank ; (2) ff. 113 (really 106, P j) to 261 (really 255, Kk 5) b, 1 f. blank ; (3) with title, on verso begins A Prologue of saint Basil . . .—2 pp., text—ff. 2 (not numbered) b to 172 (Y 4) a, verso blank ; (4) with title, verso blank, text—ff. 2 to 101 (really 100, Nnn 4) b ; The description . . . (map)—1 p., A Table to make playne the difficultie that is founde in S. Mattheue and S. Luke, touching the generation of Iesus Christ . . .—2 pp., 1 p. blank ; (5) with title : The newe Testament . . . 1569. Cum priuilegio (within border), verso blank, text—ff. 2 to 127 (Q 7) a ; A Table to fynde the Epistles and Gospels read in the Church of Englands . . .—3 pp., ending on Q 8 b with the colophon : Imprinted at London in powles Churchyarde by Richarde Jugge, Printer to the Queenes Maiestie. Cum priuilegio Regie Maiestatis. A leaf follows, containing on recto Faultes escaped in the pryncyng, verso blank, [1 f. blank ?].

[The foliation skips from 105 at the end of the text of pt. 1 to 113 at the beginning of pt. 2 ; yet nothing appears to be wanting ; no intervening leaves are known to exist, except the one leaf containing the printer's device.]

Signatures : [—]^a ¶^a ¶^b (•••)^a, A-N^a O^a P-Z^a Aa-Ii^a Kk^a, A-X^a Y^a, Aaa-Mmm^a Nnn^a, A-Q^a, [—]^a ; 682 (?) ff. Double columns, with 61 lines to the full column ; arranged in paragraphs, the verse-numbers being intermingled with the text. The marginal notes (but not the references, etc.), contents of chapters, headlines, interpolations of the text, etc. are in roman type.

The large engraving on the first titlepage represents Queen Elizabeth seated on a throne, and crowned by Iustice and Mercie ; the throne is supported by Fortitudo and Prudence ; beneath the tablet bearing the title stands a man in a pulpit, with an hour-glass at his side, preaching to a seated congregation ; at the base are printed the words God save the Queene. The N. T. title is within a border with Jugge's cypher at the top, at the sides supporting figures, and below two lions.

An engraving (Adam naming the creatures) occurs before Genesis. The book contains maps and tables, as in the first edition of 1568, additional notes before 1 Esdras, 1 Maccabees, and before the N. T. title (see Description), and at Matthew xxvi. The initial letters at the beginning of Genesis, Joshua, and Psalms contain respectively Abp. Parker's arms with those of Christchurch, Canterbury (dated 1569), the Earl of Leicester's, and Lord Burghley's.

¶ 194 × 145 mm. The first title is mounted. Perhaps there should be a blank leaf before the general title, and another at the end. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

184 × 133 mm. Imperfect : wanting all preliminary leaves, and the leaf of errata at the end of the book ; of these, the title and the last leaf are supplied in facsimile. Perhaps two blank leaves are also missing (see above).

Signatures in eights: ¶; *, , a-c' d-z' A-Z' Aa-Gg', a' b-n', AA' BB' CC-SS' TT'; AAA-YYY' ZZZ'; 754 ff.

Printed in roman type; double columns. With all the arguments, notes, etc.; also the illustrations and five maps (printed on separate leaves and inserted), as in the 1560 edition, and in addition a table of Degrees of consanguinitie . . . etc. inserted at Leviticus xviii. Nothing appears to be known of the Table of Maccabees mentioned in the title.

According to a MS. note by Fry, the Calender Historical and the Metrical Psalmes, etc., as described above, form essential parts of this edition. Exactly similar matter was included in Crispin's French Bible of 1567.

Crispin's device is the anchor and serpent, with the initials I. C.

¶ 212 × 131 mm. The 'Treatise of Athanasius' has been supplied from another copy. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

210 × 134 mm. Imperfect: wanting the Calender Historical, the general title, last leaf of table of Proper Names, and all the Metrical Psalmes etc. at the end. The table of Degrees of consanguinitie . . . is missing, as also the Joshua map, and the remaining four maps are mutilated.

— Another copy.

209 × 136 mm. Imperfect: wanting all preliminary matter, and first 7 leaves of text; fo. 37 in the Apocrypha; and the last 22 leaves in the Metrical Psalmes etc. The three maps in Ezekiel, St. Matthew, and Acts are missing and the other two are mutilated.

— Another copy.

206 × 132 mm. Very imperfect: wanting all before fo. 7 of text, all the Apocrypha, and the Metrical Psalmes etc. at the end; besides many other leaves.

4°. Partly 3. 1.

An edition of the Gospels in Anglo-Saxon (translated from the Vulgate) and English (the Bishops' version), published under the direction of Matthew Parker, Archbishop of Canterbury.

The preface by John Foxe (1516-1587), the martyrologist, includes a sketch of the early versions of the Scriptures, and the literary work of Bede, King Alfred, and others.

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves: title (within narrow frame), on verso The Saxon Characters or letters, that be most straunge, are here knowne by other common Characters set ouer them. . . . To the most vertuous, and noble Princesse, Queene Elizabeth . . . (signed: Your Maiesties most humble subiect, Iohn Foxe)—5 ff. The text, B i to HH iij b, ending with the colophon: At London. Printed by Iohn Daye dwelling ouer Aldersgate. 1571. These Bookes are to be solde at his shop vnder the gate.

Signatures: A⁴ ¶¹, B-Y⁴ Aa-Yy⁴ AA-HH⁴; 210 ff. Leaves not numbered. The two texts are printed side by side,—the Saxon, occupying about two-thirds of the page, placed inside, and the English, printed in black-letter (apparently the same type as that used in the quarto Bishops' Bible of 1569), on the outside of each page. Directions are given for the reading of passages on certain days, e.g. This Gospell belongeth on the thirde Sondays after Pentecost, This shall be on Wednesdays for the Imber within Haruest.

The Spencer copy (now in the John Rylands Library) contains the following note in an old hand: This is a rare and very excellent usefull booke, and very harde to be mett with and deare. I was twenty yeares looking for to buy one of these bookes, before I could buy one under a Marke. I offer'd many times an Angel for suche a booke as this. (Cotton, p. 87, n.)

1572. The . holie . Bible.

R. Jugge: London. 1572. f°. 3. 1.

Bishops' version: the second folio edition.

A reprint of the 1568 Bible, so far as the Old Testament is concerned; but the New Testament has undergone further careful revision since the quarto edition of 1569 (q. v.). All later issues, with two exceptions, appear to follow the quarto of 1569 in the Old Testament, but generally adopt the text of this Bible of 1572 in the New Testament.

A remarkable feature of this edition is its two-version Psalter, which exhibits, printed side by side, (1) The translation used in common prayer (taken originally from the Great Bible, and still retained in the Prayer Book), in black-letter, and (2) The translation after the Hebreues (i.e. the Bishops' version) in roman type.

DESCRIPTION. The order of the preliminary leaves is somewhat uncertain. According to the signatures, the six leaves (★ 2 to 7) containing the Preface, the Prologue, and A discription of the yeeres, apparently should precede the ten leaves (sig. ¶) containing Proper lessons . . . etc. to the end. (This is the arrangement adopted by Lea Wilson for the order of the preliminary leaves in the first edition of 1568, as well as in this edition; but in the former case the signatures make this order improbable.) These leaves correspond to those in the first edition, but differ in many small points; e.g. the title is shorter, the date in the initial T of the Genealogical Table is altered, the Faultes escaped are omitted, the Almanacke is for 1572-1610, the signs of the Zodiac are inserted in the margins of the Kalendar, and A discription of the yeeres . . . is carried down to 1572. Text:—pts. 1 and 2, ff. j to CClxx (Ll 6) b; pt. 3, text—ff. ii to Clxxxix (really 190, && 6) b; pt. 4, text—ff. ii to Cv (Nnnn 9) a; pt. 5, text—ff. ii to Cxxxviii (S ij) b. Table—3 pp., ending on S 4 a with the colophon: Imprinted at London in Powles Churcheyard by Richarde Jugge, Printer to the Queenes Maiestie. 1572. Cum privilegio Regiæ Maiestatis, and Jugge's device and elegiac couplet.

Signatures: (sigs. of preliminary leaves somewhat uncertain, perhaps—) [leaves signed (ij), (iii)]⁴ ★⁴ (last leaf blank) ¶¹⁶, A-Z⁴ Aa-Kk⁴ Ll⁴, Aaa-Zzz⁴ &&&⁴, Aaaa-Mmmm⁴ Nnnn⁴, A-B⁴ S⁴; 732 ff.

The general titlepage and those to pts. 2 and 5 are like the corresponding titlepages in the first edition. That to pt. 3 bears the portrait of Lord Burghley, taken from the beginning of the Psalter, but with the initial B removed from the plate; and that to pt. 4 has a composite engraving representing incidents in the Apocrypha.

Three Tables (as in the quarto Bible of 1569) are placed before 1 Esdras and 1 Maccabees, and before the N. T. title (on Nnnn 10 b). In Joshua is inserted a large map of Canaan, a fine two-page engraving, bearing the inscription: Graven by Hymfray Cole goldsmith a English man born in y^e north and perlayning to y^e mint in the Tower, 1572, and containing Lord Burghley's arms and motto, and one of Jugge's devices (nightingale in tree) and his name. All the engravings are removed from the chapters. But before Isaiah there is a large cut of the prophet's vision, and at the beginning of certain books (Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Joshua, Judges, 1 Samuel, 1 Kings, and Jeremiah) and on pt. 4 titlepage appear large composite engravings illustrating many separate subjects. In the N. T. cuts are given before each Gospel, and Romans, James, and 1 Peter; while 18 small cuts are arranged together on one page opposite Rev. i. The large initial letters before Josh. i, Pa. i, and Jer. i contain respectively the arms of the Earl of Leicester, Lord Burghley, and the Earl of Bedford. Many of the initial letters (as in the 1568 edition) represent scenes from Ovid's Metamorphoses.

¶ 400 × 265 mm. The general title is mounted.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

395 × 259 mm. Imperfect: wanting general title and seven following leaves, and the last two leaves in the volume; also the large map in Joshua. The initial letter at the beginning of Hebrews (representing Leda) has been partially erased.

After 1572. [The Newe Testament of our Sauour Iesus Christ. Diligently ouerseene, and faithfully translated out of the Greeke. The pearle which Christ commaunded to be bought: Is here to be found, not els to be sought. Imprinted . . . Cum priuilegio . . . solum.]

Richard Watkins: London. [After 1572.] 4°. 33. 1/2.

Bishops' version.

The text agrees with the Bible of 1572, rather than with the first edition of 1568. Taking Westcott's collation of Ephesians (History, pp. 252-4), we find that in every case this Testament reads exactly with the later edition; though a strange misprint occurs in chap. iv. 14, wildernesse (for wiliness) of men.

The date is doubtful. The Almanack begins with the year 1565 and ends with 1580. Hence Herbert's suggested date (p. 1029) of 1600 seems improbable. Cotton (p. 33) proposes 1565, which is impossible. Anderson (vol. ii., Index-List, p. xvi) gives 1577, 'between the privilege of Jugge, and the patent of Barker.' R. Jugge apparently ceased to print in 1577, and C. Barker received a very extensive patent in September of the same year (Herbert, p. 1075). The colophon to this edition includes the words Cum priuilegio ad imprimendum solum; hence Anderson's suggestion. But possibly Watkins printed this book under one of the special licences granted to him and certain other stationers (see note on No. 103).

DESCRIPTION. Eight preliminary leaves: [title, as above, according to Herbert (p. 1029), in black and red.] Kalendar (with table of lessons)—6 ff., An Almancke for xvi. yeeres (1565-80)—1 p., 1 p. blank. The text, A j to Fff v b; A Table to finde the Epistles and Gospels read in the Church of England . . .—2 ff., ending on Fff 7 b with the colophon: Imprinted at London by Richard VVatkins. Cum priuilegio ad imprimendum solum, 1 f. (probably blank).

Signatures: A^a, A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa-Fff^a; 424 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 32 lines. The text is divided into verses. Marginal references and notes in roman type; contents of chapters and headlines in italics.

No woodcuts in the text. Some of the initials resemble those used by R. Jugge and J. Cawood, and subsequently by C. Barker.

'The only known title was in an imperfect copy burnt at Sotheby's fire in 1865' (MS. note by Fry).

¶ 174 × 126 mm. Imperfect: wanting title, and two leaves of text (A 4 and 5); also, probably, a blank leaf at the end.

[F. F.]

Anderson mentions in his Index-List a copy in the University Library, Cambridge, but this cannot now be found.

R. Jugge: London. [After 1572.] 8°. 33. 11.

Bishops' version.

The text of this undated edition closely follows the Bishops' Bible of 1572. For this reason, it is placed here, though possibly not published till later.

It is fully described in Fry's Bibliographical Description (pp. 173-4). Owing to their close resemblance in form to certain Tindale Testaments issued by R. Jugge, this and a kindred edition have been erroneously entered in some catalogues as Tindale's. J. R. Dore (Old Bibles, pp. 275-6) fixes the date of these two editions as late as 1577, on the assumption that R. Jugge did not adopt the motto Cogita mori in his device until that year, 'having a premonition of his own death.' But that motto is found in the folio Bible of 1575 (No. 103) and in the quarto Bible of 1576, while it does not occur in the small quarto of 1577. It also occurs in some books which are almost certainly earlier still, e.g. the 16^o Testament (Fry's No. 30), which has been assigned to 1552.

DESCRIPTION. Thirty-two preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, with cut), verso blank, A Preface into the newe Testament (printed in small roman type)—1 l., Kalendar—6 ff., An Almanacke for .xxiii. yerres (1561-84)—1 p., A Table of the principall matters . . .—41 pp., A true and perfect rekenyng . . .—1 p., An exhortation . . .—2 pp., The description of the lande . . . (map)—2 pp., The lyfe of . . . Saint Mattheus . . .—1 p. The text, A 1 to Tt 2 a; the O.T. Epistles—5 pp.; the table of Epistles and Gospels—2 ff.; 1 l., on the recto of which is the colophon: Imprinted at London in Powles Churchyard by Richard Jugge, Printer to the Queenes Maiestie. Forbidding all other men to print, or cause to be printed, this, or any other Testament in Englishe. Cum privilegio Regie Maiestatis, with Jugge's device, verso blank; 1 l. (probably blank).

Signatures: * * * * * A-Z & Aa-Tt; 376 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 36 lines. No verse-divisions. The book contains Lives of the four Evangelists and arguments; notes at the end of chapters; chapter-contents; references and alternative readings in the margins, where also the Epistles and Gospels are noted. Words not in the Greek original are printed in roman type. After Acts follow The Cart Cosmographie . . . and The order of tymes.

The Preface is taken from the folio Bibles of 1568 and 1572, omitting the last paragraph. This edition generally follows the quarto issues of Jugge's revision of Tindale's Testament in the arguments, chapter-contents, notes, and other matter.

The cut on the titlepage is a portrait of Edward VI within a frame. Jugge's device is the pelican, with the motto above Cogita mori. There are 20 cuts in Revelation like those used in the folio Bible of 1572.

¶ 134 × 86 mm. Imperfect: wanting all the preliminary matter, except the last three leaves. The last blank leaf is also missing. There are inserted facsimiles of the title, first leaf of Kalendar, Almanack and first page of Table, and a photograph of the Preface leaf;—taken from the only known perfect copy in the Library of All Souls' College, Oxford.

Bound in brocade, with modern brass corners.

[F. F.]

98.

See Appendix for another edition without verse-divisions, 1568 or 1569.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

This somewhat resembles the preceding; and the text follows the Bishops' Bible of 1572.

Fry failed to find another copy either in the British Museum or at Oxford. In the Library of St. John's College, Cambridge, however, he discovered an edition identical with this in some parts, but slightly differing in others.

Probably printed between 1572 and 1577. The colophon, if the words Forbidding . . . Englishe are omitted, resembles that of Jugge's folio Bible of 1574.

DESCRIPTION. Sixteen preliminary leaves: [title,] A Preface into the newe Testament—1 f., Kalendar—6 ff., The pythe or contentes of the newe Testament—7 pp., By the bookes of the newe Testament . . .—3 pp., A true and perfect reckonyng . . .—1 p., An exhortation . . .—2 pp., The discription of the lande . . . (map)—2 pp., 1 p. blank. The text, A i to & d iii b; the O. T. Epistles—5 pp.; the table of Epistles and Gospels—4 pp.; 1 p. containing the colophon: Imprinted at London by Newegate Market, next unto Christes Church, by Richard Jugge, Printer to the Queenes Maiestie. Forbidding all other men to print, or cause to be prynced, this, or any other Testament in Englishe. Cum privilegio Regie Maiestatis, and Jugge's device.

Signatures: *^a *^a, A-Z^a & Aa-Zz^a & d^a; 400 ff. Leaves not numbered. The text is divided into verses, with numbers in margin. A full page contains 87 lines. Lives, arguments, and chapter-contents in roman type; notes at end of chapters, in black-letter. References and alternative renderings in margins, where also the Epistles and Gospels are noted. After Acts follow The Cart Cosmographie . . . and The order of tymes.

No title is known. Jugge's device and the cuts in Revelation resemble those in the preceding edition.

¶ 188 × 87 mm. Imperfect: wanting the title and last leaf of Kalendar. Inserted are facsimiles of the two corresponding leaves in the almost identical edition in the Library of St. John's College, Cambridge. A photograph of the first leaf of text in that copy, with tracings etc., is also included for comparison. The title runs: The newe Testament of our Sa-|viour Iesu Christe. Faythfully translated out of|the Greeke, with the Notes|and Expositions of the darke|places therein. Math. 13. The pearle . . . etc.; on verso, An Almanacke for . . . xxiiii . . . yeres (1562-84). 1573. The holie Byble.

R. Jugge: London. 1578. 4°. 33. 1/2.

Bishops' version.

The second quarto edition.

This resembles in most particulars the quarto Bible of 1569; but the text in the New Testament appears to be a close reprint of the folio of 1572.

In this and all succeeding editions of the Bishops' Bible (except the folio of 1585) the Prayer Book version of the Psalter is substituted for the translation given in the folio of 1568.

DESCRIPTION. Forty preliminary leaves: title (with engraving), verso blank, Preface (in small black-letter) with the prayer—5 pp., The whole Scripture . . .—5 pp., Kalendar—6 ff., The order how . . . Proper Lessons . . . etc.—4 ff.; The bookes of common prayer, and administration of the Sacramentes—24 ff. Text:—pt. 1, ff. 1 to 108, 1 f. blank; pt. 2, with title (within border), text—ff. 106 to 252; pt. 3, with title (within border), text—ff. 2 to 159, 1 f. blank; pt. 4, with title (within border), text—ff. 2 to 99, 1 f. containing map and table; pt. 5, with title dated 1578 (within border), on verso A Preface . . ., text—ff. 2 to 126, ending on Q 6 b with the colophon: Imprinted at London in Powles Churchyard by Richard Jugge, Printer to the Queenes Maiestie. Cum privilegio Regie Maiestatis, and Jugge's device.

Signatures: *^a *^a *^a, A-C^a, A-Z^a Aa-Hh^a Ii^a, A-V^a, Aaa-Mmm^a Nnn^a, A-P^a Q^a; 678 ff. Pts. 1 and 2 have continuous foliation and register. A full column contains 60 lines.

The engraving on the general titlepage resembles that in the quarto edition of 1569; but the title is here printed above the engraving, and the tablet contains a text: Searche the Scriptures . . . John. v. The border used for the part titles is an ornamental frame containing above—the royal arms, and below—three of Jugge's small devices: (1) a Cupid holding the letter R and an arrow, (2) a pelican, and (3) a nightingale in a tree, with the printer's name on a scroll. The device below the colophon is the large device of the pelican.

¶ 215 × 156 mm. Wants the second leaf of Kalendar (supplied in facsimile). The general title is slightly mended. The blank leaf at the end of pt. 1 is missing. Bound in original boards, covered with leather, stamped with the date 1574. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

205 × 151 mm. Imperfect: wanting general title and seven following leaves, and two leaves after the Kalendar; also pt. 4 ff. 10 to 12, and pt. 5 fo. 116. The last two Kalendar leaves are badly mutilated.

With Metrical Psalms (? date).

— Another copy.

303 × 143 mm. Imperfect: wanting all preliminary matter; in pt. 1, ff. 2 and 3 and last leaf (blank); pt. 2, title; pt. 3, title, and ff. 49, 88, and 112; pt. 5, title, and last leaf. Some leaves are mutilated.

With Prayer Book (? date); and Metrical Psalms (1573).

In seventeenth-century binding with brass clasps.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

212 × 149 mm. Imperfect: wanting all preliminary matter; in pt. 1, ff. 76 and 77, and last leaf (blank); pt. 3, title and fo. 26; pt. 5, title, ff. 2 and 3, and last two leaves. Some leaves are mutilated. In place of the general title is inserted a leaf made up of a pt. 3 title and a pt. 5 title, with letterpress (taken from the title of an edition of King James' version) pasted on. Some of the missing text is supplied, by leaves taken from other Bibles.

The fifth of Iuly. Anno. 1574. Cum priuilegio Regie Maiestatis, and Jugge's large device, 1 p. blank.*

Signatures in eights: *¹⁰ *¹⁰ *¹⁰ *¹⁰ *¹⁰ *¹⁰ *¹⁰ *¹⁰, A-M⁸ N⁸, Aa-Ss⁸ Tt⁸, Aaa-Sss⁸ Ttt⁸ Vvv⁸, Aaaa-Mmmmm⁸ Nnnnn⁸, A-Q⁸ R⁸; 672 ff. Printed in smaller type than the folio of 1572; with 68 lines to the full column. In most particulars this edition closely follows the folio of 1572.

The border used for the general and N. T. titles is like that employed for the N. T. title in the edition of 1568. The text on the tablet in the general title is Searche the scriptures . . . John. 5. verse. 39, and in the N. T. title I am not ashamed . . . Rom. j. Pt. 2 titlepage has a composite engraving. Pt. 3 titlepage contains an ornamental block at the top, and below the letterpress a cut of David and Uriah. Pt. 4 titlepage has the same ornamental block, and a composite engraving. The composite engraving which stood before Leviticus is now rightly placed before Numbers; and that belonging to Joshua adorns the titlepage of pt. 2. The most notable alterations are (1) the insertion at Exod. xxvii of a large two-page engraving of the Tabernacle, and (2) the addition in Joshua of a two-page map from the same block as that used for the Coverdale Bible of 1535 (but with different letterpress in the scroll, and Parker's arms in the tablet, dated 1574); these replace the corresponding engravings found in the earlier edition.

¶ 350 × 223 mm. Wanting only the letterpress of the general title, which is supplied in facsimile. In the original binding.

1574. Sermons | of M. Iohn Cal- | uine vpon the Epistle | of Saincte Paule | to the Gala- | thians. | Imprinted at Lon- | don, by Lucas Harison and | George
Bishop. | 1574.

Henrie Bynneman, for Lucas Haryson and George Byshop. 4°.

Contains the greater part of the Epistle in English, which differs from any of the familiar versions of this date. Perhaps the translator of the sermons gave his own rendering of the version on which Calvin was commenting.

DESCRIPTION. Twenty preliminary leaves: title (within border), verso blank, The Epistle Dedicatorie (to . . . Sir William Cecill knight, Baron of Burleygh . . . signed: Written at my lodging in the forestreete without Cripplegate the .14. of Nouember. 1574 . . . Arthur Golding)—3 ff., The Argument . . . —7 pp., 1 p. blank, A necessarie Table . . . —12 ff. The Sermons, ff. 1 to 329 b; followed by two prayers, which end on Tt 2 b with the colophon: Imprinted at London by Henrie Bynneman, for Lucas Haryson and George Bysshop.

Signatures: ¶ † * * * * *, A–Z^a Aa–Ss^a Tt^a; 350 ff. Printed in roman type; with 86 lines to the page. A few verses of the text are printed in larger type before each of the forty-three Sermons.

¶ 198 × 146 mm.

1575. The holy | Byble, | conteynynge the olde | Testament and | the newe. |
Set foorth by auctoritie. | Search the scriptures . . . Iohn. 5. verse. 39. |
Imprinted at London, | by Lucas Harison.

R. Jugge. 1575. f^o. 33. v.

Bishops' version.

In this first small folio edition various printers' names are given on the titlepage in different copies. Anderson (vol. ii. p. 335) mentions Richard Jugge, Richard Kele, John Walley, Lucas Harrison, John Judson, and William Norton; and Cotton (p. 39) adds Francis Coldock. But the edition in each case is the same. Possibly R. Jugge, whose imprint appears at the end of the Order of Morning and Evening Prayer (see below), was the actual printer of the book. It appears, however, that the Master and Wardens of the Stationers' Company had issued special licences to certain stationers—including five of the above-named, and also R. Watkins—to print a folio Bible in pica (? this edition), and a quarto New Testament in 'the English or pica letter' (? No. 97). See Arber, Transcript, vol. v, p. xlviii.

DESCRIPTION. Thirty preliminary leaves: title (within border), verso blank, Preface (in black-letter)—7 pp., Prologue (in roman type)—5 pp., The summe of the whole Scripture . . . —1 f., The whole Scripture . . . is divided . . .—2 ff., A description of the yeres . . . and The order of the bookes . . .—1 f., Proper lessons . . . etc.—3 pp., An Almanacke (1572–1610)—1 p., To finde Easter . . . etc.—1 p., A Table for the order of the Psalmes . . .—1 p., Kalendar (with a small cut at the head of each month)—6 ff.; The order where Morning and Euening prayer shalbe used and sayde—19 pp., ending with Jugge's device and the colophon: Imprinted at London by Richarde Jugge . . ., 1 p. blank. Text:—pt. 1, ff. 1 (not numbered) to 102 a, verso blank; pt. 2, with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. 2 to 151 b, 1 f. blank; pt. 3, with title (within border), on verso A Prologue . . ., text—ff. 2 (not numbered) to 156 b; pt. 4, with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. 2 to 103 a, on verso A Table to make plaine . . ., 1 f. blank; pt. 5, with title (within border), on verso A Preface . . ., text—ff. 2 to 136 b; A Table to finde . . .—3 pp., ending on R 10 a with the colophon: Imprinted at London in the yere of our redemption, M.D.LXXV. and finished the XXIIII. day of Nouember. God saue the Queene, beneath which is a device, verso blank.

Signatures: * * * * *, *¹⁰, A–M^a N^a, Aa–Tt^a, Aaa–Sss^a Ttt^a Vvv^a, Aaaa–Nnnn^a, A–Q^a R¹⁰; 682 ff. Printed in double columns, with 58 or 59 lines to the full column. In the margins, the notes are in roman type, but other matter in black-letter. Headlines and contents of chapters in roman type.

The border used for the titles contains at the top the date 1575, and below the words God saue the Queene; immediately beneath the letterpress is a mermaid holding a mirror. In the N. T. title the emblems of the Evangelists are added in the corners of the central compartment. A very small cut of the author appears before each of the following books:—Romans, James, 1 Peter, Jude, and Revelation; and in the last book there are 17 small illustrations. Jugge's device is the pelican, with the motto Cogita mori. The device on R 10 b is the brazen serpent.

¶ 279 × 187 mm. The centre of the first title and part of the following leaf are supplied in facsimile. The two blank leaves are missing; that at the end of pt. 4 appears to have been purposely cut out, so that the Table on Nnnn 7 b might face the N. T. title.

R. Jugge: London. 4°. 33. 1.

Bishops' version.

This edition generally agrees with the quarto Bible of 1573. The figure of Elizabeth on her throne has been cut from the block of the general titlepage, leaving a space in which appears the letterpress; the text as before in the label beneath. The other titlepages are the same as in the edition of 1573, except that to pt. 2, which has a different woodcut border, containing at the base a different device of the nightingale in tree, and the motto Omne. Bonū. Superne; the N. T. title is dated 1575. The colophon runs: Imprinted at London by Newgate Market, next unto Christes Church, by Richarde Iugge . . .

Foliation and signatures as before. The 13th preliminary leaf (The order howe . . .) is signed iii.

¶ 210 × 150 mm. The blank leaf at the end of pt. 3 is missing.

Tho. Vautroullier. 8°.

Geneva version.

The text agrees generally with that of the 1560 Bible, though it shows traces of revision, e.g., the use of the word child for babe (1 Pet. ii. 2, As newe borne children . . ., etc.).

The first edition of the Geneva version printed in England. Thomas Vautroullier, a Frenchman, printed at London and at Edinburgh. He obtained in June 1574 a royal licence to print Beza's Latin New Testament (Herbert, pp. 1065-7).

The size of this edition is given as 12° by Lea Wilson (No. 37, p. 190), and in the B. M. Catalogue. The wire-marks are perpendicular, and the signatures are in eights.

DESCRIPTION. Twelve preliminary leaves: title (within border), on verso The ordre of the booke . . ., The Epistle . . . By Iohn Caluin—8 ff., To the reader . . .—5 pp., The Argument of the Gospell . . .—1 p. The text, pp. 1 to 813 (EEe 7 a), ending with a vignette and the colophon: Imprinted at London by Tho. Vautroullier, for Christopher Barker; A Declaration of the Table . . .—1 p., A Table of the Principall things . . .—pp. 815 to 850, A perfect svppotation . . .—3 pp., ending on 855 (really 853, HHh 3 a), 1 p. blank, 1 f. blank.

Signatures: * * ¶, A-Z* Aa-Zz* AAa-GGg* HHh*; 440 ff. The pages are numbered from the beginning of the text to the end of the book. Arguments, marginal notes, references, etc.

The title-border is a frame containing above—the royal arms, at the sides—the crest and the arms of Sir F. Walsingham, and below—a tablet bearing the words Cum privilegio. The only illustration is a small cut of the Holy City before Rev. i. The vignette on p. 813 is a female head between two cornucopias, below which are the initials T. V.

¶ 141 × 91 mm. The blank leaf (HHh 4) is missing.

Geneva version.

There are two small folio editions of this date, which, while closely resembling one another, are yet quite distinct.

A. The first folio edition of this version printed in England.

DESCRIPTION. Four preliminary leaves: title (with cut), verso blank, Epistle—3 pp., 1 p. blank, Address—1 p., list of books—1 p. Text:—O. T., ff. 1 to 865 b, 1 f. blank; Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 84 a, verso blank; N. T., with title (with cut), on verso Barker's device, The Description of the Holy Lande . . . (map)—1 p., 1 p. blank, text—ff. 1 to 115 b (with device), The order of the yerres . . . —1 p., verso blank, A briefe table . . . and A table of the principal things . . . —19 pp., A perfitte supputation . . . —1 p.

Signatures: * * *, A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa-Ppp^a, Aaaa-Oooo^a, [unsigned]^a, Aaaaa-Sssss^a Ttttt^a, A^a B^a; 582 ff.

The cut on the two titles is the same as that in the first edition of 1560, with the texts. Barker's large device represents above—a tiger's head (the crest of his patron, Sir F. Walsingham), and below—a lamb, with the legend Tigre Reo Animale Del Adam Vecchio Figliuolo Merce L'Evangelio Fatto N'Estat Agnolo; enclosed within a frame. This device occurs repeatedly in Barker's editions.

The mistake in Eccclus. xv. 13 (see the edition of 1560) is corrected.

With Metrical Psalms (1609).

— ANOTHER EDITION.

B. Lea Wilson's No. 44 (p. 72).

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves: title: The Bible (within narrow frame) | that is, the Holy Scriptures con-|teined in the Olde | and Newe Testament. Translated . . ., verso blank, Epistle—3 pp., Address—1 p., A table containing the cycle of the sonne . . . etc.—1 f., Kalendar—8 pp., list of books—1 p. Text:—O. T., ff. 1 to 866 a, verso blank; Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 84 a, verso blank; N. T., with title, verso blank, the map—1 p., 1 p. blank, text—ff. 1 to 115 b; The order of the yerres . . . —1 p., tables—19 pp., A Perfitte Supputation . . . (mentioning date 1576 instead of 1560)—1 p., 1 p. blank.

Signatures: ¶^a, A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa-Ppp^a, Aaaa-Oooo^a, [unsigned]^a, Aaaaa-Xxxxx^a; 584 ff.

A large two-page plan The forme of the Temple and citie restored is inserted at Ezekiel; and a map The description of the countreis and places mencioned in the Actes . . . in the N. T. There are woodcuts in Ezekiel. Some of the initials contain Walsingham's arms and crest, or the crest alone. A vignette at the end of the preliminary Epistle is a head between two cornucopias, with the initials C. B.

Eccclus. xv. 13 is incorrect.

¶ 275 × 187 mm. The general title is mounted.

R. Jugge: London. 4°. 33. 1/2.

Bishops' version.

This agrees generally with the quarto editions of 1573 and 1575.

DESCRIPTION. Forty-two preliminary leaves: title (within border), verso blank, Preface (in italics) with the prayer (in roman type)—4 ff., The whole Scripture . . . —5 pp., 1 p. blank, Kalendar (with a small cut at the head of each month)—6 ff., The order howe

... etc.—7 pp., 1 p. blank: The Booke of Common Prayer . . .—24 ff. Signatures of these leaves: *³ x*³ *⁴, A-C³.

The text has foliation, signatures, etc., as before. It is printed in a smaller type, but it reads with the editions of 1573 and 1575 leaf for leaf throughout, though some of the marginal references etc. are omitted. A full column contains 60 lines.

The text ends on Q 6 b with Jugge's device and the colophon: Imprinted at London, by Richard Jugge . . .

The general title is enclosed within the border used for the title of pt. 2 in the edition of 1575. The other titles have the same border as in the Bible of 1573. Jugge's device contains the motto Cogita mori.

¶ 186 × 134 mm. Wants general title; supplied in facsimile.

Tomson. | Imprinted at London by Christopher Barkar | dwelling in Poules Churchyeard at the | signe of the Tygres head. | 1576. | Cum priuilegio.

The first edition of Tomson's revision of the Geneva New Testament.

The alterations are mainly due to a comparison with Beza's Latin version of 1565. Tomson's emphatic rendering of the Greek article, e.g. in John i. 1: In the beginning was that Word, and that Word was with God, and that Word was God, exaggerates a tendency which Beza also displays. The notes are generally based on Beza's.

Laurence Tomson (1589-1608) was secretary to Sir F. Walsingham, to whom he dedicated the book. Loseler Villerius is M. L'Oyseleur, Seigneur de Villers (Cotton, p. 41).

This became the final and popular form of the Geneva Testament.

DESCRIPTION. Twenty-six preliminary leaves: 1 f. blank (✕ 1), title (with cut), on verso The order of the bookes, the Epistle To the Right Honorable M. Francis VValsingham Esquier, one of the principall Secretaries to hyr Excellent Maiestie, and of hir Highnesse priuis Councell: And to the Right worshipfull M. Francis Hastings. L. T. wysheth prosperitie in this lyfe and lyfe euerlasting, in Christ oure Sauieur—6 ff., an Address To the most famous Prince Lewys of Bourbon, Prince of Conde, etc. And to the rest most famous and noble Dukes, Marquises, Earles, Barons, and Gentlemen, which haue embraced the true Gospell of Christ, in the Kingdome of Fraunce. Theodorus Beza of Vesels, Minister of the Chrch of Geneva, grace & peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Iesus Christ . . . (dated At Geneva . . . 1565)—29 pp., 1 p. blank, The Printer to the Diligent Reader—1 f., 1 p. blank, The Description of the Holy Lande . . . The places specified . . .—1 p., the map—1 p., 1 p. blank. The text—ff. 1 to 460, ending on Mmm 4 a with the colophon: Imprinted at London By Christopher Barkar dwelling in Powles Churchyeard at the signe of the Tygres head. Cum priuilegio; on verso is Barker's device.

Signatures: X^{a} f^{a} Z^{a} \star^{a} , A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa-Lll^a Mmm^a; 496 ff. The leaves in the text are numbered. Chapter-contents, verse-divisions, and marginal notes. A running commentary is added, except in the book of Revelation, which has a separate note at the beginning, filling six pages.

The cut on the titlepage represents the Angels appearing to the Shepherds, with the text Beholds I bring you glad tidings of greate joy that shalbe to all the people. Luk. 2. 10. The only illustration is a small cut representing the Holy City before Rev. i. Some of the ornaments contain Walsingham's crest.

¶ 147 × 96 mm. The title has been mounted. The preliminary blank leaf is missing. Every leaf (according to a MS. note by Fry, who collated several copies) belongs to the correct edition; copies of this and the edition of 1577 are sometimes mixed. Bound up at the end of this copy are 16 pp. of tables, which belong to the 1577 edition; this edition has no tables after the text. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

157 × 103 mm. Imperfect: wanting all preliminary matter, except the last three leaves, and the last four leaves of text (ff. 457 to 460); the blank leaf before the title is also missing. Two leaves from an edition of the 1611 version are inserted at the end to complete Revelation.

— Another copy.

155 × 106 mm. Imperfect: wanting title, all sheet f^{a} , and the last leaf (the map) in the preliminary matter; and in the text, ff. 1 to 17, 43 to 46, 113 to 120, 145, 152, 284, 285, 305, 312, and the last four leaves (457 to 460); the blank leaf before the title is also missing, and \star^{a} 7 is mutilated. A facsimile copy of the title is supplied.

Enclosed are fragments of other copies, containing some of the missing leaves. [F. F.]

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves containing the same matter arranged in the same order as in the folio edition B of 1576. Text: O. T., ff. (1) to 360 a, verso blank; Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 76 b; N. T., with title, verso blank, map—1 p., 1 p. blank, text—ff. 1 to 115 b; tables, etc.—21 pp., 1 p. blank.

Signatures: ¶^a, A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa-Ooo^a, Aaaa-Mmmm^a Nnnn^a, [unsigned]^a, Aaaaa-Xxxxx^a; 570 ff.

In most particulars this Bible closely resembles the edition B of 1576. An ornament after the Address contains Walsingham's crest.

Geneva version.

The edition of 1581 has been generally considered the first issue printed in this size. But there were certainly two earlier editions—this of 1577, and another of 1579.

DESCRIPTION. [Four] preliminary leaves: [1 f. blank,] title (with cut), verso blank, Epistle (first leaf signed ¶ iii,—so apparently a blank leaf should precede title)—8 pp., The names and order of al the bookes . . . —1 p. Text: O. T., ff. 1 to — . . . ; A brief table . . . —7 pp., A table of the principall things . . . (ending with Barker's device)—19 pp., A perfitte supputation . . . (1577)—1 f., ending with colophon: Imprinted at London by Christopher Barker, dwelling in Pater noster row at the signe of the Tygres. heads. 1577 (beneath which is a small tailpiece dated 1576).

Signatures: ¶, A–Z^a Aa— . . . , *^a *^a *^a; —ff. A full column contains 68 lines. Arguments before books; contents before chapters; subject-headings in head-lines; a few references, alternative renderings, etc. in margins.

The first two words of the title are enclosed in a frame. The cut represents the crossing of the Red Sea.

DESCRIPTION. Forty preliminary leaves: title (within border), verso blank, [Preface] with the prayer—5 pp., The whole Scripture . . . —5 pp., Kalendar—6 ff., The order howe . . . —1 p., Proper Lessons . . . —2 pp., 1 p. blank; Certaine godly and comfortable Prayers, for all tymes, and for al persons—3 pp., 1 p. blank; The Booke of common Prayer . . . —24 ff. Text: pts. 1 to 4, with separate titles, but continuous register and foliation, ff. 1 to 591 (really 511) b, followed by 1 f. (592, really 512) containing the map and table; N. T., with title, verso blank, text—ff. 2 to 126 b, ending with Iugge's device and the colophon: Imprinted at London by Richard Iugge . . .

Signatures: [—]* *^a *^a *^a *^a, A–C^a, A–Z^a Aa–Hh^a Ii^a Kk–Zz^a Aaa–Sss^a Ttt^a, A–P^a Q^a; 678 ff.

A full column contains 60 lines. In most particulars this Bible agrees closely with the quarto editions of 1573 and 1575, reading generally with them, and with the rather smaller edition of 1576, leaf for leaf throughout the text; but it differs in places, e.g. the table after the Psalter (Numerus secundum Hebreos) is omitted.

The borders to the titles are like those used in the quarto Bible of 1575; but the letterpress of the general title is also framed within rules. Iugge's device contains the motto Cogita Mori.

R. Iugge: London. 4°. 38. 1/2.

Bishops' version.

Sometimes erroneously described as an octavo; it is really a small quarto.

DESCRIPTION. Thirty-six preliminary leaves: [Title, verso blank]. Preface (without the prayer)—5 pp., The whole Scripture . . . —5 pp., Kalendar—6 ff., Proper Lessons . . . —2 ff.; The Booke of common prayer . . . —21 ff., Certaine godly and comfortable prayers . . . —1 f. Text: O. T. and Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 400 b; N. T., with title (within border), verso blank, text—ff. 2 to 103 b; 1 f., containing on recto Iugge's device and the colophon: Imprinted at London by Richard Iugge, Printer to the Queenes Maiestie. Cum priuilegio Regie Maiestatis, verso blank.

Signatures: [(* ii.), etc.]^s [(i), etc.]^s *², A^s B^s C^s, A-Z^s Aa-Zz^s Aaa-Ddd^s, A-N^s 540 ff. Printed in minute black-letter, somewhat like the type used in Grafton's small quarto Bible of 1553; with 71 lines to the full column. Many of the usual marginal notes and references are omitted.

No copy containing the general title can now be traced; but Herbert (p. 725) quotes it as above, and describes it as having the same border as the N. T. title. This border, containing at the bottom the device with the motto Omnia boni superna, was first used for pt. 2 title in the quarto edition of 1575. No separate titles to pts. 2, 3 and 4. The large cut of Adam precedes Genesis; but all the maps and tables found in the preceding quarto editions are here omitted. Jugge's device is his larger device, without the motto Cogita Mori.

¶ 185 × 130 mm. Wanting only the general title. Inserted are (1) a genuine pt. 2 title from a copy of the other edition of 1577, and (2) a facsimile of the general title in the 1576 edition; both have the woodcut border mentioned above as belonging to the missing title of this edition.

With Metrical Psalms (1578).

Original binding, with brass corners and clasps.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

178 × 122 mm. Imperfect: wanting general title and 13 ff. before the Prayer Book, and the last preliminary leaf; also N. T. title and 10 ff. of text.

With Metrical Psalms (? date).

Geneva version; Tomson's revision.

Agrees closely with the octavo of 1576, but exhibits slight differences, even in the text (e.g. Matt. iii. 9: And thinke not . . . for And presume not . . .).

DESCRIPTION. Sixteen preliminary leaves: title (with cut), verso blank, Epistle—6 ff., Address (in very small type)—6 ff., The Printer to the diligent Reader—1 f., 1 p. bearing Barker's device, The Description . . . —1 p., map—1 p., list of books—1 p. Text, ff. 1 to 460 a, ending with colophon, on verso Barker's device; A table of the principall things . . . —16 ff.

Signatures: a^s b^s, A-Z^s Aa-Zz^s Aaa-Lll^s Mmm^s, Nnn^s Ooo^s; 492 ff.

The last page of the table bears a catchword A Per; but no copy examined by Fry contained A perfect supputation, and it seems quite possible that the book was issued without it; the table exactly fills two sheets, and the Supputation would make an odd leaf. (In the copy described by Lea Wilson [p. 198] the table fills 15 ff., and the Supputation 1 f., i.e. together 16 ff., or two sheets.)

¶ 156 × 100 mm. A note by Fry pronounces every leaf of this copy 'correct,' i.e. belonging to the edition of 1577.

Bound up at the end is a MS. sermon (14 ff.), entitled A goode & a nedefull admonition . . .

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

147 × 97 mm. Imperfect: wanting title and five leaves of the Address (b 1 to 5), ff. 244 and 245 in the text, and the last leaf of the table;—9 ff.

Some leaves appear to belong to the edition of 1576.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

148 × 87 mm. Imperfect: wanting title (supplied in facsimile) and four following leaves, the last leaf (460) of text, and Nnn 8 and Ooo 2 to 8 in the table;—14 ff.

Geneva version.

The first large folio edition.

DESCRIPTION. Thirty-four preliminary leaves: a leaf before the title containing on verso Of the incomparable treasure of the holy Scriptures, with a prayer for the true vse of the same (verses and prayer, within narrow frame), title (within border), verso blank, Epistle—1 l., To the diligent and Christian Reader . . . —1 p., 1 p. blank, A Prologue or preface . . . (by Cranmer, with a short note explaining why it was inserted)—2 ff., Proper Lessons . . . etc.—2 ff., An Almanacks (1578–1610)—1 p., Kalendar (with notes below, containing some allusions to contemporary events)—12 pp., 1 p. blank; The booke of Common prayer . . . —19 ff. Text: O. T., ff. 1 to 376 b; Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 78 a, verso blank; N. T., with title, verso blank, The names & order of all the bookes . . . —1 p., The description . . . (with map)—1 p., text—ff. 1 to 118 a, The summe of the vnhole Scripture . . . —2 pp., ending with Barker's device and colophon, 1 p. blank; tables—9 ff., A perfile Supputation . . . (1578)—1 p., 1 p. blank.

Signatures: *¹ *² a-d⁴ e⁴, A-Z⁶ Aa-Zz⁶ Aaa-Qqq⁶ Rrr⁴, A-N⁴, [unsigned]², Aa-Tt⁴, *⁶ *⁴ *⁴; 614 ff. Double columns, with 66 lines to the full column. With the usual notes, etc.

In this edition the Geneva and the Prayer Book versions of the Psalter appear side by side, the former in roman type and the latter in black-letter.

This is the earliest Bible which contains the introductory verses, afterwards occurring so often:

*Here is the spring where waters flowe, to quenche our heate of sinne:
Here is the tree where trutheth doth grow, to leade our liues therein: etc.,*

and the accompanying prayer.

The Prayer Book included in the preliminary matter exhibits many peculiarities; the word Minister is substituted throughout for Priest, and some of the Offices are omitted.

The title-border contains: above—the royal arms supported by two female figures, one carrying a sword and scales, the other a book and a sprig of heartsease; and below—a lion and a dragon on either side of a tablet containing the words Imprinted . . . Maiestatis (these words are on a slip pasted over the original imprint, which omits the words Printer to the Queenes Maiestie and Regia Maiestatis); the initials C B appear in the lower corners of the central space, and also at the base of the cut. The same border is used for the N. T. title; but the tablet in this case contains vv. 5 and 6 from Prov. xxx.

¶ 375 × 254 mm.

Fry states in a MS. note that the Prayer Book is generally missing from copies of this edition, as collectors of editions of the Book of Common Prayer are eager to acquire this peculiar variety, and often cut the leaves out of the Bible. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

366 × 253 mm. Imperfect: wanting all preliminary leaves after Cranmer's Prologue; pt. 1, ff. 97 to 102, 133 to 136; and the last two leaves in the book. In place of ff. 133 to 136 in pt. 1 are inserted 6 ff. from another Bible. This copy has lost the pasted slip from the first title.

f°. 33. 11.

Bishops' version.

This edition, though the book was entirely reset and issued by another printer, agrees so closely with that published by R. Jugge in 1574, that no further description is necessary beyond a few distinguishing marks. While type, signatures, and foliation are the same, the running titles of books are generally in roman type, instead of italics. In the preliminary leaves, the initial letters to the Preface and Prologue contain no coats of arms, and the leaf ¹* 1 (Proper Lessons) is printed all in black. The large two-page engraving in Exodus and the map in Joshua are omitted. The pt. 4 titlepage lacks the ornamental block above the letterpress. The N. T. title begins The newe Testament . . . instead of The newe Testament . . . The cut of St. Matthew before his Gospel is displaced by a cut of St. Mark. There is no colophon on the last page (R 6 a); in its place stands the ornamental block used for pt. 3 titlepage.

¶ 362 × 240 mm. Perhaps there should be a blank leaf after the Kalendar, as in the edition of 1574. [F. F.]

Geneva version; Tomson's revision.

DESCRIPTION. Seventeen preliminary leaves: first title, on verso An Almanacke for xxvi. yeeres (1578 to 1608), Kalendar—6 ff., 1 f. blank; second title (very like the first), on verso The order of the bookes . . ., Epistle—8 ff. Text, ff. 1 (not numbered, B 2) to 279 a, verso blank; table—23 ff., ending on Rr 7 b with colophon; 1 f. blank.

Signatures: [unsigned], A-Y Aa-Rr*; 320 ff. No Arguments, or notes; but chapter-contents and marginal references.

The first word of each title is enclosed within a narrow frame; and below, under the text, is a small ornament occasionally used by Barker, with Walsingham's crest and the date 1576.

¶ 101 × 66 mm. Wants the two blank leaves.

1578? (The New Testament.)

[Qu. C. Barker: London. 1578?] 8°. 33. 1/2.

Bishops' version.

Printer and date unknown. Probably printed by C. Barker, about 1578.

This differs entirely from Jugge's editions described above, and from the series printed by the Barkers, or their Deputies, from 1579 to 1617.

DESCRIPTION. No complete description is possible, since the imperfect copy in this library has not yet been identified. The text is divided into verses; 38 lines to the full page. The Lives of the Evangelists, Arguments, notes (at the end of chapters), and marginal references are in black-letter. The headlines (including titles of books and chapter-numbers), chapter-contents, interpolations, and marginal notices of Epistles and Gospels are in roman type.

Acts begins on Y ij a, and ends on Dd 8 a; and is followed on the next page by The order of tymes. Hebrews ends on Ss 5 b.

A few errors may be mentioned, as marks for identification:

Y 8 a, headline: Apostls.

Hh 7 b, note: γνῶθι.

Hh 8 a and Ii 8 a, headlines: Corinthians.

¶ 137 × 89 mm. Very imperfect: wanting all before M j (Luke ii) and all after Tt 8 (2 Peter i). [F. F.]

T. Bassandyne and A. Arbuthnot: Edinburgh. 1579, 76. f°.

Geneva version.

The first Bible printed in Scotland, though Robert Lekpreuk had received a licence to print the Geneva Bible as early as 1568.

A reprint of the folio edition of 1562, 61. The printing was begun by Bassandyne, whose name appears on the N. T. title dated 1576; and was finished by his coadjutor Arbuthnot in 1579. By order of the General Assembly every parish in Scotland subscribed the purchase price, £4 13s. 4d. (Scotch currency = about 7s. 6d. in contemporary English coin, or over £4 to-day), before the work was undertaken. An Act of the Scots Parliament passed in 1579 ordered every householder worth 300 merks of yearly rent, and every yeoman or burgess worth £500 stock, to have a Bible and Psalm Book, in the vulgar language, in his house, under the penalty of ten pounds. (Cf. J. Lee, Memorial, pp. 28-45, etc.; Eadie, vol. ii. chap. xxxvi.; Dobson, History of the Bassandyne Bible, 1887; and Dickson and Edmonds, Annals of Scottish Printing, 1890, pp. 202, 275 f., 320 f.)

DESCRIPTION. [Ten] preliminary leaves: title (with out), on verso The names and order of all the bookes . . . , To the richt excellent richt heich and nichtie prince James the Sext King of Scottis, socr humble subiectis the Commissionaris of the Kyrkis of your Realme, wisse grace and peace with a prosperous raigne, from God the Father, throuch our Sauicour Iesus Christ (dated From Edinburgh in our general assemblie the tenth day of Iulie, 1579)—2 ff., An double Calendare, to wit, the Romane and the Hebrew Calendare . . . (with rules, etc., signed R. Pont) with the verses Of the incomparable treasure . . . and the prayer—9 pp., A description and successe . . . and An exhortation . . .—2 pp., Howe to take profite in reading of the holie Scripture (signed T. Grasop)—1 p. [Apparently there should be 1 f. blank after the Epistle, or at the end of the preliminary matter. Variations occur in these leaves (see below).] Text: O. T. and Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 508 b, 1 f. blank; N. T., with title: The Newe Testament . . . At Edinbrgh. Printed by Thomas Bassandyne. M.D.LXXVI. Cvm privilegio (with out), verso blank, text—ff. 1 to 125 b; A briefe table . . . , A table of the principal things . . . , A perfite supputation . . . (giving the date 1576) and The order of the yeres . . .—14 ff., 1 f. blank.

Signatures: [(.) ij, etc.]^a, a-z^a aa-zz^a aaa-zzz^a aaaa-pppp^a, A-Y^a Z^a; 654 ff. Double columns, with 60 lines to a full column. At the bottom of the last page of 2 Macc. is printed a title: The thirde booke of the Maccabees newlie translated out of the original Greke. But the book itself apparently was not included.

The cut on the two titlepages displays the arms of Jacob^{us} Sextus, supported by two unicorns, with the motto In Defens; at the sides are the words God save the King. At the bottom of the last preliminary page occurs a small device, copied from Jugge's device of the pelican; the shield at the base contains a coat of arms between the initials A A, and at the top appears the printer's name Alexander Arbuthnot. The book contains 26 engravings in the text; besides maps at Numbers xxxiii and Joshua xv, and a plan at the end of Ezekiel, printed on separate leaves.

¶ 328 × 210 mm. Wants the general title (supplied in facsimile) and the blank leaves. Inserted at the beginning are: (1) specimens of the last four preliminary leaves, which are differently set up from those in this copy; perhaps they are cancelled leaves. (2) A leaf containing a map, which does not seem properly to belong to this edition. [F. F.]

Geneva version.

Apparently the earliest in the long series of quarto Geneva Bibles printed in England.

There are two editions of this date, which while closely agreeing are yet distinct.

A.

DESCRIPTION. [Sixty] preliminary leaves: [1 f.], title (within border), verso blank, Epistle—1 f. (signed ¶ iii), Address To the diligent and Christian Reader . . . —1 p., Proper Lessons . . . etc.—4 pp., An Almanacke (1578-1610)—1 p., Kalendar (with chronological notes, containing references to some contemporary events)—6 ff.; The Booke of Common prayer . . . —20 ff.; the Psalter, with title The Psalter or Psalmes of David, of that translation which is used in Common prayer. Imprinted at London by Christopher Barker . . . (within border), verso blank, —28 ff. [One leaf is required before or after the general title, since the Epistle leaf is signed ¶ iii. Probably it should precede the title, and have Of the incomparable treasure . . . printed on verso, as in B.] Text divided into three parts: (1) O. T., ff. 1 to 378 b; (2) Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 86 a, verso blank; N. T., with title (within border), verso blank, The summe of the whole Scripture . . . —1 f., Certaines questions & answers touching the doctrine of predestination, the vse of Gods wordes and Sacraments—3 pp., list of books—1 p., text—ff. 1 to 121 b, ending with the colophon: Imprinted at London by Christopher Barker, Printer to the Queenes most excellent Maiestie, dwelling in Pater noster Rowe, at the signe of the Tygres head. Anno 1579, 1 f. blank; A briefe Table of the interpretation of the proper names . . . —7 pp., A Table of the principall things . . . —19 pp., A perfitte Supputation . . . unto this present yeere . . . 1578 . . . —1 f., ending on * 6 b with colophon.

Signatures: ¶^a ¶^b ¶^c, A^a B^a C^a, A-C^a D^a, A-Z^a Aa-Za^a Aaa^a, Aaa-Ekk^a Lll^a, *^a, Aaaa-Oooo^a Pppp^a *^a *^a *^a; 664 ff.

Double columns, with 70 lines to the full column. Arguments, marginal notes, etc. in roman type.

The border used for the general and N.T. titles resembles that in the folio edition of 1578; with two symbolical female figures, the royal arms, the lion and dragon, and the initials C B; the tablet is blank. The title-border of the Prayer Book Psalter has at the sides—symbolical figures Fides and Humilitas, in the corners—emblems of the Evangelists, above—the royal arms, and below—Walsingham's crest.

Barker's device (Tigre Reo . . .) occurs at the end of the Prayer Book, and after the Godly prayers at the end of the Psalter. A small cut of the royal arms is placed above the colophon on Pppp 9 b.

¶ 234 × 158 mm. Imperfect: wanting the general title, and one other leaf. Inserted are:—(1) an incorrect quasi-facsimile title; (2) a folding leaf, containing Howe to take profite . . . (signed T. Grashop). [F. F.]

— Another copy.

208 × 153 mm. Imperfect: wanting all before the second leaf of Kalendar, ¶¶ 8, and the first leaf of Prayer Book; also a blank leaf (Pppp 10).

This copy is remarkable as containing five full-page engravings inserted at Exodus, Numbers, Joshua, Judges, and 1 Samuel (this last should come at 1 Kings). These appear to have been struck off the same wood-blocks as were used for the folio Bishops' Bibles of 1572, 1574 and 1578. They are printed on separate leaves, with verso blank.

With Metrical Psalmes (1578).

[F. F.]

120.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

B. Closely agreeing with A, but differing in some points.

A leaf precedes the title bearing the verses Of the incomparable treasure . . . and the prayer (within narrow frame) on verso. The general title differs very slightly from that of A; in the text from Joshua i and do and way appear for & do and ways. The Prayer Book and Psalter have continuous register, A-F^a; hence the Psalter titleleaf is C 5. Barker's device Tigre Reo . . . is absent from Cijj b. The Apocrypha contain 76 ff. In the colophon on Pppp 9 b, the words dwelling . . . head are omitted. A perfite Supputation . . . reckons in the year 1579.

A double leaf containing Howe to take profite . . . is inserted before the text.

¶ 206 × 144 mm.

1579. (The Bible.)

C. Barker : London. 1579. 8°.

Geneva version.

Apparently the second octavo edition.

DESCRIPTION. [Title and preliminary leaves.] Text: O.T., ff. 1 to 334 b (ending with a tailpiece dated 1576, and an ornament); Apocrypha, ff. 335 to 413 b (ending with ornament); N.T. (with title: The Newe Testament in a small frame at the head of the first page) ends on fo. 520 a (with a tailpiece containing the initials C B), on verso The order of the yeres . . .; the two tables—13 ff. (ending with Barker's device), A perfite supputation . . . (1579)—1 f., ending with the colophon: Imprinted at London by Christopher Barker, Printer to the Queenes Maiestie . 1579 (beneath which is the tailpiece, dated 1576).

Signatures: [—], A-Z^a Aa-Zs^a Aaa-Ttt^a, *^a *^a *^a; . . . + 584 ff. Type, etc. as in the octavo edition of 1577.

¶ 163 × 105 mm. Imperfect: wanting preliminary matter, and eight leaves of text—ff. 1 to 3, 6 to 8, 444 and 445; in place of the last two leaves are inserted two taken from an edition of the 1611 version.

[F. F.]

122.

1580. (The Bible.)

C. Barker : London. 1580. 4°. 33. 1/2.

Geneva version.

There are two varieties of this date.

A. Lea Wilson's No. 51 (p. 80).

DESCRIPTION. [Fifty-eight] preliminary leaves: [1 f.], titleleaf, Epistle—1 f. (signed ¶ iii), Address—1 p., Proper Lessons, etc.—4 pp., Almanack—1 p., Kalendar—6 ff.; Prayer Book (with Psalter)—45 ff., Howe to take profite . . .—1 p., Of the incomparable treasure . . .—1 p. Text: O.T., ff. 1 to 358 b; Apocrypha end on fo. 435 (really 434) a, verso blank; N.T., with titleleaf, The summe . . .—1 f., Certaine questions . . .—8 pp., list of books—1 p., text ends on fo. 554 (really 552, Zzz 10) b. Concordances, with title: Two right profitable and fruitfull Concordances, or large and ample Tables Alphabeticall. The first contayning the interpretation of the Hebrue, Caldean, Greeke, and Latine wordes and names scatteringly dispersed throughout the whole Bible, with their common places following euery of them: And the second comprehend- ing all such other principall words and matters, as concerne the sense and meaning of the Scriptures, or direct vnto any necessarie and good instruction. The further contents and vse of both the which Tables, (for breuitie sake) is expressed more at large in the Preface to the Reader. Collected by R. F. H. . . ., verso blank, The Preface . . . (dated 22 Dec. 1578, and signed: Thine in the Lord, Robert F. Herrey)—1 f.; tables—90 ff., ending on M 4 b with colophon.

Signatures: [—] ¶^a, A-E^a F^a, A-Z^a Aa-Zs^a Aaa-Hhh^a Iii^a, *^a, Kkk-Yyy^a Zzz^a, A-L^a M^a; 602 ff. Double columns, with 71 lines to the full column.

The Concordances, which form an essential part of the volume, were compiled by Robert F. Herrey, who is identified with Robert Harrison, the Norfolk Brownist (d. 1585?).

Title-border as in the edition of 1579.

Barker's device Tigre Reo . . . occurs at the end of Godly prayers, after Malachi, on the titlepage of the Concordances, and above the colophon on the last page. A small cut of the royal arms is found at the end of Revelation.

¶ 215 × 153 mm. Imperfect: wanting the first four leaves (the Epistle leaf signed ¶ iii appears to have been supplied from a copy of the 1579 B edition); and the last leaf of Kalendar.

With Metrical Psalms (1580).

[F. F.]

123.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

B. Lea Wilson's No. 51a (p. 182*).

It is possible that this should precede A, since this edition resembles one of 1579, while A is a new type of quarto Bible, which was frequently copied in later years.

DESCRIPTION. [Sixty] preliminary leaves: [Two leaves before title—the first page bears the signature A j, on the third printed longitudinally begins T. Graahop's Howe to take profite . . . which ends on the second page, the fourth page contains Of the incomparable treasure . . . ; titleleaf; (no Epistle;—so Lea Wilson.) Address—1 p., Proper Lessons etc.—4 pp., Almanack—1 p., Kalender—6 ff.; Prayer Book (with Psalter)—48 ff. Text: O. T., ff. 1 to 378 b; Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 78 b; N. T., with titleleaf, The summe . . . —1 f., Certaine questions . . . —8 pp., list of books—1 p., text—ff. 1 to 121 b, 1 f. blank. Concordances (with A perfect Supputation . . . dated 1580) end on V 8 a, with colophon, verso blank.

Signatures: A^a ¶¶^a, A-F^a, A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa^a, Aaa-Iii^a Kkk^a, *^a, Aaaa-Oooo^a Pppp^a, A-C^a D-V^a; 790 ff. Double columns, with 70 lines to the full column.

Title-border as before. The N. T. title has a double (instead of a single) ornament above the imprint. The Prayer Book Psalter has a separate title, as in edition A of 1579. The device Tigre Reo . . . does not occur after Malachi. The royal arms (above the colophon) show a dragon and a lion. The first page of the Preface to the Concordances has a headpiece, and an initial letter representing the Plague of Frogs.

¶ 211 × 152 mm. Imperfect: wanting apparently five leaves at the beginning. It has a double leaf before the title, containing Howe to take profite . . . (with Barker's imprint).

With Metrical Psalms (1580).

Contemporary binding, with brass plates and corners.

Signatures: a^a B^a, A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a, Aaa-Ggg^a Hhh^a; 444 ff. Leaves numbered from A 1 to end of text.

No cut on titlepage, or before Revelation. Headpiece and vignette on the page containing colophon (Hhh 4 a).

¶ 156 × 98 mm. The title has been mounted. A blank leaf appears to be wanting before the title, since the first leaf of the Epistle is signed a iii.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

Printed by C. Barker, about the same date.

Fry states in a MS. note that he was unable to identify this edition. It agrees closely with that described above; yet small typographical differences throughout prove it to be quite distinct. The text begins on fo. 1 (A 1), instead of on fo. 2 (A 2); the type, however, is so arranged that before long this difference disappears, and from fo. 17 (C 1) onwards the two editions read together page for page.

DESCRIPTION. Probably sixteen preliminary leaves, arranged as in the above edition, except that the titleleaf would be a1. The text, ff. 1 to 408 b; the table—24 ff., followed probably by 1 f. (Hhh 4) containing colophon on recto, verso blank.

Ornament dated 1576 after the Address; vignette with initials C B after The Printer . . .

¶ 150 × 95 mm. Imperfect: wanting apparently six leaves—the title and four following leaves, and one leaf at the end. Duplicates of ff. 115 and 118 are inserted. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

Imperfect: wanting all before F 3, and other leaves. Unbound. [F. F.]

Geneva version.

Contains Job, Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes and the Song of Solomon.

DESCRIPTION. [Eight] preliminary leaves: [1 f. blank,] title, on verso The Contents, The Printer to the Reader—1 f., The Prayer of Manasseh, King of the Iewes—1 f., A Table for the order of the Psalmes—1 f., The Second Table concerning the chiefe pointes of our religion, containyd in the Psalmes—3 ff. Text, A 1 to Ee 7 b; 1 f., containing on recto a cut (coat of arms) and colophon, verso blank.

Signatures: ¶^a, A-Z^a Aa-Ee^a; 232 ff.

In the Psalter, the morning and evening divisions of the Prayer Book version are noted throughout.

The first word of the title is within a small frame, and one of Barker's devices occurs above the imprint.

¶ 117 × 70 mm. Imperfect: wanting sheets H and K; a blank leaf also seems to be wanting before the title. [F. F.]

4°. 33. 1.

Geneva version.

This closely resembles edition A of 1580, which became a favourite type for reprinting. The text ends on fo. 554 (really 552); and the tables on M 4.

Apparently the first sheet has only two leaves, the leaf before the title and that containing the Epistle being omitted in this edition. Fry compared five copies, which all agreed; and the quarto of 1582 and subsequent editions seem to have only two leaves in this sheet.

¶ 223 × 161 mm. Imperfect: wanting the first leaf of Prayer Book, in place of which is inserted a leaf from another edition.

With Metrical Psalms (1581).

Seventeenth-century binding.

Geneva version.

Sometimes described as the first octavo edition of the Geneva Bible; but see above, Nos. 111 and 122.

DESCRIPTION. Two preliminary leaves: title, verso blank, To the diligent and Christian Reader . . . —1 p., list of books—1 p. Text: O. T. and Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 418 b; A perfitte supputation . . . (1581)—1 f. (not included in the foliation); N. T. ends on fo. 520 a, on verso The order of the yerres . . . ; tables—18 ff., ending on Xxx 8 b with Barker's device.

Signatures: A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa-Xxx^a; 586 ff.

The titlepage resembles that in the edition of 1577. From Barker's small device, where it occurs, the date 1576 is now omitted; and the initials C B disappear from the vignette at the end of Revelation.

Geneva version; Tomson's revision.

DESCRIPTION. Seventeen preliminary leaves: title, verso blank, Epistle—7 ff., Address—13 pp., The Printer to the diligent Reader—2 pp., The description . . . —1 p., the Map—1 p., The order of the bookes . . . —1 p. The text, ff. 2 to 403 b; the table—24 ff., 1 f. containing the colophon on recto, verso blank.

Signatures, etc. as in Nos. 125 and 126. The text begins on A 2. The map is smaller.

8°. 32. 1/2.

Bishops' version.

This generally resembles the editions of 1579 and 1581. A copy of the former is in the John Rylands Library (cf. R. Lovett, The English Bible . . . , p. 228); the latter is described by Lea Wilson (No. 45, p. 196).

DESCRIPTION. Sixteen preliminary leaves: title (within border), verso blank, Kalendar (giving the hours of sunrise and sunset each month)—6 ff., An Almanacke for xxvi. yeeres (1578–1603), verso blank, A Preface into the newe Testament—2 ff., The pith or contentes of the newe Testament . . . —7 pp., By the bookes of y^e new Testament . . . —2 pp., A true and perfect reckoning and An exhortation . . . —2 pp., The order of the bookes . . . —1 p. Text, A 1 to Qq 8 b. [Probably the O. T. Epistles and the Table of Epistles and Gospels should follow, as in the similar editions of 1579 and 1581.]

Signatures: [unsigned]^a *^a, A–Z^a Aa–Qq^a, [Rr^a]; 332 ff. Leaves not numbered. A full page contains 44 or 45 lines; with verse-divisions. Lives of the Evangelists and Arguments, chapter-contentes, and notices of Epistles and Gospels, in italics. Headlines, notes at the end of chapters, interpolations, marginal references, etc., in roman type.

Acts ends on Z 7 a, and is followed on the next page by The order of times.

¶ 140 × 88 mm. Imperfect: wanting the first leaf of Kalendar, and probably four leaves after the text. The title is mounted. [F. F.]

The editio princeps of the Roman Catholic version of the New Testament in English. Translated from the Vulgate by Gregory Martin, under the supervision of William Allen (afterwards Cardinal Allen), and of Richard Bristow.

The translation adheres very closely to the Latin, though it shows traces of careful comparison with the Greek. But its groundwork was practically supplied by the existing English versions, from which Martin did not hesitate to borrow freely. In particular there are many striking resemblances between Martin's renderings and those in Coverdale's diglot of 1588. Martin's own style is often disfigured by latinisms.

This Rheims New Testament exerted a very considerable influence on the version of 1611, transmitting to it not only an extensive vocabulary, but also numerous distinctive phrases and turns of expression. (See J. G. Carleton's exhaustive analysis, The Part of Rheims in the making of the English Bible, Oxford, 1902.)

Allen was the first President, and Bristow was Moderator (or Prefect of studies) of the English Roman Catholic College, established in 1568 in connection with the University of Douai, and removed temporarily to Rheims, 1578-93. Martin was one of the original scholars of St. John's College, Oxford, and is described in Wood's Athenæ Oxonienses as follows: 'He was a most excellent linguist, exactly read and vers'd in the Sacred Scriptures, and went beyond all of his time in humane literature, whether in poetry or prose.' In 1570 he joined the College at Douai, and became Lecturer in Hebrew and Holy Scripture. He died at Rheims, in October, 1582.

The translation was essentially Martin's work. The keenly controversial matter which accompanies the text is ascribed to Bristow. The Censure and Approbation is signed by four ecclesiastics of Rheims: Petrus Remigius, Hubertus Morus, Ioannes le Besgue, and Gulielmus Balbus. The Preface criticises certain renderings of the English Bibles, mentioning some editions by their dates.

For the English Roman Catholic Versions as a whole, see Cotton's Rhemes and Doway (Oxford, 1855).

DESCRIPTION. Fifteen preliminary leaves: title (within narrow frame), on verso The Censure and Approbation, The Preface to the Reader . . . —11 ff., The Signification or Meaning of the Nvmbres and Markes vsed in this Nevv Testament—1 p., The Bookes of the Nevv Testament, according to the counte of the Catholike Church . . . etc.—8 pp., The Summe of the New Testament—2 pp. (numbered 1 and 2). Text, pp. 3 to 745; A Table of the Epistles and Gospels, after the Romane Vse . . ., An ample and particular Table directing the reader to al Catholike trvthes . . ., The Explication of certaine vvordes in this translation . . ., and The faultes correcte thus . . . —27 pp., ending on Eeeee ij b with the words Lavs Deo.

Signatures: a-c' d², A-Z' Aa-Zz' Aaa-Zzz' Aaaa-Zzzz' Aaaaa-Ddddd' Eeeee²; 400 ff. The pages are numbered from A l a to Bbbbb l a, the end of the text. The Annotations are placed at the end of each chapter, the shorter notes etc. in the outside margins, the references in the inside margins. The text is in paragraphs, with the verse-numbers on the inner side. Contents precede each chapter, and Arguments appear before most of the books. After St. John's Gospel is The summe, and the order of the Evangelical historie . . . (pp. 281 to 285): and after Acts The summe of the Actes of the Apostles . . . (pp. 374 to 376).

The list of words in the Explication at the end of the volume includes many which are now established in familiar use; e.g., acquisition, advent, calumniate, character, evangelise, resuscitate, victims.

No illustrations; but many vignettes, initial letters, etc.

(with map), text—ff. 1 to 187 (Z 6) b; tables—9 ff., A perfitte Supputation . . . (1582) with colophon—1 f.

Signatures: A–C^o D^o, A–Z^o Aa–Zz^o Aaaa–Vvvv^o, A–Z^o, *^o *^o *^o; 704 ff.

Job ends on fo. 262 a, verso blank, and is followed by a separate title to the Psalter (within border), verso blank. Malachi ends on fo. 437 b, and is followed by 1 f. blank, and a title to the Apocrypha (within border), verso blank; these two leaves are omitted from the foliation, although the Psalter title is included in the numbering of the leaves.

The general title-border: at the top—the Sacred Name surrounded by clouds whence issues a hand holding a book inscribed Verbum Dei Manet In Aeternū; at the sides—a Tudor rose and fleur-de-lys and the initials E R; and below—a tablet containing a text. The N. T. title has the same border. For the Psalter and Apocrypha titles a border is used like that found in many of Barker's Bibles: at the top—the royal arms supported by two female figures, one carrying a sword and balances, and the other holding a book and a sprig of heartsease. The full-page engraving represents Adam and Eve in Eden; within a frame. A cut of the royal arms occurs at the end of Malachi and above the colophon.

Bishops' version.

The immediate object of this edition, and of the larger folio Bible of the year after, is set forth in the following extract from a letter of Archbishop Whitgift to Bishop Wickham of Lincoln, dated 16 July 1587 (Cardwell, Documentary Annals, II, pp. 31-2): 'Whereas I am credibly informed that divers, as well parish Churches, as Chapels of Ease, are not sufficiently furnished with Bibles, but some have either none at all, or such as be torn and defaced, and yet not of the translation authorised by the Synods of Bishops: These are therefore to require you strictly in your visitations, or otherwise, to see that all and every the said Churches and Chapels in your diocese be provided of one Bible or more, at your discretion, of the translation allowed as aforesaid, and one book of Common prayer, as by the laws of this realm is appointed. And for the performance thereof, I have caused her Highness's Printer to imprint two volumes of the said translation of the Bible aforesaid, a bigger and a less: the largest for such Parishes as are of ability, and the lesser for Chapels and very small parishes, both which are now extant and ready . . .'

DESCRIPTION. Twenty-four preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within border), verso blank, Kalendar—6 ff., An Almanacke (1580-1611)—1 p., The order howe . . . —1 p., Proper Lessons . . . —1 f., Morning and Evening prayer with the Collectes—11 ff., The whole Scripture . . . —5 pp., A Prayer—1 p., 1 f. containing on verso a full-page engraving. Text: O. T., ff. 1 to 868 b; Apocrypha, with title (within border), verso blank, and on fo. 459 b; N. T., with title (within border), verso blank, The description . . . (with map)—1 p., A Table . . . —1 p., text—ff. 462 to 560 (really 578, Dddd 4) a, with colophon, verso blank.

Signatures: *^a B^a O^a, A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa-Zzz^a Aaaa^a Bbbb^a Cccc^a Dddd^a; 602 ff. Double columns, with 61 lines to the full column. Marginal notes in black-letter; references, chapter-contents, headlines, etc. in roman type. The Psalter has a separate title: The Psalter . . . after the translation of the great Bible, Appointed as it shall be sung or said in Churches . . . 1584 (within border), verso blank.

The border used for the general title, and the titles to the Apocrypha and N. T., contains at the top the royal arms supported by a lion and a dragon; its general design resembles that of the border in the folio of 1575. In the general title the border is touched with red, and contains below the words Cum privilegio. The border to the Psalter title contains at the sides—two female figures, and below—a bull's head, two masks, and two lions. The full-page engraving is that used in the Geneva folio Bible of 1583, but has the greater part of the frame cut away. A cut of the royal arms occurs at the end of Job, and on the last page of text (above the colophon). A large ornament containing the Tudor rose and a crown within a wreath held by two cherubs is found at the end of A Prayer, Malachi, and the Apocrypha.

f°. 35. 1.

Bishops' version.

The only edition after 1572 containing the Psalter of the Bishops' version (see No. 100).

DESCRIPTION. [Eighteen] preliminary leaves: [1 f. blank,] title (in black and red, within border), verso blank, Cranmer's Prologue—2 ff., Genealogical Table—11 pp., An Almanacke (1580–1611)—1 p., Kalendar—6 ff., The whole Scripture . . .—8 pp., 1 p. containing a large engraving. (A blank leaf probably should precede the title, since the first leaf of the Prologue is signed A iii.) Text: O. T. and Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 536 a, verso blank; N. T., with title (within border), on verso A preface . . ., The Description . . . (with map)—1 p., A Table . . .—1 p., text—ff. 3 to 137 (Z 5) a, on verso the colophon, 1 f. blank.

Signatures: A¹ B¹ C¹ ¶¶¹, A–Z¹ Aa–Zz¹ Aaa–Zzz¹ Aaaa–Tttt¹ Vvvv¹, A–Z²; 692 ff.

The Psalter has a separate title (within border), with a list of the books from Psalms to Malachi; on verso is the Prologue of St. Basil. Another separate title (within border) occurs before the Apocrypha.

The general title-border is like that used in the folio Geneva Bible of 1583; and the same border is used for the titles before the Psalter and the N. T. The border to the Apocrypha title resembles the corresponding border in the Geneva Bible of 1583. The full-page engraving is like that in the same Bible. A cut of the royal arms occurs above the colophon, and elsewhere.

¶ 409 × 269 mm. Apparently a blank leaf is wanting before the title, and another at the end of the book.

1585 ? (The New Testament.)

[C. Barker : London. 1585 ?] 16°.

Geneva version ; Tomson's revision.

A reprint of the 16° edition of 1578.

The date is not known ; but the Almanack begins with 1585. No doubt printed by C. Barker.

DESCRIPTION. Apparently eight preliminary leaves : [titleleaf], Kalendar—6 ff., An Almanacke for xxiii. yeeres (1585-1607)—1 p., The order of the Bookes . . . —1 p. Text, A 1 to li 8 b. [There is nothing to show that a table followed ; no catchword on the last page.]

Signatures : * , A-Z Aa-Ii* ; 264 ff. This is rather more closely printed than the edition of 1578, and so contains fewer leaves.

¶ 97 × 62 mm. Imperfect : wanting title and following leaf, and a few leaves of text.

4°. 33. 1.

Geneva version.

Apparently only two preliminary leaves : title, on verso Of the incomparable treasure . . . , Address—1 p., Howe to take profite . . . —1 p. In other respects this is a reprint of the edition of 1581. The text ends on fo. 554 (really 552) ; and the tables on M 4.

¶ 210 × 158 mm.

With Metrical Psalms (1584) ; and Speed's Genealogies and Map (1638).

On yellow paper.

Geneva version ; Tomson's revision.

DESCRIPTION. Eight preliminary leaves : title (within border), verso blank, Epistle—11 pp., The Printer to the diligent Reader—1 p., The order of the bookes . . . —1 p., The Description . . . (with map)—1 p. Text, ff. 1 to 403 b ; the table—49 pp., ending on Hhh 4 a, on verso colophon : Imprinted at London by Christopher Barker, Printer to the Queenes most Excellent Maiestie. Cum priuilegio Regie Maiestatis. 1586.

Signatures : a*, A-Z* Aa-Zz* Aaa-Ggg* Hhh* ; 486 ff.

The title-border resembles that used in the octavo Testament printed by T. Vautroullier in 1575.

¶ 155 × 96 mm. Wants title, which is supplied in facsimile from the B. M. copy.

Geneva version ; Tomson's revision.

DESCRIPTION. One preliminary leaf: title, on verso The order and names of the Bookes . . . Text, A 2 to Dd 7 b; 1 f., containing on recto the colophon: Imprinted at London by Christopher Barker, Printer to the Queenes most excellent Maiestie. 1586. [In spite of the mention of a table on the titleleaf, it was probably omitted, as the last page of text bears no catchword.]

Signatures: A-Z^a Aa-Dd^a; 216 ff. The printed page is somewhat longer than in the two previous 16° editions of 1578 and 1585 (?).

The first word of the title is within a narrow frame; above the imprint is an ornament which is repeated after the colophon on Dd 8 a.

¶ 118 × 70 mm.

Geneva version; with Tomson's revised New Testament.

The earliest complete Bible which contains this revised New Testament. After this date the quarto Geneva Bibles printed in roman type as a rule contain Tomson's revision, while the black-letter quartos give the older version.

DESCRIPTION. [Four] preliminary leaves: [1 f. blank,] title, verso blank, Address—1 p., Of the incomparable treasure . . . —1 p., Howe to take profite . . . —1 p., list of books—1 p. [A leaf—probably blank—is required before the title, since the leaf after the title is signed ¶ iii.] Text: O. T. (1) Genesis—Job, ff. 1 to 190 a, verso blank; (2) Psalms—Malachi, with title, verso blank, text—ff. 2 to 127 a, verso blank, 1 f. blank; Apocrypha, ff. 129 to 197 b, 1 f. blank; N. T., with title: The Newe Testament . . . translated out of Greeke by Theod. Beza. Wherevnto are adioyned briefe summaries . . . and . . . expositions . . . Englished by L. Tomson . . ., verso blank, The Printer to the diligent Reader—1 p., The description . . . (with map)—1 p., text—ff. 3 to 116 b; tables—11 ff., ending on ¶¶ iij b, with colophon; 1 f. blank.

Signatures: ¶ⁱ, A-Z^a &^a, Aa-Zz^a &&^a * *^a, Aaa-Ooo^a Ppp^a, ¶ⁱ ¶¶ⁱ; 520 ff.

The general titlepage bears a headpiece and a small cut of the crossing of the Red Sea. The pt. 2 and N. T. titlepages have the same headpiece with an ornament below.

¶ 217 × 160 mm. Wants the blank leaf before title, and that at the end. Covers stamped with the royal arms.

1587. (The Bible.)

[C. Barker: London. 1587.] 8°.

Geneva version.

A perfile supputation gives the date 1587. No doubt C. Barker was the printer.

This closely resembles an edition dated 1586, a copy of which is in the B. M. (335. a. 7). It corresponds generally to the former octavo editions, but differs in some points. A small cut of Adam and Eve stands at the beginning of Genesis. O. T. ends on fo. 806 (really 808, since the numbers 253, 254 are repeated) b; Apocrypha end on fo. 379 (really 381) b, followed by a leaf containing A perfile supputation . . . (1587); N. T. ends on fo. 479 (really 481) a, with The order of the yerres . . . on verso; the tables—23 pp., ending on Qqq 8 a, verso blank.

Signatures: A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa-Qqq^a; 496 ff.

¶ 155 × 108 mm. Imperfect: wanting the title. With Metrical Psalms (1586).

1588. The Bible . . . With . . . Annotations . . . And . . . Concordances . . . Imprinted at London by the | Deputies of Christopher Barker . . . 1588 . . .

4°. 33. 1/2.

Geneva version.

A reprint of the quarto of 1586. The text ends on fo. 554 (really 552); but the table on L 2 (instead of M 4, as formerly).

¶ 214 × 157 mm. Imperfect: wanting the tables.

f°. 33. 1/2.

Bishops' version.

DESCRIPTION. Twelve preliminary leaves: title (in black and red, within border), verso blank, Prologue (in roman type)—5 pp., An Almanacke (1580-1611)—1 p., Kalendar—6 ff., The whole Scripture . . .—3 pp., 1 p. containing a large engraving. Text, with continuous register and foliation, ff. 1 to 562 a, with colophon, verso blank.

Signatures: A* B*, A-Z* Aa-Zz* Aaa-Zzz* Aaaa-Zzzz* Aaaaa* Bbbbbb*; 574 ff.

There are no separate titles before the Psalter or the Apocrypha.

The general title-border is like that in the folio edition of 1585. The N.T. title has the border used for the Apocrypha title in that edition, but two blocks have been quaintly misplaced. The engraving before the text is also the same. The cut of the royal arms occurs at the end of Job.

¶ 370 × 251 mm.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

382 × 252 mm. Imperfect: wanting the Prologue, Almanack, and Kalendar. Original binding, with brass corners.

4°. 33. 1/2.

Geneva version.

A close reprint of the quarto of 1588. The text ends on fo. 554 (really 552); and the tables on L 2.

There are three editions of this year, which while closely agreeing are yet distinct.

A.

As a test passage we may take a sentence from Certaines questions and answers . . ., * iii b, 2nd col.: Yea verily: that by sight, taste & feeling, | as wel as by hearing, we might be instruc- | ted, assured, and brought to obedience.

Bishops' version and Rheims New Testament in parallel columns.

The title given in full above, and the description below, sufficiently indicate the nature of this book. It was the first systematic and comprehensive attempt to refute the arguments and accusations contained in the Rheims New Testament of 1582. Many partial replies had been already published by T. Bilson, G. Wither, E. Bulkeley, and others, including W. Fulke himself.

Fulke (1538-89) became Master of Pembroke College, Cambridge, in 1578. He states in his Dedication to Queen Elizabeth that he was induced to bring forth his work owing to the delay in the publication of the longer studied Commentaries of others. No doubt he refers chiefly to Thomas Cartwright, whose work, undertaken at the suggestion of Walsingham, did not appear till 1618. Fulke was also the author of A Defense of the sincere and true Translations of the holie Scriptures into the English tong, against the manifolde cauils, frivolous quarels, and impudent slaunders of Gregorie Martin, one of the readers of Popish diuinitie in the trayterous Seminarie of Rhemes . . . (1588), a copy of which is in this Library.

This 'counterblast' to Martin, by printing the Rheims Testament in full, side by side with the Bishops' version, secured for the former a publicity which it would not otherwise have obtained, and was indirectly responsible for the marked influence which Rheims exerted on the Bible of 1611. It was reprinted in 1601, 1617 and 1638.

Arber (Transcript, vol. ii, pp. 39, 40) prints a document (c. 1620), which shows that the printer G. Bishop, who defrayed Fulke's expenses during its production, owned the copyright till his death in 1610.

DESCRIPTION. Twenty-three preliminary leaves: Title (within border), verso blank, Dedication: To the most high and mightie prince Elisabeth, by the grace of God, Queene of England, Fraunce, and Ireland, Defender of the faith, &c. (signed: Your Maiesties most humble subiect William Fulke)—8 pp., The signification or meaning of the nvmbers and markes vsed in the New Testament of the Rhemes translation—1 p., The Explication of certaine vvordes . . .—1 p., 1 p. containing three quotations in Latin and English (one from Ps. 118, the other two from St. Augustine); The Preface to the Reader, ending with the list of books, etc. (with Confutations)—19 ff. Text, ff. 1 to 496 a; A Table of Controversies—10 pp., ending on XXX 4 a, verso blank.

Signatures: *⁴, A-Y⁴ Aa-Yy⁴ Aaa-Yyy⁴ Aaaa-Vvvv⁴ Xxxx⁴; 524 ff.

The text of the Rheims New Testament and the Bishops' version are printed in parallel columns, the former in roman type on the left, the latter in italics on the right side of each page; both are divided into verses. All the Arguments, marginal notes, and other annotations of the Rhemish New Testament of 1582 are reprinted, interspersed with the Confutations; the origin of each paragraph being indicated in the margin,—Rhem. 1 being followed by Fulke 1, and so on.

The title-border is like that used in the quarto edition of the Geneva New Testament (Tomson's revision) printed in 1583.

Geneva version.

Apparently the earliest edition of the English Bible printed at Cambridge.

DESCRIPTION. Title (within border), verso blank, Address—1 p., list of books—1 p. Text: O. T., A 8 to Pp 5 b; Apocrypha, Pp 6 to Aaa 4 b; A perfitte supputation . . . (1591)—1 f.; N. T., Aaa 6 to Nnn 6 b; The order of the yeeves . . . —1 p., the tables—28 pp., ending on Ppp 2 b.

Signatures: A-Z^a Aa-ZZ^a Aaa-Ooo^a Ppp^a; 482 ff. Leaves not numbered. Double columns. Subject-headings and titles of books in headlines printed in capitals.

The title-border contains 'at the top the royal arms; on each side, in small ovals, the crest and paternal coat of the Earl of Leicester; and at foot, in two small esutoheons, the other quarterings borne by him' (so Lea Wilson, p. 87); date on tablet at base.

¶ 164 × 102 mm. Imperfect: wanting the first three leaves; also A 6 and 7, and all the Apocrypha. Title supplied in facsimile.

With Metrical Psalms (1591?).

In seventeenth-century binding.

[F. F.]

Cotton mentions only one copy of this edition, viz. Lee Wilson's, which is now in the B. M. Another copy is mentioned on p. 82 of Katalog over Bibel-Udstillingen afholdt den 20. og 21 April 1901 (Den norske Bogtrykkerforening, Kristiania, 1901).

Bishops' version.

Closely resembles the folio edition of 1588; with the same preliminary matter, though arranged in a different order:—title, verso blank, Prologue—5 pp., The whole Scripture . . . —3 pp., Almanack—1 p., Kalendar—12 pp., 1 p. containing large engraving. Text as before, ff. 1 to 563 (Bbbbb 4) a, with colophon, verso blank.

Two title-borders as in the edition of 1588, but the blocks in the N. T. title-border are here correctly arranged. The large engraving is touched with red. Another ornament has displaced the royal arms after Job.

¶ 878 × 251 mm. Imperfect: wanting six preliminary leaves containing Almanack and Jan.—Nov. in the Kalendar. [F. F.]

1592, 91. f°. 23. 1/2.

Geneva version; with Tomson's revised New Testament.

The N. T. title is dated 1591, but the colophon 1592.

DESCRIPTION. Four preliminary leaves: title (within border), verso blank, To the Christian Reader—1 f., Of the incomparable treasvre . . . —1 p., Howe to take profite . . . —1 p., list of books—1 p., 1 p. containing large engraving. Text: O. T., ff. 1 to 896 (really 890) a, verso blank; Apocrypha end on fo. 486 (really 480) b; N. T., with title: The Newe Testament . . . translated out of Greeke by Theod. Beza. Wherevnto are adioined briefe summaries . . . And . . . expositions . . . Englished by L. Tomson . . . (within border), verso blank, The Printer to the diligent Reader—1 p., The Description . . . (with map)—1 p., text ends on fo. 626 (really 620, Mmmmm 2) b; tables—8 ff., ending on Nnnnn 4 b, with colophon.

Signatures: A⁴, A-Z⁴ Aa-Zz⁴ Aaa-Zzz⁴ Aaaa-Zzzz⁴ Aaaaa-Mmmmm⁴ Nnnnn⁴; 632 ff. The foliation is incorrect; the numbers 121-126 are omitted. Double columns, with 60 lines to the full column.

Four lines of text are omitted at the beginning of K 6 (numbered 61) a. In some copies this mistake is corrected.

The border to the general and N. T. titles is like that in Barker's folio edition of the Bishops' Bible, 1584. In the lower part of the border to the general title are printed the words Cum priuilegio; in the corresponding space in the N. T. title-border appears the date Anno Dom. 1591. The full-page engraving is the same as in the folio Bishops' Bible of 1584. Before the Psalter is placed a separate title: This Second Part of the Bible . . . Psalmes . . . Malachi, within the border used in the quarto edition of Tomson's N. T. printed in 1588.

¶ 975 × 184 mm.

Geneva version; Tomson's revision.

The smallest edition of this version.

Identical, except for the title, with an undated edition printed by John Legate of Cambridge, which Lea Wilson (p. 199) calls 48° and ascribes to 1590, while Cotton (p. 49) calls it 24° and ascribes it to 1589. The B. M. copy (C. 48. a. 4) of Legate's edition is described as 32°, and placed under the date 1590.

DESCRIPTION. One preliminary leaf: title, verso blank. Text, A 2 to Tt 8 b.

1594. The Revelation | of Saint Iohn the Apostle | and Evangelist, vvith a | briefe and learned Commentarie, | Written by Franc. Iunius, &c.

Richard Field, for Robert Dexter : London. 1594. 4°.

According to a MS. note by N. Pocock, this work was published in Latin in 1589; but Le Long (Bibliotheca Sacra, 1728 ed., p. 810) gives the date 1591. It was translated into English in 1592. The rendering of the text differs widely from the current English versions.

Francoiscus Junius (1545–1602), in French François du Jon, Huguenot divine, is best known as the joint author with Emmanuel Tremellius of a Latin version of the Old Testament first published in 1579.

This work was, no doubt, intended to accompany quarto editions of the Geneva Bible (see two copies below); but it was produced as an independent publication.

It supplanted the normal version of Revelation in some editions of the Geneva New Testament (Tomson's revision). See below, No. 207 (1602).

DESCRIPTION. Apparently no titleleaf. The text begins (after the title given above) on p. 1, and ends with the words To God onely be honour and glorie on p. 22; one leaf, bearing on recto a printer's device with the initials RD and the legend Devs imperat astris, and the colophon: Imprinted at London by Richard Field for Robert Dexter, dwelling in Paules Church-yard at the signe of the Brassen serpent. 1594.

Geneva version; with Tomson's revised New Testament, but with Junius' Revelation.

This is in most respects a reprint of the previous quarto Geneva Bibles in roman type. But the titlepages are new, and Junius' Revelation here displaces Tomson's version of that book.

The Metrical Psalms (n.d.), which are almost invariably found in copies of the Bible dated 1599, may perhaps be considered an essential part of the book, though they have a separate title and distinct register; no imprint is given.

DESCRIPTION. Four preliminary leaves: first title (within border), verso blank; second title (with cut), verso blank, Address—1 p., Of the incomparable treasure . . .—1 p., How to take profits . . .—1 p., list of books—1 p. Text: O. T. (1) Genesis—Job, ff. 1 to 190 a, verso blank; (2) Psalms—Malachi, with title, verso blank, text, ff. 2 to 127 a, verso blank, 1 f. blank; [Apocrypha (apparently omitted);] (4) N. T., with title (within border), verso blank, The Printer to the diligent Reader—1 p., The description . . . (with map)—1 p., text—ff. 3 to 121 a, verso blank; tables—11 ff., ending on Rrr 4 b, with colophon.

Signatures: ¶^a, A—Z^a &^a, Aa—Qq^a, Aaa—Qqq^a Rrr^a; 454 ff.

The section containing the Apocrypha, though included in the list of books, was apparently omitted from all except a few copies. These Bibles were printed probably for English use in the Low Countries.

A note The Order of Time precedes Revelation.

The woodcut border to the first general title is a frame having twenty-four small compartments, showing on the left—the tents of the twelve tribes; on the right—figures of the twelve Apostles; the inner part exhibits the four Evangelists, with the symbols of the Dove and the Agnus Dei, and a lamp, and two open books inscribed Verbum Dei Manet in Aeternum; the letterpress of the title is enclosed within a heart-shaped frame in the centre; at the base of the cut is a line of music. The same border is used for the N. T. title. The second general titlepage bears a cut of the crossing of the Red Sea. And the title to pt. 2 has a headpiece.

There are many editions bearing this date, which while agreeing closely are yet distinct. No doubt a certain number of copies were originally issued in a mixed state. The nominal date, 1599, is probably untrue in almost every case. See note ad fin.

The phenomena of the various editions described under the year 1599, and the very similar edition of 1638, constitute one of the most curious problems in the bibliography of the English Bible. See Lea Wilson, pp. 90–2. N. Pocock investigated the matter with great care, and published the results of his research in the Bibliographer, vol. iii. The following notes are based chiefly on his article.

A. Lea Wilson's No. 6 of this series.

Esther i. 1: . . . seven and twen- | ty provinces).

This, according to Pocock, is probably the earliest of these editions, as it abounds more than any others in gross errors: e.g. Song of Solomon v. 3, defile for put; Isaiah xxx. 32, beards for harps, xxxvi. 12, thing for dung; Matt. xxiv. 50, line repeated.

Perhaps printed at Amsterdam about 1599.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

B. Lea Wilson's No. 5 of this series.

Esther i. 1: . . . seven and twen- | ty provinces).

Apparently printed from A at a somewhat later date. Many of the errors are corrected, e.g. S. of S. v. 3, Isa. xxxvi. 12, and Matt. xxiv. 50. Headline Ee 3 b, Proverbs.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

C. Lea Wilson's No. 1 of this series.

Esther i. 1: . . . seven and twenty provinces.).

Probably printed after B, and generally more correct, e.g. in Isa. xxx. 32. Nearly all the marginal notes are in roman type.

A, B, and C all omit a line in Eccles. iv. 9: Two are better [than one: for they have better] wages for their labour.

¶ 230 × 170 mm.
With Metrical Psalms (n. d.).

[F. F.]
190.

These three editions—marked A, B, and C—closely resemble one another in arrangement of type; and also in their peculiar spelling (e.g. confusion of d, t, and th), and needless insertion of vowels (hoaste for host, etc.). They differ much in these respects from the ordinary English editions. These three and the two following editions were probably printed at Amsterdam for the use of English Puritans in the Low Countries.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

D. Unlike any of Lea Wilson's editions.

As in Lea Wilson's No. 3, the figure 7 is omitted on fo. 7 in the N. T.; that omission, however, may have been accidental, as in the second copy of E, described below. Lea Wilson's No. 3 appears to be a mixed copy; e.g. the title evidently belongs to the so-called 'Dort' edition (see below), and the verse in Esther i is arranged as in his No. 2.

The copy below seems to represent a distinct edition.

Esther i. 1: . . . and seven and twenty provinces.).

N. Pocock considered it to have been printed from A by a compositor who knew enough English to correct a large number of the errors.

This is printed from identically the same setting of type as an edition issued with the date 1638; the latter, however, has a new imprint on the three titlepages and at the end of the book: Imprinted at Amsterdam, for Thomas Crafoorth. By Iohn Frederickss Stam . . . Probably 1633 is the correct date, and copies were issued simultaneously, some with Barker's imprint and the date 1599, others with Stam's imprint dated 1633. Some copies, indeed, bear both imprints and dates. (See No. 364, 1633.)

— ANOTHER EDITION.

E. Lea Wilson's No. 2 of this series.

Esther i. 1: . . . seven and twenty provinces.).

Probably printed after D, which it closely follows. The mistake in Pa. lxxiii. 27, that they for they that, which occurs in A, B, C, and D, is corrected in this edition.

¶ 218 × 164 mm.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

F. Lea Wilson's No. 78 (p. 90).

Easily distinguishable from the other editions; since every page is surrounded, and the columns are separated, by black lines. As in C, the marginal notes are almost entirely in roman type.

Esther i. 1: . . . seven | and twenty provinces.). Ps. lxxiii. 27 is correct.

¶ 227 × 174 mm.

[F. F.]
193.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

G. Sometimes known as the 'Goose Bible,' from the bird in the device with the motto God is my Helper, which appears on the titlepage of the Metrical Psalms. Supposed to have been printed at Dort.

The printed titlepage has a coarser cut of the passage of the Red Sea and an ornament at the top, while the woodcut titlepages omit the imprint and date.

Esther i. 1: souē | and twentie prouinces.).

This edition, which seems more correctly printed than any of the above, adopts generally the spelling of the first Geneva Bible of 1560 (e.g. wil for will, etc.).

Fry possessed four copies of this edition, which, though printed for the most part from the same setting of type, yet differ slightly in certain places. Probably some leaves are reprints. At B 1 a they all exhibit the same sudden enlargement of the type in the chapter contents, and all have Quicunque vult in the headline on A 4 b in the Metrical Psalms.

¶ (i.) The first of Fry's four varieties.

It is remarkable in having a colophon on the last page of tables (beneath an ornament like that used on the printed titlepage): Imprinted at London by the Deputies of Christopher Barker . . . 1599 . . .

'The whole investigation seems to show that these editions of the Geneva-Tomson were published at different times at Amsterdam and Dort, and adopted afterwards by Barker, who affixed the date 1599, probably because this was a well-known and popular edition' (Pocock).

See Appendix for an edition of the N. T. (Geneva version) printed in Hutter's Polyglot N. T. 1599.

The second edition of the Roman Catholic version of the New Testament in English, first published at Rheims in 1582.

A reprint of the earlier edition, with certain changes, such as the addition of A Table of Heretical Corruptions.

A fresh Approbation is appended to that of 1582. It is dated 2 Nov. 1599, and is signed by three Professors at Douai: Guilielmus Estius, Bartholomæus Petrus, and Iudocus Heylens.

DESCRIPTION. Nineteen preliminary leaves, containing the same matter as in the first issue, with the addition of A Table of Heretical Corruptions—3 ff., and The Explication of certaine vvordes . . .—1 f. Text, pp. 3 to 745; followed on the same page by A Table of the Epistles and Gospels . . ., which ends on Bbbbb iij a; A Table of Controversies—28 pp., ending on Eeeee 2 b, with the words Lavs Deo.

Signatures: a-d' e², A-Z¹, etc. as before; 404 ff.

The full title of the new table is: A Table of certaine places of the Nevv Testament corruptly translated in favovr of heresies of these dayes in the English Editions: especially of the yeares 1562. 77. 79. and 80. by order of the Bookes, Chapters, and Verses of the same. It ends with a note: The blessed Confessour, Bishop Tonstal noted no lesse then two thousand corruptions in Tindals translation, in the Nevv Testament only. VVherby, as by these fevv here cited for examples, the indifferent reader may see, hovv vntruly the English Bibles are commended to the people, for the pure vvord of God. The table condemns such renderings as repent for do penance, Congregation for Church, elder for priest, images for idols, etc.

f°.

The second edition of Fulke's work, first published in 1589 (see No. 156).

DESCRIPTION. Twenty-one preliminary leaves: title (within border), verso blank, followed by 20 ff. containing matter similar to that in the former edition. Text, pp. 1 to 914 (really 912); A Table of Controversies—9 pp., ending on Lill 8 a, verso blank.

Signatures: A-Z* Aa-Zz* Aaa-Zzz* Aaaa-Kkkk* Llll*; 482 ff. Two numbers (379 and 380) are omitted in the pagination. The arrangement of the matter is exactly the same as in the first edition.

The title-border: at the top is a lamb bound on an altar, with the legend Possidete animas vestras, and the initials N H and C T; at the bottom is a cup, whence springs a vine, which twines round the columns on either side; this design is dated 1574.

Geneva version.

A reprint of the quarto of 1588. The text ends on fo. 554 (really 552); and the tables on L 2. The border to both titles, however, resembles that used for the first titlepage found in the quarto editions (roman type) dated 1599. But this block differs in many small points: e.g. in place of the musical notes at the base appear the words Cum Privilegio with the initials E R.

1602. The | Holy Bible, | containing . . . Authorised and appointed to be | read in Churches. | Imprinted at London | by Robert Barker . . . Anno

f°. 33. 1/2.

Bishops' version.

The last edition of the Bishops' Bible. Cotton (p. 57) alludes to a folio edition of 1606, of which the Duke of Sussex was supposed to possess a copy. But no such book can now be traced, and no mention of it occurs in the Sale Catalogue of the Sussex Library (1844). It seems probable that the entry in Pettigrew's Bibliotheca Sussexiana (vol. ii. p. 327) was an error, due to some confusion between the preceding entry and the folio Geneva Bible of 1606.
It is moreover unlikely that Barker would print another folio edition, after preparations for a new version—which he himself printed in 1611—had already been begun by royal command.

This edition of the Bishops' Bible was presumably used by King James' translators as the basis of their new version. The Bodleian Library possesses a copy, which contains many
MS. corrections, and has been considered an actual relic of their work. But see Westcott, History, p. 123 n. An article by N. Pocock in the Athenæum, 25 Feb. 1888, pp. 243–5, deals with this Bodleian copy. As to the original MS. of King James' version, see below, No. 240.

DESCRIPTION. Eighteen preliminary leaves: title (within border), verso blank, Kalendar—6 ff., An Almanacks (1601–33)—1 p., Prologue (in black-letter)—6 pp., The whole Scripture . . . —3 pp., Genealogical Table—11 pp., 1 p. containing large engraving. The text, with continuous register and foliation, ff. 1 to 496 (Oooo 4) a, with colophon, verso blank.

Signatures: A-C*, A-Z* Aa-Zz* Aaa-Zzz* Aaaa-Nnnn* Oooo*; 514 ff. Each page of print is enclosed within black lines.

There are two varieties of the general title. Some copies have the title as printed above within a woodcut border (like that subsequently used in the folio edition of King James' Bible, 1611) representing the twelve tribes, the twelve Apostles, etc.; a small ornament is placed above the imprint. Others (e.g. B. M. copy, 339. c. 5) contain a different title: The Holy Bible, conteyning . . . Authorised and appoynted to be read in Churches. Imprinted at London by Robert Barker . . . Anno 1602. Cum privilegio (in black and red), within the border used in the folio Bible of 1595 and earlier editions. The borders to the N. T. and Apocrypha titles are the same as in the folio edition of 1585. The usual large engraving occurs before the text.

¶ 402 × 275 mm. Imperfect: wanting general title, and Apocrypha title. Facsimiles of both varieties of the general title are inserted; the first has a genuine border.

The small cut in the Genealogical Table and the engraving before the text are illuminated. Original binding of brown leather; each cover bears the royal arms etc. within an elaborate frame, with corner ornaments (containing Tudor rose and crown), in gold. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

401 × 262 mm. Imperfect: wanting general title and following leaf. A duplicate of Eee 2 has been inserted by mistake instead of Ccc 2.

206.

1602. The | New Testament | of ovr Lord Iesvs | Christ, Translated out of | Greeke by Theod. Beza : | With briefe Summaries . . . Englished by L. Tomson. | Together with the Annotations of Fr. Junius | vpon the Reuelation of S. | John. | Imprinted at Lon- | don by Robert Barker, | Printer to the Queenes most Ex- | cellent Maiestie. | Anno 1602.

Geneva version; Tomson's revision, but with Junius' Revelation (see above, 1594).

Apparently the earliest issue of the Geneva New Testament in which Junius' Revelation displaces Tomson's version of that book. Nos. 188–194 (q.v.) were probably printed later.

DESCRIPTION. Two preliminary leaves: title (within border), on verso The Printer to the Reader, The Description (with map)—1 p., The order of the Bookes . . . —1 p. Text, ff. 1 to 274 (Mm 2) b.

Signatures: [unsigned]², A-Z* Aa-Ll* Mm*; 276 ff. Before Revelation is placed a table The order of time whereunto the contents of this booke are to be referred (on li 3 a). The border resembles that used in the octavo Geneva Bible of 1601.

1603. The | Bible . . . With . . . anno- | tations . . . And . . . Concordance . . . Imprinted at Lon- | don by Robert Bar- | ker . . . 1603.

4°. 33. 1/2.

Geneva version.

This edition, though both titles and colophon bear the words Printer to the Queenes . . . Maiestie, must have been published after King James I's accession; otherwise it would be dated 1602, since the year began on 25 March.

A close reprint of the edition of 1602. The text ends on fo. 554 (really 552); and the tables on L 2. The leaf after the general title is signed ¶ iij, though there appear to be only two preliminary leaves. So in some later editions.

¶ 217 × 155 mm.

1603. The | Bible: | that is . . . With . . . Annotations . . . Imprinted At
Lon- | don by Robert Barker . . . Anno. | 1603.

Geneva version; with Tomson's revised New Testament, and Junius' Revelation.

Printer to the Queenes . . . Maiestie on titles, but . . . Kings . . . Maiestie in colophon.

This agrees generally with the quarto editions in roman type described under the date 1599.

The N. T. ends on fo. 121 a; and the tables on Rrr 4 b. Malachi ends on fo. 117 (really 127, Qq 7) a, verso blank; Apocrypha, ff. 128 (Qq 8) to 187 (really 196, * * 4) b.

Signatures of the section containing Psalms-2 Mac.: Aa-Zz* &&* * *; 196 ff.

Fry specifies two varieties of this date.

A. On * * 4 b: The end of the Apocrypha (in italics). The headpiece (with head in centre) on the pt. 2 titlepage is the same as that in the edition of 1601. A note The Order of Time (on Ooo 6 b) precedes Revelation.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

B. On * * 4 b: The end of the Apocrypha (roman type). The headpiece on pt. 2 titlepage represents a vase with flowers. Ooo 6 b contains part of the preface I have not thought good . . ., though the next page begins with Junius' Revelation.

¶ 208 × 150 mm. Possibly to some extent a mixed copy. Wants the leaf before the title.

DESCRIPTION. Title and following leaf as in the edition of 1601. O. T. ends on fo. 287 b; Apocrypha, ff. 290 (really 288) to 355 a, followed on the same page by A perfit supputa- tion . . . (1608), which ends on verso; N. T., with title: The | New Testa- | ment . . . Im- printed at London by | Robert Barker, | Printer to the Kings most | excellent Maiestie. | Anno 1603 (within same border as general title), verso blank, text—ff. 357 to 449 b; The Order Of The Yeeres . . .—1 f., tables—12 ff., ending on Mmm 8 b.

Signatures, &c., as before; 464 ff.

There are two octavo editions of this date.

A. General title, as above; N. T. title: . . . Printer to the Kings . . . Maiestie.

¶ 164 × 102 mm.

With Metrical Psalms (1604).

Original binding, stamped with the royal arms; with brass corners and clasps; goffered edges.

Geneva version; Tomson's revision.

This edition, printed apparently for use in Scotland, closely resembles the London editions described above under the date 1596 (?), Nos. 179 and 180.

DESCRIPTION. Eight preliminary leaves: title (within narrow frame, with cut), verso blank, Epistle—5 ff., The Printer to diligent Reader—1 l., A prayer for the King and Queenes Majestie of Scotland—1 p., The Order of the Bookes . . .—1 p. The text, ff. 1 to 286 (Ll 2) a, verso blank; table (three columns on a page)—13 ff., ending on Mm 7 b; 1 f. blank.

Signatures: *, A-Z^a Aa-Mm^a; 288 ff.

The headlines are not printed in capitals as in the corresponding London editions.

Title enclosed within a narrow ornamental frame. The cut represents Faith trampling upon Death. The initial T before St. Matthew contains a dog.

The editio princeps of the Roman Catholic version of the Old Testament in English.

This version of the Old Testament was based on the same lines, and came from the same hands, as the Rheims New Testament of 1582 (q.v.). The complete work is commonly known as the 'Douai-Rheims version,' or briefly the 'Douai Bible.'

The Preface to the Rheims New Testament speaks of the holy Bible long since translated by vs into English, and the old Testament lying by vs for lacke of good meanes to publish the vhole in such sort as a vvorke of so great charge and import-ance requireth. Twenty-seven years later the Preface to this Old Testament expressly ascribes the long delay in its publication to one general cause, our poore estate in banishment. After referring to those that translated it about thirtie years since (clearly Martin and his coadjutors), the editor explains only one thing we haue donne touching the text, whereof we are especially to geue notice . . . we haue againe conferred this English translation, and conformed it to the most perfect Latin Edition, i.e. the authorised recension of the Vulgate published under the authority of Clement VIII in 1592. Cardinal Allen (1582-94) had assisted in this revision of the Latin text.

The annotations (which are far less copious than in the New Testament, and also less vehement) and the tables, etc. are ascribed to Thomas Worthington, who became President of the College at Douai in 1599.

The Approbatio is signed by three Professors at Douai: Guilielmus Estius, Bartholomæus Petrus, and Georgius Colvenerius; and the Censura trium Theologorum Anglorum, extra collegium commorantium by Ioannes Wrightus, Matthæus Kellisonus, and Guilielmus Harisonus. The Preface criticises certain renderings of current English Bibles, mentioning the editions of 1552, 1577, 1579, and 1603.

Geneva version; with Tomson's revised New Testament, and Junius' Revelation.

The second edition printed in Scotland. Lee (Memorial, p. 58, and Additional Memorial, p. 69) mentions an edition of the Bible (Geneva version) printed at Dort in 1601 for Hart and the heirs of Henry Charteris. And certainly two editions of the New Testament were printed at Dort at that period for use in Scotland (cf. No. 213).

A revision of the Geneva Bible had been proposed in the Assembly at Burntisland, May, 1601; but evidently the project came to nothing (Lee, Memorial, p. 60 n.). The provincial assemblies appear to have ordered every kirk to be provided with a copy of Hart's Bible. Lee (p. 56) cites the following minute from the records of the diocesan synod of St. Andrew's, April, 1611: 'Forasmuch as it was thought expedient that there be in every kirk ane commonne Bible, it was concludit that every brother sall urge his parochiners to buy ane of the Bybles laithlie printed be Andro Hart, and the brother failzing either to caus buy ane as said is, or ellis to gif in his exact diligens sall pay at the next synod 6 lib. money' (i.e. 10 shillings sterling, equivalent to about £3 to-day). This Bible of 1610 appears to have been regarded for many years as a standard edition. See the note on the titlepages of the Amsterdam editions of 1640 and 1644 (Nos. 424 and 449). (Cf. Lea Wilson, p. 96.)

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves: title, verso blank, To the Christian Reader—1 f., An Almanacke and Table for 50. yeeres to come (1610–59)—1 p., A declaration of the conformitie betwixt the Hebrew Calender, and our Romane Callender, and Iulian yeeres with . . . an exact Callender . . .—4 pp., How to take profit . . .—1 p., Of the incomparable Treasure . . .—1 p., list of books—1 p. Signatures: ¶^a, A–Z^a Aa^a Bb^a Cc^a Dd–Zz^a Aaa–Zzz^a Aaaa–Pppp^a Qqqq^a, A–Z^a Aa–Cc^a; 668 ff. The numbering of the leaves is most incorrect.

A line of text omitted at the bottom of G 4 a (Exod. xxx) is supplied by a pasted slip; and an omission on P 5 a (Deut. xiii) is corrected in the same way.

The general title has an ornamental headpiece, with a cut (the crossing of the Red Sea) above the imprint. The N. T. title has the same headpiece, with a small device representing Faith trampling on Death (as in No. 213).

One of the maps in the text is a metal engraving; it is placed at Gen. ii. Two full-page engravings on separate leaves are inserted in Exodus.

Many of the initial letters and ornaments resemble Barker's. One vignette—a female head between two cornucopias—has the initials A H.

The editio princeps of King James' Bible, commonly known as the 'Authorised' version.

The idea of this new translation was first mooted by John Rainolds or Reynolds (1549–1607), President of Corpus Christi College, Oxford, the Puritan leader at the Hampton Court Conference, Jan. 1604. The King took up the proposal warmly, and its achievement was due to his royal interest and influence. The preliminary work was accomplished in about four years. [We need not construe literally the twise seuen times seuentie two dayes and more—roughly two years and nine months—of the preface to the Bible.] The translators, who numbered about fifty, were divided into six companies, each company being responsible for a certain section of the Scriptures. Two companies met at Westminster, two at Cambridge, and two at Oxford; and at these centres the directors of the work were Lancelot Andrewes (1555–1626), then Dean of Westminster, Edward Lively (1545?–1606), Regius Professor of Hebrew at Cambridge, and John Harding, Regius Professor of Hebrew at Oxford. The results of their several labours were subjected to mutual criticism, and then underwent nine months' final revision by a representative committee of six members, sitting in London. The editors who passed the book through the press were Miles Smith, afterwards Bishop of Gloucester (d. 1624), and Thomas Bilson (1547-1616), Bishop of Winchester. The latter, perhaps, composed the headings to the chapters. To the former is ascribed the noble preface entitled The Translators to the Reader.

The translators were directed to take the rendering of the Bishops' Bible as their basis, and were advised also to consult the following versions: Tindale's, Matthew's, Coverdale's, Whitchurch's (i.e. the Great Bible), and the Geneva. The last exerted very considerable influence on their work; and next to it the Rheims New Testament—though not mentioned—contributed appreciably to the changes introduced (see No. 184). (The Douai Old Testament appeared too late to be used.) But we must recognise that this Bible, like all the great English versions from 1537 down to 1885, was built on the sure foundations laid for all time by Tindale and Coverdale. Besides the Hebrew and Greek originals, reference was made to Tremellius, Beza, and earlier Latin versions, and also to the vernacular translations of Spain, France, and Italy. According to Westcott (p. 279), the revision of the New Testament was a simpler work than that of the Old, and may be generally described as a careful correction of the Bishops' version by the Greek text, with the aid of Beza's, the Geneva, and the Rheims versions.

No evidence exists that King James' version received any definite ecclesiastical or legislative sanction. But it won its way by sheer merit, until gradually it displaced even the Geneva Bible in popular affection, and established itself as the sole recognised version of the Scriptures in English. Under the Commonwealth some steps were taken in 1653, and again in 1657, towards a fresh translation, but without result (cf. Westcott, History, p. 124). From about the middle of the seventeenth century on to the appearance of the Revised Bible of 1881-5, King James' version reigned without a rival.

From the scanty data which survive it appears that most of the translators gave their services gratuitously, although the final committee received an allowance while at work in London, and some were perhaps rewarded, as the King had originally suggested, by preferment. The completed work was published by Robert Barker, the King's printer. (See below.)

Cardwell (Documentary Annals, vol. ii, pp. 84-8 and 140-6) prints three important documents dealing with the genesis of this version. For other details see Anthony Walker's Life of John Bois (1561-1644), one of the translators, in Harl. MSS. 7053, cited by Arber (Transcript, vol. iv, pp. 11-2), and Anderson (vol. ii, p. 381); and compare Peck's Desiderata Curiosa, 1779, pp. 325-342.

Walker states that during the final revision Bois and Downes, the Cambridge representatives, with their 'four fellow labourers,' 'went daily to Stationers' Hall, and in three quarters of a year fulfilled their task. All which time they received daily 30^d. each of them by the week from the Company of Stationers, though before they had nothing.'

A reference to the original manuscript of this version occurs in the anonymous and undated tract (printed about June 1660), entitled The London Printers Lamentacon, or, the Press oppressed, and ouerprest, which contains a vehement attack on the three Republican printers, Newcomb, Field, and Hills. The following passage is cited from Arber's Transcript, vol. iii, pp. 27-8: '... But we cannot as yet pass ouer his Maiesties good friends, Hills and Feild (take them coniunctim or diuisim;) ... Have they not invaded and still do intrude upon his Maiesties Royall Priviledge, Prærogative and Præeminence; And by the pusillanimous Cowardize and insignificant Compact of Master Christopher Barker, and another of his name, and (not without probable suspicion,) by the consent and connivance of Master John Bill (though he was artificially defeated in his expectations of profit;) Have they not obtained, (and now keep in their actual possession) the Manuscript Copy of the last Translation of the holy Bible in English (attested with the hands of the Venerable and learned Translators in King James his time) ever since 6 March 1655. And thereupon by colour of an unlawfull and enforced entrance in the Stationers Registry, printed and published ever since for the most part in severall Editions of Bibles (consisting of great numbers) such egregious Blasphemies and damnable Errata's, as have corrupted the pure Fountain, and rendred Gods holy Word contemptible to multitudes of the people at home, and a Ludibrium to all the Adversaries of our Religion.' (Cf. W. Kilburne's tract, Dangerous Errors . . ., 1659, ad fin.)

This manuscript perhaps perished in the Great Fire of 1666. Two more allusions to the same manuscript are quoted by H. R. Plomer in a paper entitled 'The King's Printing House

under the Stuarts' (Library, new series, vol. 2, 1901, pp. 353-375):—(1) during a quarrel about the copyright 'a certain William Ball in a pamphlet of 1651 declared that the sole right of printing of the Bible was Matthew Barker's, in regard that his father [R. Barker] paid for the amended or corrected translation £3,500 "by reason whereof the translated copy did of right belong to him"'; (2) another quarrel between Roger Norton and C. Barker the third concerned '... the moiety of a manuscript of a Bible in English called the Bible of K. James his translation.'

By tracing the protracted law-suits between the Barkers and their rivals, H. R. Plomer (see above) has explained the extraordinary variations in the imprints of Bibles during the seventeenth century, and has shown who in each successive period actually held the office of King's Printer. Many editions which bear the name 'Barker' must have been produced by other printers.

DESCRIPTION. The text, divided into two parts: (1) O. T. and Apocrypha, A 1 to Ccccc 6 b (two pages, Bbb 8 b and Lll 6 b, are blank); (2) N. T., with title: The Newe Testament of our Lord and Saviour Iesus Christ. Newly Translated out of the Originall Greeke: and with the former Translations diligently compared and reuised, by his Maiesties speciall Com-mandement. Imprinted at London by Robert Barker, Printer to the Kings most Excellent Maiestie. Anno Dom. 1611 (within woodcut border), verso blank, text—A 2 to Aa 6 b.

Signatures: A^a B^a C^a D^a, A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaaa-Zzzz^a Aaaaa-Coccc^a, A-Z^a Aa^a: 732 ff. Leaves not numbered. Double columns, with 59 lines to the full column. Head-lines, chapter-contents, marginal references, and words not in the original, are printed in roman type; alternative and other renderings, and a very few notes, in the margins, are in italics. The whole printed page is enclosed within rules. No Prologues, or expository notes.

The Genealogies of Holy Scriptures and a Map are inserted before Genesis. In one variety of the former, the first page contains a large cut of the royal arms and the words Cum Privilegio Regie Maiestatis, on verso is a preface To the Christian Reader, the Genealogies—pp. 1 to 34. Signatures: A-C^a. The Map, Begun by Mr. John More continued and finished by John Speede Anno Domini 1611, fills two pages, on verso of which is printed An Alphabetical Table of the Land of Canaan, and the borders adioyning: the diuersitie of names obserued; the texts of Scriptures quoted; and the Tribes, Cities, Townes, and places set in their receiued graduations. These Genealogies and Map were compiled by John Speed (1552?-1629), the historian, apparently at the suggestion, and with the assistance, of Hugh Broughton (1549-1612), the eminent Hebraist. Speed obtained a patent for ten years, dated 31 Oct. 1610, giving him the right to print and insert them in every edition of the new version of the Bible. Speed's prices were fixed: large folio, two shillings; small folio, eighteen pence; quarto, twelve pence; octavo, six pence. (Cf. Fry, A Description . . ., p. 82, and pp. 40-1.) Thus, though they really formed no part of the book, the Genealogies and Map are generally found in copies of the early editions of King James' Bible. Several varieties of both are enumerated by Fry.

The general title is a fine copper-plate engraving, inscribed C. Boel fecit in Richmond, and representing: above—the Sacred Name יהוה, the Holy Dove, and the Agnus Dei, and a group of Apostles, with St. Matthew seated on the extreme left, and St. Mark on the extreme right; on the left side—Moses, and on the right side—Aaron; below, in the centre—the pelican in her piety, on the left—St. Luke, and on the right—St. John. The N. T. title-border is a wood-engraving, representing: above—the Sacred Name, the Agnus Dei and the Holy Dove, and SS. Matthew and Mark; on the left side—the tents of the twelve tribes; on the right side—the twelve Apostles; and below—the Lamb slain, and SS. Luke and John; at the bottom is a tablet bearing the words Cum Privilegio. (This border was used for the general title in a few copies of the folio Bishops' Bible of 1602, No. 206.) A few copies have a general title with this woodcut border.

No illustrations (except a few cuts in the Genealogies); but many head-pieces, vignettes etc. and ornamental initials, some of the latter (e.g. that before Romans) resembling those used in folio editions of the Bishops' Bible.

THE 'HE' AND 'SEE' BIBLES.—The intricate typographical problems connected with the early editions of King James' version are discussed at length in the following: F. Fry's A Description of . . . the Editions, in large folio, of the Authorised Version . . . (1865), F. H. A. Scrivener's The Authorised Edition of the English Bible . . .

The editio princeps of the Roman Catholic version of the Old Testament in English.

This version of the Old Testament was based on the same lines, and came from the same hands, as the Rheims New Testament of 1582 (q.v.). The complete work is commonly known as the 'Douai-Rheims version,' or briefly the 'Douai Bible.'

The Preface to the Rheims New Testament speaks of the holy Bible long since translated by vs into English, and the old Testament lying by vs for lacke of good meanes to publish the vhole in such sort as a vvorke of so great charge and importance requireth. Twenty-seven years later the Preface to this Old Testament expressly ascribes the long delay in its publication to one general cause, our poore estate in banishment. After referring to those that translated it about thirtie years since (clearly Martin and his coadjutors), the editor explains only one thing we haue donne touching the text, whereof we are especially to geue notice . . . we haue againe conferred this English translation, and conformed it to the most perfect Latin Edition, i.e. the authorised recension of the Vulgate published under the authority of Clement VIII in 1592. Cardinal Allen (1582-94) had assisted in this revision of the Latin text.

The annotations (which are far less copious than in the New Testament, and also less vehement) and the tables, etc. are ascribed to Thomas Worthington, who became President of the College at Douai in 1599.

The Approbatio is signed by three Professors at Douai: Guilielmus Estius, Bartholomæus Petrus, and Georgius Colvenerius; and the Censura trium Theologorum Anglorum, extra collegium commemorantium by Ioannes Wrightus, Matthæus Kellisonus, and Guilielmus Harisonus. The Preface criticises certain renderings of current English Bibles, mentioning the editions of 1552, 1577, 1579, and 1603.

Geneva version; with Tomson's revised New Testament, and Junius' Revelation.

The second edition printed in Scotland. Lee (Memorial, p. 53, and Additional Memorial, p. 69) mentions an edition of the Bible (Geneva version) printed at Dort in 1601 for Hart and the heirs of Henry Charteris. And certainly two editions of the New Testament were printed at Dort at that period for use in Scotland (cf. No. 213).

A revision of the Geneva Bible had been proposed in the Assembly at Burntisland, May, 1601; but evidently the project came to nothing (Lee, Memorial, p. 60 n.). The provincial assemblies appear to have ordered every kirk to be provided with a copy of Hart's Bible. Lee (p. 56) cites the following minute from the records of the diocesan synod of St. Andrew's, April, 1611: 'Forasmuch as it was thought expedient that there be in every kirk ane commoun Bible, it was concludit that every brother sall urge his parochiners to buy ane of the Bybles laillie printed be Andro Hart, and the brother failzing either to caus buy ane as said is, or ellis to gif in his exact diligens sall pay at the next synod 6 lib. money' (i.e. 16 shillings sterling, equivalent to about £3 to-day). This Bible of 1610 appears to have been regarded for many years as a standard edition. See the note on the titlepages of the Amsterdam editions of 1640 and 1644 (Nos. 424 and 449). (Cf. Lea Wilson, p. 96.)

DESCRIPTION. Six preliminary leaves: title, verso blank, To the Christian Reader—1 f., An Almanacke and Table for 50 . yeeres to come (1610-59)—1 p., A declaration of the conformitie betwixt the Hebrew Calender, and our Romane Callender, and Iulian yeeres with . . . an exact Callender . . .—4 pp., How to take profit . . .—1 p., Of the incomparable Treasure . . .—1 p., list of books—1 p. Signatures: ¶, A-Z^a Aa^a Bb^a Cc^a Dd-Zz^a Aaa-Zzz^a Aaaa-Pppp^a Qqqq^a, A-Z^a Aa-Cc^a; 668 ff. The numbering of the leaves is most incorrect.

A line of text omitted at the bottom of G 4 a (Exod. xxx) is supplied by a pasted slip; and an omission on P 5 a (Deut. xiii) is corrected in the same way.

The general title has an ornamental headpiece, with a cut (the crossing of the Red Sea) above the imprint. The N. T. title has the same headpiece, with a small device representing Faith trampling on Death (as in No. 213).

One of the maps in the text is a metal engraving; it is placed at Gen. ii. Two full-page engravings on separate leaves are inserted in Exodus.

Many of the initial letters and ornaments resemble Barker's. One vignette—a female head between two cornucopias—has the initials A H.

The editio princeps of King James' Bible, commonly known as the 'Authorised' version.

The idea of this new translation was first mooted by John Rainolds or Reynolds (1549–1607), President of Corpus Christi College, Oxford, the Puritan leader at the Hampton Court Conference, Jan. 1604. The King took up the proposal warmly, and its achievement was due to his royal interest and influence. The preliminary work was accomplished in about four years. [We need not construe literally the twise seuen times seuentie two dayes and more—roughly two years and nine months—of the preface to the Bible.] The translators, who numbered about fifty, were divided into six companies, each company being responsible for a certain section of the Scriptures. Two companies met at Westminster, two at Cambridge, and two at Oxford; and at these centres the directors of the work were Lancelot Andrewes (1555–1626), then Dean of Westminster, Edward Lively (1545?–1605), Regius Professor of Hebrew at Cambridge, and John Harding, Regius Professor of Hebrew at Oxford. The results of their several labours were subjected to mutual criticism, and then underwent nine months' final revision by a representative committee of six members, sitting in London. The editors who passed the book through the press were Miles Smith, afterwards Bishop of Gloucester (d. 1624), and Thomas Bilson (1547–1616), Bishop of Winchester. The latter, perhaps, composed the headings to the chapters. To the former is ascribed the noble preface entitled The Translators to the Reader.

The translators were directed to take the rendering of the Bishops' Bible as their basis, and were advised also to consult the following versions: Tindale's, Matthew's, Coverdale's, Whitchurch's (i.e. the Great Bible), and the Geneva. The last exerted very considerable influence on their work; and next to it the Rheims New Testament—though not mentioned—contributed appreciably to the changes introduced (see No. 184). (The Douai Old Testament appeared too late to be used.) But we must recognise that this Bible, like all the great English versions from 1537 down to 1885, was built on the sure foundations laid for all time by Tindale and Coverdale. Besides the Hebrew and Greek originals, reference was made to Tremellius, Beza, and earlier Latin versions, and also to the vernacular translations of Spain, France, and Italy. According to Westcott (p. 279), the revision of the New Testament was a simpler work than that of the Old, and may be generally described as a careful correction of the Bishops' version by the Greek text, with the aid of Beza's, the Geneva, and the Rheims versions.

No evidence exists that King James' version received any definite ecclesiastical or legislative sanction. But it won its way by sheer merit, until gradually it displaced even the Geneva Bible in popular affection, and established itself as the sole recognised version of the Scriptures in English. Under the Commonwealth some steps were taken in 1653, and again in 1657, towards a fresh translation, but without result (cf. Westcott, History, p. 124). From about the middle of the seventeenth century on to the appearance of the Revised Bible of 1881–5, King James' version reigned without a rival.

From the scanty data which survive it appears that most of the translators gave their services gratuitously, although the final committee received an allowance while at work in London, and some were perhaps rewarded, as the King had originally suggested, by preferment. The completed work was published by Robert Barker, the King's printer. (See below.)

Cardwell (Documentary Annals, vol. ii, pp. 84–8 and 140–6) prints three important documents dealing with the genesis of this version. For other details see Anthony Walker's Life of John Bois (1561–1644), one of the translators, in Harl. MSS. 7053, cited by Arber (Transcript, vol. iv, pp. 11–2), and Anderson (vol. ii, p. 381); and compare Peck's Desiderata Curiosa, 1779, pp. 325–342.

Walker states that during the final revision Bois and Downes, the Cambridge representatives, with their 'four fellow labourers,' 'went daily to Stationers' Hall, and in three quarters of a year fulfilled their task. All which time they received daily 30^s each of them by the week from the Company of Stationers, though before they had nothing.'

A reference to the original manuscript of this version occurs in the anonymous and undated tract (printed about June 1660), entitled The London Printers Lamentacon, or, the Press oppressed, and overprest, which contains a vehement attack on the three Republican printers, Newcomb, Field, and Hills. The following passage is cited from Arber's Transcript, vol. iii, pp. 27–8: '... But we cannot as yet pass over his Maesties good friends, Hills and Feild (take them coniunctim or divisim;) ... Have they not invaded and still do intrude upon his Maesties Royall Priviledge, Prærogative and Præeminence; And by the pusillanimous Cowardize and insignificant Compact of Master Christopher Barker, and another of his name, and (not without probable suspicion,) by the consent and connivance of Master John Bill (though he was artificially defeated in his expectations of profit;) Have they not obtained, (and now keep in their actual possession) the Manuscript Copy of the last Translation of the holy Bible in English (attested with the hands of the Venerable and learned Translators in King James his time) ever since 6 March 1655. And thereupon by colour of an unlawfull and enforced entrance in the Stationers Registry, printed and published ever since for the most part in several Editions of Bibles (consisting of great numbers) such egregious Blasphemies and damnable Errata's, as have corrupted the pure Fountain, and rendred Gods holy Word contemptible to multitudes of the people at home, and a Ludibrium to all the Adversaries of our Religion.' (Cf. W. Kilburne's tract, Dangerous Errors ... 1659, ad fin.)

This manuscript perhaps perished in the Great Fire of 1666. Two more allusions to the same manuscript are quoted by H. R. Plomer in a paper entitled 'The King's Printing House

under the Stuarts' (Library, new series, vol. 2, 1901, pp. 353-375):—(1) during a quarrel about the copyright 'a certain William Ball in a pamphlet of 1651 declared that the sole right of printing of the Bible was Matthew Barker's, in regard that his father [R. Barker] paid for the amended or corrected translation £3,500 "by reason whereof the translated copy did of right belong to him"'; (2) another quarrel between Roger Norton and C. Barker the third concerned '... the moiety of a manuscript of a Bible in English called the Bible of K. James his translation.'

By tracing the protracted law-suits between the Barkers and their rivals, H. R. Plomer (see above) has explained the extraordinary variations in the imprints of Bibles during the seventeenth century, and has shown who in each successive period actually held the office of King's Printer. Many editions which bear the name 'Barker' must have been produced by other printers.

DESCRIPTION. Head-lines, chapter-contents, marginal references, and words not in the original, are printed in roman type; alternative and other renderings, and a very few notes, in the margins, are in italics. The whole printed page is enclosed within rules. No Prologues, or expository notes.

The Genealogies of Holy Scriptures and a Map are inserted before Genesis. In one variety of the former, the first page contains a large cut of the royal arms and the words Cum Priuilegio Regie Maestatis, on verso is a preface To the Christian Reader, the Genealogies—pp. 1 to 84. Signatures: A-C⁴. The Map, Begun by Mr. John More continued and finished by John Speede Anno Domini 1611, fills two pages, on verso of which is printed An Alphabetical Table of the Land of Canaan, and the borders adioyning: the diuersitie of names obserued; the texts of Scriptures quoted; and the Tribes, Cities, Townes, and places set in their receiued graduations. These Genealogies and Map were compiled by John Speed (1552?-1629), the historian, apparently at the suggestion, and with the assistance, of Hugh Broughton (1549-1612), the eminent Hebraist. Speed obtained a patent for ten years, dated 31 Oct. 1610, giving him the right to print and insert them in every edition of the new version of the Bible. Speed's prices were fixed: large folio, two shillings; small folio, eighteen pence; quarto, twelve pence; octavo, six pence. (Cf. Fry, A Description . . ., p. 32, and pp. 40-1.) Thus, though they really formed no part of the book, the Genealogies and Map are generally found in copies of the early editions of King James' Bible. Several varieties of both are enumerated by Fry.

The general title is a fine copper-plate engraving, inscribed C. Boel fecit in Richmond, and representing: above—the Sacred Name יהוה, the Holy Dove, and the Agnus Dei, and a group of Apostles, with St. Matthew seated on the extreme left and St. Mark on the extreme right; on the left side—Moses, and on the right side—Aaron; below, in the centre—the pelican in her piety, on the left—St. Luke, and on the right—St. John. The N. T. title-border is a wood-engraving, representing: above—the Sacred Name, the Agnus Dei and the Holy Dove, and SS. Matthew and Mark; on the left side—the tents of the twelve tribes; on the right side—the twelve Apostles; and below—the Lamb alain, and SS. Luke and John; at the bottom is a tablet bearing the words Cum Priuilegio. (This border was used for the general title in a few copies of the folio Bishops' Bible of 1602, No. 206.) A few copies have a general title with this woodcut border.

No illustrations (except a few cuts in the Genealogies); but many head-pieces, vignettes etc. and ornamental initials, some of the latter (e.g. that before Romans) resembling those used in folio editions of the Bishops' Bible.

THE 'HE' AND 'SH' BIBLES.—The intricate typographical problems connected with the early editions of King James' version are discussed at length in the following: F. Fry's A Description of . . . the Editions, in large folio, of the Authorised Version . . . (1865), F. H. A. Scrivener's The Authorised Edition of the English Bible . . .

(1884), an article in the Athenaeum (20 Sep. 1884), a pamphlet by W. E. Smith entitled A Study of the Great 'She' Bible (reprinted from the Library, 1890), and R. Lovett's The English Bible in the John Rylands Library (pp. 246-253).

It is recognised that from 1611 to 1614 there are two distinct series of editions in various sizes, which differ throughout in many minor points of typography, and are generally distinguished by the names 'He' Bibles and 'She' Bibles, from their respective readings in Ruth iii. 15 . . . he went into the city, and . . . she went into the city. The suggested explanation of this dualism is that the printing was at first carried on in two separate offices, in order to facilitate rapid production; and that two standard copies were used, one of which had received a certain amount of additional correction from the press editors.

Bibliographers generally agree that the folio 'He' Bible of 1611 is the first impression of this version. Scrivener argues keenly for the priority in printing (though not necessarily in publication) of the folio 'She' Bible of 1618,11. But Smith shows that inferences drawn from apparent corrections or corruptions of the text are too precarious to be conclusive. He makes a minute comparison of the varieties in the sizes of the ornamental initials, and in the spaces between the chapters, throughout the first half of the volume, and proves by this method that the 'He' Bible was undoubtedly the earlier of the two.

For the variations in copies of the 'She' Bible of 1618,11, see below, No. 246.

The following large type folio editions of this Bible closely resemble one another:— (1) 1611 (No. 240); (2) 1618,11 (No. 246); (3) 1617 (No. 278); (4) 1684 (No. 376); (5) 1640,89 (No. 421). These agree so closely that the corresponding leaves practically always end with the same word, and are thus interchangeable. Hence many copies of these large editions are mixed.

This is a 'He' Bible; with the text styled 'A' by Smith in his pamphlet cited above. In Exodus xiv. 10 three lines are repeated: this passage is correctly printed in the 'She' Bible of 1618,11. Other special readings of this edition are: Gen. x. 16, Emorite for Amorite; Exod. xxxviii. 11, hoopes for hookes; Lev. xiii. 56, plaine for plague; headline on liii 6 a, Anocrypha for Apocrypha; etc.

A verbatim reprint of this folio was issued by the Oxford University Press in 1838.

The first quarto edition of King James' version; printed in roman type.

The N. T. title omits the words Appointed . . .

According to Scrivener, this edition closely follows the text of the folio Bible of 1611; e.g. Gen. x. 16, Emorite; Ruth iii. 15, hee. It corrects, however, some mistakes of the first edition: e.g. Exod. xiv. 10 and Mark vii. 4, marg.

The three quarto editions of 1612, 1618, 12, and 1618, although quite distinct, generally read together page for page.

DESCRIPTION. Eight preliminary leaves: title (engraved), verso blank, The Epistle Dedicatorie—8 pp., To the Reader—9 pp., The names and order of all the Bookes . . . —1 p., 1 p. blank. The text: O. T. ends on Ggg 4 b (Job ends on Kk 4 a, verso blank); Apocrypha end on Ttt 6 b; N. T. (with title dated 1612, within woodcut border, verso blank) ends on [M 8] a, with colophon dated 1612, verso blank.

The engraved general title (signed Iaspar. Isac. fecit.) is an adaptation of C. Boel's design of 1611. The N. T. title is enclosed within the woodcut border with heart-shaped centre used in so many quarto editions of the Geneva Bible.

The first octavo edition of King James' version; printed in roman type.

In general appearance this and subsequent issues resemble the octavo editions of the Geneva Bible. (Cf. No. 250.)

A close reprint of the folio of 1611, reproducing its special readings, e.g. Gen. x. 16 Emorite, Ruth iii. 15 he, and even the mistake in Exod. xiv. 10; though some errors are corrected, e.g. Mark vii. 4 marg.

The words Appointed . . . are regularly omitted from both titles in the early octavo editions, down to 1680.

DESCRIPTION. Two preliminary leaves: Title (within woodcut border), on verso a cut of the royal arms, Dedication—1 p., list of books—1 p. The text: O. T., A 3 to Qq 5 b; Apocrypha end on Bbb 5 b; N. T. (with title dated 1612, within border, verso blank) ends on Ooo 4 b with colophon dated 1612.

Signatures: A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa-Nnn^a Oooⁱ; 476 ff. Leaves not numbered. Each page is enclosed within rules.

Both titles have the common border representing the four Evangelists, the twelve Tribes, the twelve Apostles, etc. The cut of the royal arms has a crown at the top with roses on one side and thistles on the other. A small cut of Adam and Eve occurs before Genesis.

Gen. i. 2 toide; Rev. xxii. 15 scorners for sorcerers. A 4 is signed A 2.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

This differs throughout from the preceding, e.g. Ruth iii. 15 she, and the mistake in Exod. xiv. 10 does not occur. It was apparently printed from the folio of 1613, 11 (No. 246). The titleleaves appear to be the same, though their followers differ.

The mistake scorners for sorcerers occurs in Rev. xxii. 15. Gen. i. 2 voyde. A 4 is correctly signed.

4°. 33. ff.

The first quarto New Testament of King James' version.

A close reprint of the text of the folio of 1611, though obvious mistakes like Mark vii. 4 marg. are corrected. Taking the passages quoted by Scrivener on p. 206 and p. 213 of his book The Authorized Edition . . . , we find that in every case except one (Luke x. 36) this New Testament agrees with the 1611 edition against that of 1613, 11.

DESCRIPTION. One preliminary leaf: title (within border), on verso the list of books. The text, pp. 1 to 686, ending on Vv 8 b, with colophon dated 1612.

Signatures: A-Z^a Aa-Vv^a; 344 ff. The pages are numbered throughout the text, which is printed in a black-letter type like that used in the folio Bible of 1613 (No. 249), with long lines. The headings, chapter-contents, marginal references, etc. are in roman type.

The woodcut title-border resembles that used in certain editions of the Geneva and Bishops' Bibles, with the emblems of the Evangelists and figures of Fides and Humilitas; a new block of the royal arms has been inserted at the top.

John xix. 19: tile for title; but generally the edition is correctly printed.

1618, 11. f°. B. 1.

Fry's 'first edition, second issue, without reprints,' of King James' Bible. Others more correctly style it the 'second folio edition, 1618, 11,' inasmuch as it deserves to be reckoned a distinct edition.

Commonly known as the 'Great She Bible.' The general title is usually dated 1618, though the N. T. title bears the date 1611. Probably the greater part of the book was printed in 1611, but the publication, for some reason or other, was delayed till 1618. Scrivener supposes that this delay was due to the incorrectness of the edition; Smith suggests an accident in the printing-office, which destroyed a large number of sheets (see below).

The words Appointed to be read in Churches appear on the N. T. title, as well as on the general title.

DESCRIPTION. Eighteen preliminary leaves, containing the same matter arranged in the same order as in the first edition. Text as before. The general title is enclosed within the woodcut border used for the N. T. title in the first edition. The N. T. title reads: The | Newe | Testament of | our Lord and Sauour | Iesus Christ. | Newly Translated out of | the Originall Greeke : And with | the former Translations diligently | compared and reuised, By his | Maiesties speciall Com- | mandement. | Appointed to be read in Churches. | Imprinted | at London by Robert | Barker, Printer to the | Kings most Excellent | Maiestie | Anno Dom. 1611; it is enclosed within the same woodcut border.

Signatures: A⁴ B⁴ C⁴ D⁴, A-Z⁶ . . . etc.; 782 ff., as in No. 240.

This edition contains a general title with a woodcut border (like that occurring in a very few copies of No. 240), which as a rule is dated 1618. This date, however, has been ingeniously altered by pen into 1611 in very many copies. J. Lenox even doubted whether any copies of this Bible existed, having a general title which had been originally dated 1611. But Fry mentions, besides the copy in this Library, two others—at St. John's College, Cambridge, and in the B. M.—both with this rare title. Scrivener (The Authorised Edition . . . pp. 9, 10) argues for the priority of this 'She' Bible from the apparent fact that it adopts a woodcut title-border previously used in some copies of the Bishops' Bible of 1602 (No. 206), and never has Boel's engraved title, which almost invariably appears in the 'He' Bible of 1611. But his suggestion that this woodcut border was employed as a makeshift, while the engraving was being finished, loses its force when we find the same woodcut a favourite in later editions.

Ruth iii. 15, she. A remarkable error occurs in Matt. xxvi. 86, Judas appearing for Jesus; sometimes a pasted slip corrects the mistake. The initial P at Ps. cxii. contains Walsingham's crest. In the list of books three lines are printed in red ink in this edition; and 1. Corinthians and 2. Corinthians occur for 1. Chronicles and 2. Chronicles.

Fry's REPRINTS.—We must notice here the curious phenomenon, first investigated by Fry, which characterises this particular edition. About one third of the sheets exist in two different forms. 'Every copy . . . is made up of its own individual combination from these two sets of sheets. It is hard to find two exactly identical throughout, though a large group are very nearly so.' (Smith, A Study . . . p. 18.) On some obscure ground, Fry selected one of his own copies as a 'standard,' and classed as 'reprints' all leaves found in other copies which varied from the corresponding leaves in his 'standard.' But, since hardly one of the many copies which he describes agrees with his 'standard' at all closely, this classification appears quite arbitrary. Smith has discovered a more satisfactory 'standard' in a certain type to which thirteen of the copies examined by himself, and seventeen in Fry's No. 2 Table, closely conform. This he styles the 'B' text, and all the variants from this text he calls 'C.' A table at the end of his pamphlet gives tests for distinguishing the different mixed leaves, and indicates those which are styled by Fry 'reprints,' and those which the writer himself judges to be 'posterior.' In conclusion, Smith considers 'that (on account of a fire or for other unexplained reason) a large reprint took place before any copies were completed, and that then the prior and posterior sheets were so mixed that no copies were made up with all the sheets prior.'

¶ 402 × 274 mm.

The general title is dated 1611. Fry's MS. note reads: 'This is my Standard Copy of the second issue without reprints . . . This copy is perfect, every leaf correct and genuine.' Smith styles the text 'a mixture of B and C.'

The Genealogies—Fry's No. 6. The Map is unshaded, and does not bear R. Elstrack's name. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

Fry's 'second issue, with reprints.' For a full description of these 'reprints' or variant leaves, see Fry's A Description . . . But compare the note above.

Fry's MS. note reads: 'This is No. 5 in Table No. 2 in my work on these Bibles. This is a very valuable standard copy, the one I have used in all my comparisons.' Smith describes the text as 'purely C.'

406 × 264 mm. Imperfect: wanting the general title, which is supplied in facsimile (with genuine border), dated 1611. The follower to the title is that distinguished by Smith as No. 2.

The Genealogies—Fry's No. 23. The Map has the sea unshaded, and does not bear R. Elstrack's name. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

The general title is dated 1613, and differs very slightly in the letterpress from that dated 1611, e.g. no comma after revised, excellent for Excellent, etc.

Fry's MS. note reads: 'This is a copy of the first edition, second issue with reprints, published with the 1613 title and follower. This copy is No. 3 in Table No. 2 in my work on these Bibles. Nos. 3 and 5 contain all the reprints I have found, except eight leaves in other copies; these I have placed [with two others] in front of this copy . . . This is one of my standard volumes—what I use for all my comparisons, and very valuable;' adding that he was probably mistaken in stating in his book that Eee 2 and 5 were reprints. The follower to the title is Smith's No. 3. Smith describes the text as 'purely C.'

The Genealogies—Fry's No. 7. The Map has the sea shaded, and the words Renold Elstrack sculpsit added at the bottom near the circle bearing J. Speed's name.

409 × 265 mm. The reprints inserted at the beginning are: L 1 and 6, Ii 3 and 4, Bbb 1 and 6, Qqq 2 and 5, Xxxx 2 and 5. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

The first title is dated 1613; with follower No. 3.

According to Smith's tests, the text is C with a slight admixture of B.

The Genealogies—Fry's No. 14. The Map has the sea shaded, and bears the inscription Renold Elstrack sculpsit.

410 × 275 mm.

In red leather binding, stamped on the covers with the initials C S, surmounted by a ducal coronet. According to a MS. note by a former owner, Granville Sharp, the book is supposed to have belonged to Charles Seymour, Duke of Somerset (1662–1748).

— Another copy.

No. 29 in Fry's List. Title dated 1613, with follower Smith's No. 2.

Smith styles it 'a C Bible.'

Genealogies—Fry's No. 7. No Map.

406 × 268 mm. Contains some leaves from the 'He' edition of 1611; including G 1, with the repetition in Exod. xiv. 10. The title and its follower are kept in an envelope inside the cover, to show that they are genuinely joined together.

In seventeenth-century binding.

1613. The Holy Bible . . .

R. Barker: London. 1618, 12. 4°.

Closely resembles the first quarto of 1612.

Dated 1613 on the general title, but 1612 on the N. T. title, and in the colophon. A MS. note by Fry gives the results of his collation of 23 copies of this edition, with those dated 1612 and those dated 1613 on both titles. This is a distinct edition, differing in nearly every leaf from the other two.

Both titles omit the words Appointed . . .

Eight preliminary leaves; text, ending on [M 8] a; etc. as before.

The titles have the woodcut border with heart-shaped centre.

Ruth iii. 15, she. Gen. i. 11, brtng foorth.

1613. The Holy Bible . . .

R. Barker: London. 1612, 18. 8°.

The general title is dated 1612, but the N. T. title and colophon 1613.

Distinct from the octavos of 1612 (Nos. 243 and 244). According to Fry's collation, it agrees in very few sheets with the edition of 1613 (No. 252).

DESCRIPTION. Two preliminary leaves, as before. Text: O. T., A 8 to Nn 7 b; Apocrypha end on Yy 8 b; N. T. ends on Kkk 8 a, with colophon, verso blank.

Signatures: A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa-Kkk^a; 448 ff. Leaves not numbered. No rules round each page.

Title-borders, and cut before Genesis, as in the 1612 editions.

Gen. i. 2, void, darknesse; Ruth, iii. 15, she; Matt. i. 23, foorth. Rev. xxii. 15 is correct.

¶ 160 × 104 mm. In two volumes.

158 × 109 mm. General title repaired.

Inserted are some MS. notes by Fry, giving the results of his collations, which show that this copy contains some variant leaves. These may be reprinted leaves; or possibly they belong to another issue, making this a mixed copy.

f°. 33. 1.

The true 1618 folio edition of King James' Bible; easily distinguishable from the other large folio editions by its smaller type.

A very few copies are found with Boel's engraved title of 1611 (see below).

DESCRIPTION. Eighteen preliminary leaves: title (within woodcut border), verso blank, Dedication—3 pp., Preface—11 pp., Kalendar etc.—10 ff. The text: O. T., A 1-Ggg 2 b; Apocrypha end on Ttt 5 a, verso blank; N. T., with title: The Newe Testament . . . Appointed to be read in Churches . . . 1613 (within woodcut border), verso blank, text—Vvv 1 to Nnnn 4 a, verso blank.

Signatures: A^a B^a C^a D^a, A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa-Zzz^a Aaaa-Mmmm^a Nnnn^a; 508 ff. Leaves not numbered. The preliminary leaves are set up as in the other large folio editions, but the text is printed in smaller type with 72 instead of 59 lines to the full column.

Title-border—the woodcut representing the twelve tribes, etc.

For a collation of the text of this edition with the folio of 1611, see the Oxford reprint (1833) of the latter book. Variations occur in about 400 places, and involve many serious mistakes, e.g. vv. 13 and 14 omitted in Ecclus. xvi; 1 Cor. xi. 17: I praise you (not omitted), etc.

¶ 407 × 274 mm.

Genealogies—Fry's No. 13. No Map.

Bound in seventeenth-century covers. An iron chain is attached, which apparently had served to fasten a copy of the Great Bible to a pillar or lectern in some church. [F. F.]

— Another copy.

A remarkable copy, containing Boel's engraved title, dated 1611, with Smith's follower No. 8. These two leaves still joined together are kept separate in a pocket inside the cover to show that they were originally thus issued. (See Fry's Description . . . , p. 27.)

1618. The Holy Bible . . .

R. Barker : London. 1618. 4°. 33.1.

The first black-letter quarto edition of King James' version.

This and many subsequent issues were produced in close imitation of those black-letter quarto editions of the Geneva Bible which had proved so popular.

Apparently a close reprint of the folio of 1611. Gen. x. 16, Emorite, Ruth iii. 15 he, etc. Both titles omit the words Appointed . . .

DESCRIPTION. Eight preliminary leaves (in roman type): title (within border), verso blank, Dedication—3 pp., Preface—9 pp., list of books—1 p., 1 p. blank. Text: O. T. ends on Ss 6 a, verso blank; Apocrypha end on Eee 2 b; N. T. (with title within border, verso blank) ends on Sss 8 a, with colophon dated 1618, verso blank.

Signatures: A^a, A-Z^a Aa-Zz^a Aaa-Sss (no Hhh)^a; 512 ff. Leaves not numbered.

Headlines and marginal references in roman type; chapter-contents and marginal readings in italics.

Both titles have the border with heart-shaped centre.

¶ 218 × 161 mm.

With Genealogies and Map; and R. F. H.'s Two right profitable and fruitfull Concordances . . . (1611,13), so often issued with quarto Geneva Bibles. [F. F.]

1618. The Holy Bible . . .

R. Barker : London. 1618. 4°.

Closely resembles the quartos of 1612 and 1618,12 (q.v.), but a distinct edition.

Dated 1618 on both titles and in the colophon.

Preliminary leaves, text, etc., as before.

Both titles have the woodcut border with the heart-shaped centre. The N. T. title omits the words Appointed . . .

Heading on [A 2] b: S. Suke.

Ruth iii. 15 she. Gen. i. 11 bring forth.

¶ 225 × 165 mm.

According to Fry's MS. note this is a 'standard' copy of the 1618 quarto edition. Four leaves only belong to the 1612 edition, but four 'correct' 1618 leaves are inserted.

With Genealogies and Map.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

This, like the above, has the four leaves which, according to Fry, really belong to the 1612 edition.

208 × 153 mm. Imperfect: wanting general title and following leaf.

With Genealogies and Map.

With Prayer Book (1615), and Metrical Psalms (1615).

— Another copy.

203 × 148 mm.

According to Fry's note, this is a strangely mixed copy. The bulk of the book belongs to this edition of 1618. The general title is dated 1614, but differs from that in the 1614, 15 quarto (No. 263), which begins The Bible . . . Six of the preliminary leaves belong to the 1612 edition. And the N. T. title and following leaf are the same as in the quarto of 1613, 12.

DESCRIPTION. Title (within border), on verso list of books. The text, A 2 to Gg 8 b.

Signatures: A-Z^a Aa-Gg^a; 240 ff.

John i. 1: In the beginning was the Word, and that Word . . .

The title-border resembles that used in certain of Barker's editions; containing at the top the royal arms and two symbolical female figures; and below, a lion and a dragon. An ornament at the head of the first page of text contains roses and thistles, Another at the end contains two fleurs-de-lys.

¶ 106 × 72 mm.

Elaborately embroidered binding; central panels of very fine needlework in coloured silks, representing (1) The Virgin and Child, (2) St. John the Baptist; the borders worked in purl and silver thread; all on a ground of purple velvet; goffered edges.

Geneva version; Tomson's revision.

This small 12° New Testament closely resembles an edition printed in 1609 (B. M. copy, 8058. aa. 4). It has the same reading in John i. 1 as the 16° edition of 1613, and may perhaps be placed under that date. Lea Wilson (p. 202) mentions an edition of 1613, described as 24°, which may correspond to this.

This somewhat resembles the black-letter folio editions of 1592, 91, etc.; but the columns of print are four lines longer.

DESCRIPTION. Four preliminary leaves: title (within border), verso blank, Address—1 f., Of the incomparable treasure . . .—1 p., How to take profit . . .—1 p., list of books—1 p., 1 p. containing large engraving. Text: O. T. and Apocrypha, ff. 1 to 444 b; N. T., with title, verso blank, The Printer to the diligent reader—1 p., The description . . . (with map)—1 p., text—ff. 3 to 135 b; tables—7 ff., ending on Ffff 4 b, with colophon.

Signatures: A⁴, A-Z⁶ Aa-Zz⁶ Aaa-Zzz⁶ Aaaa-Zzzz⁶ Aaaaa-Eeeee⁶ Fffff⁶; 590 ff. A full column contains 64 lines.

The title-border resembles that used in the folio Geneva Bible of 1583 and other editions; with the book inscribed Verbum Dei . . ., etc. The initials, however, are changed to I R. The tablet below bears the words Cum Priuilegio Regie Maiestatis. The N. T. titlepage bears a headpiece and a small ornament.

f°.

The first small folio edition of King James' version; printed in roman type.

According to Scrivener (The Authorized Edition . . ., p. 17) this was the earliest to receive any considerable revision.

The line Appointed . . . is omitted from both titles.

DESCRIPTION. Ten preliminary leaves: title (within woodcut border), verso blank; Dedication—1 f., Preface—7 ff., list of books—1 p., 1 p. containing a large engraving. The text: O. T., ff. 1 to 344 (Mmm 2) a, verso blank; Apocrypha end on fo. 425 (Bbbb 5) b, followed by 1 f. blank; N. T., with title (within border), ends on fo. 535 (Vvvv 7) b, with colophon dated 1616; 1 f. blank.

Signatures: a⁴ b⁴, A-Z⁶ Aa-Zz⁶ Aaa-Zzz⁶ Aaaa-Tttt⁶ Vvvv⁶; 546 ff.

The title-border resembles that used in some editions of the Bishops' Bible; at the top are the royal arms supported by figures representing Justice and Mercy; below is a tablet bearing the words Cum Priuilegio Regie Maiestatis, supported by a lion and a unicorn; at the bottom are the initials C. B. The large engraving before the text represents Adam and Eve.

f°. B. 3.

The third distinct folio edition, printed in large black-letter, of King James' version.

Two copies have a title dated 1614 (see below).

This reads leaf for leaf with the two preceding editions of 1611 and 1618, 11. A few distinguishing marks may be noted: there is a small cut of the Royal arms without initials at the head of the Dedication; initial I before Psalm cxvii represents St. John; Jer. xviii. 3 whelles for wheels. For other details see Fry's Description.

— Another copy.

384 × 259 mm. A remarkable copy, containing a title dated 1614: The | Holy | Bible, | Conteyning the Old Testa- | ment, and the New : | Newly translated out of | the Originall Tongues : and with | the former Translations diligently | compared and reuised, by his | Maiesties speciall Com- | mandement. | Appointed to be read in Churches. | Imprinted | at London, by Robert | Barker, Printer to the | Kings most Excellent | Maiestie. | Anno Dom. 1614. No distinct folio edition of 1614 is known to exist.

Fry acquired this curious titleleaf together with the Genealogies, Old Testament and Apocrypha found in this volume; he added the New Testament, which was wanting, taking it from another copy. Loftie (p. 65), who states that a duplicate was in G. Offor's Collection, considers that the title was probably experimental. In letterpress it closely resembles the titles of 1611 and 1613, differing, however, in setting-up, as well as in date. The border is the woodcut border.

Genealogies—Fry's No. 18; no Map.

Inserted at the beginning, for the purpose of comparison, is a leaf containing facsimiles of the letterpress of the general titles dated 1611, 1613, 1617, 1634 and 1640.

1618. A Confutation of the Rhemists translation, glosses, and annotations on the New Testament, so farre as they containe manifest impieties, heresies, idolatries, superstitions, prophanenesse, treasons, slanders, absurdities, falsehoods and other evils . . . By . . . Thomas Cartwright . . . Printed in the yeare 1618.

[Qu. Barker : London ?] f°.

A 'Confutation' of the Rheims New Testament by Thomas Cartwright (1585-1608), the eminent Puritan, who was for a time Lady Margaret Professor of Divinity at Cambridge.

According to the title this work had been written long since by order from the chiefe instruments of the late Queene and State, and at the speciall request and encouragement of many godly-learned Preachers of England. The publisher's preface refers to the encouragement which the author received from Walsingham, members of the University of Cambridge, and many others, as early as 1583; and explains the subsequent delays, caused partly by the opposition of Archbishop Whitgift and others, which prevented the whole work from appearing till 1618, though a portion of it had been published at Edinburgh in 1602, the year before the author's death (cf. Lee, Memorial, p. 54 n.). The preface explains that the MS. stopped at Revelation ch. xv, and that the missing portion, beside the small defects by Mice, through 30. yeares neglect, was supplied from Dr. Fulke's work.

The place and printer are not given, but the headpieces, vignettes, etc. are like those of Barker, London.

Twenty-nine preliminary leaves: title, publisher's preface, A copie of a letter written by sundry learned men unto Mr. Cartwright to provoke and encourage him to the answering of the Rhemists (in Latin and English, signed by W. Fulke and others), the Preface etc. with Cartwright's answers. Text, etc. — pp. 1 to 761; table, — 17 pp.; list of Errata — 1 p., 1 p. blank.

The full text of the Rhemish version is given only to the end of St. Matthew, after which, in accordance with the publisher's note on p. 137, it is omitted, those verses only being quoted to which the controversial notes refer.

1625. The New Testament . . .

Norton and Bill: London. 1625. 16°.

Closely resembles in general appearance the 16° Geneva New Testament printed by Barker in 1613. Remarkable as containing the Old Testament Epistles.

Loftie (p. 76) gives the size of this edition as '8vo. very small: apparently 24mo.'

DESCRIPTION. One preliminary leaf: title (within border), with list of books on verso. Text, A 2 to Gg 5 a; on verso begin The Epistles of the Old Testament, according as they bee now read—4 pp., ending on Gg 7 a with colophon, verso blank, 1 f. blank.

Signatures: A-Z* Aa-Gg*; 240 ff. Marginal references, etc. Contents before chapters.

Title-border as in 16° Geneva N. T. of 1613.

Headline on F 4 b, S. Mare; 1 Cor. x. 13, temptatio; 2 Pet. i. 8, bound for abound; 2 John 7, is repeated.

1629. The Holy Bible . . .

Tho. and John Buck, printers to the University of Cambridge. 1629. f°.

The first edition of King James' version printed at Cambridge.

The line Appointed . . . occurs on both titles.

Lea Wilson (p. 104) says : ' For this beautiful edition the text appears to have undergone a complete revision, although I can find no record of such having been done by authority. Yet the errors in the first and intermediate editions are here corrected, and considerable care appears to have been exercised as to the words printed in italics, punctuation, etc.'

This seems to be the earliest edition in which occurs the error : 1 Tim. iv. 16, Take heed unto thyself and unto thy doctrine (for . . . the doctrine).

DESCRIPTION. [Eight] preliminary leaves : [1 f. blank?] title (engraved), verso blank, Dedication—1 f., Preface—4 ff., 1 p. blank, list of books—1 p. Text : O. T., pp. 1 to 540 ; Apocrypha end on p. 668 ; N. T., with title (bearing device), verso blank, ends on p. 842 with device and colophon, 1 f. blank.

Signatures : [—]¶ ¶, A-Z* Aa-Zz* Aaa-Iii* Kkk*, Lll-Zzz* Aaaa* Bbbb* ; 430 ff.

General title engraved, and signed Jo. Payn sculp. ; it represents Moses and David, the four Evangelists, the Last Supper, the hart (Ps. xlii. 1), and other subjects. The device, which occurs on the N. T. titlepage, and above the colophon, is that of Alma Mater Cantabrigia with the legend Hinc Lvcem Et Pocula Sacra.

¶ 309 × 216 mm.

With Prayer Book (1629), and Metrical Psalms (1629).

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

Marked by Fry as ' Variation Edition ' ; but apparently it differs only in the first sheet of text ; e.g. the first page has a headline and a different ornament.

Both titles now bear the words Appointed . . .

Fry possessed more than twenty octavo copies of 1630, 31, or 32. Nearly all differ in parts from one another, but probably the majority are mixed copies. Each copy contains MS. notes of his collations. All the London octavo editions from 1612, 13 to 1631 read together; and the publishers seem to have freely mixed the sheets printed at various dates.

H. R. Plomer (see above, No. 240) has unearthed a fact which accounts for the mixing of sheets in Bibles of this period. During one phase of R. Barker's law-suits, B. Norton presented a cross-petition (1622) in which he stated that his opponent 'very unadvisedly used (for present money) to sell his books . . . before they were half printed, at half the prices he might otherwise have sold the same.' Barker, who was living in a state of chronic debt, seems to have sold from time to time sheets of incomplete Bibles in order to realise money. His customers had to complete their copies as best they could. Hence the mixing of sheets.

Three distinct editions occur of this date.

A.

With Prayer Book (1630), and Metrical Psalms (1631).

Covers embroidered in coloured silks and metal threads on a ground of red silk. The decoration of both covers is the same: ornamental circles, with quarter-circles in the corners, bordered on one side by a row of conventional flowers in compartments; a similar row of flowers adorns the back. The general scheme and the stamps on the gilt edges suggest that the book was bound at Little Gidding.

Fry distinguished several varieties of this date.

A.

This edition is known as the 'Wicked Bible' from the error in Exod. xx. 14, where the Seventh Commandment reads: Thou shalt commit adultery. The printers are said to have been fined £300 for the offence. Martin Lucas is sometimes named as Barker's partner in the production of this book. Kilburne mentions it in his Dangerous Errors . . .

Peter Heylyn in his Cyprianus Anglicus, London, 1668, p. 228, under the date 1632 gives the following account of this edition: 'His Majesties Printers, at or about this time, had committed a scandalous mistake in our English Bibles, by leaving out the word Not in the Seventh Commandment. His Majesty being made acquainted with it by the Bishop of London, Order was given for calling the Printers into the High-Commission, where upon Evidence of the Fact, the whole Impression was called in, and the Printers deeply fined, as they justly merited. With some part of this Fine Laud causeth a fair Greek Character to be provided, for publishing such Manuscripts as Time and Industry should make ready for the Publick view; of which sort were the Catena and Theophylact set out by Lyndsell.'

Addison refers to the same edition in the Spectator No. 579. According to Stevens (Printed Bibles in the Cotton Exhibition, pp. 114-5) a German Bible of 1731 in the Library at Wolfenbüttel contains the same error.

1632. The Holy Bible . . .Barker and Assigns of Bill: London. 1682. f°.

Perhaps published early in 1633; since in many copies the last figure 2 of the date on the general title has been altered by pen to 3; and possibly in others the date was actually thus printed.

Description. Ten preliminary leaves: title (engraved), verso blank, Dedication—1 f., Preface—7 ff., list of books—1 p., 1 p. containing a large engraving. Text: O. T., ff. 1 to 327 (really 323); Apocrypha end on fo. 404 (really 400) a; N. T. (with title within border) ends on fo. 507 (really 503, Pppp 5) a, with colophon, 1 f. blank.

Signatures: A¹⁰, A-Z⁸ Aa-Zz⁸ Aaa-Zzz⁸ Aaaa-Pppp⁸; 514 ff. The incorrect foliation is due to mistakes in sheet Qq. At the top of each page are horizontal rules enclosing the headlines.

The elaborate title-border is that engraved by Hole, and used before in the Geneva folio Bible of 1607 (No. 222). The N. T. title-border resembles that found in the folio edition of 1616 (No. 271), but the lower block has been altered.

¶ 346 × 217 mm.

With Genealogies and Map, supplied from another copy.

With Prayer Book (1632), and Metrical Psalms (1632).

In seventeenth-century binding.

[F. F.]

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

340 × 216 mm. Wants the general title, some preliminary matter, and other leaves.
With Metrical Psalms (1632).

— Another copy.

This differs from the above in lacking the horizontal rules at the top of each page; but in all other respects it is identical.

347 × 220 mm. The last figure of the date on the general title has been altered by pen to 8.

1633. The Bible, that is . . . With . . . Annotations . . . Imprinted at Amsterdam, for Thomas Crafoorth. By Iohn Fredericksz Stam, dwelling by the South-Church, at the signe of the Hope. 1638. Cum priuilegio. 4°.

Geneva version ; with Tomson's revised New Testament, and Junius' Revelation.

C. Sayle in his Early English Printed Books in the University Library, Cambridge, vol. iii. p. 1433, quotes the following passage in illustration of Stam and Crafoorth's connection with the trade in English Bibles: 'On 29 March 1644 J. F. Stam and Thomas Craffurt sell to Hugo Fitz 6000 English Bibles, 12°, to be delivered in August 1644.'

Except for the imprints on the two general titles, on the N. T. title, and in the colophon, this edition is identical with D in the series of quartos in roman type described above under the date 1599 (see No. 191). Apocrypha apparently omitted, though included in list of books. A blank leaf (Qq 8) follows Malachi.

[Robert Young.] 8°.

The first edition of King James' Bible printed in Scotland.

Loftie (No. 66, p. 80) records an octavo edition of the New Testament of this version printed at Edinburgh by the heirs of Hart in 1628 (cf. Lee, Memorial, p. 82).

It has been supposed that this Bible was published in connection with the coronation of Charles I. at Edinburgh in June, 1633. Robert Young, a Londoner, is said to have become King's Printer for Scotland, 12 April 1632.

The New Testament of this Bible, and the separate New Testament in larger type issued from the same press (see below, No. 372), often contain a series of inserted plates. A contemporary letter, dated 11 July 1638, 'from a person in England to two confidants in Scotland' (printed by Lord Hailes in his Memorials and Letters relating to the History of Britain in the reign of Charles the First . . ., Glasgow, 1766, pp. 39-45), contains a manifest allusion to these illustrations: 'That you may taste a little of our condition, I have sent you two of your own Scots Bibles, your New Testament only, wherein they have placed such abominable pictures, that horrible impiety stares through them; these come forth by public authority; do you show them to such as you think meet; I send to each of you one of them.'

The introduction of these plates is described in a pamphlet entitled 'A Second Beacon fired by Scintilla . . . Wherein is remembred the former Actings of the Papists in their secret Plots: And now discovering their wicked Designes to set up, advance, and cunningly to usher in Poperie; By introducing Pictures to the Holy Bible . . .' (London, 4 Oct. 1652). [See B. M. copy, E. 675. (29).] The author, Michael Sparke (see note after 1640), asserts that a bookbinder of Worcester named Francis Ash, 'a strong and secret Papist,' developed a large business in procuring 'Popish Books, Pictures, and the like' for Roman Catholics in the West of England. Ash 'found an extraordinary Trade, especially to join pictures to the English Bible in 8^{vo} which pictures he had from Mr. Robert Peake, (who after went to Basing-house) so that Mr. Ash after took a voyage to France for Popish Books, and pictures for the Bible, which the Papists so much extolled, so that now the Papists of late will have Bibles in English, and the Pope cannot avoid it, but so that all their sorts must have pictures, and I fear Popish notes: and by this means Ash grew into an extraordinary way to get Trade; I am credibly informed there, that in France he dealt for the pictures of all the Popish sorts, and the most excellent, as of Vandikes Draft, and there bargained with an excellent workman Mr. Hollard to engrave and cut them, and gave a piece of money in hand to begin withall, and they there were begun, and divers proffers made of them since.'

For Laud's connection with these illustrated editions called 'the Archbishop of Canterbury's Bibles,' see William Prynne's Canterburies Doome . . . (1646), pp. 109-10: ' . . . The Archbishop had in his own private Study a Book of Popish pictures of the Life, Passion, and Death of our Lord Jesus Christ, and of the Virgin Mary, printed by Boetius à Bolswert in forein parts, Anno 1623. [See below, No. 372.] These very Pictures were all licensed by the Archbishops own Chaplain Doctor Bray; printed by his own printer and Kinsman Badger, in the year 1638. for one Peake a Stationer (now in armes against the Parliament) and publicly sold and bound up in Bibles; as was testified by Mr. Walley Clerk of Stationers Hall, and Michael Sparke Senior. Master Willingham likewise attested upon oath concerning these Pictures and Crucifixes put into the Bibles: that Captain Peak at Holborne Cundit, Bookseller, who printed these pictures for Bibles, did affirme, that he printed them with the good liking, and by the speciall direction of the Archbishop, and his Chaplaine Dr. Bray: which Dr. Bray, as he said, carried him divers times to the Archbishop to shew him the prints thereof, as they were cut and finished, who liked them all well, and gave his consent for the binding them up in Bibles; saying, That the Bibles wherein these pictures were bound up, they should be called THE BISHOP OF CANTERBURIES BIBLES . . . Prynne continues: ' . . . he would corrupt, pollute all our Bibles and New Testaments with these Romish Images bound up in them, to which they are most repugnant. He would suffer no English Bibles to be printed or sold with marginal Notes [i.e. the Geneva version: see note after 1640] to instruct the people, all such must be seized and burnt, as we shall prove anone: but himself gives speciall approbation for the venting of Bibles with Popish pictures taken out of the very Masse book, to seduce the people to popery and idolatry.' Cf. pp. 471, 491, 497, and 515; and also The History of the Troubles and Tryal of William Laud . . . (1695), pp. 335-6.

DESCRIPTION. Four preliminary leaves: 1 f. bearing on verso a cut of the royal arms, 1 f. bearing on verso a full-page engraving, title (engraved), verso blank, Dedication—1 p., list of books—1 p. Text: O. T., A 8 to Nn 8 b; Apocrypha end on Yy 4 b; N. T. (with title within frame, on verso cut of the royal arms) ends on Mmm 4 a, on verso cut of the royal arms.

Signatures: [unsigned]² A-Z^a Aa-Xx^a Yy^a, Aaa-Lll^a Mmm^a; 450 ff. Leaves not numbered.

The engraved titlepage represents Moses and Aaron, the twelve Tribes, the twelve Apostles, and the four Evangelists. At the top is a triangular symbol of the Trinity, surrounded by a glory, whence issues a hand holding a book, which bears all the letterpress except two lines inscribed on a scroll below. The engraved frontispiece pictures the Fall. The cut of the royal arms displays the shield within a garter.

1 Tim. iv. 16, thy.

There are two varieties of this Bible.

A.

Is. lxvi. 24 carcases; Ggg 1 a catchword: 37 But; Kkk 8 a headline: Of Widows.

¶ 172 × 111 mm.

With Metrical Psalms (1633).

In two volumes, the Apocrypha being bound separately from the rest of the Bible.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

163 × 106 mm. Very imperfect.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

165 × 102 mm. Imperfect: containing only the N. T.

This should not be called a distinct edition of the New Testament, though probably some copies were issued separately. It has no list of books, and is merely the N. T. extracted from the above Bible. There is a distinct octavo N. T. of this date printed by Young at Edinburgh (see No. 372).

Contains 50 plates. Many of these are copied from the designs of Boetius à Bolswert (see below, No. 372). The plate of St. Matthew is inscribed Are to be sould by Robt. Peake at his shopp nere Holborne Conduit; and others also bear Peake's name. The descriptions are in English. These are evidently some of the 'Popish Pictures' introduced by Ash (see note above).

[F. F.]

367.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

B.

This differs considerably from A in various parts of the book. Is. lxvi. 24 carcases; Ggg 1 a catchword: us; Kkk 8 a headline: Of widows and elders.

¶ 161 × 106 mm. Wants the first preliminary leaf.

According to Fry's MS. note the N. T. in this copy was taken from a Bible, the rest of which belonged to the edition of 1637,36 (No. 395). This N. T. differs from that in No. 395.

¶ 153 × 83 mm. Wants Apocrypha.

With Prayer Book (1634), and Metrical Psalms (1634).

Bound in vellum.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

Marked by Fry as a variety, but evidently a mixed copy. Many sheets at the beginning are taken from a copy of the edition of 1632,31; catchword on A 2 a: and.

146 × 77 mm. Imperfect: wanting preliminary leaves, and Apocrypha.

With Metrical Psalms (1631).

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

The first two leaves belong to the edition of 1632,31; the rest of the book is the edition of 1633.

149 × 79 mm. Wants Apocrypha.

With Metrical Psalms (1632).

Covers embroidered with coloured silks, gold and silver threads, and purl, on a ground of white silk. In the centre of each cover is a pelican feeding her young. The ornaments include peasecods and rosettes. With a beautiful marker of contemporary work.

1633. The New Testament . . . faithfully translated . . . By the English Colledge . . . in Rhemes . . . The fourth Edition, enriched with Pictures . . . By Iohn Covstvier. 1638.

[Qu. Rouen?]. 4°.

The fourth edition of the Rheims New Testament.

This generally follows the second edition of 1600. Printed probably at Rouen (see No. 387, 1635).

DESCRIPTION. Fourteen preliminary leaves: first title (engraved), second title (as above), The Censure . . ., Preface, The Books of the New Testament . . ., The signification . . ., and The Summe . . . Text, pp. 8 to 693; followed by The Explication . . ., and tables, ending with a list of errata on Ccc 2.

Signatures: [first title.] ā' ē' i', A-Z' Aa-Xx' Yy' Zz' Aaa' Bbb' Ccc'; [1+] 382 ff.

The engravings include the first title, portraits of the four Evangelists, St. Paul, and St. John before Revelation, and a representation of the Day of Pentecost. They are signed Picquet and Michel van Lochem. The engraved title represents Christ on the Cross and two symbolical figures, Ecclesia and Synagoga.

¶ 237 × 173 mm.

Bound uniformly with the copy of the O. T. in 2 vols. printed by Coustourier in 1635. All three volumes bear on the titlepage and fly-leaf the following inscriptions: *Miss. Scot. Ord. S. Benedicti comparavit f. Jac. Blair, 1682. Herbipolensis P.P.—Ex Scotica Missionis Herbipolim me misit R. P. Jacobus Blair.—Ex libris Monasterij S. London Printed by Augustine Mathewes on of the assignes of Hester Ogden. Cum privilegio Regis. 1638.

f°.

The fourth edition of Dr. Fulke's work. See No. 156.

See Arber, Transcript, vol. iii, pp. 39, 40, for a dispute about the ownership of the copy-right, between Hester Ogden, and J. Bill, B. Norton and T. Adams, who claimed to be the proprietors of the work after G. Bishop's death.

The Bishops' version still appears as The Translation of the Church of England.

A portrait of the author precedes the engraved title. The border of the title contains figures of the Evangelists, SS. Peter and Paul, a Jesuit (Hinc Zizania), and a Doctor of the Reformed Church (Hinc Semen Bonum), etc. Both are engraved by W. Marshall. The Dedication to Charles I. is signed by the author's daughter, Hester Ogden. Then follow Fulke's Dedication to Elizabeth, etc., A Catalogue of . . . books . . . written by William Fulke . . ., Preface, etc. Text, pp. 1-912; table—13 pp., 1 p. blank.

1633. The | New Testament . . . Edinburgh, | Printed by the Printers to the Kings | most excellent Majestie. | Cvm Privilegio. | Anno Dom. 1638.

[R. Young.] 8°.

This is usually styled the first edition of the New Testament of King James' version printed in Scotland; but there appears to have been an earlier issue of 1628 (see No. 367).

DESCRIPTION. One preliminary leaf: title (within frame), on verso list of books. Text, A 2 to Oo 4 a (?).
Signatures: A–Nn^a Oo^a; 108 ff. Printed in fairly large type, with long lines.
1 Tim. iv. 16, thy.
Some copies contain a series of plates. (See above, No. 367.)

¶ 159 × 95 mm. Imperfect: wanting I 8, and the last four leaves.

Contains a set of 76 plates. These are identical with those issued in a small devotional book, bearing the title Vite Passionis et Mortis Jesu Christi Domini nostri Mystera, Pius Meditationibus et Adspirationibus exposita per P. Joannem Bourghesium Malbodiensem et Societate Jesu, Figuris aeneis expressa per Boetium a Bolswert (Antwerp, 1622). The plates are numbered in the right-hand bottom corner. No. 1, De Annuntiatione B. Virginis, bears the words Cum gratia et privilegio. No. 76, De Assumptione Deiparae, which is placed as a frontispiece before the title, certainly gives ground for the Protestant criticisms in Prynne's Canterburies Dooms . . . , p. 515, where this particular picture is denounced. See also above, No. 367. The descriptions are in Latin. [F. F.]

VOL. I.

N

- 1635. The Holy Bible faithfully translated . . . By the English Colledge of Douvay . . . Printed by Iohn Covstvier. Permissv superiorm. M. DC. XXXV.

[Rouen.] 4°. 2 vols.

The second edition of the Roman Catholic version of the Old Testament, first published in 1609,10 at Douai.

For a period of 115 years after this date (1685-1750), according to Cotton, not a single edition of the Douai-Rheims version of the Bible was published.

The general arrangement of the matter in these volumes follows that of the earlier edition. An engraved title is found in some copies placed before the ordinary title. Each page is surrounded by rules.

Signatures: vol. 1: [first title] A-Z' Aa-Zz' Aaa-Zzz' Aaaa-Zzzz' Aaaaa-Zzzzz' Aaaaaa-Nnnnnn' Oooooo'; vol. 2: [first title] A-Z' Aa-Zz' Aaa-Zzz' Aaaa-Zzzz' Aaaaa-Zzzzz', Aaaaaa-Kkkkkk' ā' ē' ī' ō' ū'; [2+] 1032 ff.

The last page contains an extract from the royal license granted to Iean le Covstvier of Rouen to print these Bibles in English, dated 8 August 1634.

231 × 178 mm. Wanting the engraved title in each volume.

[F. F.]

387.

- 1635. The New Testament . . .

Barker and Assigns of Bill: London. 1635. 8°. 38. 1.

A new style of black-letter octavo New Testament, with a rather longer page, containing 49 lines. Text ends on Ee 8 b; no colophon.

Signatures: A-Z' Aa-Ee'; 224 ff.

Title-border as in the edition of 1622, No. 297.

1 Tim. iv. 16, thy.

¶ 141 × 86 mm.

With Metrical Psalms (1635,36).

[F. F.]

388.

- 1635. The New Testament . . .

Robert Young, Printer to the Kings most excellent Majesty:

Edinburgh. 1635. 8°. 38. 1.

Corresponds generally to the London edition of the same date. One preliminary leaf: title (within narrow frame), with list of books on verso. Text, A 2 to Ee 8 b.

1 Tim. iv. 16, thy.

¶ 145 × 92 mm.

[F. F.]

389.

- 1636. The Holy Bible . . .

Barker and Assigns of Bill: London. 1634,36. 4°. 38. 1.

General title dated 1634; N. T. dated 1636 on title, but 1634 in colophon.

Text ends on p. 904 (Lll 4 b).

The general title is like that in var. A of 1634; Gen. i. 4, darknesse; p. 3 headline Adams genealogie.

¶ 231 × 166 mm.

With Genealogies, and Downname's Concordance (n. d.).

1638. The Holy Bible . . .

Tho: Buck and Roger Daniel, Printers to the University of Cambridge. 1638. f°.

'The authentique corrected Cambridge Bible, revised Mandato Regio, by the learned Doctor Ward, Doctor Goad of Hadley, Mr. Boyse, Mr. Mead, &c., and printed by the elaborate industry of Thomas Buck Esquire and Mr. Roger Daniel in folio in 1638.' (William Kilburne's tract Dangerous Errors in Several late printed Bibles . . ., 1659, reprinted in the Introduction to Loftie's A Century of Bibles, 1872, p. 35.)

In this edition, thus favourably noticed by Kilburne, the work of correction begun in the folio Cambridge Bible of 1629 was carried further. The revisers took special pains to render uniform the use of italics; and they also introduced a certain number of new readings: e.g. Matt. xii. 23, Is not this the sonne of David? (for Is this . . .), and 1 John v. 12 . . . hath not the Sonne of God (of God added). Here first occurs the famous reading in Acts vi. 3, . . . whom ye may appoint (for . . . whom we . . .). This alteration has often been ascribed to the Puritans, and was reputed to have cost Cromwell a bribe of 1000*l.*; yet here it is found as early as 1638, in a Bible prepared under the royal sanction.

1 Tim. iv. 16, thy.

This remained the standard text until the publication of Dr. Paris' Cambridge edition of 1762.

DESCRIPTION. [Seven] preliminary leaves: [1 f. blank ?] title (engraved), verso blank, Dedication—1 f., Preface—7 pp., list of books—1 p. Text: O. T. pp. 1 to 642 (lil 4 b); Apocrypha, pp. 1 to 151 (Yyy 4 a), verso blank; N. T. (with title, bearing device and date 1638), pp. 1 to 202 (R 6 b).

Signatures: [—]² A-Z* Aa-Zz* Aaa-Ggg* Hhh* Iii*, Kkk-Xxx* Yyy*, A-R*; 506 f. The text begins on A 6. There is no colophon.

The engraved title (Will: Marshall. sculp.) resembles in general design that in the 1629 edition, but it is redrawn and enlarged, and contains a small device Alma Mater Cantabrigia in the centre. The ordinary device occurs on the N. T. titlepage.

Considered to be a spurious edition, printed in Holland, and published some years after the date given on the title.

Kilburne, in his tract Dangerous Errors . . . (1659), evidently refers to this issue when he says: 'Moreover during the time of the late Parliament great numbers of Bibles in a large 12° volume, were imported from Holland in 1656 with this false Title (Imprinted at London by Rob. Barker, &c. Anno 1638.) wherein Mr. Kiffin and Mr. Hills cannot be excused, (if reports be true,) being contrary to the several Acts of Parliament of 20° Sep. 1649, and 7. Janu. 1652. for regulating of Printing. Wherein are so many notorious Erratas, false English, Nonsense, and Corruptions, that in reading part of Genesis, I found 30 grand faults . . . The very Importation of the Books being an offence contrary to the said Statutes, and ought deservedly to be suppressed; which notwithstanding are dispersed in the Country as aforesaid.'

A manifest reference to this same edition occurs in Operis Historici et Chronologici Libri Duo . . . Amsterdam, 1668, by Robert Baillie (1599-1662), Divinity Professor in Glasgow University. See Lib. 1. Cap. 6. Quæstio 12, p. 55: 'An Samuel ex posteris Corhæ? Queritur duodecimo, Quomodo Samuelis prosapia referatur ad Corham, nam 1 Paral. 6. v. 26. & 27. Samuel numeratur decimus septimus à Corhâ, & tamen tota Corhæ progenies cum patre destructa videtur; nam Num. 26. v. 10. bis mille quinquaginta ex posteris Corhæ celesti flammâ necati sunt? Resp. Sic quidem habent Biblia vernacula in octavo minori quæ dicuntur impressa Londini à Roberto Barkerò, ann. 1638. sed monendi estis ad vestram & aliorum cautelam, editionem istam multis centuriis crassissimorum errorum scatere & in ipsa fronte putidissimum mendacium ferre, nequaquam enim vel Londini vel à Barkerò vel anno 38. excusa est, sed nuper Amstelodami, Delphis, & alibi in Bataviâ ab Hollandis cupiditate quæstus (ut ab ipsis Typographis accepi) supra septies centena millia corruptissimorum istorum Bibliorum edita sunt, in magnum ecclesiarum nostrarum detrimentum.' The number given—700,000 copies—is almost incredible, but these pirated editions, printed abroad, certainly had an enormous circulation.

This edition agrees generally page for page with the Edinburgh edition of 1634, and with that of 1634.44. It abounds in gross misprints.

DESCRIPTION. Two preliminary leaves: title, with list of books on verso, Dedication—1 f. Text: O. T., A 3 to Gg 12 b; [Apocrypha—;] N. T. (with title, verso blank) A 2 to K 6 b. Each page is surrounded by rules. Contents before chapters. Apparently the Apocrypha, though included in the list of books, were generally omitted.

Both titles have the border with architectural design (King David, etc.).

1 Tim. iv. 16, thy.

There are some varieties. All abound in errors.

A.

This has all the errors in the specimen-list given by Lea Wilson (pp. 110-11)—e.g. Gen. xxxvii. 2, Belial for Bilhah; Isa. i. 6, purifying for putrifying; Luke xix. 29, ten for two—except those in Num. xxv. 18 and xxvi. 10 (on one leaf).

Geneva version; with Tomson's revised New Testament, and Junius' Revelation.

The Apocryphal books, with the exception of the Prayer of Manasses, are omitted, for reasons specified in a note inserted after Malachi. This seems to be the earliest example of an English Bible which deliberately omits the Apocrypha from the list of books. See Preface to this volume.

DESCRIPTION. Four preliminary leaves: [1 f. blank], title, verso blank, To the Christian Reader—1 f. (signed ¶ 3), Of the incomparable treasure . . . —1 p., list of books—1 p. Text: O. T. (1) Genesis-Job, pp. 1 to 469 (really 467), 1 p. blank; (2) Psalms-Malachi, pp. 1 to 316 (not numbered); An Admonition to the Christian Reader: Concerning the Apocryphal Books . . . ending with the words Ordained at the Synode of Dort in the year 1618. Set out and annexed, by the Deputies, to the end of the Dutch Bible newly Translated—2 ff. N. T., with title, verso blank, The Printer to the Diligent Reader—1 p., The description . . . (with map)—1 p., text—pp. 1 to 267; tables—13 pp., ending on Mm 4 b. Signatures: ¶¹. A-Z⁰ Aa-Qq⁰. A-Z¹ Aa-Pp¹ Qq¹, ¶², ¶³. A-Z¹ Aa-Mm¹; 540 ff. The page-number is given only on the recto of each leaf.

The running title Psalmes in the Psalter is printed in italics.

The general titlepage bears a cut of the crossing of the Red Sea; the N. T. titlepage has an ornament—a female head between two cornucopias. Two full-page engravings, copied from those inserted in A. Hart's edition of 1610, occur in Exodus, on G 1 a and G 2 b.

Lea Wilson (p. 111-2) considers that there are two distinct impressions of this edition; and Fry alludes to a 'variation edition.' But probably these 'varieties' are merely mixed copies containing a certain number of leaves which correctly belong to the very similar edition of 1644; though perhaps a few sheets, of which the supply ran short, were reprinted before that date.

Christianus Ravius of Berlin refers, in the preface of his work Prima tredecim partium Alcorani Arabico-Latini (Amsterdam, 1646, 4°), to the large number of English Bibles printed in Amsterdam: ' . . . Quod si forte non videatur credibile, sciendum, nullam nationem, ne ipsam quidem Germaniam, ut typographia longè anteriorem, tot editiones Bibliorum annumerare posse, quot sola Anglia: cum unus vir Anglus, hic Amstelodami intra 4. vel 5. annos ad 40000 exemplarium impresserit, ubi ultima editio erat 12500 exemplarium; & hic Amstelodami ultra centum quinquaginta millia exemplarium Bibliorum Anglicanorum sint impressa, præterquam quæ in Anglia ipsa ad duas myriadas exemplarium impressa sunt.'

¶ 357 × 225 mm. Wants apparently one blank leaf before title. A duplicate of An Admonition . . . is inserted at the end. [F. F.]

Fry marked this copy 'variation edition,' but it is merely mixed. Where it differs from the preceding it seems to agree with the edition of 1644. The N. T. title is dated 1644.

NOTE ON THE PRICES OF BIBLES IN THE EARLY SEVENTEENTH CENTURY.

A scarce tract entitled Scintilla, printed in 1641, which throws a flood of light on the prices of Bibles and the general bookselling trade in the early seventeenth century, is here printed in extenso. Prof. Arber included it in his Transcript of the Registers of the Stationers' Company (vol. iv., 1877, pp. 85–88); but from its bearing on the history of the English Bible it claims a place in this Catalogue. Arber sums up the value of Scintilla as follows: 'This tract is a remarkable testimony to the never-ending competition in the book trade; to the power of the King's Printers, partly as patentees, and partly as capitalists only; to the vast extent (proportionately to other books) of the production of Bibles, etc., and school books under the earlier Stuarts; and, lastly, to their steady rise in price, despite the much larger editions than formerly, owing in some degree to the increasing wealth of the country, but still more through monopolies and "rigging the market."' It will be seen that Scintilla also gives interesting details as to the importation of English Scriptures printed in Holland.

The author was a London bookseller named Michael Sparke, a native of Eynsham, near Oxford, who died at Hampstead 29 Dec. 1658. He is remembered chiefly as the publisher of William Prynne's works, including the famous Histriomastix (1633), for the publication of which Sparke was fined £500, and condemned to stand in the pillory. More than once he infringed copyrights, and dared even to attack the Bible-monopoly of Barker. 'The printing of Bibles and liturgies belonged by patent to Robert Barker, the King's printer and his assignees. In order to defeat this monopoly, Sparke imported large quantities of these books from Holland, and sold them at much cheaper rates than those printed in London. Barker obtained a warrant to search the ports and seize all the foreign printed Bibles he could find. Sparke retaliated by bringing an action for trespass against those who seized the books, and went on importing fresh supplies.' (Cf. D. N. B., art. R. Barker.)

For theological reasons, Archbishop Laud actively hindered the introduction of Geneva Bibles printed abroad. See The History of the Troubles and Tryal of . . . William Laud . . . (1695), pp. 849, 850; and W. Prynne's Canterburies Doome . . . (1646), pp. 181, 518, 515–6, and 529; in some of these passages Sparke is mentioned by name. In August, 1645, Parliament prohibited the sale of imported Bibles, until these had been examined, and sanctioned as correct, by the Assembly of Divines.

Besides Scintilla, Sparke was responsible for another pamphlet, A Second Beacon, fired by Scintilla . . . (1652), which is quoted above in connection with the 'Popish pictures' inserted in the Edinburgh Bibles of 1638 and other dates (see No. 867).

(For further details, see 'Michael Sparke, Puritan Bookseller,' by H. R. Plomer, in the Bibliographer, New York, Dec. 1902.)

The following is printed verbatim et literatim from the British Museum copy [E. 169 (8)] of the small quarto four-leaved tract. In the margin are added a few explanatory notes. It should be noted that the prices mentioned are in every case for the book 'in quires,' i.e. in sheets—unbound. These prices must be multiplied by five to obtain approximately their equivalent value to-day.

Lattin Bibles.

Observe London Stationers that bought of the Lattin Holland Bibles, punished in the High Commission for buying Lattin Bibles from Holland, a yeare before ever any were printed in London; observe what a but of Sack might doe.

London Testament octavo, sold at 10^d in quires, raised to 1 sh. which 2^d upon a Book makes in 12000 impression a year 100^l.

Scots Testament at Edenburg, sold here in London at 10^d, better paper and print than ours here.

London Testaments in 12, at 7^d. rayssed 3^d in a Book, sold now at 10^d, make in 6000. the over prise, rated 75^l.

Cambridge Testament 24. were sold at 6^d in quires. London Test. 24 sold at 8^d a Book, 2^d a Book rayssed in 4000, is 80^l.

i.e. a
penny.

London Common prayers in 24. raised ob upon a Book 4000 of them is 8^l 6 sh. 8^d.

London Common prayer Books in folio, sold at 3 sh in quires, rayed 1 sh. on a Book, now sold at 4 sh. comes to in 8000 an Impression 150^l.

Common prayers 4^{to} sold at 1 sh 6^d a Book : rayed 6^d on a Book, sold at 2 sh 8000. the Impression is rayed 57^l.

Common prayers for quarto Bibles rayed 2^d on a Book.

Common prayers in 16, raised 1^d on a Book, comes to 12 li 10 sh 8000 of the Impression.

Observe I pray now, I come to the Law Books, I Law Books. Law had need to break two lights into the Warehouse : but Patent.
I perceive then this would rise too bigge. I will only 4.
nominate 8 Books in 8 severall volumes, so by the 8 you may conceive the rest.

The Monopolist have not only gotten all the Gospel, Law Books.
but also the Law as followes.

Polltons Statutes sold at 1^l 10 sh in quires, in Folio, former times, now rayed to 6 sh 8^d a Book ; the Impression of 1500 so rayed by the Monopolist amounts to 500 li.

Edward the 4th sold at 18 sh 4^d, now rayed 8 sh in a Book, comes to in a 1000 Books to 400 li. Quarto, Compleat Iustice sold at 2 sh 2^d a Book, I will Octavo, sell every Impression cheaper by a 100 li. And here have they ingrossed the Schoole Books Patent.

[p. (5),
A 4 a.] Grammer of Oxford and Cambridge sold at 5^d a Schoole Books
Booke ; but these the Monopolists buy in, and sell Patent 5,
'qs' i.e. them, and theirs at 8^d a Book, qs which in an yearely Lylies Grammer quires. Impression of 20000 is rayed 250 li.

Camdens Greek Grammer sold at 8^d. a Book in Camden Greek quires alwayes, now sold at 1 sh. 2^d. Rayed 6^d on a Grammer, Book. The same Printed in France, is sold here at i.e. 4¹/₂d. 4^d. ob. a Book, and so Rayed in 8000 to the summe of 75 li.

Accedence, this Book by chance a yeare agoe broke loose from the Stake of the Monopolist, and was sold Accedence, at six shillings in the pound cheaper then they sell them : but they have by Combination tyed him to the Stake again : for observe, if the old Partners cannot agree together, the Young will, though never so Indirect.

The Monopolist keep all others from Printing Con- Concordance cordances by their Patent, and these being printed in Patent, 6, another Volume beyond Sea, and brought over, and sold at half their prise, they seise and take them from others, and sel them again themselves, although theirs be not to be had here : So have they likewise seised other Books Printed beyond the Seas, when not any Printed here were to be had.

But a touch of this : for it is too tart, and I verily Geneology patent, 7, beleeve picks the Subjects pockets, that eats brown bread to fill the sleeping Stationers belly with Venison and Sacke, and robs the Common-wealth in too still away ; and when the Sellers by Retale get not a ob. these Monopolists get a shilling ; for the Octavo Geneologie. and the twelve, of every 4 li. they make 15 li. and for the 12. what the Retailers give 4 li. for, they will not if they were to be returned again give six shillings for it.

I hope when the Honourable Assembly of Parliament sees this, as I shall be ready to make proof of all; they will put an end to these crying grievances, and help the calamities of the poore pinshed subjects.
VOL. I. O

Here I could open another window, but I see many poore stand within to keep it shut, and I will not adde misery to their affliction.

A 4 b.]

Lastly, some few observations shall serve for the Errata, which the Honourable House of Parliament may correct in the Society of Stationers, by taking order that the Statute of 25 H. 8. c. 15. concerning the prizes of Bookes may be duly exercised; that there may be at least 20 or 24 Assistants to the Company, and none of those to be above twice Master, for now six or 8 of the Eldest Combining, carry all to their own mark, and ayme alwayes at their own end: and that if they will not Print such Coppies as are there entred to the Company, it may and shall be free for any to imprint or Import them, untill such times they Print them here to furnish the Kingdome.

This may serve in part for should I make a whole Errata, it would be farre bigger then this Breviat, and here look but into a window of the Monopolists Law-Warehouse: and there behold a free discovery as here followes.

NOTE ON ENGLISH BIBLES PRINTED ABROAD.

It will be convenient to give here a list of all the editions of the English Bible, catalogued in this volume, between the dates 1599 and 1746, which are known, or conjectured, to have been printed in Holland, or elsewhere on the Continent. Many of these bear a false imprint, and some probably a false date. A few are well and correctly printed, but others abound in errors. Differences in typography and peculiarities of spelling afford the best criteria for distinguishing these Bibles from contemporary editions printed in England.

List of foreign editions: Nos. 188-194, 198, 218, 281, 294, 307, 364, 370, 387, 408-412, 424, 438, 444, 448, 449, 452, 458, 455, 456, 461, 465, 499, 500, 520-523, 541, 551, 552, 557, 574, 580, 588, 584, 592, 611-618, 616, 622, 626, 656, 672, 676, 688-691, 700, 781, 774, 776, 781, 784, 796, 814.

1642. The Holy Bible . . . VVith most profitable Annotations . . . which notes have never before been set forth with this new translation; But are now placed in due order with great care and industrie.

Printed by Joost Broerss dwelling in the Pijl-Street, at the signe of the Printinghouse: Amsterdam. 1642. f°.

King James' version, with the notes of the Geneva Bible, and Junius' Annotations on Revelation. According to the New Testament title these were placed in due order by I. C. (? John Canne).

Apparently the first Bible of this version avowedly printed abroad.

DESCRIPTION. [Fourteen] preliminary leaves: title (within engraved border), verso blank, Dedication—1 f., Preface—8 ff., two tables and Of the incomparable treasure . . . —15 pp., list of books—1 p., [1 f. blank]. Text: O. T., pp. 1 to 790 (really 712); N. T., 248 pp. No Apocrypha.

Engraved border to both titles represents figures of Adam and Noah, the Fall, the Sacred Name, the Lamb and Book, etc., with the text John i. 17. The N. T. title gives the imprint as Amsterdam, Printed by Joost Broersz. dwelling in the Pijl-steegh, in the Druckerije, 1642.

1 Tim. iv. 16, thy.

1643. FACSIMILE. The Souldiers Pocket Bible: Containing the most (if not all) those places contained in holy Scripture, which doe shew the qualifications of his inner man, that is a fit Souldier to fight the Lords Battels, both before the fight, in the fight, and after the fight; Which Scriptures are reduced to severall heads, and fitly applyed to the Souldiers severall occasions, and so may supply the want of the whole Bible, which a Souldier cannot conveniently carry about him: And may bee also usefull for any Christian to meditate upon, now in this miserable time of Warre. Imprimatur, Edm. Calamy. Jos. 18. This Book . . . good successe.

Printed at London by G. B. and R. W. for G. C. 1648. 8°.

A selection of short passages (nearly all from the Geneva version), printed in pamphlet-form for the use of the Parliamentary soldiers in the Civil War.

Facsimile reproduction; with a preface by F. Fry. (Willis and Sotheran, London, 1862.)

A tradition has always existed that Cromwell's troops were supplied with pocket-Bibles, and some have confidently asserted that a very small complete Bible, like the 24° printed by Field in 1658, served this purpose. The discovery of the real Souldiers Pocket Bible was due to George Livermore of Massachusetts, who described his own copy in 1854. Another copy has come to light among the George Thomason collection in the British Museum; this has Aug. 3d. (apparently the day of publication) written alongside the date on the titlepage. The pamphlet was duly licensed, and bears the imprimatur of Edmund Calamy, the eminent nonjuror. Another issue, somewhat altered, appeared in 1693 (see No. 655).

Mr. Livermore states that five distinct editions (amounting to about 50,000 copies) of a reprint of this pamphlet were circulated among the Federal troops in the American Civil War. His own reproduction appeared in 1861, just before the issue of Mr. Fry's facsimile. A later facsimile was published by E. Stock, London, in 1895.

Title (within narrow frame), on verso begins the text, which ends on p. 16 (A 8 b) with the words This is Licensed according to order.

The passages are chosen mainly from the Old Testament, and are grouped under suitable headings, with the references in the margins.

1644. The Holy Bible . . .

King's Printers : Edinburgh. 1634. Barker and Assigns of Bill : London. 1644. 12°.

Agrees page for page with the Edinburgh edition of 1634 (No. 383), and also with the foreign duodecimo Bible (four varieties) catalogued under 1638 (Nos. 409-412); and is quite distinct from the London duodecimo of 1644 (No. 451).

The general title ends: . . . Imprinted at Edinburgh, by the Printers to the Kings most Excellent Maestie. Cum Privilegio. 1634. The N. T. title gives other printers, and a date ten years later: Imprinted at London by Robert Barker, printer to the Kings most Excellent Majesty: and by the Assignes of Iohn Bill. 1644. It is difficult to account for this inconsistency. The O. T. and N. T. are quite uniform. The type is identical with that used for an edition of the Metrical Psalms, bearing the names of the London printers and dated 1644, which is appended to the copy described below. The whole book has a foreign appearance, and most probably is one of the many Bibles which were printed in Holland in close imitation of favourite English and Scotch editions, and imported or smuggled in large numbers into Great Britain. (See above, Scintilla, 1641.) Possibly this may be the identical duodecimo edition referred to as having been prepared by J. F. Stam and T. Crafoorth (or Craffurt) for delivery to Hugo Fitz in 1644 (see No. 364).

The general title alone bears the words Appointed . . . Both titles have as border the same architectural design (with the figure of King David, etc.) which is commonly used in London editions of this period. A rule is drawn across the end of each chapter.

The misprint The Epistle Dedicatorie occurs, as in the 1634 edition; but 1 Tim. iv. 16, the.

¶ 147 × 87 mm. Apparently wants Apocrypha (included in list of books).
Interleaved; with MS. notes.
With Metrical Psalms (1644).

1645. An Exposition with practical observations continued upon the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh chapters of . . . Job. Being the substance of xxxv. Lectures, delivered at Magnus neare the Bridge, London. By Joseph Caryl, Preacher to the Honourable Society of Lincolnes-Inne . . .

G. Miller for H. Overton, L. Fawne, I. Rothwell, and

G. Calvert: London. 1645. 4°.

With the text. Preface (dated 28 Apr. 1645), Exposition, etc. (725 pp.), and tables.

J. Caryl (1602–1673) held for some time the office of preacher to Lincoln's Inn, and was frequently called to preach before the Long Parliament on solemn occasions. In 1643 he was appointed a member of the Westminster Assembly of Divines, and in 1645 he became incumbent of the Church of St. Magnus. Ejected in 1662 he continued to live in London, where he gathered round him a Nonconformist congregation. His great work was a commentary on Job, first published in its complete form in 12 quarto volumes, 1651–66; a second edition appeared in 2 folio volumes in 1676–7.

1646. The Holy Bible . . .

William Bentley: London. 1646. 8°.

Each title within narrow frame. Text: O. T. ends on Nn 8 a; N. T. ends on Bbb 3 b. No Apocrypha.

Kilburne alludes to Bentley's editions in his tract Dangerous Errors . . . (1659): 'This Affair also occasioned the said [Westminster] Assembly [of Divines] by direction of the Parliament . . . to propose the Bible printing to several Stationers of London; who refusing that laudable work, the same was commended to Mr. William Bentley Printer in Finsbury, and his partners, who have so exactly, and commendably imprinted several volumes by Authority of Parliament in 8°. and 12°. in the years 1646. 48. 51, &c. (according to the authentic corrected Cambridge Bible . . . printed by . . . Thomas Buck . . . and . . . Roger Daniel in folio in 1638,) that some small remainders of them yet unsold are now daily exposed at 12s. per Book in quires unbound by the Stationers (for the fairness of the Print, and truth of the Editions) which Mr. Bentley afforded heretofore at 2s. per Book, or thereabouts, untill he hath been unjustly obstructed by Mr. Hills and Mr. Field . . .'

The reading in Matt. xii. 23, first introduced by the Cambridge Bible of 1638 (q.v.), is here corrected to the original, Is this the Son of David? Acts vi. 3 is correct; but the alterations in 1 Tim. iv. 16 and 1 John v. 12 are retained.

Fry mentions varieties of this edition and that of 1648, but the differences are due to the mixed state of two of his copies (see below).

¶ 163 × 108 mm. Imperfect: wanting the N. T., in place of which is inserted a Greek N. T. (see Greek section, 1633).

R. Daniel : Cambridge ; R. Barker : London. 1647. 12°.

Closely resembles Nos. 409–412 (1638), which bear the imprint of Barker and the Assigns of Bill, but were probably printed abroad. The same type is used, with rules round each page. From the errors and strange spelling, e.g. abroath for abroad, it seems likely that this Bible also was printed in Holland.

The Cambridge imprint appears on the general title, and the London imprint on the N. T. title. O. T. ends on Hh 6 b; N. T. ends on K 6 b. Apocrypha mentioned in list of books.

Isa. i. 6, purifying; 1 Tim. iv. 16, the.

1653. The Holy Bible . . .

J. Field : London. 1658. 24°.

General title engraved; with figures of Moses and David, the Evangelists, etc. Text ends on Ddd 11 a, with colophon. No Apocrypha. The first four Psalms fill one page, Aa 8 a. A full column contains 62 lines.

This small Bible is very incorrectly printed, and was singled out by Kilburne for special condemnation: 'In a Pearl Bible printed by John Field at London in 1658. in volume 24°. (very small to carry in pockets) whereof there have been neer 20000 dispersed, are these egregious faults, viz.:—All the Dedications and Titles of David's Psalms are wholly left out, being part of the original Text in Hebrew, and intimating the cause, and occasion of the writing and composing those Psalms, whereby the matter may be better illustrated. John 9. 21. Or who hath opened his eyes we know not. These words are wholly omitted. Rom. 6. 13. Neither yield ye your members as instruments of righteousness unto sin. for unrighteousness. 1 Cor. 6. 9. Know ye not that the unrighteous shall inherit the Kingdom of God? for Shall not inherit. This is the foundation of a damnable Doctrine for it hath been averred by a reverend Doctor of Divinity to several worthy persons, that many Libertines and licentious people did produce, and urge this Text from the authority of this corrupt Bible against his mild Reproofs, in Justification of their vicious and inordinate Conversations.' (Cf. a pamphlet of 1660, cited above, on p. 184.)Lea Wilson mentions three other misprints: Matt. vi. 24, Ye cannot serve and mammon (God omitted); John ii. 10, when they have for when men have, and iii. 21 might be manifest for may be made manifest.

Varieties occur, differing in the engraved title, the number of errors, and other details. Many copies, probably, were corrected by cancel-leaves.

J. Field: London. 1653. 24°.

An edition similar to, but quite distinct from, the preceding Bible. It is far less incorrect, and is printed on thicker paper. Some conjecture that it was produced abroad, and call it the 'spurious' edition of 1653.

Engraved title as in No. 497. Text ends on Zz 12 b. No Apocrypha. The first three Psalms are printed on Y 10 a. A full column contains 66 lines in the O. T., and 65 lines in the N. T.

This has only one of the six errors mentioned above, viz. that in John iii. 21.

¶ 113 × 62 mm.

With Metrical Psalms (1654).

1653. The Holy Bible . . .

J. Field: London. 1653. 24°.

Marked by Fry as a variety of the edition immediately preceding (No. 499); but it is quite a different book. The B. M. Catalogue calls it 'a spurious edition, not printed by Field.'

The engraved title is signed in the left hand bottom corner: L. Lucas fecit, and has a list of books on verso. The N. T. title is undated; it bears the words Appointed . . . , and designates Field one of His Highness's Printers. (Oliver Cromwell became Protector 16 Dec. 1653; succeeded by his son Richard, 3 Sept. 1658.) The text ends on Ddd 7 a. No Apocrypha. Only two verses of Ps. i are printed on Aa 4 a, the first page of the Psalter. A full column contains 67 lines.

John iii. 21 is correct.

1653. A Paraphrase, and Annotations Upon all the Books of the New Testament: Briefly explaining all the difficult places thereof. By H. Hammond, D.D.

J. Flesher, for Richard Royston, at the Angel in Ivie-lane :

London. 1658. f°.

Henry Hammond (1605–1660) was appointed President of Magdalen College, Oxford, in 1643, and in 1647 was allowed to attend Charles I. as his chaplain. A voluminous writer, he is chiefly known by his 'Practical Catechism' (Oxford, 1644), and this 'Paraphrase.' The latter 'is a great work, though largely superseded now, and gives Hammond a claim to the title of father of English Biblical criticism.' He also assisted Brian Walton in his famous London Polyglot, 1657.

DESCRIPTION. Ten preliminary leaves: 1 f. blank, title (with engraving), verso blank A necessary Advertisement to the Reader—2 ff., A Postscript concerning New Light . . . —pp. 1 to xii. Text with Annotations, pp. 1 to 1008; followed by two indexes, list of Errata, and catalogue of Royston's publications. The Paraphrase is given side by side with the text of King James' version.

Symbolical engraving on title by W. Hollar.

Later editions of this work appeared in 1659, 1671, 1675, 1681, 1689, and 1702.

1657. The Dutch Annotations upon the whole Bible: or, all the Holy Canonical Scriptures of the Old and New Testament, together with, and according to their own Translation of all the Text: as both the one and the other were ordered and appointed by the Synod of Dort, 1618. and published by Authority, 1637. Now faithfully communicated to the use of Great Britain, in English. Whereunto is prefixed an exact Narrative touching the whole Work, and this Translation. By Theodore Haak Esq.

Henry Hills, for John Rothwell, Joshua Kirton, and Richard Tomlins : London. 1657. f°. 2 vols.

An English translation of both text and notes of the famous Dutch Bible of 1637, whose preparation had been ordered by the Synod of Dort.

In the 'Attestation' the translator, Theodore Haak (1605-1690), is described as 'a learned Gentleman . . . every way fitted for such a Task, he being by Birth and Breeding a German, about twenty years [Anno 1645] conversant in England, where not only his faithfulness is known in divers publick Employments, but his Dexterity also in Translating divers English Books of Practical Divinity into the German Tongue . . .' Haak executed this work at the request of the Westminster Assembly of Divines. On 30 March 1648 Parliament granted him the sole right in the translation for fourteen years from the time of publication; and in the following year settled on him a pension of £100 a year. During the Commonwealth he was frequently rewarded by the Council of State for procuring foreign intelligence and translating documents.

The Annotations are enclosed within brackets, and mingled with the text, which is printed in italics. With Arguments, Prefaces, etc. The book is divided into two volumes at the end of the Song of Solomon; but the N. T. has a separate titleleaf and register. No Apocrypha. The preliminary leaves include a Dedication to the Lord Protector—1 f., A Plain and True Narrative touching the late Version of the Bible . . . into the Belgick or Netherlandish . . . 1637 . . .—3 ff., A Copy of the Certificate or Attestation, about the General desire . . . to have the . . . Dutch Annotations upon the Bible . . . Translated into English, by Theodore Haak (dated 1645, and signed by thirty-five names—including Stephen Marshall, Thomas Goodwin, Sydrack Simson, Adoniram Byfield, Alexander Henderson, and Samuel Rutherford)—1 f., and a declaration by the States General of the United Netherlands (dated 1637)—8 pp.

These printers produced a duodecimo Bible in 1656, which is severely condemned by Kilburne for its inaccuracy.

J. Field : London. 1658. 24°.

There are two distinct 24° Bibles of 1658, which both bear J. Field's imprint. It is possible that, while one of these is really Field's production, the other is a foreign or pirated edition. But it is not easy to determine which is the 'genuine,' and which the 'spurious' Bible.

According to the B. M. Catalogue this is the 'genuine' Bible; Fry and Lenox call it 'spurious,' though Fry confesses that it is difficult to see why such an epithet should be applied to it or to the other 24° Bible. Very incorrectly printed, e.g. John vii. 31, no miracles; 2 Thess. ii. 15, Paul fast for stand fast.

Cambridge. 1660, 59. f°. 2 vols.

A reissue of Field's large folio of 1659, with a new general title, dated 1660, and 'illustrated wth Chorographical Sculps. by J. Ogilby.'

The Bible is divided at the end of Job. Vol. 2 has a separate titlepage, dated 1660. The N. T. title is dated 1659.

Pepys alludes to this Bible in his Diary under the date 27 May 1667: 'There come Richardson, the bookbinder, with one of Ogilby's Bibles in quires for me to see and buy, it being Mr. Cade's, my stationer's; but it is like to be so big that I shall not use it.'

Text: O. T., 1103 pp.; Apocrypha, 258 pp.; N. T. ends on p. 338 with colophon dated 1659. General title representing Solomon on his throne, designed by Diepenbeck, engraved by Lombart. The large two-page plates are generally signed with the names of the various artists (P. P. Rubens, T. Tintoret, M. de Vos, N. de Bruyn, etc.), and with that of the engraver Visscher.

1660 ? (The New Testament in short-hand.)Printed for the Authour And are to be sold by HenryEversden under the Crown Tavern in West-Smithfeild :London. [1660 ?] 64°.

The New Testament written in short-hand by Jeremiah Rich ; engraved apparently by T. Cross.

First published in 1659.

J. Rich (d. 1660 ?) learnt his short-hand from an uncle, William Cartwright. He published 'Semography' in 1642, 'Charactery' in 1646, and other works on his system in 1654 and 1659. His Metrical Psalms in short-hand, first published in 1659, are often bound up with his N. T. Thomas Shelton, another stenographer, also published an edition of the Metrical Psalms, about 1670. For Rich, Shelton, and Addy (see below, No. 638), consult J. H. Lewis' History of Short-hand.

DESCRIPTION. Frontispiece; title (in short-hand, except Jeremiah Rich and imprint), verso blank. Text, with pages not numbered; followed by The Names of the Subscribers to this Incomparable Worke—2 ff.

Distinguishable from the edition of 1659, which it closely resembles, by four new names inserted in the list of subscribers.

For another edition see No. 676.

1664. The Holy Bible . . .[Amsterdam ?] 1664. 12°.

No doubt printed abroad, perhaps at Amsterdam. With Canne's marginal matter.

John Canne (d. 1667?) lived for many years abroad, and in 1642 was styled by John Ball 'the leader of the English Brownists in Amsterdam.' His edition of the English Bible was the first to contain a full apparatus of carefully selected marginal references. Anderson (vol. ii, p. 559) mentions a quarto edition of his Bible printed at Amsterdam in 1644; but the D. N. B. gives 1647 as the date of the first authenticated edition. In 1653 he received an exclusive licence for seven years 'to print a Bible with annotations, being his own work, and that no man, unless appointed by him, may print his said notes, either already printed, or to be printed' (Calendar of State Papers, 9 June 1653). Anderson enumerates other editions of 1662, 1664, 1671, 1682, 1698, 1700, 1720, 1727, and 1754. Canne's Bible 'was used in the preparation of Bagster's "Comprehensive Bible," of which it is indeed the basis.'

Text ends on Yy 4 b. No Apocrypha.

The woodcut title-border represents: above, the giving of the Law; and below, a spread eagle, and Joseph meeting Jacob.

1675. The Holy Bible . . .

At the Theater, Oxford. 1675,78. 4°.

The first English Bible printed at Oxford.

An engraved title precedes the printed general title; it represents the Transfiguration above a mountain inscribed Mt. Tabor Matt. 17. 1; across the centre is a label The Holy Bible; in the foreground are seated two symbolical female figures:—one, veiled, representing The Law; the other with a nimbus, The Gospel; on the base of a broken column to the left are the words At the Theater in Oxon. The printed N. T. title is also preceded by an engraved title: three cherubs carry the label The New Testament; an obelisk rests on a square base, on the former an angel writes with an arrow the words The Law of Loue from The hill of Sion, on the latter is inscribed The Law of fear from mount Sinai; the step, on which the angel kneels, bears the words At the Theater in Oxford A° 1675.

No Dedication or Preface; list of books on verso of printed title. Text: O. T., A 1 to Ccc 4 b; Apocrypha (in smaller type), A 1 to I 3 b; N. T., A 1 to P 7 b, ending with colophon; 1 f. blank.

Two varieties occur, differing in the colophon, and very slightly elsewhere.

1679. The Holy Bible . . .
At the Theater in Oxford. 1679. 4°.

The second edition printed at Oxford. See No. 566.

General title engraved (with figures of Moses, Aaron, Jeremiah, and Isaiah, and a view of the Theatre, etc.). Some copies have two N. T. titles: (1) engraved, like the general title; (2) printed, with the following imprint (given also in the colophon): Printed at the Theater in Oxford, and are to be sold by Moses Pitt at the Angel in St. Paul's Churchyard, Peter Parker at the Leg and Star over against the Exchange in Cornhill, Thomas Guy at the Corner of Little Lombard-street, and William Leak at the Crown in Fleet-street, London. Anno 1679.

The names Pitt, Parker, Leak, and Guy often occur, conjointly or separately, as the London publishers of Bibles printed at the Theatre, Oxford, in the last quarter of the seventeenth century. Regarding Guy's Bible-trade W. Maitland (History of London, 1775 edition, p. 1306) writes: 'Mr. Guy, being out of his Apprenticeship [Sept. 1668], set up his Trade, in the little Corner-House betwixt Cornhill and Lombard-street, with a Stock of about two hundred Pounds. At which Time, the English Bibles printed in this Kingdom being very bad, both in the Letter and Paper, occasioned divers of the Booksellers of this City to encourage the Printing thereof in Holland, with curious Types, and fine Paper; and imported vast Numbers of the same, to their no small Advantage. Mr. Guy, soon coming acquainted with this profitable Commerce, became a large Dealer therein. But this Trade proving very detrimental to the King's Printer, all Ways and Means were devised to quash the same; which being vigorously put in Execution, the Booksellers, by frequent Seizures and Prosecutions, became so great Sufferers, that they judged a farther Pursuit thereof inconsistent with their Interest. Wherefore our Founder contracted with the University of Oxford, for their Privilege to print Bibles; and having furnished himself with Types from Holland, carried on a very great Trade in Bibles for divers Years, to his very great advantage.' Thomas Guy, having grown rich by this trade in Bibles, greatly increased his fortune by successful speculation in South Sea stock; and, before his death in 1724, he founded and endowed the famous Hospital known by his name.

Dedication, with list of books on verso, on A 1. Text: O. T., A 2 to Ccc 2 b; Apocrypha (in smaller type), A 1 to K 8 b; N. T., A 1 to P 8 a, with colophon; on verso of last page are printed four tables of Kindred and Affinity, Weights and Measures, Money, and Time.

This is perhaps the earliest edition of the English Bible which has dates added in the margins. Job is dated 2400, and the Nativity 4000, years after the Creation. See note on No. 678.

Three varieties occur.

A.

The leaves of text before sheet F are printed in the smaller type used in the Apocrypha; A (2 to 8), B-E*—39 ff. The N. T. engraved title is a general title with a fresh centre, The New Testament . . . pasted on, apparently thus issued.

¶ 201 × 146 mm.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

B.

The leaves before sheet F are printed in the same type as the rest of the O. T. and the N. T., but with a fuller page, containing 68 lines to the column; A* B-E* (E)*—40 ff. The printed N. T. title bears the device of three crowns and an open book inscribed Dominus Illuminatio Mea, within a circle of light.

¶ 191 × 140 mm.

Without leaf containing Dedication and list of books, and the engraved N. T. title; possibly thus issued.

[F. F.]

— Another copy.

Called by Fry a third variety; but apparently merely a mixture of A and B. It has the Dedication-leaf and printed N. T. title like A, but the first sheets of text like B. Wants engraved N. T. title, which was probably inserted in only a few copies.

With Prayer Book (1679), and Metrical Psalms (1679).

[F. F.]

612.

1682. The Holy Bible . . .Assigns of Bill, Newcomb, and Hills : London. 1682. 12°.

General title engraved (having a design similar to that in the foregoing edition, but with the royal arms below); list of books on verso; Dedication—1 f. Text, A 1 to Ccc 4 b. No Apocrypha.

This Bible appears to have been printed abroad from the same type as the foregoing edition. Canne's marginal matter has been removed; but the text agrees generally line for line, except where the removal of an italic reference letter necessitates closing up the type. Some of these italic letters have been carelessly left in the text; e.g. in Gen. iii. 24, xxv. 14, xxvii. 35, etc. The gross errors are retained; vide passim, esp. Deut. xxiv. 3, husband ate for husband hate, and 19, sha eaf for a sheaf.

It is possible that this edition was produced abroad for the King's Printers in London, who sold it with a new title and the Dedication. But more probably it is a pirated edition with a fictitious title.

¶ 160 × 95 mm. In two volumes.

1687. (The Holy Bible in short-hand.)

Printed for the Author, and others: London. 1687. 16°.

The Bible (with the Metrical Psalms) written in short-hand by William Addy, and engraved by John Sturt.

A MS. note affixed to the last leaf of the B. M. copy 3049. a. 4 explains the method in which this work was executed: 'This Bible in Stenography, my Brethren at sight, and all others skill'd in y^e Art of Sculpture know it's Engraven; but in a Peculiar Manner. It was written by Mr. Addy in ungum'd Ink burnished on the wax and then run thro' with the Engraver by John Sturt.'

William Addy based his system of short-hand on that of Cartwright and Rich (see above, No. 529). He published 'Stenographia' in 1695.

For a full description of this Bible see the Phonetic Journal, 1885, pp. 158-160, and cf. pp. 184, 196-7.

Although some copies contain a dedication to King William III., these, also, bear the date 1687 on the title.

DESCRIPTION. Frontispiece; title ('Holy Bible, containing the Old and New Testaments with Singing Psalms in Shorthand written by William Addy' and 'The Bible engraved by John Sturt,' in short-hand), verso blank; [in some copies:—1 p. blank, 1 p. containing a short note and imprint: London Printed for the Author, and Peter Story. and sold by, Tho: Fabian at the Bible in Pauls Churchyard. Dorman Newman at y^e. King's Armes in the Poultry. Sam: Crouch at y^e. Flower-de-luce in Cornhill. W^m. Marshall at the Bible in Newgate street. Thomas Cockerill at y^e. S. Leggs over against y^e. Stocks Market. I. Lawrence at y^e. Angel in y^e. Poultry; Dedication—1 p., 1 p. blank]. Text: Bible, 358 pp.; the Metrical Psalms, which follow, end on p. 396; 1 f. blank.

Some copies (e.g. B. M. copy 1159. b. 22) exhibit differences in the third and fourth leaves, containing the prefatory matter. On the page opposite the dedication is what appears to be an address to the reader; and across the bottom of both pages runs a different imprint from that given above: London Printed for the Author, and sold by Dorman Newman at the Kings Armes in y^e Poultry Tho Fabian in Pauls Church yard Sam: Crouch at y^e Flower de luce in Cornhill W^m Marshall at y^e Bible in Newgate street Tho: Cockerill at y^e S Leggs over against y^e Stocks market I. Lawrence at y^e Angel in y^e Poultry &c. Another variety gives only one bookseller: Sold by I. Lawrence at y^e Angel in the Poultry (see the Phonetic Journal, 1885, p. 184).

A portrait of Gulielmus Addy (engraved by Sturt) stands as frontispiece. The general title is an architectural design, with figures of Moses and Aaron. The N. T. title represents the Holy Dove, and the four Evangelists with their emblems. The title to the Metrical Psalms shows King David playing the harp.

All copies are ruled by hand with red lines.

J. Rawlins for Richard Chiswell and Jonathan Robinson in St. Paul's Church-yard; and Brabazon Aylmer in Cornhill: London. 1690. f°.

S. Clark, or Clarke (1626-1701), was Fellow of Pembroke College, Cambridge, and for a time held the rectory of Grendon Underwood, Bucks, from which, however, he was ejected in 1662. He afterwards settled at High Wycombe, where he gathered an Independent congregation. His commentary has won the praise of such men as Owen, Baxter, Doddridge, Whitefield, and Bishop Cleaver.

The N. T. title bears the imprint J. Heptinstall for Brabazon Aylmer at the Three Pigeons against the Royal Exchange in Cornhill.

With Preface by Clark, explaining the scope of the work. The editor states that in some passages he has made use of the marginal reading, and in one case he has adopted an independent rendering.

1701. The Holy Bible . . .

University-Printers : Oxford. 1701. f°.

It is commonly admitted that William Lloyd (1627-1717), created Bishop of Worcester in 1700, undertook, apparently on the motion of Archbishop Tenison and at the request of Convocation in 1699, to prepare an improved edition of King James' version; and that his Bible appeared in 1701. But there has been considerable confusion as to which should be called 'Lloyd's edition.'

Some authorities (e.g. Loftie, the B. M. Catalogue, and the D. N. B.) ascribe this Oxford folio to Lloyd. Others (e.g. Lewis and Scrivener) assert that a London folio of 1701 is the special edition prepared by the Bishop. Now the Oxford Bible of 1701 does not materially differ from Bibles printed at that University during the previous twenty years. The dates given in its margin had appeared in Oxford Bibles as early as 1679 (see No. 585), its chronological Index had been appended to more than one Oxford edition before 1701 (see Nos. 594, 605, 618, etc.), and the years throughout are reckoned from the Creation. The London folio of 1701, however, exhibits a striking change. In its dates the Nativity is taken as the central event in history, and—apparently for the first time in any English Bible—the years are reckoned as either 'Before Christ' or 'Anno Domini.'

The Welsh folio Bible of 1690 is sometimes called 'Bishop Lloyd's Bible,' presumably because 'its chronology is Lloyd's' (so D. N. B., art. William Lloyd, and B. M. Catalogue). Now this Welsh edition merely reproduces the dates (reckoned 'Anno Mundi') which had already appeared in certain Oxford-printed English Bibles since 1679: for those dates the Bishop is thus made responsible. As Lloyd was a keen student of the subject, and compiled 'A System of Chronology,' it is more than probable that he himself also prepared the revised Biblical chronology, giving dates B.C. and A.D., which first appeared in the London folio of 1701, and has since been reproduced in most editions of King James' version down to the present day.

It should be noted that this chronology of the London folio of 1701, which has been inserted without any authority in English Bibles for the last two centuries, was based on the famous work Annales Veteris et Novi Testamenti (1650-4), compiled by the learned James Ussher (1581-1656), Archbishop of Armagh.

With additional general and N. T. titles engraved, the latter by Burghers. Text: O. T. ends on Iii 1 b; Apocrypha (in rather smaller type) end on s 2 a; N. T. ends on B 6 b, followed by chronological Index.

[1701. The Holy Bible.

Bill and Executrix of Newcomb : London. 1701. f°.]

This is probably the edition supervised by William Lloyd, Bishop of Worcester. See note above, No. 678.

The text, printed in large type, fills 1456 pp. Besides the revised marginal dates and chronological Index (see above), the book contains a long note on Jewish Weights and Measures etc., compiled by Richard Cumberland (1631-1718), Bishop of Peterborough, whose Essay on this subject, dedicated to his friend Samuel Pepys, as President of the Royal Society, appeared in 1686. This matter is sometimes appended, with other tables, to subsequent editions of the Bible.

Lewis (p. 350) states that this Bible was included among those condemned by the Lower House of Convocation in 1703 for their gross errors.

The B. M. possesses a copy [3061. k. 1.] of this Bible; and also a copy [3035. f. 4.] of another London folio of 1701, by the same printers, which agrees generally with the other, but is printed in smaller type (1148 pp.). From both these London folios the Oxford folio of 1701 (No. 678), as has been shown, is quite distinct.

The patent to print English Bibles may be traced down from Christopher Barker, who purchased a very extensive patent in 1577, and obtained an exclusive patent from the Queen in 1589. It remained nominally in the Barker family down to 1709. 'The patent was then held by Thomas Newcomb and Henry Hills, from whose executors John Baskett and some others purchased the remainder of their term. In 1718 Benjamin Tooke and John Barber were constituted Queen's printers, to commence after the expiration of the term purchased by Baskett, i.e. thirty years from 1709, or January 1739. Baskett bought from Tooke and Barber their reversionary interest, and obtained a renewal of sixty years, the latter thirty of which were subsequently conveyed by the representatives of the Baskett family to Charles Eyre and his heirs' (D. N. B., art. John Baskett). For the subsequent history of the patent see note at 1772 (No. 900).

1712. An Exposition of the Prophetical Books of the Old Testament . . . by Matthew Henry . . .

Printed for J. Lawrence, and others : London. 1712. f°.

Matthew Henry (1662–1714), a Presbyterian minister at Chester, began his 'Exposition of the Old and New Testament' in Nov. 1704. The first volume was published in 1708; and five uniform volumes completing the Old Testament and Gospels appeared during the author's lifetime. Before his death he had reached the end of Acts, and the New Testament was afterwards finished by a number of Nonconformist divines. This most popular of English commentaries was frequently reprinted in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. The edition of 1811 contains additional matter from Henry's manuscripts. See No. 856.

With Preface (pp. x) dated 18 July 1712. The text is printed with the Commentary, but in larger type.

ACCESSION OF KING GEORGE I: 1 AUGUST 1714.

1714. The Holy Bible . . .

Printed by A. Rhames; for William Binauld, at the Bible in Eustace-street, and Eliphaz Dobson, at the Stationers-

Arms in Castle-street: Dublin. 1714. f°.

One of the earliest editions of the English Bible printed in Ireland.

An edition of the English New Testament (probably the Rheims version) was certainly printed at Dublin in 1699, or possibly in 1698, by Bryan Wilson and Cornelius Carter for James Malone and his Partners. It was apparently suppressed on account of its alleged inaccuracy; and no copy is now known. In an advertisement of books printed 'by and for' Patrick Neill, of Belfast, in 1700, appears 'New Testament.'

It is asserted in two Histories of Belfast and in Hardy's 'Tour' that 'The Holy Bible' was printed by James Blow (or Blaeu) at Belfast in 1704. Dr. Robert Travers, Assistant Librarian of Marsh's Library, Dublin, recorded in writing that he had seen an octavo Bible printed several years before 1714 at Belfast by Blaeu. And in 1714 Blow advertised an edition of 'The Holy Bible in several volumes' as printed and sold by him. But no copy of an Irish edition of the English Bible before that printed by Rhames in 1714 is known to survive.

We are indebted for this note to Mr. E. R. McC. Dix.

A magnificent edition, printed in large type. With many plates at the beginning and end of books, engraved on steel from the designs of various artists. Some of the initial letters are similarly engraved. Unfortunately the book contained many misprints, and earned the nickname A Baskett-ful of Errors. See Acts iii. 24 . . . and the prophets . . . and all those . . . for and all the prophets . . . and those . . ., and iv. 24 had for heard, etc. From the misprint The parable of the vinegar (for vineyard) in the headline above Luke xx, this edition is commonly known as the 'Vinegar Bible.'

The engravings differ considerably from those in A; many represent allegorical subjects, and others are merely ornamental pieces, and do not, as in A, generally illustrate Bible incidents.

1719. The New Testament . . . Newly translated out of the Latin Vulgat; and with the original Greek, and divers translations in vulgar languages diligently compared and revised. Together with Annotations . . . and Marginal Notes . . . By C. N., C. F. P. D.

[Dublin ?] 1719. 8°.

An original version by Cornelius Nary, a Roman Catholic priest.

C. Nary (1660-1738), Consultissimæ Facultatis Parisiensis Doctor, was parish priest of St. Michan's, Dublin. In his remarkable preface (printed in full by Cotton, R. and D., pp. 298-304) he complains that the Rheims-Douai version is unintelligible, and that its editions are bulky and expensive. Yet his praiseworthy attempt to provide a simpler version, in a convenient octavo, seems to have proved a failure. Witham (see below, No. 776) speaks slightly of Nary as a translator.

Some copies are dated 1718, and a few of these have a second title A Paraphrase and Annotations upon the New Testament. London, printed for J. Moore in Cornhill. 1718. But perhaps the real place of printing was Dublin, as stated by Geddes. Cotton asserts that the issue of 1719 is identical with that of the previous year, with the exception of two or three slight alterations. The book was never reprinted.

Title, verso blank, preface—5 ff., Approbations (dated 1714 and 1715, and signed by Joannes Farely, M. Fogarty, Mich. Morus, and Francis Walsh)—3 pp., list of books—1 p.; text, A 2 to Ll 8 b; table of Epistles and Gospels, 4 ff. An extra leaf contains a list of Errata.

For J. Baskett: London. 1725. 8°.

Before this date complaints had arisen as to the quality of paper used in printing Bibles, the incorrectness of many editions, and the unreasonable prices at which they were sold. To amend such abuses a royal order, dated Whitehall, 24 April 1724, gave strict injunctions to the holders of the patent with regard to the printing of Bibles, and among other provisions commanded them to set forth clearly 'on the titlepage of each book the exact price at which such book is by them to be sold to the booksellers' (Lewis, History, p. 851). Accordingly most of the subsequent eighteenth-century Bibles have this price printed at the foot of the general titlepage.

The following note is appended to the Preface in this edition : ' There are, in this Edition of the Holy Bible, several Thousands of Errors amended and corrected in the Notes on the Old Testament, which were in all, or most of the former Editions, whether printed at Edinburgh or elsewhere. It was the Labour of a judicious Gentleman for several Years at his Leisure-hours, who was so kind as to make us an Offer of them, which we accepted. As for the Notes on the New Testament, we were recommended by a learned and worthy Gentleman, our very good Friend, to make choice of those subjoyned to Wetsten's Edition of his Greek New Testament, printed Anno 1711, as the most copious and best extant.'

1727. A Commentary upon the Historical Books of the Old Testament . . .
by . . . Symon Lord Bishop of Ely. The third edition corrected.

For John Darby, and others : London. 1727. f°. 2 vols.

Simon Patrick (1626-1707) was Bishop first of Chichester and then of Ely. He issued a long series of paraphrases on books of the Bible.

This edition contains the section Genesis-Esther. The preface is dated 1694. The text and notes are mixed together, the former being printed in italics. Pp. 888, 781. With list of subscribers and index. A portrait of the author occurs as frontispiece; and a small engraving precedes each book.

1730. Annotations on the New Testament . . . By R. W. D. D. . . .

[Douai.] 1780. 8°. 2 vols.

The New Testament newly translated from the Vulgate text with Annotations by Robert Witham (d. 1738), appointed President of the English College at Douai in 1714.

In this original and annotated version, the author professes to explain the literal sense, according to the ancient Fathers; to examine and disprove false interpretations; and to show the differences between the Vulgate and the Greek text. Cotton (R. and D. pp. 305-14) prints his preface in full. His work seems to have attracted more notice than Nary's version (see No. 744). It was severely criticised in a pamphlet entitled Papery an enemy to Scripture . . . (1736) by James Serees. The annotations were reprinted in Oswald Syers' Bible, Manchester, 1813 (No. 1084).

Apparently printed at Douai.

Vol. 1: title, verso blank, preface—4 ff., Errata—1 p., Approbations on vol. 1 (dated 1730 and 1729, and signed by Ambrosius Burgis and F. Antonius Codrington)—1 p., index—5 ff.; text (Matthew-Acts), 506 pp.; followed by 8 ff. containing chronological table, 'Chronotaxis,' and short list of errata. [Vol. 2: title, verso blank, table of Epistles and Gospels—9 pp., 1 p. blank; preface, and Argument to Romans—2 pp.; text (Romans-Revelation), pp. 5 to 586; followed by list of errata—1 p., Approbations on both volumes (dated 1780, and signed by Joannes Ingleton, Ricardus Challoner, F. Philippus Loraine, Georgius Kendal, and Gulielmus Thornburgh)—2 pp., 1 p. blank.]

1731. The New Testament . . . Translated out of the Latin Vulgat by John Wiclif . . . about 1378. To which is Praefixt a History of the several Translations of the H. Bible and N. Testament, &c. into English, both in MS. and Print, and of the most remarkable Editions of them since the Invention of Printing. By John Lewis . . .

Printed by John March. Sold by Thomas Page and William Mount on Tower-Hill; and William Parker at the King's Head in St. Paul's Church-Yard: London. 1731. f°.

The earliest printed edition of Wycliffe's version of the New Testament.

Though it was proposed as early as 1719 to print Wycliffe's translation of the complete Bible, this was not accomplished until 1850. For a notice of the version, see No. 1178, 1850.

Lewis (1675–1747) was for upwards of 37 years vicar of Minster, in Kent.

Title, Dedication To the Right Honourable Thomas Lord Malton . . ., Advertisement, List of Subscribers and Errata, etc.—5 ff.; The History . . . with A Particular Account of the several MSS. . . made use of in this Edition of the New Testament, 108 pp.; The New Testament . . . Translated . . . by John Wiclif . . ., 156 pp.; Glossary, viii pp. With engraved portraits of Lewis and of Wycliffe, and a reproduction of the titlepage to the Great Bible.

The printer's name is given in the colophon on p. 153 of the N. T.: Printed by John March in George-yard near the Postern on Tower-hill, and finished the Sixth day of June, MDCCXXXI.

The text was obtained by Lewis from two MSS., both representing the later Wycliffite version:—(1) an early fifteenth-century MS., belonging to himself, now in the Bodleian (Gough Eccl. top. 5); (2) a MS. written about 1420, belonging to Sir Edw. Dering, and in 1850 the property of W. Conybeare, Dean of Llandaff. (See Forshall and Madden's edition of the complete Bible, 1850, Preface, p. i n., p. 1, and p. lxi v.)

Only 160 copies of this book were issued, sold at one guinea in sheets. For a reprint, see No. 1014, 1810. Lewis' History was published separately in 1739, and again in 1818.

1737. The New Testament . . .
*Printed by Alex. Carmichael, and Alex. Millar in Company.
Glasgow. 1737. 12°.*

A school-edition of the New Testament.

In Scotland during the eighteenth century children were generally taught to read in country schools, by using first the Shorter Catechism, then the Proverbs, afterwards the New Testament, and lastly the Bible. The New Testament (as well as the Catechism and Proverbs) used in schools were very commonly printed at Glasgow (Lee, Memorial, p. 195 n., where this edition is mentioned, and also another printed in 1748 by John Robertson and Mrs. McLean in Company). For a school-edition of Proverbs see No. 928. The 'Society in Scotland for Propagating Christian Knowledge,' which circulated large numbers of these and similar books, purchased many of its editions of the Bible and of the Proverbs from the royal printers in Edinburgh, paying twenty-two pence for each Bible, and one shilling per dozen for the Proverbs.

Text ends on p. 376 (Q 8 b). The last three verses of Rev. xii are printed in smaller type, so as not to run on to another page.

1738. The New Testament . . . with arguments of books and chapters ; with annotations, and other helps, for the better understanding the text, and especially for the discovery of corruptions in divers late translations, and for clearing up religious controversies of the present times ; to which are added tables of the Epistles and Gospels, controversies, and heretical corruptions. The text is faithfully translated into English, out of the authentical Latin, diligently conferred with the Greek, and other editions in divers languages, and the annotations etc. are affix'd to it by the English College then resident in Rhemes. The fifth edition (the first in folio) adorn'd with cuts . . .

[Douai?] 1788. f°.

No edition of the Rheims New Testament of 1582 had appeared since 1688.

Cotton (R. and D., p. 47) suggests that this reprint was edited by Richard Challoner and Francis Blyth. For Challoner, see No. 824, 1750. Blyth was a 'Discalced Carmelite.'

Printed permissu superiorum, perhaps at Douai, but Cotton says 'most probably in London.'

Pp. xx, 646 ; followed by tables.

The editors prefix the following note to their reprint of the table of 'Heretical Corruptions': 'The following table has had so good an effect, that since the first edition of it the Protestants have had the grace to correct, by it, their edition of the N. Testament of 1660 in many places. But as falsehood is inseparable from heresy, and none can be fit to translate faithfully the Word of God, who have not first the Spirit of God in them, they have left many other passages here taken notice of, either totally unalter'd, or not alter'd for the better, sometimes even for the worse. We thought therefore it could not but be beneficial to the Publick to point those places out to them ; which we have done by prefixing an asterism * at the beginning of every paragraph, which they have vouchsafed to amend. And where they have made any alterations, we have inserted them in the margin. Those texts which are here found with this mark † annex'd to them, are such as still remain corrupt in the latest edition of the P. Testament.'

The 'cuts' are an additional title and figures of the Evangelists, engraved by G. van der Gucht.

Daniel Scott (1694–1759), theological writer and lexicographer, graduated LL.D. at Leyden in 1719. While at Utrecht he became a Baptist, and joined the Mennonite communion. In this work he makes a point of showing that the Hebraisms of the N. T. have their parallels in classic Greek, and improves Mill's collection of various readings, especially by a more accurate citation of oriental versions.

*Stamford and London: Printed for the Author, and sold by the Booksellers of London and Westminster. 1745. 8°.*An original version of the New Testament by William Whiston (1667-1752), the translator of Josephus, known also for his book entitled Primitive Christianity Revived.

In this edition the Gospels and Acts are translated from 'the MS. of Beza' in Cambridge University Library, the 'imperfections' being 'supplied from the vulgar Latin'; St. Paul's Epistles from 'the Clermont Manuscript . . . in the King of France's Library at Paris'; and the rest of the New Testament from 'the Greek Alexandrian MS. . . . in the King's Library at St. James's.'

General title (as above). Title to Pt. I; text, Matthew-Acts, A 1 to Z 3 a, with a note on verso. Title to Pt. II; text, Romans-Hebrews, A 2 to M 2 a. Title to Pts. III and IV;

text, James-Jude and Revelation, M 4 to R 2 b; followed by a note Of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ . . . , pp. 1 to 16, signed William Whiston, July 23, 1744.

On a leaf at the end is printed a notice of the remainder of the work: Mr. Whiston's Primitive New Testament. Part V. containing the Epistle of the Corinthians to Paul, and his Answer, preserved by the Armenians. The Epistle of Timothy to Diognetus, and the Homily. With the two Epistles of Clement to the Corinthians. Part VI. containing the Constitutions of the Apostles, in VIII Books. Part VII. containing the Catholick Epistle of Barnabas. With the Shepherd of Hermas, in III. Books. Part VIII. containing the X. Epistles of Ignatius. The Epistle of Polycarp to the Philippians. Josephus's Homily concerning Hades. With the Martyrdom of Polycarp. It is more than doubtful whether these additional parts of the work were ever published.

823.1750. The Holy Bible, translated from the Latin Vulgat . . . first published by the English College at Doway, Anno 1609. Newly revised, and corrected, according to the Clementin Edition of the Scriptures. With annotations for clearing up the principal difficulties of Holy Writ . . .

[Dublin?] 1750. 12°. 4 vols.

This revision of the Douai Old Testament was the work of Richard Challoner. The last previous edition appeared in 1685.

R. Challoner, D.D. (1691–1781) was educated at Douai, where he held important offices. In 1730 he joined the 'London Mission,' subsequently becoming Bishop of Debra, and later Vicar Apostolic of the London District. He 'inaugurated a new era in English Catholic literature, and many of his publications are to this day regarded by his co-religionists as standard works of doctrine or devotion.'

The 'Clementin Edition of the Scriptures,' referred to in the title, is the authorised recension of the Vulgate published under the authority of Clement VIII in 1592. Challoner's alterations tended to simplify and to modernise the version, and in the process made it approximate more closely to King James' Bible. This revision was issued without any special 'Approbations.'

Challoner's corresponding revision of the Rheims New Testament had appeared in 1749. The two volumes of the third (1752) edition of that N. T. (see No. 829) are often added to the four volumes of this first (1750) edition of the O. T. in order to complete a uniform Bible.

Vol 1: title, with list on verso The Order of the Books of the Old Testament, received by the Catholick Church . . . , Approbations of the old Edition—1 f.; text (Genesis–Ruth), pp. 1 to 407 (really 507). Vol. 2: text (1 Sam.–Esther) with chronological table, 492 pp. Vol. 3: text (Job–Isaiah), with table of Psalms, 484 pp. Vol. 4: text (Jeremiah–2 Maccabees), with note at end explaining the omission of certain books—3 and 4 Maccabees, 3 and 4 Esdras, and the Prayer of Manasses—pp. 3 to 411 (really 511); list of errata, 1 p.

Text printed in double columns, with occasional foot-notes.

[Dublin?] 1750. 12°.

The second edition of Challoner's revision of the Rheims New Testament, which appeared first in 1749.

For R. Challoner see note above, No. 824.

According to Cotton's careful collation (R. and D., pp. 315–370), this differs but slightly from the first edition. It is not, however, as Cotton (p. 200) implies, the fifth volume of a Bible, of which Challoner's edition of the O. T. described above (see No. 824) forms four volumes, but a distinct publication.

1787. The New Testament . . .

Glasgow. 1787. 12°.

A school-edition of the New Testament.

In Scotland during the eighteenth century 'children were generally taught to read in country schools, by using first the Shorter Catechism, then the Proverbs, afterwards the New Testament, and lastly the Bible. The New Testaments (as well as the Catechism and Proverbs) used in schools were very commonly printed at Glasgow' (Lee, Memorial, p. 195 n., where this edition is mentioned, and also another printed in 1748 'by John Robertson and Mrs. M'Lean in Company'). For a school-edition of Proverbs see No. 928. The 'Society in Scotland for Propagating Christian Knowledge,' which circulated large numbers of these and similar books, purchased many of its editions of the Bible and of the Proverbs from the royal printers in Edinburgh, paying twenty-two pence for each Bible, and one shilling per dozen for the Proverbs.

Text ends on p. 376 (Q 8 b). The last three verses of Rev. xxii are printed in smaller type, so as not to run on to another page.

1738. The New Testament . . . with arguments of books and chapters ; with annotations, and other helps, for the better understanding the text, and especially for the discovery of corruptions in divers late translations, and for clearing up religious controversies of the present times ; to which are added tables of the Epistles and Gospels, controversies, and heretical corruptions. The text is faithfully translated into English, out of the authentical Latin, diligently conferred with the Greek, and other editions in divers languages, and the annotations etc. are affix'd to it by the English College then resident in Rhemes. The fifth edition (the first in folio) adorn'd with cuts . . .

[Douai?] 1788. f°.

No edition of the Rheims New Testament of 1582 had appeared since 1683.

Cotton (R. and D., p. 47) suggests that this reprint was edited by Richard Challoner and Francis Blyth. For Challoner, see No. 824, 1750. Blyth was a 'Discalced Carmelite.'

Printed permissu superiorum, perhaps at Douai, but Cotton says 'most probably in London.'

Pp. xx, 646 ; followed by tables.

The editors prefix the following note to their reprint of the table of 'Heretical Corruptions': 'The following table has had so good an effect, that since the first edition of it the Protestants have had the grace to correct, by it, their edition of the N. Testament of 1660 in many places. But as falsehood is inseparable from heresy, and none can be fit to translate faithfully the Word of God, who have not first the Spirit of God in them, they have left many other passages here taken notice of, either totally unalter'd, or not alter'd for the better, sometimes even for the worse. We thought therefore it could not but be beneficial to the Publick to point those places out to them ; which we have done by prefixing an asterism * at the beginning of every paragraph, which they have vouchsafed to amend. And where they have made any alterations, we have inserted them in the margin. Those texts which are here found with this mark † annex'd to them, are such as still remain corrupt in the latest edition of the P. Testament.'

The 'cuts' are an additional title and figures of the Evangelists, engraved by G. van der Gucht.

Possibly a reissue by the Dublin printer of an earlier London edition; since it contains a second general title (not engraved) bearing the names of the Assigns of Thomas Newcomb and Henry Hills, London, and dated 1711. But it does not exactly agree with either No. 712 or No. 716. The N. T. title has the Dublin imprint, and the date 1740.

1741. A new version of St. Matthew's Gospel: with select notes . . . To which is added, A review of Dr. Mill's notes on this Gospel. By Daniel Scott, I.U.D.

J. Noon, at the White Hart in Cheapside near Mercers Chapel :London. 1741. 4°.

Daniel Scott (1694–1759), theological writer and lexicographer, graduated LL.D. at Leyden in 1719. While at Utrecht he became a Baptist, and joined the Mennonite communion. In this work he makes a point of showing that the Hebraisms of the N. T. have their parallels in classic Greek, and improves Mill's collection of various readings, especially by a more accurate citation of oriental versions.

1745. Mr. Whiston's Primitive New Testament. Part I. containing the Four Gospels, with the Acts of the Apostles. Part II. containing XIV. Epistles of Paul. Part III. containing VII. Catholick Epistles. Part IV. containing the Revelation of John.

Stamford and London: Printed for the Author, and sold by the Booksellers of London and Westminster. 1745. 8°.

An original version of the New Testament by William Whiston (1667-1752), the translator of Josephus, known also for his book entitled Primitive Christianity Revived.

In this edition the Gospels and Acts are translated from 'the MS. of Beza' in Cambridge University Library, the 'imperfections' being 'supplied from the vulgar Latin'; St. Paul's Epistles from 'the Clermont Manuscript . . . in the King of France's Library at Paris'; and the rest of the New Testament from 'the Greek Alexandrian MS. . . in the King's Library at St. James's.'

General title (as above). Title to Pt. I; text, Matthew-Acts, A 1 to Z 3 a, with a note on verso. Title to Pt. II; text, Romans-Hebrews, A 2 to M 2 a. Title to Pts. III and IV;

text, James-Jude and Revelation, M 4 to R 2 b; followed by a note Of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ . . . , pp. 1 to 16, signed William Whiston, July 23, 1744.

On a leaf at the end is printed a notice of the remainder of the work: Mr. Whiston's Primitive New Testament. Part V. containing the Epistle of the Corinthians to Paul, and his Answer, preserved by the Armenians. The Epistle of Timothy to Diognetus, and the Homily. With the two Epistles of Clement to the Corinthians. Part VI. containing the Constitutions of the Apostles, in VIII Books. Part VII. containing the Catholick Epistle of Barnabas. With the Shepherd of Hermas, in III. Books. Part VIII. containing the X. Epistles of Ignatius. The Epistle of Polycarp to the Philippians. Josephus's Homily concerning Hades. With the Martyrdom of Polycarp. It is more than doubtful whether these additional parts of the work were ever published.

1750. The Holy Bible, translated from the Latin Vulgat . . . first published by the English College at Doway, Anno 1609. Newly revised, and corrected, according to the Clementin Edition of the Scriptures. With annotations for clearing up the principal difficulties of Holy Writ . . .

[Dublin?] 1750. 12°. 4 vols.

This revision of the Douai Old Testament was the work of Richard Challoner. The last previous edition appeared in 1685.

R. Challoner, D.D. (1691–1781) was educated at Douai, where he held important offices. In 1730 he joined the 'London Mission,' subsequently becoming Bishop of Debra, and later Vicar Apostolic of the London District. He 'inaugurated a new era in English Catholic literature, and many of his publications are to this day regarded by his co-religionists as standard works of doctrine or devotion.'

The 'Clementin Edition of the Scriptures,' referred to in the title, is the authorised revision of the Vulgate published under the authority of Clement VIII in 1592. Challoner's alterations tended to simplify and to modernise the version, and in the process made it approximate more closely to King James' Bible. This revision was issued without any special 'Approbations.'

Challoner's corresponding revision of the Rheims New Testament had appeared in 1749. The two volumes of the third (1752) edition of that N. T. (see No. 829) are often added to the four volumes of this first (1750) edition of the O. T. in order to complete a uniform Bible.

Vol. 1: title, with list on verso The Order of the Books of the Old Testament, received by the Catholick Church . . . , Approbations of the old Edition—1 f.; text (Genesis–Ruth), pp. 1 to 407 (really 507). Vol. 2: text (1 Sam.–Esther) with chronological table, 492 pp. Vol. 3: text (Job–Isaiah), with table of Psalms, 484 pp. Vol. 4: text (Jeremiah–2 Maccabees), with note at end explaining the omission of certain books—3 and 4 Maccabees, 3 and 4 Esdras, and the Prayer of Manasses—pp. 3 to 411 (really 511); list of errata, 1 p.

Text printed in double columns, with occasional foot-notes.

[Dublin?] 1750. 12°.

The second edition of Challoner's revision of the Rheims New Testament, which appeared first in 1749.

For R. Challoner see note above, No. 824.

According to Cotton's careful collation (R. and D., pp. 315–370), this differs but slightly from the first edition. It is not, however, as Cotton (p. 200) implies, the fifth volume of a Bible, of which Challoner's edition of the O. T. described above (see No. 824) forms four volumes, but a distinct publication.

Title, the Approbations of the editions of 1582 and 1600 on verso, Approbations of this present edition (dated 1748, and signed by Gulielmus Green and Gulielmus Walton)—1 p., list of books—1 p.; text, 488 pp.; followed by table of Controversies, table of Epistles and Gospels, chronological table, and list of errata, ending on p. 500.

[Dublin?] 1752. 12°. 2 vols.

The third edition of Challoner's revision of the Rheims New Testament, first published in 1749.

See above, Nos. 824 and 825. Cotton by careful collation (R. and D., pp. 315-370) has shown that this edition differs in at least 2000 places from the first and second; yet no notice is given of this extensive further revision, and the Approbation of the 1749 edition is reprinted before the text.

Vol. 1: title; Approbations (as in the 1750 edition)—2 pp.; list of books—1 p.; text (Matthew-Acts), 296 pp. Vol. 2: title, verso blank, text (Romans-Revelation), pp. 3 to 229; followed by tables ending on p. 239; list of errata—1 p.

NOTE ON THE EARLIEST ENGLISH BIBLE PRINTED IN AMERICA.

Under this date 1761, when we first meet with Mark Baskett's name, it is fitting to cite the following passages from Isaiah Thomas' History of Printing in America (published at Worcester, Massachusetts, in 1810), which bear upon the printing of the first English Bible in America:

'Kneeland and Green [of Boston] printed, principally for Daniel Henschman, an edition of the Bible in small 4to. This was the first Bible printed, in the English language, in America. It was carried through the press as privately as possible, and had the London imprint of the copy from which it was reprinted, viz. "London: Printed by Mark Baskett, Printer to the King's Most Excellent Majesty," in order to prevent a prosecution from those in England and Scotland, who published the Bible by a patent from the crown; or, Cum privilegio, as did the English universities of Oxford and Cambridge. When I was an apprentice, I often heard those who had assisted at the case and press in printing this Bible, make mention of the fact. The late governor Hancock was related to Henschman, and knew the particulars of the transaction. He possessed a copy of this impression. As it has a London imprint, at this day it can be distinguished from an English edition, of the same date, only by those who are acquainted with the niceties of typography. This Bible issued from the press about the time that the partnership of Kneeland and Green expired [i.e. in 1752]. The edition was not large; I have been informed that it did not exceed seven or eight hundred copies. Not long after the time that this impression of the Bible came from the press, an edition of the New Testament, in duodecimo, was printed by Rogers and Fowle, for those, at whose expense the Bible issued. Both the Bible and the Testament were well executed. These were heavy undertakings for that day, but Henchman was a man of property; and, it is said, that several other principal booksellers, in Boston, were concerned with him in this business. The credit of this edition of the Testament was, for the reason I have mentioned, transferred to the king's printer, in London, by the insertion of his imprint' (Vol. i, pp. 305-6.)

'During the partnership of Rogers and Fowle, they printed an edition of about two thousand copies of the New Testament, 12mo. for D. Henchman and two or three other principal booksellers, as has been already observed. This impression of the Testament, the first in the English language printed in this country, was, as I have been informed, completed at the press, before Kneeland and Green began the edition of the Bible which has been mentioned. Zechariah Fowle, with whom I served my apprenticeship, as well as several others, repeatedly mentioned to me this edition of the Testament. He was, at the time, a journeyman with Rogers and Fowle, and worked at the press. He informed me, that on account of the weakness of his constitution, he greatly injured his health by the performance. Privacy in the business was necessary; and as few hands were intrusted with the secret, the press work was, as he thought, very laborious. I mention these minute circumstances in proof that an edition of the Testament did issue from the office of Rogers and Fowle, because I have heard that the fact has been disputed.' (Pp. 324-5.)

In spite of the explicit character of these statements, their accuracy has been questioned by more than one writer. They are based on second-hand information, they are not wholly consistent, and they are directly contradicted by other evidence. Baneroff in his History of the United States (11th ed., vol. v, p. 266) refuses them credit till a copy of the actual book has been found. For similar reasons E. B. O'Callaghan declines to admit the editions mentioned by Thomas into his List of editions of the Holy Scriptures and parts thereof, printed in America previous to 1860 . . . (Albany, 1861). Cf. J. Wright's Early Bibles of America (New York, 1892). It may be noted further that Mark Baskett's name does not occur on the titlepage of any Bible or Testament before 1761; and, when it does occur, in the case of London editions it is joined with the 'Assigns of Robert Baskett.' The truth seems to be that, in spite of more than one attempt made by Cotton Mather, and again by John Fleming, a printer of Boston, and possibly by others, to get an English Bible printed in their own country, America before the War of Independence was supplied with English Scriptures solely from abroad. Great numbers must have been imported from Great Britain during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

To this day, no English Bibles are printed in the Colonies; and the only copies of King James' version which can be legally sold there are those which have been printed in Great Britain.

The earliest English New Testament, avowedly printed in America, was issued by R. Aitken of Philadelphia, in 1777. The complete Bible was first published by the same printer in 1782, 81. The B. M. copy (C. 51. b. 7) contains a note in Aitken's writing which certifies it to be the 'first copy of the first edition of the Bible ever printed in America in the English language.' Both editions were of King James' version.

J. Bentham : Cambridge. 1762. 4°.

The 'standard' edition prepared by Dr. Thomas Paris, of Trinity College, Cambridge. In this Bible a serious attempt was made to correct the text of King James' version by amending the spelling and punctuation, unifying and extending the use of italics, and removing printers' errors. Marginal annotations, which had been growing in some Bibles since 1660, although excluded from others, were finally received into the place they have occupied ever since, sundry new ones being added. Lloyd's dates and chronological notes (see No. 678) were also adopted and increased, and the marginal references were much enlarged. Cf. Scrivener, The Authorized Edition . . ., 1884.

Printed by W. Richardson and S. Clark; and sold by WilliamJohnston in Ludgate-Street : London. 1764. f°. 2 vols.

An original version, by a member of the Society of Friends, who is said to have spent 80 years in its preparation.

For a notice of his life see the Editor's Preface to Bishop Wilson's Bible, 1785 (No. 937). Purver (1702-1777) began his translation about 1733. A portion of it was published in parts about 1742 by Felix Farley, the Bristol printer; but it received little support. Subsequently, in 1763, Dr. John Fothergill gave Purver £1000 for the copyright, and published the complete version at his own expense.

Vol. 1: title; Introductory remarks on Translations of the Scripture . . . , pp. i to xvi; Appendix, pp. xvii to xxx; Errata, pp. xxxi to xxxviii. Text, Genesis-Psalms, pp. 1 to 745. Sidwell's autograph appears on the fly-leaf, dated January the 1st 1813. Briançon Prison, France. On his release in 1814 he exchanged the book for a fresh copy obtained from the Bible Society, and carried the latter with him to Brussels in 1815, when the Waterloo campaign began.

For J. Cooke, at Shakespear's Head, No. 10, Pater-noster-Row:

London. 1768,62,69. 4°. 2 vols.

Fawkes (1720-1777), poet and divine, was at this time vicar of Orpington and St. Mary Cray in Kent. The 'Complete Family Bible' bearing his name was first published in 1761,62. 'To this production, which came out in sixty weekly numbers, he sold his name for money, and his name possessed sufficient value in the book-world to justify an edition in 1765 "with notes taken from Fawkes."'

The general title in vol. 1 is dated 1768. The title to vol. 2, and that to the Apocrypha, are dated 1762, and state that the book was printed for the author, and sold by J. Fletcher and others. The N. T. title is dated 1769.

Text: O. T., B 1 to 14 P 2 a; Apocrypha, 19 E 1 to 21 Y 2 b; N. T., 14 Q 2 to 19 D 2 a. Notes at the foot of the page. With indexes, map, and many full-page engravings. Some commendatory verses precede the text in vol. 1; and other verses are printed after the Apocrypha, and after the N. T.

The Oxford 'standard' edition, carefully revised by Dr. Benjamin Blayney of Hertford College, following the lines of Dr. Paris' Cambridge edition of 1762 (No. 854). Blayney quietly incorporated most of Paris' improvements, increased his marginalia, and repeated not a few of his errors.

For a critical examination of the work of these two editors, Paris and Blayney, 'the great modernizers of the diction of the version, from what it was left in the seventeenth century, to the state wherein it appears in modern Bibles,' see Scrivener, The Authorized Edition . . . (1884), pp. 28-35. In an appendix Scrivener reprints from the Gentleman's Magazine, vol. xxxix, p. 517, Blayney's Report submitted to the Vice-Chancellor and the other Delegates of the Clarendon Press 25 Oct. 1769.

Sold by R. Baldwin and S. Crowder, in Paternoster Row, London; and by W. Jackson, Oxford.

A MS. note by Josiah Pratt states that 'a great part of the folio edition of 1769 having been destroyed at Woodmason's fire, a copy of that edition is scarcely to be purchased at any price. A copy of this edition is also very rarely to be met with; sometimes it may be found with a New Testament of later date substituted for that of 1769' (see below, No. 899, 1772).

- 1773 ? The Universal Family Bible : or Christian's Divine Library . . .
 Illustrated with notes . . . by . . . Henry Southwell . . .
For J. Cooke : London. [1778 ?] f°.

H. Southwell, LL.D., rector of Asterby, Lincolnshire, lent his name to this work for a fee of a hundred guineas. The real compiler was Robert Sanders (1727-1788), a hack-writer with a fair knowledge of Hebrew and Greek, who received twenty-five shillings a sheet for his work.

The B.M. Catalogue places this Bible under the date 1778; the D. N. B. states that it was first published in numbers, and then reissued in two folio volumes in 1774.

N. T. title gives the publisher's name as J. Cooke. Text ends on 11 Y 1 b; the Apocrypha have a separate register. The book is 'embellished with one hundred elegant copper-plates executed from original designs, and capital foreign paintings.' With tables, indexes, etc.

1774. A Commentary on the Holy Bible: Containing the whole sacred text . . . with notes . . .

William Pine : Bristol. 1774. 12°.

The Preface states that 'though there are several thousand notes, (and indeed more than in some folio commentaries,) besides the whole of the sacred text, yet through the smallness of the type, (it being the smallest a bible was ever printed with, and made on purpose for this work,) and the remarkable fineness of the paper, it is brought into a portable compass for the pocket; and must therefore be of peculiar use to those who wish daily to read the scriptures, abroad as well as at home, to edification.'

William Pine was connected with the firm of I. Moore and Co. (afterwards J. Fry and Co.), which printed two folio and two octavo Bibles. (See below, No. 915, 1776.)

Text ends on 4 F 6 b, followed by 6 ff. containing A Collection of the Names and Titles given to Jesus Christ, and a table of Proper Names. No Apocrypha. Brief notes are printed at the end of the chapters.

1776. The Holy Bible . . . With notes . . . selected from the works of several eminent divines . . .

Printed and sold by I. Moore and Company, Letter-Founders and Printers, in Queen-Street, near Upper-Moorfields : London. 1774,76. f°.

According to the Preface the editors selected the notes 'from the most eminent commentators, viz. Bishop Patrick; Pool, Clarke, Henry, Doddridge, Dodd, etc.,' and took great care that they should 'be free from party reflections, and tenets hurtful to peace and benevolence, and have a real tendency to promote useful knowledge and genuine piety.'

General title dated 1774; N. T. title dated 1776. Text ends on 11 F 1 a, followed by tables and Index ending on 11 L 2. Apocrypha not included in list of books. The notes are printed at the foot of each column.

The type much resembles that used in Baskerville's Bible of 1768. For a notice of the firm of letter-founders and printers known at first as Isaac Moore and Co., and later styled Joseph Fry and Co., see T. B. Reed, A History of the Old English Letter Foundries . . . (1887), pp. 298-302. Joseph Fry was grandfather of the Francis Fry whose name recurs on so many pages of this Catalogue. The firm printed two folio and two octavo Bibles between 1774 and 1777; and William Pine of Bristol, who was connected with the same firm, printed a small duodecimo Bible in 1774. (See Nos. 912, 915, 916, 921, and 922.)

1776. The Holy Bible . . . With notes . . . selected from the works of several eminent divines . . .

I. Moore and Co. : London. 1774, 76, 75. 8°. 5 vols.

An octavo edition of the Bible printed in large folio with the same type by I. Moore and Co., 1774, 76 (No. 915).

Vols. 1-3 (containing the O. T.) are dated 1774; vol. 4 (the N. T.), 1776; and vol. 5 (the Apocrypha—not included in the list of books), 1775. An index is given at the end of each volume.

¶ 229 × 140 mm.

Contains a series of small engravings, mounted and inserted in the text. These represent the principal characters in the O. T. Some are signed; e.g. that of Seth is inscribed Crispin J. Vent and J. Saedeler fecit, and is dated 1579. The N. T. has only a large engraving of our Lord, by C. J. Visscher and J. Wiriz.

Bound in nine volumes. The volume containing the Apocrypha was added by Fry.

The Notes are evidently added merely to evade the provisions of the Bible-patent, whose prohibitions apparently did not apply to texts with a commentary. They generally occupy only five lines, and are printed at the bottom of the page, leaving a broad space below the text, so that they may be cut off, if desired, by the binder. See No. 985.

R. Cruttwell: Bath. 1785. 4°. 8 vols.

Dr. Thomas Wilson (1668–1755), Bishop of Sodor and Man, was responsible for the publication of some of the earliest books in Manx, including the Gospel of
VOL. I. X

St. Matthew printed in 1748. The notes in this edition of the Bible are apparently taken from Wilson's 'Abstract of the Historical Part of the Old Testament' (1785) and other writings.

C. Cruttwell (1748-1806) edited Wilson's complete works under the direction of the Bishop's son, Thomas.

Sold by Rivingtons, etc., London.

The preliminary matter includes the Dedication, the editor's Preface (giving a sketch of the history of the English Bible), a list of the various editions since 1526 (based on a MS. in Lambeth Library), Bp. Wilson's Preamble, Dedication and Translators' Preface. Vol. 1 contains Genesis-2 Chronicles; Vol. 2, Ezra-Malachi; vol. 3, N. T. and Apocrypha, with chronological Index and tables, followed by List of Subscribers. The text has a running analysis in the margin; below are given the parallel texts, the various renderings, and Bp. Wilson's notes.

The Apocrypha include 8 Maccabees, which had not appeared in an English Bible since 1551 (see No. 66).

1789. A curious Hieroglyphick Bible; or, select passages in the Old and New Testaments, represented with emblematical figures, for the amusement of youth: designed chiefly to familiarize tender age, in a pleasing and diverting manner, with early ideas of the Holy Scriptures. To which are subjoined, a short account of the Lives of the Evangelists, and other pieces, illustrated with cuts. The fourth edition; with additions, and other great improvements.

B. Dugdale : Dublin. 1789. 12°.

A child's book; containing short passages of Scripture in which some of the words are represented by small cuts.

This little book, dedicated 'to the parents, guardians, and governesses, of Great Britain and Ireland,' must have proved very popular, since a 'thirteenth edition' was printed in 1796. The B. M. has a 'second edition' of 1784, a 'third' of 1785, a 'fourth' of 1786, a 'sixth' of 1788, and a 'ninth' of 1791—all of which were printed for T. Hodgson, London, and sold for 'One Shilling bound'; and also A New Hieroglyphic Bible . . . (1794), with a recommendation from the Rev. Rowland Hill, 'Price One Shilling Plain, & Two Shillings Coloured.' E. B. O'Callaghan, in his List of Editions . . . printed in America . . ., pp. 47-8, mentions a Boston edition of this last-named work, and ascribes its authorship to 'a Mr. Thompson.'

The edition here described was apparently the fourth printed in Ireland.

Frontispiece, title, [dedication?], preface; text, pp. 7 to 132; followed by a hymn, Lives of the Evangelists, another hymn, a prayer, and Questions and Answers, ending on p. 142.

1792. The Holy Bible . . . With original Notes . . . by the Rev. Thomas Scott . . . to which are added a Concordance, General Index, and Tables.

For Bellamy and Robarts : London. 1788, 92, 91. 4°. 4 vols.

Thomas Scott (1747–1821), who was appointed in 1785 joint-chaplain at the Lock Hospital, agreed to prepare for Bellamy the publisher a Commentary on the Bible in a hundred weekly numbers, for which he was to receive a guinea a number. The first part appeared in March 1788. But financial difficulties soon arose; and by the time the Commentary was finished (June 1792) in 174 numbers, Bellamy was bankrupt, and Scott had not only lost his money, but was saddled with a debt, from which he was finally released by the aid of Charles Simeon and other friends in 1818. Sir James Stephen characterised his Commentary as ‘the greatest theological performance of our age and country.’

Other editions appeared in 1809, 1810, 1812, etc.

Vol. 1, dated 1788, contains Preface, and Genesis–2 Samuel; vol. 2 (1792), 2 Kings–Song of Solomon; vol. 3 (1792), Isaiah–Malachi, and Apocrypha; vol. 4 (1792), N. T. (with separate title dated 1791). With Concordance, chronological Index, tables, etc.

¶ 270 × 210 mm.

The Concordance (by the Rev. V. Powell; 3rd edition, 1792) in this copy is inserted immediately before the text. At the end is a List of Subscribers.

1798. A Translation of the New Testament from the Original Greek, humbly attempted by Nathaniel Scarlett, assisted by men of piety & literature: with notes.

T. Gillet : London. 1798. 8°.

This original version is of composite authorship. Scarlett (1758–1802) was a bookseller in the Strand. His work is based on a manuscript translation of the New Testament by James Creighton, an Anglican clergyman. Once a week Creighton, William Vidler (a Universalist), and John Cue (a Sandemanian), met Scarlett at his house, 849 Strand, to revise this translation. The final arrangement of the text, and the headings and notes are Scarlett's own work.

'Sold by Nathaniel Scarlett No. 849 (near Exeter 'Change) Strand; also F. & C. Rivington, St. Paul's Church Yard.'

The preface tells us that 'whilst an attempt is made to bring this sacred Book somewhat nearer to the English idiom at this day, still care is taken to steer between the two extremes, of being too servile and literal on the one hand, or too periphrastic on the other.'

Text printed in paragraphs, and divided into sections; the names of the speakers are given at the side—Jesus, Pharisees, Disciples, etc. or Historian; O. T. references occur in brackets in the text; and a few short notes are printed at the foot of some pages. The text is followed by Observations on some terms used in this translation, viz. immersion, reslore etc., ages, and æonian. Pp. xi, 488, vi. The table of Contents states that the whole N. T. may be read distinctly in 14 hours, and the O. T. in about 48 hours.

This edition has the title and table of Contents engraved; and also a frontispiece and three other plates, and an engraved folding table 'shewing the harmony of Matthew and Luke in their account of Christ's Genealogy.'

- 1802. The Holy Bible . . .

J. Crowder and others, for J. Reeves: London. 1802.

19 × 12.5 cm. 10 vols.

This edition is known as Reeves' Bible.

In the Preface Reeves explains his design 'to put to the press an edition of the Bible in separate volumes, that would make a manual, commodious for perusal, like the editions of our best English books.' The text is a careful reprint of Blayney's Bible of 1769 (No. 885), with certain changes. It is here printed in paragraphs, and divided into sections, though the chapter- and verse-numbers are retained, and 'metre' is distinguished from 'prose.' The sectional headings and marginal summary take the place of the usual chapter-contents. With regard to the marginal matter in Blayney's Bible, the references to parallel passages are here omitted, but the alternative renderings etc. are printed at the foot of the page. Explanatory notes are appended; these are based on Wells' Paraphrase, and the commentaries of Patrick, Lowth, Whitby, and others. In alluding to this last feature Reeves says: 'all our authorized Bibles, published by the King's printer, and the universities, are wholly without explanatory notes. These privileged persons have confined themselves to reprinting the bare text, in which they have an exclusive right; forbearing to publish it with notes, which, it is deemed, may be done by any of the King's subjects as well as themselves.' And he adds the significant comment: 'I mean such notes, as are bond fide intended for annotation, not the pretence of notes, which I have seen in some editions of the Bible and Common Prayer, placed there merely as a cover to the piracy of printing upon the patentees, as if fraud could make legal anything that was in itself illegal. In some of these editions the notes are placed purposely so as to be cut off by the binder.' (See Nos. 919, 946, 955, 967, and 988.)

'For the sake of correctness, as well as dispatch,' Reeves divided the work among several printers, whose names are given on p. xiii of his Preface: J. Crowder, H. Baldwin and Son, S. Gosnel, Wilks and Taylor, Cox, Son, and Baylis, and T. Bensley. The completed book was 'published for John Reeves Esq., one of the patentees of the office of King's printer; sold by George and William Nicol, booksellers to His Majesty, Pall Mall.' (See note on No. 900.)

Besides Reeves' Dedication to the King and Preface, the preliminary matter includes the Translators' Preface, chronological Index, tables, etc. With Apocrypha. The Prayer Book version of the Psalms is printed side by side with King James' version. A full page contains 39 lines. Issued apparently in ten volumes: O. T., 6 vols.; Apocrypha, 1 vol.; N. T., 2 vols.; Notes, 1 vol.

Two other editions appeared in 1802: (1) with 42 lines to the full column, in nine volumes; (2) without Apocrypha and explanatory notes, in four volumes.

FOUNDATION OF THE BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY: 7 MARCH 1804.

NOTE ON THE EARLY ENGLISH EDITIONS PUBLISHED BY THE BIBLE SOCIETY.

The primary object of the British and Foreign Bible Society, founded 7 March 1804, was to multiply and cheapen copies of the Scriptures in the United Kingdom. As regards English Bibles, it was proposed at first to purchase a supply for immediate circulation. The Committee, however, determined that editions should be printed expressly for the Society. Early in 1804 Andrew Wilson, who, aided by Earl Stanhope, had improved Ged's method of stereotype-printing, began negotiations with the Cambridge University Press for adapting his process to Bible-printing (see note on No. 995). On learning that the Cambridge Press had decided to employ Wilson's process, the Committee in September 1804 ordered large editions of the New Testament and the Bible to be printed from stereotype plates. The delay thus entailed was fully recompensed by the gain in cheapness and accuracy. In September 1805 'an impression of an octavo English Testament was announced as ready for delivery.' As this was asserted to be 'the first specimen of the application of stereotype to any part of the Holy Scriptures' (in English), it must have been printed from the same plates as the Cambridge Long Primer Testament bearing the date July 1805 (see No. 995). The Society's Second Report (1806) announces a duodecimo Testament, in Brevier type, and states that a large edition of the Bible was nearly ready. Up to the end of March 1806, the Society had paid the Cambridge Press £219 6s. 5d. for printing English Testaments. During the next twelvemonth this amount was trebled, and in the following year the Society's payments for English and Welsh Scriptures amounted to £5880. The Third Report (1807), which contains the earliest list of 'Editions of the Scriptures on sale to Subscribers at the Depository,' enumerates five English books:— (1) Brevier Testament 12° . . . 1s. 0d., (2) Bourgeois Testament 8° . . . 1s. 6d., (3) Long Primer Testament 8° . . . 1s. 9d., (4) Pica Testament 8° . . . 2s. 6d. (these prices are for copies 'strongly bound in sheep': copies in calf cost 6d. extra), (5) Nonpareil Bible 12° in calf . . . 8s. 0d. During 1807 an octavo Brevier Bible (price in calf 5s. 8d.) was added to the list. The Fifth Report (1809) omits the Bourgeois Testament, but mentions a cloth edition (price 10d.) of the Brevier 12° Testament, and a new Minion Bible Crown 8° in calf . . . 4s. 4d.; while it states that the sale prices 'are fixed upon an average of 20l. per cent. below the cost prices.' The Sixth Report (1810) announces the first Bible with marginal references published by the Society (Brevier 8° . . . 8s. 6d.), and alludes to a Small Pica 8° Bible, which appeared during 1810 and cost 8s. 6d. This Report also gives specimens of the types used. Owing to a rise in the price of paper, and in the expense of printing, the loss on each copy sold now represented two-fifths of the cost price. The year's bill for printing and binding English and Welsh Scriptures now exceeded £10,000.

By 1810 the Oxford University Press also was engaged in printing for the Society; and the Eighth Report (1812) announces that the Committee 'have now obtained the assistance of his Majesty's Printers, Messrs. Eyre and Strahan, for a large assortment of Bibles and Testaments.' Nevertheless the supply hardly met the demand. The Price List for 1812 includes some new editions:—a Pocket Bible Nonpareil 24° 'with hollow back, rebacked' (8s. 6d.), and a corresponding Testament (1s. 0d.), with another Pocket Bible Pearl type (8s. 6d.); the octavo Bibles in Small Pica and in Brevier (with references), printed on 'medium paper,' now cost 8s. 6d. and 8s. 0d. An appended note states that 'the Committee having adopted a more expensive method of Sewing and Binding, in order to render their Books more serviceable, this, together with the additional Duty on Leather, has augmented the Cost of their Bibles and Testaments.' During the next year it was found necessary to raise the sale prices of all the Society's editions, and from July 1813 they were 'calculated at an average of 20l. per cent. below the cost prices.' Thus the Brevier 12° Testament in sheep now sold at 1s. 4d., and the Nonpareil 12° Bible in calf at 8s. 7d. Three octavo Bibles—the Brevier demy paper, the Small Pica medium paper, and the Small Pica royal paper (a new edition, sold at 21s.)—were supplied between 1813 and 1815 'with references at the end' (i.e. after each verse), and offered at 7s. 8d., 11s. 1d., and 24s. 6d.

The foregoing are all the editions of the English Scriptures printed for, and published by, the Bible Society during the first eleven years of its existence. Down to 31 March 1815 it issued 429,768 copies of the Bible, and 481,840 of the New Testament, in English. These were sold at reduced prices to Subscribers 'according to their privileges.' The rule states that 'each Annual Subscriber of One Guinea has the privilege of purchasing Bibles and Testaments, within the year, to the amount of Five Guineas; and in like proportion for every Guinea subscribed. A further quantity may also be had (upon application to the Committee) at the Cost Prices.' The poor were supplied with copies on favourable terms by the local Associations; and large grants of free Bibles and Testaments were made by the Committee to meet special cases at home and abroad. All these editions bear on their titlepages the name of the Bible Society, and the words 'sold to Subscribers only, by L. B. Seeley, at the Society's Depository, No. 169, Fleet Street, London.' Seeley was appointed full agent in June 1808, and held this office till 1816, when the Depository was moved. The address thereafter became 'Earl Street, Blackfriars.' The bindings bear a small circular stamp, giving the Society's name.

Certain of these editions unfortunately are not represented in the Bible House

Library; and many of the earlier issues are undated. For these reasons it has seemed advisable to summarize the above information as a Note at this point in the Catalogue. All the editions published by the Bible Society during the first twenty years of its existence (1804-1824), which are represented in the Library, appear in the following pages. The prices, which vary from year to year, are quoted in each case from the list in the Society's contemporary Report.

Apparently the earliest edition of the New Testament, in English, printed from stereotype plates.

William Ged (1690-1749), the inventor of stereotyping, obtained in 1781 a contract for printing Prayer Books and Bibles for Cambridge University. But he completed only two Prayer Books, and surrendered his lease in 1788. Thwarted at every turn by trade jealousy, he failed in all his attempts to establish a business. 'Subsequently Andrew Wilson, the Earl of Stanhope's practical man, starting where Ged left off, worked out the plaster-of-Paris plan that preceded the papier-mâché system, which has established stereotyping in its present position.' This Bible was many times reprinted, and proved almost as popular south as north of the Tweed. Its vogue in Scotland is attested by some characteristic lines of Burns :—

1808. The Holy Bible, containing the Old and New Covenant, commonly called the Old and New Testament: translated from the Greek. By Charles Thomson, late Secretary to the Congress of the United States.

Printed by Jane Aitken, No. 71, North Third Street,Philadelphia. 1808. 22.5 × 18.5 cm. 4 vols.

This edition, generally known as 'Thomson's Bible,' contains the earliest translation of the Septuagint into English.

Charles Thomson (1729-1824) was Secretary to Congress from 1774 to 1789, when he retired to devote himself to Biblical study.

J. F. Watson in his Annals of Philadelphia . . . (1844, vol. i. pp. 568-9) says of Thomson: 'He told me that he was first induced to study Greek from having bought a part of the Septuagint at an auction in this city. He had bought it for a mere trifle, and without knowing what it was, save that the crier said it was outlandish letters. When he had mastered it enough to understand it, his anxiety became great to see the whole; but he could find no copy. Strange to tell, in the interval of two years, passing the same store, and chancing to look in, he then saw the remainder actually crying off for a few pence, and he bought it. I used to tell him that the translation which he afterwards made should have had these facts set at the front of that work as a preface; for that great work, the first of the kind in the English language, strangely enough, was ushered into the world without any preface.'

The original MS. of his translation is preserved at Allegheny College; three of his notebooks containing suggestions and alterations are in the Library of the Pennsylvania Historical Society; while his own copy of the Bible, with manuscript notes in the margins, is the property of the Library Company of Philadelphia. See O'Callaghan's List, pp. 91-2, and Wright's Early Bibles of America, pp. 91-6.

Text printed in paragraphs, with a few foot-notes. No preface. Each volume contains a general title, as well as its own part title.

1808. The New Testament, in an improved version, upon the basis of Archbishop Newcome's new translation: with a corrected text, and notes critical and explanatory. Published by a Society for promoting Christian knowledge and the practice of virtue, by the distribution of books.

Richard Taylor and Co. : London. 1808. 21.5 × 18 cm.

This original version is supposed to show a Unitarian bias

For an account of its production, and Mr. Thos. Belsham's share therein, 'consult the advertisement prefixed to Mr. Belsham's translation of St. Paul's Epistles, 4^o 1822' (Cotton, p. 113 n.). See also Orme, pp. 328-9; and Horne, p. 304, who cites certain pamphlets and articles criticising this version, for which Archbishop Newcome seems to have been in no way responsible.

William Newcome (1729-1800), Archbishop of Armagh, devoted most of his leisure to Biblical studies with a view to an amended edition of the English Scriptures, and he set forth a plan for revision in his 'Historical View of the English Biblical Translations' (1792). His 'Attempt towards an improved version . . . of the Twelve Minor Prophets . . .' appeared in 1785; and his version of Ezekiel in 1788. His New Testament was printed at Dublin in 1796, under the title 'An attempt towards revising our English translation of the Greek Scriptures,' the Greek text adopted being Griesbach's first edition of 1775-7. The work was not published till after his death in 1800. His interleaved Bible, in four folio volumes, containing his collections for a revised version of the Old Testament, is preserved in Lambeth Palace Library.

Pp. xxxiv, 612. Printed in paragraphs, with foot-notes. The Introduction deals with the 'Origin, Progress and Design of the Work—Canon of the N. T. . . .—Brief Account of the Received Text . . .—Means of improving the Received Text . . .—Critical Editions of the Greek Testament . . .—Propriety of editing a Correct Text . . .,' etc. A table is given of Undisputed and Disputed Books according to Eusebius. 1810. The New Testament . . . translated from the Latin Vulgat . . . first published by the English College at Rhemes, Anno 1582. With Annotations. The eighth edition, newly revised . . .

H. Fitzpatrick, printer and bookseller to the R. C. College, Maynooth :Dublin. 1810. 18·5 × 10·5 cm.

The third issue of MacMahon's amended edition of Challoner's revision.

This revision of Challoner's New Testament (see Nos. 824 and 825) was undertaken by Bernard MacMahon, a Dublin priest, with the approval of James Carpenter, R. C. Archbishop of Dublin. It was first published in 1788; and in 1808 a corrected edition appeared, from which the present issue was printed. For some obscure reason this is styled 'the eighth edition.' See Cotton, R. and D., pp. 54-6, 78, and 82.

MacMahon was also employed in superintending the revision of the complete Douai-Rheims Bible published in 1791 with the sanction of John Thomas Troy (1789-1828), who became R. C. Archbishop of Dublin in 1784. The New Testament of 1808 conforms generally to that Bible.

According to Cotton some copies give the name Wogan, instead of Fitzpatrick, as the printer. The Approbations are:—(1) that signed by Green and Watson [Walton], which appeared in the first edition of Challoner's revision (1749); and (2) an 'Approbation of the eighth edition,' dated 1810 and signed by Archbishop Troy. These are followed by an 'Admonition,' and 'A Prayer before the reading of any part of the Holy Scripture.' Text, 523 pp.; followed by tables, and list of errata.

1812. The New Testament . . . translated out of the Latin Vulgat . . . first published by the English College of Rhemes, Anno 1582. Newly revised . . . With Annotations . . .

Preston and Heaton : Newcastle upon Tyne. 1812. 16.5 × 9.5 cm.

Edited by John Worswick, a Roman Catholic priest of Newcastle.

For a full account of this remarkable edition see Cotton, R. and D., pp. 91–3, 397–8. In appearance this cheap and handy book resembles the editions of Challoner and of MacMahon. It contains an 'Admonition' (first printed in the New Testament of 1783); a translation of the Letter (dated 1778) from Pope Pius VI. to Antonio Martini, author of an Italian version of the Bible (this appeared first in Troy's Bible of 1791, and was reprinted in many later editions); and the Approbations, as given in Challoner's Testament of 1749. But in reality the text throughout a considerable portion of this book differs entirely from any of the ordinary R.C. editions. In some passages words are added in brackets, e.g. Matt. xvi. 7 : . . . [This he says] because we have taken no bread . . . ; and the words repentance, passover, cup, and elders are generally substituted for penance, pasch, chalice, and ancients. For some reason these peculiarities occur only in the first part of the New Testament; from Romans iii to the end the book is a mere reprint of Challoner's edition of 1752. But in the Gospels and Acts Cotton noted no fewer than 895 variations from the text of 1752; many of the notes are changed, or even omitted, while in some places fresh notes are added. Cotton afterwards discovered a Rheims New Testament dated 1792, which also contained these peculiar renderings etc., with similar changes carried through from Romans to Revelation. Evidently it was from that New Testament that this Newcastle edition was printed.

Oswald Syers: Manchester. 1818. 40 × 25.5 cm.

Douai-Rheims version.

The text generally follows that of Challoner. The O. T. notes are Challoner's, with some taken from Troy's Dublin Bible of 1791; the N. T. notes are borrowed from Witham's edition (see No. 776).

Published in numbers, 1811-3. The first number appeared in March, 1811. General title dated 1813.

In the year 1806 Thomas Haydock, a Manchester printer, conceived the design of publishing a new edition of the Douai-Rheims Bible with notes from various commentators. On Haydock's removal to Dublin, the R. C. priests of Manchester, supposing that he had abandoned his project, persuaded Syers to undertake it. Syers secured the patronage of Dr. Gibson, Vicar Apostolic of the District, and in 1811 began printing. Haydock meantime returned to Manchester, and in July 1811 began to issue his Bible, edited by the printer's brother, George Leo Haydock, a R. C. priest of Ugthorpe, near Whitby. The book was printed at Manchester and at Dublin, and completed in 1814. Dr. Gibson withdrew his patronage from Syers' publication, when Haydock returned to Manchester; and, whether from this fact, or the competition of Haydock's Bible, Syers' unlucky work appears to have had but a limited circulation, and copies are scarce. See Cotton, R. and D., pp. 83-91.

G. Woodfall, for Eyre and Strahan: London. 1818. 80 × 28 cm.

A reprint of Eyre and Strahan's quarto edition of 1806 (see No. 997). Horne (p. 85) states that the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America recommended that this should be adopted as its standard edition. The error in Ezek. xlvii. 10, fishes for fishers, still remains. Lee (in the lists appended to his Additional Memorial in 1839, p. 7) asserts that this Bible is very far from faultless; he noticed '51 deviations from the best of the old editions,' and cites among others an error in Eph. iv. 16, holy body for whole body.

Graisberry and Campbell : Dublin. 1814. 21·5 × 18 cm.

According to the Preface, the Fourteenth Report of the Commissioners of Education in Ireland condemned the school-books generally adopted, which, 'instead of improving, corrupt the mind; being calculated to incite to lawless and profligate adventure, to cherish superstition, and to lead to dissention and disloyalty'; and recommended for the use of schools a selection of 'Extracts from the Sacred Scriptures, an early acquaintance with which we deem of the utmost importance, and indeed indispensable in forming the mind to just notions of duty and sound principles of conduct.' To supply a suitable school-book, this volume was compiled.

For a full account of the steps which led to this edition or the Rheims New Testament, see Cotton, R. and D., pp. 94-110.

It was published by the 'Roman Catholic Bible Society,' formed in 1818 by Bishop Poynter, Lord Clifford, Peter Gandolph, and other Roman Catholics in London. With this association the Protestant founders of the 'Catholic Fund,' for the circulation of the Rheims version without note or comment, endeavoured at first to co-operate; but the scheme, promoted mainly by William Blair, fell through. The Roman Catholic Bible Society encountered bitter opposition from Dr. Milner and other Roman Catholics, and soon came to an end.

This edition contains the Approbation prefixed to Challoner's first edition, list of errata, Address (by Bp. Poynter), Historical Index, list of books, and Advertisement; text, pp. 3 to 641; table, 13 pp.

The text follows the edition of 1749; the notes, too, are Challoner's, but their controversial parts are generally omitted.

According to Cotton, the book was reprinted at least three times.

1816. The Holy Bible, translated from the Latin Vulgat . . . The Old Testament first published by the English College at Doway, A.D. 1609. And the New Testament, first published by the English College at Rhemes,

A.D. 1582. With Annotations . . . Revised . . . and approved of by the Most Reverend Doctor Troy, R. C. A. D.

Printed and published by Richard Coyne : Dublin ; and sold by Keating, Brown, and Keating : London. 1816. 88 × 26 cm.

Donai-Rheims version.

For a full account of this edition see Cotton, R. and D., pp. 110–6.

J. A. M^cNamara, a Cork bookseller, supported by influential patronage, began in 1813 to issue the R. C. Bible in parts, at 1s. 8d. each, to subscribers only, the Rev. P. Walsh of Dublin having been appointed to revise the work. In 1814 M^cNamara, who had removed to Dublin, became bankrupt, and R. Coyne was persuaded to complete the publication. The finished Bible appeared in 1816, with the approval of Archbishop Troy, as stated on the title.

In the O. T. the text and notes generally follow Challoner's edition; the text of the N. T. appears to be copied from a folio edition printed at Liverpool in 1788, with the original notes Text, 927, 424 pp. With the preface of 1582, tables, etc.

The re-issue of the controversial notes of the original Rheims New Testament aroused much indignation, and Dr. Troy eventually withdrew his approbation.

In 1818 M^cNamara, who had returned to Cork, published another edition of this Bible in that city, reprinting many sheets, and adding fresh matter, including an acrimonious work entitled The Errata to the Protestant Bible . . ., by Thomas Ward, first published in 1688.

The following error occurs in 1 Cor. i. 25: the wickedness of God . . ., for the weakness of God . . .

1816. A new literal translation from the original Greek of all the Apostolical Epistles; with a commentary, and notes . . . to which is added a history of the life of the Apostle Paul. By James Macknight, D.D. A new edition; to which is prefixed an account of the life of the author.Walker and Greig : Edinburgh, for Longman, etc. and others :London, etc. 1816. 28 × 14 cm. 6 vols.

First published in 4 vols. at Edinburgh, 1795, and reprinted in 6 vols. at London, 1806, etc. A specimen containing 1 and 2 Thessalonians, appeared as early as 1787.

J. Macknight (1721-1800) was a minister of the Church of Scotland.

The preface states that this work was the result of unremitting labour of seldom less than eleven hours a day for almost thirty years; during which the whole manuscript was written no less than five times with the translator's own hand.

Four columns give (1) 'Old Translation' (King James' version), (2) 'Greek Text,' (3) 'New Translation,' and (4) 'Commentary' (or paraphrase). With foot-notes, and much supplementary matter; and a map.

ACCESSION OF KING GEORGE IV: 29 JANUARY 1820.

1820. The New Testament . . . translated out of the Latin Vulgate . . . first published by the English College of Rhemes, Anno 1582; newly revised . . . Stereotype edition.

R. Coyne, 16 Parliament St.: Dublin. 1820. 18 × 11 cm.

Rheims version.

This remarkable Testament appeared without a single note, comment, various reading, or marginal reference. An edition of 20,000 copies was printed for a body of Dublin gentlemen, both Roman Catholics and Protestants (though the latter predominated), for general distribution in Ireland at low prices, especially in schools, hospitals, etc. (Cotton, R. and D. pp. 119–122.)

The title, with list of books on verso, is immediately followed by the text, pp. 3 to 311. On verso of the last leaf, according to Cotton, appear the names of the printer and stereo-typer; but in the copy mentioned below, this page contains a certificate by Dr. Troy and 'An Extract of a Rescript' (dated 18 April 1820), commending the reading of the Holy Scriptures, addressed by Pius VII. to the Vicars Apostolic of Great Britain. A replica of this page was also pasted inside the cover of each copy.

Dr. Troy's certificate, dated Dublin, 9 Feb. 1820, runs:—'I Certify, that the Sacred Text of the New Testament, in this Edition of it, is conformable to that of former approved Editions; and particularly to that of the Douay English Version sanctioned by me, and published by R. Cross, in the year 1791.' Cotton, however, states that the text is taken from Challoner's second edition of 1750.

Not long after the publication of this New Testament, Coyne printed a small tract (36 pp.), headed 'Supplement to the Douay Testament without Note or Comment.'

¶ A printed slip is pasted on the title in this copy, hiding the date, and bearing the words 'and sold by R. M. Tims, 85, Grafton-street; and in London, sold by Robert Henry C. Tims, 21, Wigmore-street, Cavendish-square; and Messrs. J. Nisbet and Co., Berners-street.' A number of Coyne's unsold copies apparently passed later into the hands of certain London booksellers, one of whom in 1825 issued the book with a false title bearing the words . . . with Annotations.

— ANOTHER EDITION.

Apparently the same book as the above, with the title and last leaf reprinted—issued perhaps some years later. The titlepage bears the name of Richard Coyne, 4 Capel-street . . ., and is not dated; on verso are the 'Recommendation' of Dr. Troy, and the Extract from Pius VII.'s Rescript. On verso of the last leaf of text is printed the list of books.

1828. The Holy Bible . . . principally designed to facilitate the audible or social reading of the Sacred Scriptures; illustrated with notes, historical, geographical, and otherwise explanatory, and also pointing out the fulfilment of various prophecies. By William Alexander. In three volumes—Vol. 1.

W. Alexander and Son: York. 1828. 27 × 18 cm.

This revised Bible owed its origin to efforts of members of the Society of Friends.

Passages 'unsuitable for a mixed audience' are printed in italics below the text. In some parts a 'lineal arrangement' of the text is also given, in order to exhibit the characteristic features of Hebrew poetry. Besides the notes on each page, many dissertations and longer notes are scattered throughout the volume.

The Pentateuch (with separate title), vol. 1, 792 pp. Vols. 2 and 3 were advertised, but, owing to the lack of adequate support, were never published.

¶ Bound up at the end of this copy are Prospectuses of the work, a specimen leaf, and the covers of the six parts in which the first volume was originally published. Each part cost 4s., 5s., or 6s., according to the quality of the paper. The present copy represents the best quality. Part 1 is dated 1823; part 2, 1824; and parts 3-6, 1827.

1833. The Holy Bible, an exact reprint page for page of the Authorized Version published in the year 1611.

A reprint in roman type of the first edition of 1611 (No. 240).

Before the text is given a collation of this text with the folio of 1618 (No. 249).

Sold by E. Gardner, London.

¶ Inserted is a four-page pamphlet, dated 14 Jan. 1884, which begins: 'Complaints having been made that the English Bibles printed at the Universities, besides necessary alterations in the spelling, differed greatly from the Authorized Version of the Scriptures, and a Committee of Dissenting Ministers having addressed a letter on the subject to the Vice-Chancellor, bearing date London, April 2, 1882, the Delegates of the Press took the most effectual method for enabling themselves and others to judge how far these complaints were well-founded. They commenced an exact Reprint in Roman letter of the original Edition of King James printed in the year 1611, and were able to complete and publish it in the month of November, 1883, having previously issued the Book of Genesis as a Specimen. They also caused a most minute Collation to be made of the Oxford 4to. Bible of the year 1824, with the copy of the above-mentioned Edition of 1611, which is in use at the University Press. Some doubts moreover having arisen as to the perfectness of the Copies now remaining of the early Editions, the following Bibles were examined, sheet by sheet, and the papers recording the result of this examination, together with the Collations and the Pamphlets and other Documents which appeared during the progress of the Controversy, are preserved in the Archives of the Delegates.' Then follows a list of over 50 Bibles examined.

The controversy referred to was begun by Thomas Curtis of Islington. Copies of Curtis' pamphlet The Existing Monopoly . . . and of the rejoinders by Edward Cardwell of Oxford and Thomas Turton of Cambridge, with other articles dealing with the subject, are preserved in this Library.

1833. The Holy Bible . . . in the common version ; with amendments of the language ; by Noah Webster, LL.D.

Hezekiah Howe and Co., for Durrie and Peck, etc.,

New Haven, U. S. A. 1838. 28.5 × 14.5 cm.

The American lexicographer, Noah Webster (1758–1843), professes to give a careful revision of King James' version.

The alterations affect (1) errors in grammar, (2) obsolete or unseemly words and phrases, and (3) certain mistranslations. 'To avoid giving offense to any denomination of christians, I have not knowingly made any alteration in the passages of the present version, on which the different denominations rely for the support of their peculiar tenets' (Preface, p. iv). An Introduction gives the 'principal alterations in the language of the common version of the Scriptures, made in this edition, stated and explained.'

Pp. xvi, 907. The references, alternative renderings, etc., are printed in a central column.

- 1834. The Holy Bible . . . arranged in historical and chronological order, in such a manner that the whole may be read as one connected history, in the words of the authorized translation. By . . . George Townsend . . . New edition with select notes . . . indexes, and a table dividing the sacred volume into 865 portions, for daily reading throughout the year.

Gilbert and Rivington, for J. G. and F. Rivington :

London. 1834. 28 × 14.5 cm. 2 vols.

A new edition of Townsend's Old Testament in two volumes, 1821 etc., and of his New Testament in two volumes, 1825 etc.; with most of the notes omitted.

G. Townsend (1788-1857) was at this time vicar of Northallerton.

Townsend's arrangement is based mainly on J. Lightfoot's 'Chronicle' (first printed in 1647) and similar works.

The table of contents divides the O. T. into eight 'periods,' each subdivided into 'parts'; and the N. T. into fifteen 'parts.' Vol. 1 contains O. T. periods 1-6; vol. 2 contains O. T. periods 7 and 8, and N. T. Pp. xxxiv, 1464.

- 1834. The New Testament . . . translated out of the Latin Vulgate . . . first published by the English College of Rheims, anno 1582. With the original preface . . . and annotations. To which are now added, an Introductory Essay; and a complete topical and textual index.

Jonathan Leavitt : New York, etc.

(John H. Turney's stereotype). 1834. 24 × 14 cm.

A reprint of the Rheims New Testament of 1582.

It appears from the 'Introductory Address' that this edition was published in order to provide Protestants in the United States with a full reprint of the original Rheims Testament, for purposes of controversy. Cotton, in his notice of this book (R. and D., pp. 127-134), prints the Address in full.

Contains, besides the 'Introductory Address to Protestants' (dated Nov. 1833), Recommendations 'by Ministers of the Gospel, and others, of various denominations,' and a Certificate of the genuineness of the reprint; also a full index at the end of the volume. O'Callaghan (List, pp. 233-6) states that this reprint contains many errors.

- 1841. The English Hexapla, exhibiting the six important English translations of the New Testament Scriptures: Wiclif, 1380; Tyndale, 1534; Cranmer, 1539; Genevan, 1557; Anglo-Rhemish, 1582; Authorised 1611 . . . preceded by an Historical Account of the English translations . . .

Wertheimer and Co., for S. Bagster and Sons:

London. 1841. 29.5 × 21.5 cm.

This volume gives the New Testament in English according to 'the six important' translations down to 1611, together with 'the original Greek text after Scholz' (for which see the Greek section of this Catalogue).

The 'Wiclif' follows a MS. representing the later Wycliffite version, which belonged to the Duke of Sussex, and subsequently to the Earl of Ashburnham. The 'Tyndale' is a reprint of the edition of 1534 (No. 5). The 'Cranmer' is the first edition of the Great Bible, 1539 (No. 25). The 'Genevan' is Whittingham's Testament of 1557 (No. 76). The 'Anglo-Rhemish' is taken from the first edition of 1582 (No. 134). The 'Authorised' is apparently printed from a copy of the edition of 1611, 11 (No. 246).

The long 'Historical Account' (160 pp.) was written by S. P. Tregelles (see No. 1171, 1844).

Preliminary matter, 167 pp. The English Hexapla ends on 7 H 4 a. The Greek text is printed at the top of each page, with the English versions beneath in six columns, spread over two pages.

C. Whittingham, for J. and J. J. Deighton: Cambridge;

W. Pickering: London. 1848. 28 × 14.5 cm.

Sir J. Cheke (1514-1557) was Regius Professor of Greek at Cambridge, tutor to King Edward VI., Privy Councillor and Secretary of State.

'Thy age, like ours, O soul of Sir John Cheek, Hated not learning worse than toad or asp,
 When thou taught'st Cambridge, and king Edward, Greek.'
 Milton, Sonnet On the detraction which followed upon my writing certain treatises.

This version is printed from the MS. in the Library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge. It is remarkable for the author's endeavours (1) to avoid words derived from Greek and Latin which might be unintelligible to ordinary readers (for this reason he sometimes uses strange or newly coined words, e.g. maond for lunatic, frosent for apostle, etc.), and (2) to improve the orthography by adopting certain rules of spelling to represent more nearly the accurate pronunciation of words.

- 1850. The Holy Bible . . . in the earliest English versions made from the Latin Vulgate by John Wycliffe and his followers; edited by the Rev. Josiah Forshall . . . and Sir Frederic Madden . . .

University Press : Oxford. 1850. 88 × 26 cm. 4 vols.

The first printed edition of the complete Wycliffite version.

Oxford in the fourteenth century had no more distinguished schoolman and reformer than John Wycliffe. After founding an order of 'poor priests,' who were 'faithfully to scatter the seed of God's word,' he and his associates conceived and carried out the great task of translating the whole Bible into the vulgar tongue. Portions of Scripture, and notably the Psalter, at that time existed in English, and the complete Bible had been rendered into the already discarded court dialect of French. Wycliffe, however, originated the first complete English Bible. He himself appears to have translated the Gospels and probably the whole New Testament. To his disciple, Nicholas of Hereford (fl. 1390), is ascribed most of the Old Testament and of the Apocrypha. By 1382 the work was certainly advanced, if not finished. The whole translation was revised, and a long general prologue prefixed, by John Purvey (1358?–1428?), Wycliffe's intimate associate at Lutterworth, where Wycliffe died 31 Dec. 1384. The result was a smoother version completed about 1388—certainly before 1400. Purvey's recension is given by five-sixths of the 170 extant MSS. of Wycliffite Scriptures enumerated by Forshall and Madden, nearly all of which were produced between 1400 and 1450. Naturally both versions were made from the current Vulgate. Wycliffe has been called the 'father of English prose.' His homely colloquial style, and Hereford's somewhat awkward literalism, were both softened by Purvey's revision.

The testimony of contemporary witnesses, such as Huss, Knighton, and Archbishop Arundel, and all available evidence support the traditional view that Wycliffe initiated, if he did not complete, this earliest English version. The contrary theory of Dom Gasquet (Dublin Review, July, 1894, and The Old English Bible . . ., 1898), has been sufficiently refuted by F. D. Matthew in the English Historical Review, January, 1895. See also F. G. Kenyon's Our Bible and the Ancient Manuscripts, 1895, pp. 204–8; W. W. Capes' The English Church in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, 1901, pp. 126–131; and T. G. Law's introduction to The New Testament in Scots . . . mentioned below.

Both Wycliffite versions, the earlier and the later, are here given side by side. Of the earlier version, the Song of Solomon had been published by Adam Clarke in his Bible Commentary (1810–25), and the New Testament by Lea Wilson in 1848. The New Testament of the later version had been printed by Lewis in 1731, by Baber in 1810, and by Bagster in the English Hexapla in 1841. (See Nos. 777, 1014, and 1164.) The New Testament of the later version was reprinted in 1879 from Forshall and Madden's edition, and the section Job–Song of Solomon in 1881. Both were edited by W. W. Skeat, and published by the Clarendon Press, Oxford.

J. Forshall (1795–1863) was Keeper of Manuscripts in, and then Secretary to, the British Museum, and subsequently became Chaplain of the Foundling Hospital. He also published editions of the Gospels of St. John (1859), St. Luke (1860), and St. Mark (1862, see No. 1213).

Sir F. Madden (1801–1873), Keeper of Manuscripts at the British Museum from 1837, edited many early English texts.

The elaborate preface is followed by a descriptive list of 170 MSS. The two texts are printed in parallel columns, with various readings at the foot of the page. A Glossary is appended.

Pp. lxiv, 687, 888, 897, 749. With Apocrypha. The Epistle to the Laodiceans is inserted after the Epistle to the Colossians.

The Wycliffite Bible crossed the Tweed. Dr. T. G. Law has edited from the unique MS. in the possession of Lord Amherst of Hackney The New Testament in Scots, being Purvey's Revision of Wycliffe's Version, turned into Scots by Murdoch Nisbet c. 1520 (printed for the Scottish Text Society, vol. 1, 1901).

NOTE ON THE AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY'S REVISION OF THE CURRENT TEXT OF KING JAMES' VERSION, 1848-51.

It is not generally known that in the middle of the nineteenth century the American Bible Society carried out a careful revision of the current text of the 'Authorised' version. A detailed account of this recension is given in a tract entitled Report on the History and Recent Collation of the English Version of the Bible: presented by the Committee of Versions to the Board of Managers of the American Bible Society, and adopted, May 1, 1851. It will be convenient to insert here a short note explaining the scheme of the revision and the alterations which it involved, as described in the above-mentioned tract (printed at New York in 1851 and again in 1857, 82 pp.), and the contemporary Reports of the A. B. S.

The idea was first brought forward in October 1847, and in the following year a committee of seven was appointed, who engaged James W. M'Lane, a Presbyterian minister of Williamsburgh, New York, to work as their collator. He was directed to compare a standard A. B. S. edition with recent Bibles printed at London, Oxford, Cambridge, and Edinburgh, and also with the original issue of 1611. The results of his collation disclosed some 24,000 variations. Where the four modern British Bibles agreed, the American edition was to be conformed to them, or in the matter of punctuation to any three combined. The 'great and leading object' was everywhere 'uniformity.' Beyond this, the Committee laid down certain rules, which resulted in the introduction of many innovations, which may be summarised as follows:—

1. In a few instances the text was altered to agree with the Hebrew or Greek. Thus in Ruth iii. 15 she went is altered to he went (thus restoring the original rendering: see No. 240); so, she please for he please in Song of Solomon ii. 7, iii. 5, and viii. 4. Again in Josh. xix. 2 or Sheba for and Sheba, in Isa. i. 16 wash ye for wash you, and in Matt. xii. 41 in the judgment for in judgment.

2. Orthography. Alterations were made where forms of words 'have become obsolete and unintelligible; or have already been changed in some places and not in others; or where in themselves they are of no importance.' Thus assuaged is put for asswaged, axe for ax, soap for sope, didst for diddest, braided for broidered, fetchd for fetcht, lain for lien, etc. The s has been dropped in the case of Hebrew plurals; thus cherubim for cherubims, Anakim for Anakims. The form Oh is retained with the optative, leaving O as the sign of the vocative. The use of the indefinite article a or an is made consistent. The spelling of proper names has been made uniform in the O. T., except where they differ in the original Hebrew. In the N. T. unfamiliar forms are altered; thus Korah is substituted for Cora, Sinai for Sina, etc. (Jesus for Joshua is explained in the margin at Acts vii. 45, and Heb. iv. 8, and is therefore retained in the text). In the use of hyphens the modern English Bibles were followed, where they agreed. When the term Scripture or Scriptures 'refers to the whole volume of inspired truth,' it begins with a capital letter. In Gen. vi. 3 spirit is altered to Spirit, in Rev. iv. 5 Spirits to spirits, and so on. Special pains were taken to secure the right use of italics. Examples may be given: Ps. lxxxix. 34 'the thing that is gone out of my lips,' Luke i. 35 'which shall be born of thee.' In Judg. ix. 53 the last clause is printed 'and all-to brake his skull,' with a marginal note 'That is, altogether.'

In punctuation 'the uniform usage of any three' of the modern British copies was followed; in cases where the rule was not applicable, the Committee 'endeavoured to decide each according to its own merits.' In five passages the changes made affected the sense: Rom. iv. 1, 1 Cor. xvi. 22 ('let him be Anathema. Maran atha'), 2 Cor. x. 8-11, Heb. xiii. 7, and Rev. xiii. 8. Finally, many parentheses, which had been inserted in modern editions were omitted, e.g. in Rom. v. 13-17; and the brackets and italics in the latter clause of 1 John ii. 23 were also dropped.

3. 'Accessories of the text.' (i) The summaries before the chapters were carefully revised. The attention of the Committee was 'mainly directed to the change of quaint, obsolete, ambiguous, or inappropriate words and expressions; to a greater condensation and conformity with the language of the text; and to the removal of comment.' Thus, in Gen. i. embalmed displaces chested; in the O. T., Messiah and Zion, or similar words, are substituted for Christ and the church; the summaries in the Song of Solomon were entirely recast. (ii) The 'running heads of the columns' were revised in a similar manner. (iii) Marginal matter: a few fresh notes were added, e.g. one explanatory of Selah at Ps. iii. 2, and another, 'Gr. the Passover,' opposite Easter in Acts xii. 4; while others, inserted in some modern editions, and 'containing merely conjectural and unwarranted commentary' (e.g. at Judges iii. 21, and opposite the title of Job) were omitted. (iv) References. The Committee did not attempt any revision of these, but merely omitted some of the less important where the page was over-full. (v) Chronology. Ussher's dates were retained; but care was taken 'to have the several dates adjusted over against the paragraphs or verses to which they respectively belong.'

The Apocryphal books were not revised.

The Report of the Committee closes with a recommendation that 'the Octavo Reference Bible, now in the course of preparation . . . be adopted as the Standard Copy of this Society; to which all future editions published by the Society shall be conformed.' Several such editions were issued by the A. B. S. during the next few years. But in 1857 strong opposition to the new text among the Society's supporters induced its Committee to review the whole question; and in the following year they decided to cease printing their recension, on the ground of alleged want of constitutional authority, and popular dissatisfaction with a number of the changes made. (See a long statement in the A. B. S. Report for 1858, pp. 81-41.) Some fruit, however, of the collator's careful work remains in the later editions published by the A. B. S., which are generally commended for their accuracy.

Scrivener considers that 'the plan of operation was not sufficiently thorough to produce any considerable results.' 'No attempt seems to have been made to bridge over the wide gulf between the first issues of the Authorized version and those of modern times,' by the use of any of the important intermediate editions examined by Scrivener for his Cambridge Paragraph Bible of 1878.

Holman, Gray, and Co., for the American Bible Union :New York ; Trübner and Co. : London. 1854. 29.5 × 23.5 cm.

The American Bible Union was organized in June 1850 'to procure and circulate the most faithful versions of the Sacred Scriptures in all languages throughout the world. One of the chief objects of the Union was to provide a revision of the English Bible which should 'give to the ordinary reader, as nearly as possible, the exact meaning of the inspired original; while, so far as compatible with this design, the general style and phraseology of the commonly-received version are retained.'

For full details in regard to this predominantly Baptist organization see Documentary History of the American Bible Union . . . (4 vols., 1857-67). Between 1850 and 1866 it circulated over 600,000 copies of Scripture. See Nos. 1195, 1200, 1227-30, and 1292.

The Introduction gives 'General rules for the direction of translators and revisers employed by the American Bible Union,' and 'Special instructions to the revisers of the English New Testament.'

A tentative edition, circulated for criticism.

The Greek text (following Bagster's octavo edition of 1851) is printed in a central column, having 'King James' version' on one side, and the 'revised version' on the other; with full notes. At the end is given 'the revised version in paragraphs, and according to the recommendations in the notes.' Pp. x, 253.

second edition.R. Clay, for J. W. Parker and Son : London. 1857. 26 × 17.5.*

Revised by J. Barrow, G. Moberly, H. Alford, W. G. Humphry, and C. J. Elliott ; and edited by E. Hawkins.

These pioneers did much to prepare English public opinion for an authoritative revision. H. Alford (1810-1871) Dean of Canterbury in 1857, G. Moberly (1803-1885) Bishop of Salisbury in 1869, C. J. Ellicott (b. 1819) the present Bishop of Gloucester, and W. G. Humphry (1815-1886) Prebendary of St. Paul's, all became members of the New Testament Revision Company (see No. 1276, 1881). J. Barrow was Principal of St. Edmund Hall. The editor, E. Hawkins, was Secretary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel.

The version attempts to secure a more correct rendering of the Greek, departing as little as possible from the current version, and retaining its style and rhythm. The revisers took Mill's reprint (1707) of the text of 'Stephens' (R. Estienne) as a basis, though they adopted different readings in a few important passages, where the weight of evidence appeared to be overwhelming.

Pp. xvi, 65. Preface dated 2 March 1857. The two versions are printed in parallel columns.

1866. The New Testament . . . The common English version, corrected by the final committee of the American Bible Union. Second revision.

T. Holman, New York, for American Bible Union : New York ; Triebner and Co. : London. 1866. 28 × 15 cm.

For this revision, see above, No. 1192, 1854.

The Note on verso of title states that

'This Revised Testament has been prepared under the auspices of the American Bible Union, by the most competent scholars of the day. No expense has been spared to obtain the oldest translations of the Bible, copies of the ancient manuscripts, and other facilities to make the revision as perfect as possible.

'The paragraph form has been adopted . . . But, for convenience of reference, the numbers of the verses are retained.

'All quotations from the Old Testament are distinctly indicated, and the poetic form is restored to those which appear as poetry in the original.

'The revisers have been guided in their labors by the following rules prescribed by the Union : . . .

'The received Greek text, critically edited, with known errors corrected, must be followed.

'The common English version must be the basis of revision, and only such alterations must be made as the exact meaning of the text and the existing state of the language may require.

'The exact meaning of the inspired text, as that text expressed it to those who understood the original Scriptures at the time they were first written, must be given in corresponding words and phrases, so far as they can be found in the English language, with the least possible obscurity or indefiniteness.

'The numbering of the chapter is omitted, where it would break the connection ; as in John viii, 1 Cor. xi, xiii, xiv, Philipp. iv, Col. iv, 1 Pet. iii.'

'Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1865, by the American Bible Union. . . .'

1869. The New Testament . . . after the authorized version, newly compared with the original Greek, and revised, by Henry Alford . . .R. Clay, Sons, and Taylor, for Strahan and Co. :London. 1869. 17·5 × 11·5 cm.

This was practically a completion of the work begun by the 'Five Clergymen' in their versions of St. John's Gospel, and the Epistles to the Romans, Corinthians, Galatians, Ephesians, Philippians, and Colossians (see No. 1202, etc.), which are here reprinted with a very few changes. Dean Alford's wish was mainly 'to keep open the great question of an authoritative Revision, to show the absolute necessity of such a measure sooner or later, and to disabuse men's minds of the fallacies by which the Authorized Version is commonly defended.'

1873. The Holy Bible in the Authorized Version ; with notes and introductions by Chr. Wordsworth, D.D., Bishop of Lincoln.

Rivingtons : London, etc. 1872,78,71. 28·5 × 19 cm. 6 vols.

A cheaper issue of Bishop Wordsworth's Commentary, the first part of which was published in 1864.

Contains the Old Testament only. Bishop Wordsworth (1807-1885) never completed this annotated English Bible by adding the New Testament, but he published the Greek Testament with a commentary.

Included in vol. 6 is 'An Index to the Bishop of Lincoln's Commentary on the Old Testament,' by F. H. Scrivener.

Vols. 1 (1872) and 3 (1873) are styled on the titlepage 'New edition'; vols. 2 (1873), 5 (1871), and 6 (1872) omit these words; vol. 4 (1872) is the 'Third edition.'

London. [1877.] 21 × 15 cm.

According to the Preface (dated Westminster, May, 1877, and signed J. G. (i.e. J. Gurney), 'this publication is the completion of a work which was commenced sixteen years ago, and was partly carried into effect by the publication in parts (in 1868-71) of a quarto Bible, containing within brackets in the text what were regarded as the more important emendations required in the Authorised Version.' In 'the present more complete revision,' the first five books of the O. T. are edited by F. W. Gotch, the rest of the O. T. by B. Davies, and the N. T. by G. A. Jacob and S. G. Green. The design 'is to correct what may be considered indisputable errors and inadequate renderings in our present English Bible; and in the New Testament to give also the more important emendations of the text which have been adopted by the best Editors of the Greek Testament.'

Joseph Gurney was Short-hand Writer to the House of Lords, and Treasurer of the R.T.S. (1875-80). Dr. Gotch (d. 1890) Principal of the Baptist College, Bristol, and Dr. Davies (d. 1875) Professor of Hebrew at Regent's Park College, were members of the Old Testament Revision Company. Dr. Green was President of Rawdon Baptist College (1868-76), and afterwards Editorial Secretary of the R.T.S. (to 1900). Dr. Jacob was Headmaster of Christ's Hospital (1853-68).

See No. 1246, 1871, edited by Drs. Gotch and Jacob.

London. 1871-81. 24·5 × 16 cm. 10 vols.

The preparation of this edition was undertaken in 1864 at the suggestion of the Right Hon. J. Evelyn Denison, Speaker of the House of Commons, afterwards Viscount Ossington. From the circumstances of its origin it is generally known as 'The Speaker's Commentary.'

An important feature of this work was the numerous revised renderings contained in the notes to the text.

O. T. in 6 vols. (vol. 1 is divided into two parts); N. T. in 4 vols. The volumes bear various dates from 1871 to 1881.

- 1881. The New Testament . . . translated out of the Greek : being the version set forth A.D. 1611 compared with the most ancient authorities and revised A.D. 1881. Printed for the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge. University Press : Cambridge. 1881. 25 × 16 cm.

The 'Revised Version' is distinguished from all its predecessors by the fact that it originated in the Convocation of Canterbury. In May 1870, the report of a Committee, appointed three months earlier, was adopted, to the effect 'that Convocation should nominate a body of its own members to undertake the work of revision, who shall be at liberty to invite the co-operation of any eminent for scholarship, to whatever nation or religious body they may belong.' Shortly afterwards two Companies were appointed for the revision of the Old Testament and New Testament respectively, with Dr. Harold Browne, Bishop of Ely, and Dr. Ellicott, Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol, as their chairmen. In the Old Testament revision thirty-seven scholars took part, of whom twenty-seven remained at its completion. In the New Testament revision twenty-eight scholars took part, of whom twenty-four remained at its completion. The rules laid down for the Revisers' guidance directed that alterations in King James' version should be as few as possible, consistently with faithfulness to the original, and that they should be made in the language of that and earlier English versions; also that no changes in the text should be retained in the final revision, unless approved by two-thirds of the Revisers then present.

In the year 1871-2, at the invitation of the English Revisers, a Committee of American scholars was formed to co-operate in the work. The American Old Testament Revisers numbered fifteen, and the New Testament Revisers numbered seventeen, of whom two and four respectively died before the completion of their undertaking. For full details see Historical Account of the work of the American Committee of Revision . . ., and Documentary History of the American Committee on Revision (privately printed), New York, 1885.

The revision of the New Testament occupied about ten and a half years, and the result was published on 17 May 1881. Four years later the Old Testament was ready, and the Revised Bible was published on 19 May 1885. A preface to each Testament described the principles on which the Revision had been carried out. In an appendix to each Testament, the American Companies of Revisers placed on record certain renderings which they preferred to those adopted by their English associates.

A revision of the Apocrypha was afterwards undertaken by four committees appointed by the English Revisers from their own number, and the new version appeared in 1895 (see No. 1802).

In 1898 a new edition of the Revised Bible, including the Apocrypha, was published with a carefully amended set of marginal references (see No. 1815).

In 1900-1, some survivors of the American Revision Committee issued a recension of the Revised Bible (see No. 1881).

This was practically a completion of the work begun by the 'Five Clergymen' in their versions of St. John's Gospel, and the Epistles to the Romans, Corinthians, Galatians, Ephesians, Philippians, and Colossians (see No. 1202, etc.), which are here reprinted with a very few changes. Dean Alford's wish was mainly 'to keep open the great question of an authoritative Revision, to show the absolute necessity of such a measure sooner or later, and to disabuse men's minds of the fallacies by which the Authorized Version is commonly defended.'

- 1870. A rhymed Harmony of the Gospels; by Francis Barham and Isaac Pitman. Printed both in Phonetic and in the customary spelling, as a Transition Book from Phonetic Reading to the reading of books as now commonly printed.

F. Pitman : London. I. Pitman ; J. Davies :

Bath. 1870. 19 × 12·5 cm.

This 'rhymed paraphrase' claims to be 'very complete,' and to include almost every text in Townsend's 'Harmony of the Gospels.' It was originally prepared by F. Barham, and afterwards corrected by I. Pitman.

Pp. 262. With Phonetic Alphabet, preface, and appendix.

1242.

- 1870. The Writings of Solomon; comprising the Book of Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, Song of Songs, and Psalms lxxii, cxxvii. Translated by Francis Barham. Printed both in Phonetic and in the customary spelling . . .

F. Pitman : London. I. Pitman ; J. Davies :

Bath. 1870. 12·5 × 9·5 cm.

Apparently the first of F. Barham's prose versions of books of the Bible, printed by his friend Isaac Pitman at Bath. See Nos. 1244, 1252, 1253, and 1256. Sometimes, as in this case, the version was also given in phonetic spelling.

'About twenty years ago I published revised English versions of Solomon's Ecclesiastes and Canticles' (translator's preface). In this volume are added Proverbs and two Psalms attributed to Solomon.

1873. The Holy Bible in the Authorized Version ; with notes and introductions by Chr. Wordsworth, D.D., Bishop of Lincoln.

Rivingtons : London, etc. 1872,78,71. 28.5 × 19 cm. 6 vols.

A cheaper issue of Bishop Wordsworth's Commentary, the first part of which was published in 1864.

Contains the Old Testament only. Bishop Wordsworth (1807-1885) never completed this annotated English Bible by adding the New Testament, but he published the Greek Testament with a commentary.

Included in vol. 6 is 'An Index to the Bishop of Lincoln's Commentary on the Old Testament,' by F. H. Scrivener.

¶ Vols. 1 (1872) and 3 (1873) are styled on the titlepage 'New edition'; vols. 2 (1873), 5 (1871), and 6 (1872) omit these words; vol. 4 (1872) is the 'Third edition.'

- 1877. Revised English Bible. The Holy Bible according to the Authorised Version, compared with the Hebrew and Greek texts, and carefully revised; arranged in paragraphs and sections, with supplementary notes, references . . . chronological tables, and maps.

Printed for the editor by Eyre and Spottiswoode :

London. [1877.] 21 × 15 cm.

According to the Preface (dated Westminster, May, 1877, and signed J. G. (i.e. J. Gurney), 'this publication is the completion of a work which was commenced sixteen years ago, and was partly carried into effect by the publication in parts (in 1868-71) of a quarto Bible, containing within brackets in the text what were regarded as the more important emendations required in the Authorised Version.' In 'the present more complete revision,' the first five books of the O. T. are edited by F. W. Gotch, the rest of the O. T. by B. Davies, and the N. T. by G. A. Jacob and S. G. Green. The design 'is to correct what may be considered indisputable errors and inadequate renderings in our present English Bible; and in the New Testament to give also the more important emendations of the text which have been adopted by the best Editors of the Greek Testament.'

Joseph Gurney was Short-hand Writer to the House of Lords, and Treasurer of the R.T.S. (1875-80). Dr. Gotch (d. 1890) Principal of the Baptist College, Bristol, and Dr. Davies (d. 1875) Professor of Hebrew at Regent's Park College, were members of the Old Testament Revision Company. Dr. Green was President of Rawdon Baptist College (1868-76), and afterwards Editorial Secretary of the R.T.S. (to 1900). Dr. Jacob was Headmaster of Christ's Hospital (1853-68).

See No. 1246, 1871, edited by Drs. Gotch and Jacob.

London. 1871-81. 24.5 × 16 cm. 10 vols.

The preparation of this edition was undertaken in 1864 at the suggestion of the Right Hon. J. Evelyn Denison, Speaker of the House of Commons, afterwards Viscount Ossington. From the circumstances of its origin it is generally known as 'The Speaker's Commentary.'

An important feature of this work was the numerous revised renderings contained in the notes to the text.

O. T. in 6 vols. (vol. 1 is divided into two parts); N. T. in 4 vols. The volumes bear various dates from 1871 to 1881.

- 1881. The New Testament . . . translated out of the Greek: being the version set forth A.D. 1611 compared with the most ancient authorities and revised A.D. 1881. Printed for the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge.
University Press : Cambridge. 1881. 25 × 16 cm.

The 'Revised Version' is distinguished from all its predecessors by the fact that it originated in the Convocation of Canterbury. In May 1870, the report of a Committee, appointed three months earlier, was adopted, to the effect 'that Convocation should nominate a body of its own members to undertake the work of revision, who shall be at liberty to invite the co-operation of any eminent for scholarship, to whatever nation or religious body they may belong.' Shortly afterwards two Companies were appointed for the revision of the Old Testament and New Testament respectively, with Dr. Harold Browne, Bishop of Ely, and Dr. Ellicott, Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol, as their chairmen. In the Old Testament revision thirty-seven scholars took part, of whom twenty-seven remained at its completion. In the New Testament revision twenty-eight scholars took part, of whom twenty-four remained at its completion. The rules laid down for the Revisers' guidance directed that alterations in King James' version should be as few as possible, consistently with faithfulness to the original, and that they should be made in the language of that and earlier English versions; also that no changes in the text should be retained in the final revision, unless approved by two-thirds of the Revisers then present.

In the year 1871-2, at the invitation of the English Revisers, a Committee of American scholars was formed to co-operate in the work. The American Old Testament Revisers numbered fifteen, and the New Testament Revisers numbered seventeen, of whom two and four respectively died before the completion of their undertaking. For full details see Historical Account of the work of the American Committee of Revision . . ., and Documentary History of the American Committee on Revision (privately printed), New York, 1885.

The revision of the New Testament occupied about ten and a half years, and the result was published on 17 May 1881. Four years later the Old Testament was ready, and the Revised Bible was published on 19 May 1885. A preface to each Testament described the principles on which the Revision had been carried out. In an appendix to each Testament, the American Companies of Revisers placed on record certain renderings which they preferred to those adopted by their English associates.

A revision of the Apocrypha was afterwards undertaken by four committees appointed by the English Revisers from their own number, and the new version appeared in 1895 (see No. 1802).

In 1898 a new edition of the Revised Bible, including the Apocrypha, was published with a carefully amended set of marginal references (see No. 1815).

In 1900-1, some survivors of the American Revision Committee issued a recension of the Revised Bible (see No. 1881).

Pica Royal 8°. Pp. xxv, 606.

The Preface is dated 'Jerusalem Chamber, Westminster Abbey, 11th November 1880.'

Text printed in paragraphs. The page- and chapter-headings (which originally it was proposed to revise) and the dates, are omitted, but the titles to the Books remain unaltered. Alternative renderings, etc. in margins.

University Press : Oxford. 1895. 22 × 14 cm.

The last portion of the revision of King James' version, begun in 1870. See No. 1276, 1881.

The inclusion of the Apocrypha in the scheme of revision was mainly due to the University Presses, who had acquired the copyright of the whole revised version.

The preface describes how the work was divided between three small committees, formed from the New Testament Company in 1879, and a fourth committee chosen from the Old Testament Company in 1884. The Americans took no part in the revision of the Apocrypha.

'Considerable attention was paid to the text ; but the materials available for correcting it were but scanty.' The revisers, however, were able to use Professor Bensly's reconstruction of the Latin text of 2 Esdras, and to incorporate the 'missing fragment,' ch. vii, 86-105.

University Press : Oxford. 1898. 22 × 15 cm.

During the course of the New Testament revision, an elaborate body of references to the New Testament text was compiled, mainly by Dr. F. H. A. Scrivener and Dr. W. F. Moulton, for the use of their colleagues. This material was afterwards placed at the disposal of a small committee, representing both Universities, formed in 1895 to superintend the preparation of a new set of references for the complete revised Bible. Oxford University Press, American Branch, and the New York. 1898. 21.5 × 15.5 cm.*

The first edition of the revised Bible of 1881-1885, issued under the authority of the two University Presses, in which the American preferences are incorporated in the text and in the margins, while the corresponding English renderings are relegated to the Appendixes.

According to a Memorandum drawn up by the Vice-Chancellors of the two Universities in January 1899, 'several such editions of the Revised New Testament had already been published without authority.'

'The aim of those to whom the work was committed has been to carry out the wishes of the American Revisers, and the directions formulated by them and recorded by the Revision Companies have been faithfully obeyed.' These directions were exceeded in only one point: in the removal of archaisms 'it has been thought permissible to extend, though cautiously, to the New Testament the further rules drawn up for the Old Testament, so as to give the whole Version a greater degree of uniformity.'

1898. Linear Parallel Edition. The Holman comparative self-pronouncing S. S. Teachers' Bible, containing, in combined text, the authorized and revised versions of the Old and New Testaments.

A. J. Holman and Co. : Philadelphia. [1898.] 22 × 15 cm.

A combination of King James' version with the revised Bible of 1885, arranged according to the 'Linear Parallel Method.'

'It presents, in a single large type line, the texts of both versions, where they read alike. Wherever a difference occurs, whether in the reading, spelling, typography, capitalization, idiom, parenthesis, punctuation or otherwise, the same is directly shown, and in place, by upper and lower parallel lines, or proper designations, in smaller type . . . the chapter and verse divisions of the authorized version have been preserved for the sake of convenient reference. In Biblical poetry, the metrical showing of the revised version is preserved by means of the initial capital letters. In thus combining the two versions, numerous marginal readings in each were found to be identical with the corresponding texts in the other. In such cases of identity, the marginal readings have been omitted, their full significance being preserved in the combined texts. In other respects, effort has been made to preserve the best marginal readings of both versions. In many instances, where the light of modern interpretation warranted, new marginal readings have been entered; and all such old readings, referring to English coins, weights, measures, etc., have been Americanized.'

1898. The Twentieth Century New Testament. A translation into Modern English, made from the original Greek (Westcott and Hort's text). In two parts. Part I.—The five historical books.

W. and J. Mackay and Co: Chatham, for the publishers, Mowbray House, Temple: London. 1898. 18 × 12.5 cm.

An attempt to translate the New Testament into simple, modern English. The version was made from Westcott and Hort's Greek text 'by a company of about twenty persons, including Graduates of several Universities and Members of various sections of the Christian Church.'

According to the Preface, this was put forth as a 'Tentative Edition.' The Translators' constant effort was 'to exclude all words and phrases not used in current English,' though they used 'an older phraseology in the rendering of poetical passages and quotations from the Old Testament, and in the language of prayer.' Quotations and borrowed phrases from the Old Testament and Apocrypha are distinguished by italics. Measures of space and time and the value of coins are given in their nearest English equivalents. Fourteen passages, judged by Westcott and Hort 'not to have originally formed part of the work in which they occur,' are placed within square brackets. The usual grouping of the books is retained, but the books in each group are given in what is considered to be their chronological order.

The New Testament was completed by the publication of two more parts in 1900 and 1901 (Nos. 1329 and 1340). Though severely criticised in some quarters in regard to style, and even scholarship, this version has met with remarkable popularity.

Text printed in paragraphs. Pp. vi, 254.

University Press: Oxford. [1899.] 21.5 × 14.5 cm.

The Preface (dated November, 1899) by the Bishop of Gloucester states that this book 'owes its origin to a suggestion of Mr. Alfred F. Buxton, and it is to his generous support that its final publication is mainly due.'

An 'Explanatory Key,' and a note on the 'Abbreviations in the New Testament,' make clear the symbols employed in the volume to mark the differences between the two versions.

The preliminary matter includes the Translators' Preface of 1611, as well as the Revisers' Preface (dated 1884).

ACCESSION OF KING EDWARD VII: 22 JANUARY 1901.

1901. The Holy Bible . . . being the version set forth A.D. 1611 compared with the most ancient authorities and revised A.D. 1881-1885. Newly edited by the American Revision Committee A.D. 1901. Standard edition.

J. S. Cushing and Co., Berwick and Smith : Norwood, Mass., U.S.A., for Thomas Nelson and Sons : New York. 1901, 00. 22 x 17.5 cm.

The English University Presses, in acquiring the copyright of the revised version, had stipulated that for fourteen years every copy issued should contain in an Appendix the renderings preferred by the American Revisers, who undertook on their part to sanction no other version during the same period. It became obvious, however, that this would not be accepted as a permanent arrangement in the United States; and accordingly in 1898 the University Presses issued an edition of the revised Bible, in which the American preferences were incorporated in the text and margins, while the corresponding English renderings were relegated to the Appendixes (see No. 1817). Notwithstanding this, certain survivors of the American Committee combined independently to prepare what they finally published as an American recension of the revised version.

'This Standard American Edition of the Revised Version of the Bible, and editions in conformity with it published by Messrs. Thomas Nelson and Sons and certified by this indorsement, are the only editions authorized by the American Committee of Revision. George E. Day, Secretary of the Committee, and of the Old Testament Company. J. Henry Thayer, Secretary of the New Testament Company.' 'Copyright, 1901, by Thomas Nelson and Sons.'

The list of preferred renderings, drawn up in 1885 by the American revisers, omitted many which a two-thirds majority of their number had recommended as important. Nearly the whole of these were now transferred into the text; and still further steps were taken towards securing uniformity of rendering and modernisation of diction. At the same time, certain minor changes, which the revisers who remained in 1900 deemed expedient, were also introduced.

The principal alterations may be briefly summarised as follows:—

1. The uniform substitution of Jehovah for Lord and God, Sheol and Hades for the grave, the pit, etc., and Holy Spirit for Holy Ghost; the use of who and that, instead of which, when relating to persons; the substitution of are for be in indicative clauses; the omission of for before infinitives; the change of an to a before 'h' aspirated; and the uniform adoption of modern spelling in place of antiquated forms—these alterations were all contained in the original Appendixes giving the American preferences.
2. (i) The American revisers now revert in some instances to the rendering of King James' version, e.g. in Ex. xx. 4, 13, Ps. xlviii. 1, etc. (ii) They recede in a few cases from proposals formerly made in the Appendixes, e.g. be ashamed is not uniformly changed to be put to shame, but is often retained, and sometimes altered to be confounded. (iii) In order to be consistent, they 'go beyond the literal requirements of the Appendix': thus judgment is very often changed to justice, or ordinance, as the context requires; spoil is altered to despoil, plunder, etc.; vanity to falsehood, and so on. For the sake of euphemism bowels and reins are changed to heart, etc., when used in a psychological sense.

The remaining minor alterations are detailed in the preface to this 'American Edition,' which appears to be widely current in the United States.

The Apocrypha are not included in any editions of this American revision.

General title dated 1901; N. T. title dated 1900. Pp. xiv, 970; xvi, 295. Text printed in double columns, with references in a central column; alternative renderings etc. and references to cited passages in margins; subject-headings at top of page. In this edition, and in those published by the Bible Society in the same year (see Nos. 1351, 1354, 1357, and 1358), an error in 1 Cor. xii. 9 was corrected, the strength of Christ being altered to the power of Christ. The earlier rendering power, which had been retained by the revisers, was wrongly printed strength in all editions of the R. V. from 1881 on till 1903. The two-version edition of 1899 (No. 1321) rightly implies that the correct R. V. reading is power.

1903. The Holy Bible. The Revised version, without the marginal notes of the revisers; printed by order of the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, and issued in connexion with the Centenary of the British and Foreign Bible Society, 1904.

Printed for the B. F. B. S. at the University Press:

Oxford. 1903. 16.5 × 11.5 cm.

This Bible, and a New Testament of the same date (No. 1354), were the first editions of the revised version of 1881-5 published by the Bible Society. Two more editions of the revised Bible were issued in the autumn of 1903 (see Nos. 1357 and 1358).

At a special General Meeting of the Society held in the Library of the Bible House, 9 Oct. 1901, the following resolution was unanimously passed: 'That henceforth Law I of the Society shall read as follows:—"The designation of the Society shall be the British and Foreign Bible Society, of which the sole object shall be to encourage the wider circulation of the Holy Scriptures, without note or comment. The only copies in the English language to be circulated by the Society shall be either the Authorized Version of 1611, or the Revised Version of 1881-1885, or both."' By this change in its law the Society was for the first time enabled to issue an English Bible other than King James' version.

The following alterations were adopted in these special editions: (1) the revisers' prefaces, marginal matter, and list of American revisers' preferences, were omitted; (2) the space between consecutive verses in the paragraphs was slightly increased.

The price of this Bible was fixed at 10*d*.

APPENDIX

This Appendix contains:—

(i) a few editions omitted by mistake, or acquired since the early sheets of the Catalogue were sent to press; together with additional notes on certain editions.

(ii) a list of the books of the Bible which were translated into provincial dialects of English for Prince Louis Lucien Bonaparte.

OMITTED EDITIONS, ETC.

1525. Note on the distribution of Tindale's Testaments.

Copies were smuggled into England from the Continent chiefly by Antwerp merchants, and sold secretly by the private enterprise of such men as Robert Barnes and Simon Fish of Gray's Inn. These dealers in a contraband book were known as 'New Testamenters.' Certain passages in works like Strype's Ecclesiastical Memorials enable us to obtain some idea of the methods of this traffic, and the prices at which the volumes were sold. In March 1528 John Pykas, a baker of Colchester, confessed before Tunstall that 'about a Two yeres last past, he bowght in Colchestre, of a Lumbard of London, a New Testament in English, and payd for it Foure Shillings.' Barnes, while in the custody of the Austin Friars in London, received a visit from two men, to whom he sold a Testament for 'iija. ijd,' 'and deasyred them, that they wold kepe yt close.' Robert Necton deponed that he 'sold fyve of the said New Testaments to Sir William Furboshore Synging man, in Stowmarket in Suffolk, for vii or viii Grotes a pece.' He also 'sold Sir Richard Bayfell two New Testaments unbound, about Cristmas last; for the which he payd iija. iiijd.' 'About Cristmas last, there came a Duche man, beyng now in the Flete, which wold have sold this Respondent ij or iij Hundreth of the said N. Testaments in English.' They were to have been bought at 'ixd. a pece.' Some of these were 'New Testaments of the biggest'; others were copies 'of the smal Volume.' These prices should be multiplied by fourteen or fifteen to obtain approximately their equivalent value in the money of to-day.

See Strype's Ecclesiastical Memorials (London, 1721), vol. i. p. 79, and App. xvii and xxii.

1587. Note on Matthew's Bible. No. 17.

The two variant leaves mentioned at the top of p. 17 are probably merely reprints. They occur in a copy of this Bible in the Cambridge University Library, and may perhaps be found in other copies. In these two leaves the comma is substituted for the virgule, or stroke, which is generally used throughout the volume.

1539. Note on the first edition of the 'Great Bible.' No. 25.

In Ps. cxlvii, v. 8 is omitted, though the catchwords He healeth remain at the bottom of DD ij a. In the small folio of April 1540 (No. 29) this verse is printed He healeth the contryte in herte, and remedieth theyr sorowes; but the large folio of April 1540 (No. 80) reads He healeth those that ar broken in harte & gyveth medycine to heale ther sycknes.

1539. Note on the octavo Taverner Testament. No. 28.

A few more leaves of this edition have recently come to light. These were discovered in the binding of a book in the Library of Queens' College, Cambridge, and the duplicates have been presented to the University Library, Cambridge, and to the British Museum.

1551. Note on the folio Bible printed by N. Hyll. No. 64.

In the list of printers for John Whyte read John Wyghte.

1560. Note on the first edition of the 'Geneva Bible.' No. 77.

The influence of the revisers of Olivetan's French Bible is strikingly shown by the fact that the 'Arguments' to the Books of Job and Psalms in this English edition are translated almost word for word from those found in the French octavo Bible printed at Geneva in 1559. We are indebted for this information to Mr. W. Aldis Wright.

1568 ? (The New Testament.)

[R. Jugge: London. 1568 ?] 8°. 3s. 1.

Bishops' version.

A hitherto unnoticed edition, without verse-divisions. It resembles the two editions described by Fry at the end of his work on the Tindale Testaments (A Bibliographical Description . . . , pp. 173-8), but is quite distinct from both. One of Fry's editions adopted the text of the quarto Bible of 1569; the other follows the folio of 1572. The present edition, unlike any other, agrees with the first folio of 1568, and therefore probably preceded those mentioned by Fry. Thus it appears to be the earliest known edition of the New Testament of the Bishops' version.

Undoubtedly printed by Jugge; in 1568, or possibly in 1569. As the only known copy is incomplete at the beginning and end, it is impossible to give a full description.

DESCRIPTION. St. John's Gospel ends on X 8 b; Acts ends on Dd 1b, and is followed by 7 pp., containing the map and The order of tymes; 2 Corinthians ends on Ll 1a; 2 Timothy ends on Pp 8 b.

Signatures in eights. A full page contains 36 lines. No verse-divisions. Text, chapter-contents, notes after chapters, and marginal references, in black-letter. Arguments, head-lines, and marginal notices of Epistles and Gospels, in roman type. Words not found in the original Greek are printed in roman type within round brackets.

As in the two kindred editions described by Fry, the arguments, notes, and other accompanying matter, are taken from Jugge's revision of Tindale's Testament.

The cut of St. Paul, figured in Plate 78 of Fry's book, occurs before Romans, 1 Corinthians, Ephesians, and Hebrews. The initial P (containing the letters M C), also given by Fry, is placed before 2 Timothy.

See the Athenæum, 15 August 1908.

1569.

After 1572. Note on the quarto Testament of the Bishops' Bible printed by R. Watkins. No. 97.

There seems reason to believe that this New Testament was published in 1575, simultaneously with the folio Bible of 1575, inasmuch as the minute of the Stationers' Company which records the granting of the special licences (see No. 108) bears that date.

1575. Note on the small folio edition of the Bishops' Bible. No. 108.

1795. The Holy Bible . . . with a few select notes and embellished with engravings.

T. Heptinstall: London. 1795. 4°. 2 vols.

'Published by the late W. Heptinstall and sold by the Proprietor T. Heptinstall, No. 181 Fleet St.' The date is taken from the frontispiece 'London, Published Jan. 12, 1795, by T. Heptinstall, Leather Lane, Holborn.' Some of the plates are dated 1794.

Vol. 2, which has a second copy of the general title, begins with Isaiah. No Apocrypha. The collection of short notes is appended, together with the list of books, and directions to the binder for placing the 21 illustrative plates.

Without signatures or pagination. The words generally printed in italics are distinguished in this edition only by a dot placed under the first vowel, as in Macklin's edition of 1800 (No. 982)

¶ 362 × 390 mm. Imperfect, wanting preliminary leaves, and the notes. Bound in one volume.

This copy belonged to Thomas Campbell, the poet (1777-1844), whose autograph appears on the first page of Genesis. It contains Campbell's bookplate, and a family register.

VERSIONS IN ENGLISH PROVINCIAL DIALECTS.

The following is believed to be a complete set of the books of the Bible translated into provincial dialects of English for Prince Louis Lucien Bonaparte, who presented a copy of each to the Society. They are catalogued in the following order: (i) 'Saxon English,' (ii) provincial dialects of England, arranged under counties, in alphabetical order, (iii) Lowland Scotch.

Unless the contrary is stated, each edition consisted of 250 copies privately printed at the expense of Prince Louis Lucien Bonaparte.

SAXON ENGLISH.

1862. The Song of Solomon in Saxon English; from the authorised English version, by George M. Green.

Strangeways and Walden: London. 1862. 18.5 × 10.5 cm.

The sole peculiarity of this version lies in the fact that 'words derived from the Saxon or German' are substituted for all words from Latin or Greek which occur in the authorised version: this is added on the opposite page throughout for comparison.
